Wm. R. Foster, sworn. Reside here, and am City Solicitor at present; was present at Kiley's first examination, as his counsel; heard Judge Batchelder testify yesterday; Kiley had all the time I required in which to testify; was present at the examination of the Sheehans, and took notes; know what Kiley said; he did not testify that the moon was up when he was on Water street, but said when he was on Walker's wharf the moon was up, and he saw the boat pass the moon's wake. Cross-examined: Judge Batchelder saw my notes taken at the trial of the Sheehans, and certified they were correct; my minutes have "the moon rose a little past eleven; the moon was up when I went on the wharf;" was present when he testified that he crossed to the other side of the street.

City Marshal Entwistle, recalled. Heard Kiley say he was in the saloon at the time of the fight, but he immediately after changed his statement and said he was outside.

This closed the evidence. The arguments were made by John S. H. Frink, Esq., on behalf of the Sheehan brothers, and Attorney General Tappan for the State, each side being most ably presented. The case was given to the jury at half-past five o'clock, Judge Smith's charge being a brief one.

JOSHUA WAVES THE "GARMENT."

The Dover Democrat publishes the list of candidates on the greenodemback ticket for this county, and the Times' declaration that "We are heartily glad that this arrangement has been made, and can see no reason why any member of either party can refuse to support or vote the ticket," and then comments as follows: "Now putting aside for the time being the question of the right of any authority except a properly constituted democratic convention to make candidates for the party, we take the liberty to inquire if these greenback substitutes are going to vote the democratic ticket for Governor and member of Congress? If not, on what grounds and principles can they ask or expect democratic votes for themselves? and how can any democrat vote for these substitutes? But again, putting aside all objections for the time being to three out of the four substitutes, viz., Messrs. Hodgdon, Lane and Hoyt, the other one, viz., Charles H. Joy, is a man for whom no democrat can vote under any circumstances and maintain his self-respect. This Joy once committed an outrage which no democrat can ever overlook or condone. He was one of the leaders in that infernal mob in Portsmouth in April, 1865, that destroyed the States & Union printing office, a most diabolical piracy upon the proprietor, a dastard outrage upon every single democrat in Rockingham county and everywhere else, and an assault upon civilization. He is not the man to be trusted with the suffrages of democrats, or honest and peaceable citizens of any party. We urge every democrat in Rockingham county to vote against and utterly defeat and overwhelm Charles H. Joy."

The rays of the sun, shining through a stereoscope, set fire to a table in the house of George W. West in Chichester, a few days ago, and the house narrowly escaped burning.

At Orford apples are so abundant that farmers are giving them away, and cider sells at $1.50 a barrel, and is hard to get rid of at that price. A resident of Rumney recently sold forty bushels of apples at two cents per bushel.

At a town meeting held at Harrisville, Oct. 21st, a gratuity of $10,000 was voted to the Manchester & Keene Railroad on condition that every citizen of the town holding claims against the road should be paid in full, payable when the track is laid to the proposed depot.

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Keene Driving Park Association a vote was passed that the property be sold. Both the summer meetings have resulted in a loss of some $300, and it is doubtful if enough can be obtained for the property to pay the outstanding liabilities.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of

$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Great improvements will also be made in other respects. ☜

"Peterson's Magazine" contains, every year, 1000 pages, 14 steel plates, 12 colored Berlin patterns, 12 mammoth colored fashion plates, 24 pages of music, and about 900 wood cuts. Its principal embellishments are

SUPERB STEEL ENGRAVINGS!

Its immense circulation enables its proprietor to spend more on embellishments, stories, &c. than any other. It gives more for the money than any in the world. Its

Thrilling Tales and Novelettes

Are the best published anywhere. All the most popular writers are employed to write originally for "Peterson." In 1879, in addition to the usual quantity of short stories, FIVE ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT NOVELETTE will be given, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Jane G. Austin, and that unrivalled humorist, the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife."

MAMMOTH COLORED FASHION PLATES

Ahead of all others. These plates are engraved on steel, twice the usual size, and are unequalled for beauty. They will be superbly colored. Also, Household and other receipts; in short everything interesting to ladies.

N. B. As the publisher now prepays the postage to all mail subscribers, "Peterson" is cheaper than ever; in fact is the cheapest in the world.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. The passenger cars, while exceedingly safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 8 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent my husband to the drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Your bottle has reduced her weight from 192 pounds to 182 pounds, and there has a general improvement in health." A gentleman, writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, the bottle of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced my four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOCKITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write to THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "If (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reduced the fat from my person, two pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while at the head of this active realm in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. Or its efficacy as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Or its superiority I feel I can safely say that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flow, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not offer this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives very valuable advice in regard to the management of delicate invalids.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

BENSON'S CAPCINE

Porous Plaster.

A Wonderful Remedy.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies, including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For LAME BACK, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. inov29

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. 1dec29

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or feverish condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from acrofulous conditions of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge conditions of matter. The discharge from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever source they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which it comes in contact, or thick and yellow, fetid, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, while the membrane is dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it were encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down in the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require repeated efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such cases become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for getting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada, and by HEDGE & PITTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

That Boy.

Dramatis personæ.—A young American in roundabout and leggins perched upon the fence devouring a huge piece of mince pie, and a maiden of five summers, in pantalettes, looking very wistfully at the gormand on the fence. Young America—"I say, sis, does your ma make mince pies? If she does I'll bet they aint so good as my mar's." Little Miss (timidly)—"I like mince pie awfully well." Young America—"Well, now, that's funny! Just look here (drawing a quarter of a pie out of his jacket pocket) and it's boss, too! Aint my mar good?" (carefully stowing it away in his pocket). That boy "is father to the man" who must have his cigars and any other masculine luxury his contemptible selfishness crave s, while his poor sickly wife must do the work of two women ("girls waste more than they earn," he says), and for the want of a little money to purchase a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the sovereign remedy for female diseases and weaknesses, she is literally dying by inches—and all because of that masculine selfishness that would not divide the childish luxury with his playmate, and now tacitly refuses his wife the luxury of health.

—An Ansonia cigar-maker went out hunting, and in addition to securing two quails, succeeded in putting five buck shot into the back of a farmer who was measuring his corn with a view of making it higher than any other in the neighborhood. There is not much encouragement for scientific farming.—Danbury News.

—Extravagance at funerals appears to be a universal evil. A man died recently in Cincinnati who was barely able to earn the sheerest necessities of life for his family; yet at his funeral there were twenty hacks, pall-bearers wearing the regulation dress, a profusion of flowers and a heavily plated casket. Upon all this display the rusty sign of "Washing and Ironing," nailed to the side of the house was a sad yet sarcastic commentary.

—"What's the woman charged with?" said the Court. "She's a dendbeat and vagrant, Your Honor," said the officer who arrested her. Then the woman spoke up and said: "If I can prove that I'm all right, will Your Honor let me off?" "Of course," said the Court. "Then," said the prisoner, "here's the family Bible, by which you'll see I'm Moll Wright"——"Saw my leg off," shouted the officer, who saw the point, "if she hasn't beat the Court, too." And the Court rubbed its nose with its forefinger and gently murmured: "Discharge the prisoner."—Mobile Register.

The Election To-Morrow.

To-morrow New Hampshire elects a Governor and Council, and other State officers, to serve for two years from June next; and also a Legislature which will not only hold office for two years, but will elect a successor to Hon. Bainbridge Wadleigh as United States Senator. There should be no need of calling the attention of any republican to the great importance of the party's securing control of the Legislature to be elected to-morrow, or of urging him to his duty by voting aright and using all his influence to get others to do the same.

The County Officers also—Register of Probate, Register of Deeds, Solicitor, Sheriff, Treasurer and Commissioners—will all hold office for two years. We do not consider the county ticket in any danger; the trick of nominating for County Treasurer on the greenback ticket a man of almost exactly the same name as the republican candidate, and the subsequent substitution of the greenbacker for the democratic candidate, will amount to but little; and the contemptible attack upon John H. Kent, the republican candidate for Sheriff, by insinuating that he corruptly connived at the escape of Toomey, will not suffice to induce the voters of the county to substitute for Col. Kent the democratic horse-jockey, A. Langdon Jenness, who as bank commissioner certified to the soundness of the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank not a great while before it bursted. Nevertheless it is the duty of every republican to act as though the success of the county ticket depended solely on his vote, and if every republican who really desires the success of the party does that, the opposition candidates on Wednesday morning will not know that they have been "running" for anything.

Remember that to-morrow's election lasts for two years!

The republican candidate for County Treasurer is George E. Lane of Exeter; the greenback-fusion candidate for the same office is George W. Lane of Derry—a nomination no doubt made with the hope of securing the votes of straight republicans through the similarity of names. Let every republican scrutinise his ballot before depositing it, and see that it bears the name of George E. Lane for County Treasurer, and John H. Kent (not J. Horace Kent, which is illegal on a ballot) for Sheriff.

The Democratic Chestnut Rake.

The Concord correspondent of the Boston Journal reports that a conference of democrats and greenbackers was held in Concord Thursday night and Friday morning, to make a last effort for a coalition on Congressional candidates. Among those mentioned as being present are Frank Jones and Henry F. Wendell of this city, Harry Bingham, Edmund Burke, William T. Norris, James W. Johnson, Hosea W. Parker and Lafayette Chesley. It was conceded that the putting up of Johnson as greenback candidate for Congress in the third district, which was intended to draw off republican votes and thus help elect Henry O. Kent, had worked badly; but as it would not do for Johnson to openly withdraw in Kent's favor, it was agreed by the greenback managers to have the name of Henry O. Kent, the regular democratic candidate, printed on the greenback ticket. In the second district it was agreed to substitute the name of the democratic Sulloway for that of the greenback Sulloway, on the greenback ticket. It is expected that the democrats who have joined the greenback movement will thus be all coaxed to vote the democratic ticket for Congressmen in those two districts, and that most of the republicans can be fooled into doing so.

How do the republicans who have been drawn into the greenback movement like the looks of things just now? Do they feel as tho' their fingers were getting well warmed in raking for democratic chestnuts?

News and Notes.

Secretary Sherman has written a letter in regard to the condition of the Treasury for specie resumption, showing that the per capita amount of paper circulation is larger in this country than in any of the principal countries of Europe. This paper money has, however, been reduced since November, 1873, $141,000,000; while in the same period the metallic reserve has been increased from $146,000,000 to $435,000,000.

During a quarrel at South Hadley, Mass., Thursday evening, over a game of cards, William Montgomery dangerously shot George Ellis in the back with a shot-gun. Ellis' shoulder was partly blown away.

At Houston, Texas, Thursday, William Coward rode up to Adolp Schachtrupp's house, called Adolph out and shot him dead. His victim had charged him with stealing a mule.

The rumors from London to the effect that the Russian cruisers in American waters are ordered to prepare for active service are untrue. All the vessels will be placed on the dock to be painted and scraped, which will consume two or three months, and one recently launched has not received her spars.

Essex Porter, son of Admiral Porter, forged the name of Gen. Fremont and obtained about $4000 in Cincinnati, with which he has defaulted.

James H. Wheatley, proprietor of a sugar refinery in Brooklyn, is missing. He has had in his possession nearly $250,000 of trust funds belonging to the orphans of the Gandy and other estates in that city. His whereabouts are unknown. Great suffering will ensue from this extensive defalcation.

The first granulated white sugar from beets ever made in this country has been received at the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, from the Maine Beet Sugar Company.

Richard J. O'Reilly, late chief clerk in the pay office at Charlestown navy yard, has stolen about $3000, and cleared out. He was removed by Paymaster Charles W. Abbott, recently ordered to that yard, his stealing at that time not being fully known.

Judge Otterburgh, of New York, entertained charges of an escaped girl from the Catholic Magdalen Asylum, and made an investigation, although those who run the asylum denied the girl's charges. The result proved that every charge of cruelty against the superintendent and his assistants were true, and the treasurer of the society now acknowledges the fact. He states that the house officials have been removed, and the concern will be rightly conducted in the future.

Daniel A. Warner was arrested in Boston on Wednesday of last week, charged with attempting to extort money from N. B. Goodnow, a well-known banker, and was held for trial in $3000. Warner had written several letters to Goodnow, threatening to take his life if the latter did not pay him a large sum of money.

Startling statements are made by the United States Consul at Tangier of the fearful ravages of the cholera in the interior of Morocco. Business is paralyzed and the cholera is sweeping over the middle and southern provinces, where hundreds are dying of starvation. To all these miseries small-pox and malignant fevers add their horrors.

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. C. F. Myers, formerly pastor of the Baptist church in North Sutton, Mass., and for three years pastor of the Baptist church in Peterborough, in this State, has been excluded from the pulpit and dismissed from the Christian ministry by the unanimous vote of a ministerial council. The charges of gross immoralities were sustained after a full and impartial hearing.

The Taylor mills at North Salem were burned Thursday night; loss about $50,000; insurance on buildings, machinery and stock, $35,000.

The Poor Tramps.

During a fight in a restaurant near the depot near Springfield, Ohio, Wednesday night of last week, between five railroaders and five tramps, two tramps were fatally injured and two railroad men badly beaten. One railroader and three tramps were arrested.

The four tramps who attempted to wreck a freight train near Guilford, Conn., last week, have been arrested. Their motive for the crime was revenge, they having been turned out of the depot in Guilford, where they were loafing.

A hundred tramps boarded a train on the Mississippi Central railroad at Como, Tenn., Wednesday, beat a conductor, and at last accounts were running the train.

A tramp called at the house of Michael Shanley in Webster, Mass., and asked for something to eat. Mrs. Shanley asked him to come in and take a seat at the table. She then went to the cellar-way to get something for him, when the rascal pushed her down the stairs into the cellar and locked the door. He then ransacked the house, and finding about $60 in a drawer he made off with it.

A tramp, who called at a clergyman's house in West Haven, Conn., was given shelter over night in the barn and invited to breakfast the next morning. After eating liberally, he joined the family in their morning devotions, and his finer feelings were evidently touched. He went away with a thankful heart and returning the next night stole the pastor's harness.

The tramps who gagged and outraged Mrs. Edwin Warner of Charlemont, Mass., in a ravine some weeks since, have escaped detection.

Two of the three tramps who murdered Green Brimmer, of North Pownal, Vt., a man seventy years old, by smashing his skull with a stone on the public highway, have for the present escaped arrest; the third one is in jail.

The tramp who shot the landlord of Leonard's hotel, at Winslow, province of Quebec, through the heart because he refused to give him whiskey, has been held for trial on a charge of murder.

All persons who are opposed to "the accursed tramp law" of New Hampshire, and favor its repeal, will vote against the republican party to-morrow.

—What a common expression is "How do you do?" and yet what a queer one would be, "How do you don't?"

—People who were rolling their eyes and making poetry over the Italian skies of last week are now discussing the price of leaf lard and stove coal.

—Human hair has gone up to seventy-five cents a pound, and the best quality of butter has gone down to thirty. Boarding-house keepers should note these facts.

—Zoological buttons now ornament children's dresses. They are of ivory, ebony, or wood, and birds or animals painted upon them, each button exhibiting a different design.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes thus, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

THE CITY.

Osgood Lodge of Odd Fellows, and their ladies, will have a social levee at the lodge room on Friday evening of this week.

Mr. Samuel G. Hooper has just received a cargo of potatoes from Prince Edward's Island, and is selling them off fast. They are first-rate—sound and mealy.

Miss Kathrina Eastman, a young lady who comes very highly recommended as a lady and teacher, will give instruction in voice-building and elocution, either privately or to classes, on most reasonable terms. Miss Eastman can be communicated with at Mrs. Edmonds', on Islington street.

Plenty of political enthusiasm to-night. Gen. Walter Harriman will speak at Music hall; John E. Fitzgerald, Esq., straight democrat, of Boston, in Franklin hall; and Howe Call, Esq., and Maj. David Urch, of this city, greenbackers, in Mechanics' hall. A brass band will be in attendance at the greenback meeting.

Mr. O. M. Knight on Saturday, the 2d inst., gathered from vines in his garden a nice mess of green peas. The seed from which these peas were raised grew on the same spot this year, the first crop having been harvested Aug. 8th, and the ground replanted on the 13th of the same month with some of the peas then gathered.

First Lieut. Christopher W. Harrold, of the 3d U. S. Artillery, having been summoned before a circuit court to be held in Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 4th of November, as a witness in the case of the State of New York vs. Horatio G. Gibson, will obey the summons in accordance with a special order of the War Department.

As the train from Boston due in this city at seven o'clock Saturday evening was nearing the depot in Lynn, a colored man attempted to run across the track in front of the engine, but was caught by the pilot and carried about fifty feet and then dropped under the wheels, which cut off both his legs and both arms, and partially severed his head. He was picked up and medical attendance called, and when the train left he was still alive.

Another conference is reported to have taken place between a couple of prominent greenbackers and three or four influential democrats, Sunday afternoon, at the fine suburban residence of one of the latter. The suggestion that the greenbackers called to sell a tub of butter to the democrat at whose house the confab was held is not satisfactory, as the latter's farm is one of the finest and best-managed ones in the country. It wasn't a butter trade that was discussed that afternoon.

SUPREME COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 2; Smith, J.

In the case State vs. John and Patrick Sheehan, a verdict of not guilty was returned. The jury were out thirteen hours. On the first ballot they stood seven for acquittal to five for conviction; at ten o'clock Friday evening a ballot showed ten for acquittal; and the last ballot, at 6:30 A. M., Saturday, resulted in an agreement on "not guilty."

The Sheehans were informed by the court that there was another indictment against them, for being accessory to the killing of Eugene Sullivan after the fact. They were not arraigned, but were let off on their own recognizance—equivalent to a discharge.

In case State vs. James F. Mahoney and Frank Graves, for stealing silver ware from the house of Dr. Francis Langdon on Pleasant street, only two witnesses were examined, one of them being the girl who says Mahoney "put up" the job. The court directed the foreman to take the sense of the jury, and on his reporting a disagreement the court directed a verdict of not guilty to be returned, which was done without the jury leaving their seats.

Adjourned to Wednesday morning at half-past ten o'clock.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 2; Batchelder, J.

William T. Moles was complained of for an assault on Jerry Crowley with a loaded gun. The case was a mixed one. Moles it seems is manager for Mary P. Hodgdon, and Crowley works for Solomon Schurman. Schurman bought three tons of hay of Moles, who was to take a cow in part payment; the cow was taken by Moles, but returned after several weeks, not giving satisfaction. Crowley and Schurman went to Hodgdon's place with three teams, entered the barn and loaded the three teams with hay. Just then Moles arrived, rushed into the house and brought out a terrible looking old army musket that has been well loaded ever since the war, and threatened to spatter Crowley and Schurman all over the place if they didn't put that hay back in the barn. Thinking they would be worth more if they remained all in one piece, they did put the hay back, and Crowley then entered this complaint against the belligerent Moles, who was fined $5, costs being taxed at $12.33. Moles was also required to give bonds in $100 to keep the peace for three months, which he did.

The continued case of Drake vs. the Cloughs, for leaving the pasture bars down, was again continued until Wednesday.

A STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT.

On Saturday afternoon the city was filled with posters headed "Democrats of Rockingham County," and reading as follows:

Whereas, The nominations of the Rockingham County Convention have been arbitrarily and illegally set aside, and names are proposed to be substituted thereon who are not democrats, nor could be supported by honest democrats who have the interest and honor of the democratic party at heart,

Therefore, A meeting of democrats is called at ten o'clock, A. M., on Monday, November 4th, at the Common Council Rooms, to consult and take action for the distribution of a democratic county ticket at the polls in Rockingham county.

It is stated that this movement in opposition to the Commercial house board-of-trade ticket is supported by many of the prominent working democrats of this city, and the vote at the democratic caucus in ward two, Saturday evening, gives color to the assertion.

A MIXED GREENBACKER.

There was a greenback rally in Dover, Thursday night, at which Dr. Chesley and Major David Urch spoke. The Democrat says:

Mr. Urch talked rather incoherently and told some laughable stories, but not very pat to his subject. He had a dig at Hon. Frank Jones, "the great brewer capitalist," as he called him, and said he had a partner two or three years ago named Johnson, who lived in Massachusetts, a bloated bondholder, and got elected to the Massachusetts Senate. We never heard of this before, and the statement only shows how cross-legged Mr. Urch travels in his speech. The Mr. Johnson referred to, that same "bloated bondholder," was elected to the New Hampshire Senate and is to-day the greenback candidate for Congress in the third district! So we suppose he must be a bloated greenback-holder now. Mr. Urch is not a very profound statesman and not an enchanting orator, albeit he probably means well enough. He didn't capture any votes to speak of here.

Unless the Democrat misunderstood Major Urch, that gentleman is not so thoroughly versed in the politics of his State as he is in the finance and political economy of the world, for he advertises at his lectures that "the iniquity and corruption of the money power will be fully exposed" and "the cause of the present scarcity of labor and money made plain," yet he is so poorly posted as to what his own party has done that he charges the greenback candidate for Congress in the third district of this State with being a member of the Senate of Massachusetts, and a bloated bondholder to boot. We are pleased to discover that there is one point on which our friend the Major is not fully informed, for we never did like people who know everything—it's too humiliating to us, as we don't pretend to know more than half of what there is to know in the world.

THE OLD MILL SOLD.

The south mill and machinery were sold at auction on Saturday by Morse & Ilsley, under instructions from Mayor Sise. The contents of the mill were sold first, in lots, the purchasers and prices of the larger articles being as follows:

Corn-cob cracker, $3; 2 1-2 inch and 3 1-2 inch belting, 3 1-2 cents a foot; eight-inch belting, seven cents a foot; boring, grooving and saw bench, $10.25; mortising machine, $14.50; rotary planer, $37; lot mill picks, $2.75—Mr. Priest.

One run mill stones with gearing complete, including ball, $13.50—John S. Wendell.

One run mill-stones and gear, $6.50—Oliver Ayers.

One jig-saw complete, $5; cutting-off saw bench, $5.50; lot of belting, four cents a foot; elevator, $2.25; bolter, five cents; wrought iron rods, $1.05 1-2 per cwt.; belt-tightener and saw-horse, $2.10; gaspipe and burners, thirty cents—Critchley & Whalley.

Shafting and pulleys, $2.10 per hundred lbs.: plug cutter, $2.50—Rider & Cotton.

Three grain bins, $1.75 for the lot—Wm. H. Smart.

Turning machine, $32.25—Mr. Barnard.

Saw-bench and saws, $10.25—Frank Tripp.

Edger-board, saws and frame, $12.75; turning lathe, belting and frame, $4.25—G. H. Briggs.

Grindstone and frame, $1.75—B. F. Mugridge.

Wheel and gearing, $7.00—Woodbury Seavey.

Cast iron chimney and rods, fifty cents—W. A. Hodgdon.

Two measures, ten cents—George Adams.

Hoister for gate, $1.00—W. W. Cotton.

Old wheel, twenty-five cents—George A. Perkins.

Mill building, $41—John Lynch.

AN EVENING OF ENJOYMENT.

A highly appreciative audience attended the opening lecture by Mr. James T. Fields, on Friday evening, of the course to be given at Miss Morgan's Young Ladies' Seminary. On such a subject as he chose for his theme, "The Literary and Artistic Life of London in the last Thirty Years," Mr. Fields has no superior. So much that is attractive is seldom concentrated in a single effort of the kind. It was one of those rare entertainments of the like nature that awakens a wish in intelligent listeners that they might have it in a form to read and re-read, a life-long pleasure, at their own firesides. After alluding to the inherent desire of all even in childhood to look upon London, of which they had read that their early favorite, Dick Whittington, was once Lord Mayor, he glanced at the authors, the artists, the statesmen, the scholars, and scores of others of note, of both sexes, who have figured in the great metropolis within the period embraced in his programme; every word of which was listened to with the deepest interest, while here and there were mingled veins of humor that elicited outbursts of the heartiest merriment. Especially interesting were the recollections of the lecturer of some of the scenes and places of which he treated, such, among others, as Rogers the poet, his famed literary breakfasts, and those he met there. Mr. Fields intimated several times that he was aware he was exceeding the time usually allotted for such an entertainment, but the audience would have been well content to listen to him for another hour. The well known ability, as lecturers, of the gentlemen who are to succeed Mr. Fields, is a sufficient guarantee that the whole course will be of great interest.

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following transfers of real estate in Rockingham county, have been presented for record in the office of the Register of Deeds:

PORTSMOUTH.

Robert S. Chase, of Haverhill, Mass., executor of the last will and testament of John Harvey, late of Portsmouth, to William C. Robinson, of Portsmouth, land on Hanover street, $2147.

Frank W. Miller, of Portsmouth, to John T. French, of Portsmouth, land, $1000.

Hannah L. Peverly, and Freeman Peverly, of Portsmouth, to William Hodgdon of Bath, Me., land, $350.

HAMPTON.

Samuel D. Lane, of Hampton, to Charles M. Lamprey, of Hampton, land, $500.

NORTH HAMPTON.

Minerva B. Fay, of Lawrence, Ohio, to Mary J. Batchelder, of North Hampton, land and buildings, $500.

Naval Matters.

Commodore William G. Temple is ordered to temperary duty on board the Hartford at Rio Janeiro.

Passed Asst. Engineer Charles F. Nagle is ordered to the Tuscarora.

Lieut.-Comdr. Charles M. Anthony is ordered to the command of the ironclad Manhattan, off Brandon, James river, Nov. 15th.

Midshipman Walter McLean is detached from the Powhatan, and placed on waiting orders.

The orders of Lieut. Charles O. Alliben to the Enterprise are revoked.

New Publications.

If one has not a surfeit of the greenback literature in the newspapers and magazines of the day, let him peruse Mr. Henry V. Poor's new work, entitled "Resumption and the Silver Question," which he claims to be a hand-book for the times. It is a book of two hundred and fifty pages, written by Mr. Henry V. Poor of New York, and published by the publishing house of H. V. & H. W. Poor, 68 Broadway, the proprietors of the well-known "Manual of Railroads." The author claims that his labors have been devoted in aiding to place the monetary system of the country upon the solid foundation of principle and in arresting the progress of the greenback party. Mr. Poor holds a different view from Secretary Sherman in showing that all government currencies are necessarily vicious; that they must disappear as provision is made for their payment and that resumption can never be reached while the legal-tender attribute of our notes is retained. The writer's conclusions are supported by historical facts, and he seeks to appeal to the intelligence and candor of our people by discussing this important question in a calm and fair spirit. He is sound in his position, and shows a familiarity with his subject which can have only been attained by dint of intense study of the history of finance and a careful observation of the workings of the intricate and delicate subject he handles. The work is to be had at Mercer Goodrich's bookstore on Market square, and its perusal would afford information to numberless disputants upon the subject who would be astonished at their limited knowledge of the questions they so glibly attempt to solve.

"The Europeans," a sketch by Henry James, Jr. Boston: Houghton, Osgood & Co. Mr. James begins his sketch at the Tremont House in Boston at a period thirty years since, certainly a respectable departure. The author has been well-known to the readers of magazines and his style is a favorite one with many. The book before us makes two hundred and eighty pages, is beautifully printed at the Riverside Press, and the imprint on the title page is a guaranty that the book is worthy of perusal.

"The Vision of Echard" and other poems by John Greenleaf Whittier. It is eight years since the two volumes of Whittier's poetical works, which contained so many favorite poems, were published by the former house of Fields, Osgood & Co. The successors of that firm now send us the new publication of the poems of the Quaker Poet. There are found all over New England many persons who make it a point to read everything of Mr. Whittier's that is published. The poet seems never to tire of singing the praises of the Bear Camp region any more more than do the visitors of that locality ever cease in their admiration of its scenery and delight in its legend, where "Touched by a light that hath no name,

A glory never sung,
Aloft on sky and mountain wall
Are God's great pictures hung."

The poem "At School Close" we predict one of these days will become a favorite reading piece in all the schools of land, and will be in days to come a source of enjoyment both by teacher and taught. The thought

"Be gentle! unto griefs and creeds
Be pitiful as woman should;
And spite of all the lies of creeds
Hold fast the truth that God is good," will survive after most of what is called poetry has been forgotten, while the cheerful and healthful tone of the poet growing even more enjoyable with ripening years will never fail to delight the readers of future years as it charms those of the present day. The book is for sale at Mercer Goodrich's bookstore, Market square.

Indoor Games.

The Court of Contradiction—Seats and hats for those playing are the only requisites. One player acts as judge; others come into court to present a case (which should be made as humorous as possible,) and as defendant, witnesses, jury, etc. When the judge rises, all others must sit, and vice versa; when his hat is on all others must be off, and vice versa again. The first who makes a mistake pays a forfeit or takes the judge's seat. This simple game is warranted to send a sedate party into shouts. It is a Spanish version of our "Simon says, thumbs up."

Twenty Questions, and Clumps. Everybody knows "twenty questions," or "animal, vegetable, or mineral," played by asking not more than twenty questions (with their guesses) to find out the particular thing thought of by one of the party. This is now played by asking leading questions, to be answered by "yes" or "no," and goes best in a roomful where players divide into two parties of equal size, one agreeing on the thing to be questioned of, the other asking questions in alternation. "Clumps" is a new variety, in which one person goes out from each side; these two agree upon an object, and each crosses over to the other "clump" to be questioned. Whichever "clump" guesses the object first takes the two who went out. The game is won when one "clump" thus captures all the people of the other.

Picture Conundrums. Each draws some absurdity on the end of a piece of paper, and at the other end writes what it is, folding the slip to conceal the latter. His next neighbor writes his guess of what the picture is, folds the paper again, and passes it along. The answers are read out in succession, when completed, to the great amusement of artists and contributors.

—Among the male bitterns of Florida "each heart knoweth its own bitterness." —Stamford Advocate.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tnov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

The seed of consumption can be destroyed by the use of Adamson's Botanic Balsam, the great remedy for coughs and colds. Price only 35 cts.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. tnov9

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE, Black or Brown, 40 cents.

DIED.

Fact vs. Theory.

On August 2d, 1878, Western Union Telegraph stock sold at the New York Stock Exchange for 84 1-2 per share. September 18th, 1878, the same stock sold at 96 1-4—a fluctuation of 11 3-4 per cent. in 47 days. 10,000 shares of this stock bought at 84 1-2 on a margin of 1 per cent. required an actual capital of $10,000. The same stock sold at the advance price of 96 1-4, showed a profit of $1175 per 100 shares, or 11 3-4 per cent. on the stock. On the whole 10,000 shares the actual profit was $117,500 or 11 3-4 times the capital used within the brief space mentioned. People often theorize about supposable cases. The above are hard facts shown by the official record. Very few persons, however, are able to invest singly the $10,000 necessary to reap such fabulous profits as were gained by the above transaction, but Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city, have issued a new circular showing how large or small sums may be used successfully in stock speculations by their new Combination Method of pooling thousands of orders into one immense sum and operating them as a whole, which places every customer on an equality with the largest operators, and divides profits pro rata among shareholders every 30 days. By this system large profits are made in short periods. $15 would make $75, or 5 per cent.; $50 pays $850 or 7 per cent.; $100 makes $1000, or 10 per cent. on the stock during the month, according to the market. The new circular explains everything; also contains "Two unerring rules for success in stock operations," and much other valuable information. Copyrighted and sent free. This firm furnishes best of references as to standing and responsibility. All kinds of Stocks and Bonds, wanted. New Government Loan supplied. Apply to Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city. nov6

The raining sensation—Dampness.

—The Burlington Vt., Press remarks: "Young Mossey of Winooski, who was announced as having committed suicide Monday walked into the Free Press office yesterday afternoon, and was examined by experts, who pronounced him well as ever."

—Well-dressed and semi-inebriated man goes into shop of Ypsilanti druggist and sticks his elbow through glass-case. Druggist collars him and demands $3. Man says: "Tlash allri" and refuses to understand what is wanted of him. Druggist searches man's pockets, finds $50 bill, puts $47 change in man's pocket book and expels him, the inebriate staggering away blandly remarking "Ish allri—no offensh." Next day druggist finds that the $50 bill is a counterfeit.

—"Do you keep keramics?" said the man from Boston, as he walked into the general store at Podgers Corners. "Keramics; or perhaps here you call them ceramics. But you know in Boston we adopt the Greek analogy in the spelling and pronunciation of words derived from that language. "Have you ceramics?" "See—see which?" "Ceramics." "Never heam tell of no such critter as them round these diggins. They don't raise 'em; sile too sandy an' dry. And besides there ain't much of a market for fruit in this section, anyway." The Boston man couldn't express his feelings. He was overcome. He just raised his hands to heaven with a wild, despairing glance, and quitted the store.—Boston Transcript.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the traveling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are imbedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. 16eb26 79

THE GREAT

FALL RIVER LINE,

BETWEEN

BOSTON and NEW YORK.

THE MAMMOTH STEAMSHIPS

Bristol and Providence,

Of this Line, are the Largest, Handsomest, and Most Costly in the World!

Trains leaving Boston from the OLD COLONY Railroad Station at 4:30 (Accommodation) and 6 (Steamboat Express) P. M., connect with these "Floating Palaces" at Fall River daily (Sundays excepted), arriving in New York at 6 A. M.

No line can offer the accommodations presented by this favorite route.

ONLY 49 MILES OF RAIL,

Passing through Narragansett and Mount Hope Bays by daylight—

NO DISAGREEABLE NIGHT CHANGES,

But affording passengers a full night's rest, and having an open water route, avoids the intricate and perilous river navigation incident to other routes.

Grand Promenade Concert on each Steamer every evening during the summer.

New and Elegant Drawing-Room Cars on Steamboat Express Train.

BROOKLYN ANNEX STEAMER connects with this Line only, leaving Pier 28, North River, New York, on arrival of steamer from the East. Passengers and baggage for Brooklyn transferred free.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Tumors, Internal Abscesses, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a complete constitution established. Swelling, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has its unrivalled power been manifested in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and costiveness, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the first stage of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians prescribe it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chaff, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. They are entirely vegetable, particular care is bestowed while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., PROP'R, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, slight or in cure, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and SWEETLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the nasal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

BENSON'S CAPCINE Porous Plaster.

A Wonderful Remedy.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For LAME BACK, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Plait Street, New York. inov20

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acrid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow, ish, emitting a foul odor, or sizzy and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the throat and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. The latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become inflamed, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membranes are dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye is sympathetic, becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, becoming visited by the most vicious neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A tried survivor of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the success in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with simple directions for effecting a permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to the afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of 3 stamps.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all forms of Catarrh. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

[Communicated.]

The Conspiracy on Board the U. S. Brig Somers.

Editor of the Chronicle:—Never was there a grosser misrepresentation of facts than in the attack upon the memory of the late O. H. Perry, of the U. S. Navy, and the pretended account of the above conspiracy, as given in the article copied into the CHRONICLE of Friday and credited to the Cincinnati Gazette. The Somers was under the command of Lieutenant Slidell Mackenzie, and when three hundred miles from St. Thomas, word came to him from the purser that a mutiny was contemplated on board; information of the fact being obtained from the purser's steward, who had pretended to join the mutineers that he might learn the details of their plans. It would be hard to contrive a deeper laid or more fiendish plot than appeared by the papers of the instigator of it, who, though young in years, having reached but the age of nineteen, was old in villainy. Philip Spencer was a midshipman, and son of Hon. John C. Spencer, then Secretary of the Treasury. Among those he had induced to join him, was Cromwell, the boatswain's mate, who was afterwards imagined, from what was learned of his history, to have been an old pirate, instead of a mere youth as represented in the story of the Cincinnati paper. Spencer had the mutineers all supplied with large knives that he had purchased when opportunities offered of his being on shore, and had bound them with frightful oaths not to reveal the plot. His plan was to seize Midshipman Rogers when in charge of the deck at night, gag him, and throw him overboard. He was then to enter the cabin and kill Lieut. Mackenzie, the commander, and others were appointed to seize the officers with the exception of the surgeon, as they came on deck, murder them and throw them overboard. The next move was to proceed to the Isle of Pines, and then cruise in search of merchant vessels bound from New York to Europe, kill all the men found on board, and give up the women to the pirate crew. Spencer's antecedents were very bad, though so youthful in years; he confessed that twice before, when in the Pacific, he had attempted to create a mutiny. He was sent home by Commodore Morris on his promise of resigning his commission, but did not do so, and was sent on board the Somers. He had also been expelled from the West Point Academy. Nothing of the kind could be fairer than the trial of Spencer and the two, Cromwell and Small, who were regarded as most culpable of those he had induced to join him; the verdict against them was unanimous, and as symptoms appeared of an inclination to rescue them by others who had been led astray by Spencer, and as there were no marines on board, there seemed no other way to do for the safety of the others on board but to hang them at the yardarm. So far from its being but a boyish frolic, as the writer in the Cincinnati paper would attempt to represent it, Spencer admitted his guilt and the justice of his sentence. Small's last words were to invoke a blessing upon the American flag, and ask forgiveness for having dishonored it. Cromwell did not deny that he had yielded to Spencer's solicitations to join the conspiracy, but died impenitent. The full details of the affair can be found in the newspapers of the time, (1843,) and with rare exceptions the press and the public at large acknowledged the justice of the sentence of Spencer, and such of those among his confederates as shared his fate. J. H. B.

Concerning the article commented on by "J. H. B.," a correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal writes to that paper as follows:

Oliver H. Perry, whose death seems to have prompted the article, was the second son of O. H. Perry, the hero of Erie, and had been a lieutenant in the navy, but resigned early in life. Commander Mackenzie's clerk on board the Somers was at that time a young cousin of the above named gentleman, but took no part in the proceedings resulting in the execution of Spencer, Small, and Cromwell. The two last were not young hands but old sailors—Cromwell being boatswain's mate, and Small, before his death, acknowledged the justice of his sentence. Midshipman Spencer belonged to an influential and distinguished family, and they could not be expected to recognize, under any circumstances, the justice of a sentence that sentenced their relative to a disgraceful death. Commander Mckenzie stood as an officer, as a man, and a gentleman among the first of his grade. He was tried and acquitted by a court-martial composed of officers of high rank and distinguished reputation, and although there may have been differences of opinion as to the finding of the Court, the navy, I think, generally sustained it. The officers who were actors in this tragedy of the sea are all dead, but their memories are yet cherished by many living friends. Commander Mackenzie's second son, Lieut. A. S. Mackenzie, was killed in an attack on savages while acting on the staff of Admiral Bell, commanding Asiatic fleet. General R. S. Mackenzie, another son, is well known to the army and the public.

News and Notes.

Jackson, Miss., had five new cases of yellow fever, and three deaths, on Sunday.

Frank Sturgeon, twenty-five years old, on Thursday fatally shot Miss Mary Buffum, a school teacher of Rock Island, Ill., as she was going home from school. Miss Buffum had discarded Sturgeon as a lover.

Thomas G. Cockrell, nephew of United States Senator Cockrell, was found murdered on Friday in a store at Ridge Prairie, Saline county, Missouri. His skull was crushed and throat cut. The supposition is that he was murdered by tramps on Thursday night, as the victim's pockets and the money drawer of the store had been rifled. Cockrell was clerk in the store, and slept there.

Details of the massacre by the Cheyenne Indians in Sappa valley, Col., September 29th and 30th, show that they killed fourteen men and left twenty families in utter destitution. The outrages committed on young girls and women are so horrible to recount. The savages then went to Beaver river and Republican valley, where they killed sixteen more men and committed more outrages on women and girls.

George Armstrong and Jerome Howard, the tramps arrested Oct 28th for robbery of Charles Cahn's store in Rutland, Vt., had a hearing in the Burlington city court, Friday, and were bound over for grand larceny in the sum of $500 each, failing to procure which they went to jail. Howard was also bound over in $500 for assault with intent to kill, in attempting to resist the arresting officer.

During the ravages of the yellow fever in the lower Mississippi valley, thirty-two priests and twenty-eight nuns fell victims in the discharge of their duties. The Catholic Relief Association has given aid to the amount of $86,000.

Since the organization of the Federal Goverment in 1779, there have but four Judges on the bench of the District of Massachusetts, namely: John Lowell, John Davis, Peleg Sprague, and the present Judge, John Lowell.

Bridget Jarvis of Lowell, ten years old, was burned to death Saturday while trying to kindle a fire with kerosene.

Mr. Beecher visited Barnum's a couple nights ago, and chance and the usher piloted him to a seat exactly in front of Mr Tilton. Mr. Tilton got up and moved to another part of the house.

From the East Boston elevator for the year ending Oct. 1, 1878, there have been shipped 5,860,988 bushels of corn, 3,497,862 bushels of wheat, 87,258 bushels of oats, 55,044 bushels of peas, and 10,992 bushels of barley.

The Portland Advertiser publishes an article on the trade of that city, giving the result of interviewing thirty-one leading firms, showing that ten out of twenty lines of business think trade is better than last year. Part of the remainder think less business done but payments more certain, and both agree that trade is in a healthier condition. The remaining trades depending on local patronage or coming under the head of luxuries find little encouragement. The prevailing feeling is hopeful. There has been less building in Portland, but more in the suburban towns.

Wilson Greenhaigh, a middle aged man of Olneyville, R. I., who has a wife and seven children, married Mrs. Mary Ann Eaton of Woonsocket on Thursday of last week, and eloped on a steamer to England on Saturday. Mrs. Eaton's third husband dropped dead in the Lippitt mill at Woonsocket a year ago. Greenhaigh had Mrs. Eaton at his home on a visit a fortnight ago, and on the day he married the widow he had their pictures taken by a photographer and forwarded to his deserted family.

New Hampshire Items.

A Peterboro young woman of seventeen has recently given birth to triplets—two boys and a girl; all three were born alive, and the boys promise to grow up, but their sister lived only a few hours.

Clarence D. Grant of Suncook, twenty-two years old, committed suicide at his home Sunday morning by shooting himself with a revolver. He leaves a wife.

Rev. W. O. White preached his farewell sermon at the Unitarian church in Keene on Sunday, making twenty-seven years he has presided over the same, during that time attending over 500 funerals and officiating at over 500 marriages. There was a motto in evergreen over the pulpit, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant—1851—1878."

An Exeter despatch says: Sheriff Kent has received reliable information that Toomey, the prisoner who jumped off a train, is secreted by his associates. It is understood that he is badly injured, and will not remain long unarrested.

An Awful Warning to Servants.

A man out on South Hill had reason to belive that his superintendent of cuisine was in the habit of using kerosene to start the morning fires. He placed his suspicions in the form of a charge, which was indignantly denied, and proof demanded. He wasn't ready for his testimony, and the case was dismissed for lack of evidence. But his suspicions increased and he ordered a secret investigation and appointed himself chairman of the committee, with power to send for persons and papers. He laid his plans with care, and the next morning he followed his maid-servant down stairs at a careful and respectful distance, and hid himself near the kitchen door, where he could not see nor be seen, while he could hear very distinctly whatever was said or done. The rustle of paper and the rattle of dry light wood was succeeded by hasty steps toward the closet in the cellar way. Then he heard the gurgling of the liquid, as though it was bubbling out of a small tin spout. He heard the can set down and then the scrape of a match.

"H'm," he heard the maid-servant remark. Then another match snapped, and a barely audible fizzle succeeded. Grimly smiled the silent man at the outer door.

"H'm," remarked the maid-servant, a little petulantly. Another match snapped and blazed up. Another sound as of sizzling. The smile on the face of the man deepened into a grin.

"Well, I never did!" came from the kitchen, and there was heard the sound of more pouring on the lightwood. Another match and more silence.

"Well, did you ever?" queried the queen of the range, evidently anxious to obtain testimony corroborative of her own experience as set forth in her previous statement that she never did. The man sitting outside the door throttled himself with both hands and softly pounded the ground with his heels. Something evidently excited him, and when the next match snapped he caught himself by the legs and bit fiercely into the corner of the door frame in a frenzied effort to smother a hollow groan.

"The old scratch is in the oil, I do believe," said a troubled voice in the kitchen, and more pouring ensued. Another match, another, another. And the man crawled off behind the cistern box and hugged his knees with many insane expressions and silent demonstrations of interest, when he heard the angry voice inside the kitchen say—

"Plague on such oil! I'd like to pour it down Will Darling's back."

Another match, and then a confused sound of rattling and scraping, and a tearful woman came to the door and hurled an armful of soaked paper and lightwood out into the yard and kicked an oil can after it. The smiling man crept back up stairs unseen. Breakfast was late that morning and when the queen of the kitchen was asked the cause wherefore, she said somebody had left the shed door open and all the lightwood was damp. And no man who had ever filled an oil can with non-explosive cistern water ever looked half so innocent as the man who sat at the head of that table choking over a graham muffin.—Burlington Hawkeye.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

ELECTION NOTES.

Look out for split tickets.

The polls open at nine o'clock this morning, and close promptly at six o'clock in the evening, before which time every republican in the city should have deposited his ballot. Vote early as you can—but be sure and vote some time during the day, for you will not have a chance to vote again for State or county officers for the next two years.

Democrats who wish to vote for Charles H. Joy for deputy sheriff and keeper of Exeter jail, can do so to-day by voting for the fusion candidate for sheriff, Amos L. Jenness, who was put on the greenbacker's ticket as their candidate in consideration of promising to take care of Mr. Joy in the manner indicated.

We have before cautioned republicans to look out that the name of the candidate for Sheriff on the ballots they deposit is put down as John H. Kent; we have now to warn them that it will be necessary to vote for JOHN HORACE KENT, the name being spelled out in full, the tickets for the whole county having been so prepared; ballots thrown for J. Horace Kent or John H. Kent will be thrown into the "scat." It is important that this should be remembered.

The republicans of ward three must not forget that they are in the Newmarket Senatorial District, and that their candidate is Emmons B. Philbrick of Rye. The rest of their ticket, and the full tickets for the other wards, are printed at the head of the second page of this paper.

THE CITY.

The schooner E. A. Creed, while coming in from the Shoals on Sunday, had the head of her mainmast carried away.

The Humbug Yachting Association have finished operations for the season; the Humbug's mast has been taken out, and the craft will at once be placed in winter quarters.

Mr. A. S. Palmer of New York, one of Murphy's lieutenants, will on Thursday evening at half-past seven o'clock commence a series of gospel temperance meetings in Mechanics' hall. All are invited.

The schooner M. E. Eldredge, of this port, Staples master, George T. Vaughan agent, is chartered to take a cargo of corn to the Canary islands at $6 a ton—a first-rate charter indeed, as freights rule now. The M. E. Eldredge carries 450 tons of coal, and will probably carry about 400 tons of corn.

That greenodemback auction of principles at the Commercial house had a very bad effect on the Times; since then its readers have been treated to no spirit stirring appeals to stand by the regularly nominated candidates of the party, no denuciations of greenbackism, no little stories about "Squire Call" or "Squire Hodgdon," no squibs about "Bill" Conn and his greenback glee club, no nothing. Now the cruel war is over, however, our neighbor will no doubt get after the greenbackers again with a sharp stick.

Advices from Cape Town, Cape of Good Hope, dated Oct. 1st, says: "The Calcutta, ship, from Rangoon for Falmouth, was towed in here Sept. 28th, in charge of the mate, by the Georgietta Lawrence, American schooner. The mate reports that the master, Hanson, died on Aug. 6th. On Sept. 11th, during a heavy gale, the rudder was damaged. On the 19th, she spoke the Red Gauntlet from Calcutta for Liverpool, on the Agulhas Banks, and was offered assistance which was not then required. On the 22d, during another gale, the rudder was carried away. The Cape of Good Hope then bore north by west, thirty miles distant, but a southerly wind coming on, the vessel was blown to the westward. A jury rudder was rigged by hanging a spar over the stern, and the vessel again made the Cape of Good Hope on the night of the 26th, twenty-three miles off. On the 27th she spoke the Georgietta Lawrence, which, after lying by all night, took the Calcutta in tow in the morning about fifteen miles off Table Mountain, and brought her into port."

THE VICINITY.

Inspector W. H. Pennell established Webster Post, G. A. R., at Kennebunk, Wednesday night of last week.

Mr. Wilbur of Hampton has purchased most of the trees that were blown down in the late tornado at the south part of Rye, and the logs are now being teamed to his saw-mill at Greenland depot for working up.

The house of Mr. Oliver Robinson, at Kittery, was damaged by fire to the amount of about fifty dollars, Monday morning.

Alexander Dennett, Jr., of Kittery, assistant engineer in the United States revenue marine, has been ordered to New York on special duty.

Mr. J. E. Bennett of Greenland, while putting up his horse in his stable late at night recently, was attacked by a tramp and knocked down. Recovering, Mr. Bennett started for the fellow, but almost instantly fell in a swoon. When his senses returned all was quiet.

News of the death in Texas of Benjamin F. Whidden, of Exeter, reached that town on Wednesday, Oct. 30th. Mr. Whidden was employed on the Boston & Maine railroad as engineer for more than fifteen years before the the strike, and went to Texas nearly a year ago taking a new engine from one of the shops in Massachusetts with him to be run on a Texas road. He was to have returned home at the end of the year. The cause of his death was not mentioned.

About seven o'clock Sunday night Henry Reed, who keeps a large boarding house on Dover Landing, discharged a gun loaded with small shot at a crowd of boys, and about thirty shot took effect in the neck and shoulders of John Murdock, seventeen years old. A large crowd soon surrounded the house, and threats of lynching were made. The police succeeded in arresting Reed and getting him to the station. He is a sober, industrious man but has a quick temper. The boys have given him much trouble of late, and he has frequently threatened to shoot them. Murdock is said to be a quiet young man and does not belong to the party which has troubled Reed. He is seriously wounded, but will probably recover. In the police court, Monday, Reed was sent to jail in default of $1500.

A STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT.

In accordance with the call of Saturday for a meeting of democrats opposed to affiliation with the greenbackers, and particularly to the fusion on the county ticket which was traded for at the Commercial house in this city some days previously, a number of well known democrats met in the Common Council room on Monday forenoon to consider the situation. The leaders in this movement had been warned that an attempt would be made by the greenbackers and some of their democratic allies to capture this meeting a la Worcester convention, and the number of greenbackers and shaky democrats hanging around being strong corroborative proof of the correctness of the information, the meeting was adjourned to the office of Hon. Albert R. Hatch, the last democratic Speaker of the New Hampshire House of Representatives. After some discussion and some very plain talk, the following resolutions, addressed "To the democrats of Rockingham county," were adopted:

Resolved, That it is the duty of democratic voters in this county to adhere to the established principles of the party, and vote at the coming election for the candidates regularly nominated.

Resolved, That we wholly repudiate the attempt of certain unauthorized individuals to present to the voters of this county as a democratic ticket a list of candidates who have not been regularly nominated, and are not faithful to the established principles of the democratic party.

Resolved, That all democrats be earnestly requested before voting to examine carefully their tickets, and see that they vote for none but democrats who have received regular nominations by conventions called according to the usages of the party.

THE LAST GUNS.

The greenbackers of Portsmouth had a parade Monday evening, preceding their meeting in Mechanics' hall. John K. A. Hanson led the van, with a transparency without any light in it; then came a brass band with a half-dozen torches and "fiat" music, alias absolute silence; and then about twenty men and boys. It was a hard show. Howe Call, Esq., did not appear on the platform of Mechanics' hall, so all the work of enthusing the faithful assistant democrats was left to Major Urch, who, not being inspector and mustering officer of the State militia, is consequently a greenbacker.

Major Urch had an audience as large as Mechanics' hall would hold; we are told he pitched into the Chronicle vigorously, though we have not learned what he said—but it doesn't matter, for we don't believe he knows any more about newspapers than he does about finance.

Gen. Harriman had a large and refined audience, including many ladies, at Music hall; he was enthusiastically received, and his address fully maintained his reputation as one of the most effective stump speakers of the day.

John E. Fitzgerald, Esq., of Boston, addressed the democrats in Franklin hall. He is a good speaker, and considering that there were two other meetings at the same time he had a very good audience.

A TRICK TRUMPED.

Late on Saturday Sheriff Kent learned that a circular making recklessly false charges against him as to capture of the notorious Bill Coombs and the escape of Toomey had been prepared, and would be thrown broadcast over the county on election day, it being the intention of the perpetrators of this miserable trick to keep it secret until too late for any reply to be made. Fortunately the Sheriff procured a copy, and immediately prepared a reply, and on Monday sent ten thousand of his answers about the county, to be distributed the moment the lying circulars were produced. He refutes line by line the false charges against him, one of which is that the expense of the recapture of Coombs was "upwards of one thousand dollars and not by order of the court," he showing that the expense does not exceed three hundred dollars, and quoting Chief Justice Doe, Judge Stanley and the late Solicitor Small as his authority for making the capture. The malicious, absurd slander regarding Toomey's escape he answers with Hon. Albert R. Hatch's letter to the Times denouncing it. The circular against the Sheriff is in the interest of and attributed to Ames L. Jenness, the democratic candidate for sheriff who has sold out to the greenbackers; a lot of them were distributed in Exeter Monday evening, and were immediately followed by the distribution of Col. Kent's reply, which completely dumbfounded the conspirators.

As the greenbackers were passing through the street Monday evening some contemptible ruffian threw a stone at Mr. John K. A. Hanson, who was carrying a transparency, and struck him in the face, inflicting a severe wound. Several other stones were thrown.

Naval Matters.

Orders were received at the navy yard on Monday to go ahead with the repairs on the U. S. S. Lancaster in accordance with the recommendation of the board of survey.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga went into commission at noon on Monday.

At San Francisco, Saturday, in the case of the government against R. C. Spaulding, ex-Navy Pay Inspector, for uttering false navy pay certificates, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

The Secretary of the Navy is distributing to the widows and orphans of the men lost in the United States steamer Huron the fund provided for them by the last session of Congress. The award amounts to forty dollars for each beneficiary.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Fruit Butter.

It is only nine years ago that this article was first introduced into the market of Philadelphia, and two only years since this manufacture was begun here. The wholesale trade generally handles these goods. Fruit butter may be easily made in the country. The same purpose that sugar subserves in manufactories here, may be accomplished there by the use of cider. When apples are ripe make, say, three barrels of cider. Then pare and core four bushels of apples. Then boil down the three barrels of cider to one and a half, and set it convenient to the copper kettle, in which place the four bushels of apples. Pour on the apples from the cider enough to answer the purpose, and fire up. As the cider boils away add more and more until it is all used up and the contents of the kettle are brought down to a proper consistency, of which one must be judge. A little practice will make one perfect in this process. This is for apples. It will apply equally well to any other kind of fruit from which it is practicable to obtain the juice as one would from apples.—American Grocer.

Fine Carpets.

Visitors to the Mechanics' Fair, Boston, found the most superb display in this line made by the Bigelow Carpet Company, of which the old and well-know house of Joel Goldthwait & Co., 167 and 169 Washington Street, keep on hand a full and complete assortment. American industry is well represented in this exhibit, their Wilton carpets being artistic in design, unsurpassed in material and manufacture, and furnished at moderate prices. The daisy-pattern carpet on exhibition received a gold medal at our Centennial; and the Persian carpets also have just received a gold medal at Paris. Besides these fine goods of home manufacture, Messrs. Goldthwait & Co. have the finest stock of imported carpets ever shown in Boston, with Persian and Turkish rugs and mats, oil-cloths, mattings, and all other goods usual in a first-class carpet-house. Parties visiting Boston are invited to inspect this fine store, whether purchasers or not. All depot-cars pass the door.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

The Best Plan.

The most profitable plan for operating in stocks is that of uniting capital of various sums by combining or pooling the orders of thousands of customers and using them as one mighty whole, which has been done successfully by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city. By this co-operative system each investor is placed on an equal footing with the largest operator, and profits are divided pro rata among shareholders every 30 days. An investment of $10 would pay $50, making 5 per cent. on the stock during the month. $25 would return $150, or 5 per cent.; $100 would make $1000 or 10 per cent., and so on, according to the market. Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, June 29th, says: "The combination method of operating in stocks is the most successful ever adopted." New York Independent, Sept. 12th, says: "The combination system is founded upon correct business principles and no person need be without an income while it is kept working by Messrs. Lawrence & Co." The firm's new circular (copyrighted and sent free) contains "Two unerring rules for success in stock operations," and explains everything. All kinds of Stocks and Bonds wanted. New Government Loan supplied. Address Lawrence & Co., Bankers and Brokers, 57 Exchange Place, New York city. oct24nov4

At a Butler-greenback rally in Gloucester, Mass., last week, one of the speakers was J. F. Spaulding of Boston, who according to the Cape Ann Bulletin "closed with a glowing picture of the prospective greenback party, assuring his audience that the eighty thousand bankrupts throughout the country are in the movement; every young man out of employment is in it; the tramps are all in it; all the manufacturers, all the mechanics, the laborers of every class are in it, and the spirits of the dead and just men made perfect and the holiest hopes of mankind are combined in approving it."

FULL-SIZE PAPER PATTERNS !

☞ A Supplement will be given in every number for 1879, containing a full-size pattern sheet for a 1 dy's or child's dress. Every subscriber will receive, during the year, twelve of these patterns, so that these alone will be worth more than the sub-scription price. Great improvements will also be made in other respects. ☜

"Peterson's Magazine" contains, every year, 1000 pages, 14 steel plates, 12 colored Berlin patterns, 12 mammoth colored fashion plates, 24 pages of music, and about 900 wood cuts. Its principal embellishments are

SUPERB STEEL ENGRAVINGS!

Its immense circulation enables its proprietor to spend more on embellishments, stories, &c. than any other. It gives more for the money than any in the world. Its

Thrilling Tales and Novelettes

Are the best published anywhere. All the most popular writers are employed to write originally for "Peterson." In 1878, in addition to the usual quantity of short stories, FIVE ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT NOVELETTE will be given, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Jane G. Austin, and that unrivalled humorist, the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife."

MAMMOTH COLORED FASHION PLATES

Ahead of all others. These plates are engraved on steel, twice the usual size, and are unequalled for beauty. They will be superbly colored. Also, Household and other receipts; in short everything interesting to ladies.

N. B. As the publisher now prepays the postage to all mail subscribers, "Peterson" is cheaper than ever; in fact is the cheapest in the world.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. Its

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the Far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Scrofula, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow blotches upon the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, and taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of chalk, gripe, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are one-third smaller than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Biliousness, Constipation, Piles, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Dull Heated feeling, Gloom of Mind, Loss of Blood by Bleed, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Any one can judge of the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, scaly, crusts, or infected mucous membrane, or obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst case of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of treatment yet invented with which Bulb medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores are often frequently called, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary in severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may rise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases, from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to excoriate and inflame the parts of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges causes the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing difficult and sometimes difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to come directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucous becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter in so crusted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when protration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every case of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

The End of a Checkered Career.

At Philadelphia, recently, the cars ran over and killed an old man who was picking up coal on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad. At the inquest it was discovered that deceased was named August Fry, and had once been wealthy and held a high social position in Germany. He was born in the Duchy of Baden in 1810, and in the occupancy of prominent government positions he amassed a great fortune. In the revolution which swept over Germany in 1849, he took an active part in the ranks of the Young German party, and lost financial aid besides. He was a member of the last Constituent Assembly of Baden which was convened after the flight of the Grand Duke. The return of that ruler supported by the Prussian forces drove Fry and other republicans into exile, and Fry's property, worth $300,000, was confiscated. He went into several different business ventures in this country, but failed. He then fought in the army during the rebellion, and afterwards gradually became impoverished, and when killed was totally destitute, subsisting by gathering and selling coal.

—Crash in the dry goods business—towels.

—A dentist at Berlin has succeeded in making artificial teeth of paper, and the man with a tin ear may not be so far off.

—A humming bird is the last slipper ornament and anything more grotesquely absurd and unbecoming it would be hard to imagine.

—The Chicago Times is to be enlarged Jan. 1st, to eight columns on each of its eight pages, which will make it the largest daily paper in the world.

—A writer in the Scientific American says that after the electric light shall come into general use, the gas companies may profitably use their works in making non-illuminating gas for cooking and heating.

—Mr. Phillips of Milling, Mich., whipped his thirteen-year-old daughter till she consented to be married to a man she detested. As soon as the ceremony was over she escaped and roused the neighborhood, and her husband and father had to fly for their lives.

—A New Zealand colonist has invented an implement for driving nails which he calls a "nail gun." It is like a gun in shape and length. It is kept in position with the foot and knee, and the nail to be placed (point down) in an aperture at the top of the concern. It slides down to the bottom, and then the operator draws up a rod, and by one downward stroke of this the nail is clearly driven into the boards beneath. A skillful hand will do the work of half a dozen men with this invention.

—When a woman is named "Enough" there must be a good reason for it. Dr. Drysdale, President of the Malthusian League, says that he once met in an English hospital a young woman of that name. She was the thirteenth daughter of her mother, and was named "Enough" by a justly incensed father, who evidently thought that matters had gone far enough, and that a line must be drawn. The mother of Enough did not take the hint, but gave birth to nine more children, making twenty-two in all.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-NINTH YEAR.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

A Premium Annual to Every Reader.

The Country Gentleman is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: One Copy, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the club; Ten copies, $2, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

For the year 1879, these prices include a copy of the Annual Register of Rural Affairs, to each subscriber—a book of 145 pages and about 150 engravings—a gift by the publishers.

The Country Gentleman possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the best farmers of all parts of the country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

The Country Gentleman gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

The Country Gentleman has probably done as much as all other journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind, through the country; and commands, to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

The Country Gentleman contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to the and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

The Country Gentleman embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited Review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1878.

THE ELECTIONS!

BEN BUTLER BOTTLED!

Massachusetts for Honest Money.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ALL RIGHT!

Elections were held in thirty States on Tuesday. In all of them members of Congress were chosen, and in seventeen States governors and other State officers were elected. In most of the States there were three tickets in the field, and in several of them four; while the congressional district that did not have three or more candidates was poorly supplied, in some districts five and even six being voted for.

Next to the result in New Hampshire the contest in Massachusetts attracted the most attention in this State; the audacious campaign of Butler, from the time he nominated himself as an inflation-repudiation-communistic candidate, and forced the Worcester convention to "ratify" him, down to the day of voting, having drawn the eyes of all New England to that State. The New Hampshire greenbackers ardently hoped for the success of "Old Ben," and the organs of that party in other States claimed that he would be elected. The New Haven Union, the ablest greenback paper in New England, a few days before election said "a shrewd political observer has canvassed Massachusetts twice since September first, and he is sure Butler's plurality will not be less than 5000. He says Butler will carry twelve out of nineteen cities. Boston will give him 4000 plurality and Lowell 1200. It is plain that the money power is terribly scared. The republicans will not only lose the State, but at least five members of Congress. It is probable that three straight greenbackers will be chosen to Congress, and three democrats with a leaning towards greenbackism. The Legislature is likely to be in full sympathy with Governor Butler." The republican press of Massachusetts claimed Butler's defeat as a certainty, and that the republicans would at least hold their own on Congressmen.

The democrats, too, made strong claims. The Boston Post's Washington correspondent, under date of Nov. 1st, said: "Reliable reports received by the Resident Democratic Campaign Committee in this city, within the past few days, from Pennsylvania and other States in which elections are to be held on Tuesday next, are of the most satisfactory and cheering character, and give evidence that the democrats will in nearly all of them achieve a glorious triumph. The republican leaders here are disheartened and have given up all hopes of securing the control of the next House of Representatives, and concede it to the democrats by from thirty to fifty majority. Intelligence received at the republican headquarters yesterday from New Hampshire indicates that the republicans have given up all hopes of carrying that State on Tuesday, and admit the loss of one member of Congress and concede that the democrats and greenbackers will elect a majority of the members of the Legislature, thus giving them the election of United States Senator to succeed Wadleigh, and the election of governor, as it is admitted on all sides that no choice of the latter will be made by the people."

But Ben Butler is defeated, and not only has the rag-baby been bounced in Massachusetts but it has been soundly spanked in New Hampshire, where the boasted "national" army of from 10,000 to 20,000 repudiators will not exceed 6,000. The following despatches will tell all that was known up to 1:30 this (Wednesday) morning:

BOSTON, 9:30 P. M., 5th.

Butler's friends concede Talbot's election by 30,000 plurality, and all the republican Congressmen except in the 4th (Morse's) district. Vote of Boston—Talbot 20,762, Butler 25,214, Abbott 1,663; Butler's majority 4,452.

BOSTON, midnight.

Two hundred and sixty-six towns give Talbot 127,365, Butler 106,000. A large number of republicans supported Butler; democrats divided between Butler and Talbot. Vote heaviest ever cast.

Fall River, Talbot 2084, Butler 2726. Lawrence, Talbot 1950, Butler 2634. Salem, Talbot 2245, Butler 1510. Haverhill, Talbot 1314, Butler 1041. Worcester, Talbot 4352, Butler 3785. Lowell, Talbot 3773, Butler 4236.

CONCORD, 5th; 9:00 P. M.

The republican State committee claim all the Congressmen, and a good working majority in both branches of the Legislature.

CONCORD, midnight.

One hundred and forty towns give Head 22,667, McKean 18,688, Brown 2944. The indications are that Natt Head is elected by the people, all the Congressmen secured by the republicans, and also both houses of the Legislature.

NEW YORK, 9:00 P. M., 5th.

Anti-Tammany has won in the city contest. The republicans have carried the Assembly, and made a gain in Congressmen.

HARTFORD, CONN., 8:30 P. M.

Eighty-seven towns give Hubbard, democrat, 22,780, Andrews, republican 23,119.

PHILADELPHIA, 7:00 P. M.

Republican majority estimated at 12,000.

The "Home for Old People."

For some time past efforts—which now promise to culminate in success—have been made to establish a Home for aged and destitute people, of both sexes, at Concord, the benefits of which will be open, as far as its means will permit, to the deserving in all parts of the State. A fair in aid of this Christian and humane object is to be held in White's opera house, in Concord, on the 12th and 13th days of November, in which a great many benevolent ladies and gentlemen have taken deep interest, and will contribute liberally towards its success. Amongst the means to be used for raising the required fund to perfect the design of the founders of the "Home" will be a paper, made up of contributions in prose and poetry, never before published, and specially written for the paper, by many of the master-minds in literature, natives of or residents in New Hampshire. It will be edited by Mrs. Charles C. Pearson, and in the list of contributers are Mr. James T. Fields, Mrs. Celia Thaxter, Miss Edna Dean Proctor, Mrs. Abba Gould Woolson, Professor Sanborn of Dartmouth, Mr. C. S. Gage of New York, Sister Mary Whitcher, Mr. Benjamin P. Shillaber (Mrs. Partington,) Miss Emma E. Brown (popularly known as "B. E. E.,") Miss H. McEwen Kimball, Mrs. Jane A. Eames, Miss Mary D. Chellis, Hon. Edmund Burke, Mr. Ass McFarland, Hon. Wm. Butterfield, Judge Wm. L. Foster, Dr. Albert L. Crosby, John C. Moore, etc. Miss Parloa, the famous principal of the "Boston school of cookery," will contribute three receipts never before printed, and the paper will contain many things not herein mentioned which will render it both attractive and valuable. It will be sold for ten cents a copy, or ten copies will be sent by mail, prepaid, for one dollar. Parties are invited to form clubs of ten, and send the money, addressed to the editor (Mrs. Charles C. Pearson,) lock box No. 64, Concord post office. The object of the fair is one which ought to excite general interest over the State, and insure its liberal support. Every little will help materially.

New Hampshire Items.

Work on the Profile & Franconia Notch railroad commenced last week, and grading commenced Tuesday, Nov. 5th, near Bethlehem station.

The First Baptist society of Manchester, William Hayne Leavel, pastor, has subscribed the balance necessary to liquidate its debt, amount to nearly $20,000.

Naval Matters.

Medical Inspector Chris. J. Cleborne is detached from this navy yard and placed on waiting orders.

Surgeon Charles H. Burbank is ordered to duty at this navy yard.

News and Notes.

A leading London journal comments with bitterness on what it regards as a threatening despatch addressed by Secretary Evarts to the American Minister concerning the fisheries question. It professes to see in this despatch a disposition on the part of the United States to take advantage of the present condition of England's foreign relations to force her to give way.

The late robbery of the Manhattan Savings bank, when nearly three millions of the bank's property and an untold amount of private funds were stolen in the very heart of New York city, in broad day, shows how unsafe it is for those having bonds and other securities to leave them in any bank vault. The presence of such special deposits greatly increases the temptation to burglars, and for this reason prudent bank officers are refusing longer to receive them. Ten dollars a year—2 3-4 cents a day—will hire a safe in the vaults of the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company, on Post-office square. These vaults are unequalled in strength and are protected by all the best appliances of art and the most careful and constant watchfulness. They will well repay a visit.

At Chetopa, Kansas, Theodore Munsterman, a farmer, was arrested Friday, charged with murdering a farmer named Hunt, and mortally wounding his wife, on the Wednesday night previous. Hunt was shot through the right eye, and Mrs. Hunt through the left eye. The latter revived sufficiently to state that Munsterman committed the deed. An old feud existed between the men.

A young man in Cincinnati desires to marry a girl of thirteen years. She is willing and so are her parents, but Ohio law refuses a license to one so young, and without a license, clergymen in that State are forbidden to perform a marriage ceremony. The pair intend to go beyond the reach of such restrictions, accompanied by their relatives, and to be wedded in spite of all obstacles.

J. E. Hartman, the Lumberton, N. C., commercial traveller who was shot by Miss Linkham, who charged that he had seduced her under promise of marriage, is dead. He died protesting that he never in any way wronged the girl.

Twelve years ago Deacon Benson of Fort Wayne, Ind., a man of forty-eight years of age, was worth $500,000. He speculated, lost money, became a passenger conductor, then a saloon keeper, then a street-car driver, then a pauper; last week he died in the hospital and was buried in Potter's Field.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

The entire republican county ticket of Rockingham county is undoubtedly elected and Col. J. Horace Kent, for Sheriff, leads the ticket. Taking the governor vote in March last for the towns not heard from, the majority on Sheriff will be over a thousand.

The total vote of this city was 2097 on Register of Probate, an increase of four votes over the Governor vote in March, when Prescott had a plurality of 89 over McKean, the combined opposition having a majority of 29 over Prescott. Natt Head has a plurality of 239 over McKean, and a majority of 97 over all others. The largest vote cast for any candidate was for Sheriff, Col. Kent having 1142 votes, leading the Governor 37 votes and the Congressman 32.

We are under especial obligations to Messrs. James A. N. Rugg, clerk of ward one, William S. Hazel, clerk of ward four, and Asst. Marshal Chas. A. C. Gray, for prompt courtesy in furnishing us the election returns in their respective wards.

TEMPORA MUTANTUR.

As time passes, the errors of judgment into which so many have fallen will pass away, and when those who have gone into the greenback movement honestly, leave it, those others who have entered it as a short road to office will also desert it. This is only a question of brief time. Such being the probabilities, it would be suicidal in the democratic party to allow a line to be drawn between itself and the republican party upon the issue of "hard" or "soft" money, with the republicans supporting the former. The republican leaders are, even while secretly negotiating with the nationals in reference to the fall elections, endeavoring to so order the campaign as to induce or force the democratic party into supporting "soft" money. — Portsmouth Times, October, 1878.

Knowing that the democratic State committee had counseled, advised and sanctioned the coalition between the democrats and greenbackers in county matters, and had printed and circulated throughout the entire county, tickets bearing the names of the coalition candidates, we had supposed that no one would object to the coalition.—Portsmouth Times, Nov. 4th. 1878.

THE TICONDEROGA.

The crew of the U. S. S. Ticonderoga, (which went into commission at noon on Monday, Nov. 4th,) consisting of two hundred and twenty men, will arrive from Boston at about noon to-day in the tug Leyden. The Ticonderoga is officered as follows:

Commander Bartlett J. Cromwell, commanding.

Lieut. Comdr. Henry C. Nields, executive officer.

Edward W. Sturdy, Hobart L. Tremain, Frauklin J. Drake, Kossuth Niles, Lieutenants.

D. P. Mannix, 1st Lieut. U. S. M. C.

Chas. E. Vroeland, Master.

Walter S. Huges, Frank F. Fletcher, Harry H. Hosley, David Daniels, Ensigns.

Henry M. Wells, Surgeon.

Richard A. Urquhart, Passed Asst. Surgeon.

Wm. J. Thompson, Paymaster.

Fred G. McKean, Chief Engineer.

Samuel Gragg, Joseph P. Mickley, Passed Asst. Engineers.

Geo. W. McElroy, Joseph R. Wilmer, Cadet Engineers.

Jas. T. Barker, Boatswain.

Wm. T. Devlin, Gunner.

Joseph L. Thacher, Carpenter.

Chas. E. Tallman, Acting Sailmaker.

Geo. B. Rosse, Paymaster's Clerk.

The Ticonderoga will go from here to Norfolk, Va., where she will be joined by Commodore Shufeldt. She will then proceed to Funchal, isle of Madeira, and from thence to Liberia, then down the coast of Africa to the Cape of Good Hope and the Indian ocean, returning by way of the Red sea, Suez canal and Mediterranean sea to the Atlantic ocean, and home—on a scientific cruise.

THE CITY.

Ex-Gov. Ichabod Goodwin has been chosen President of the Piscataqua Savings Bank, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late William H. Y. Hackett.

The Temple Quartette, of Boston, will give a concert on Tuesday evening, Nov. 12th, under the auspices of the Middle street Baptist society, assisted by eminent talent to be announced hereafter.

History repeats itself, in the occupation of the store in Exchange building beneath the CHRONICLE office, which has been recently enlarged and remodeled by its owner, Hon. Frank Jones. The new windows and its clear plate glass afford its new occupant, D. H. Montgomery, a fine opportunity to display a part of his choice selection of engravings. Mr. Montgomery's special business is the dealing in pianos, sheet music and musical goods. Pianos were sold in this store years long gone by, and now with an elegant warerooom and fine light, Mr. Montgomery is offering every facility for our people and those of neighboring towns to supply themselves with every thing needed in the way of music. In the framing of pictures, Mr. James Barton, a mechanic who has long had experience in this department, will be found at this establishment ready to receive patrons. The new store is a credit to the enterprise of the proprietor, and we trust our readers will remember that the good taste and energy of Mr. Montgomery here displayed should be encouraged by their liberal patronage.

The Times of Tuesday evening reads Hon. Albert R. Hatch and Mr. Henry Peyser out of the democratic party. What has the greenback organ got to do with the democratic party, anyway?

THE VICINITY.

C. E. Bartlett's sash and blind factory, and a saw-mill belonging to Hiram Horn, in Berwick, Me., were burned at one o'clock Monday morning. Loss about $2500; insured for $1200. Supposed incendiary.

Charles Spencer of Boston, and Henry Montague, two tramps, were arrested in Biddeford on Saturday for stealing a lot of hats from a store. James Murphy, Patrick Murphy and Daniel Driscoll, of Boston, and James Haley, who hails from Portsmouth, all of whom had been loafing about Biddeford for a week in company with Spencer and Montague, were arrested for vagrancy.

Beware of Cheap Excitants,

And use, if you need a tonic stimulant and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The liquors of commerce, even when they are not adulterated, fail to produce more than a temporary exhilaration, usually followed by a depressing reaction, anything but beneficial to a weakly constitution. Not only do the potent botanic ingredients combined with the alcoholic of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters minister to the health and vigor of those who use it, but the basis—pure old rye, the finest and most salubrious liquor distilled, is no mean promoter of a healthful condition of the digestive organs. Its presence in the Bitters is essential to preserve their vegetable constituents from fermentation, and it unquestionably augments their remedial value. Few medicinal preparations of a proprietary nature have ever received such strong commendations from medical men.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. inov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the choicest extracts of barks, roots and gums, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties. It cures all throat, chest and lung difficulties. Price 35 cts.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. inov9

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by all Druggists.

Are Fat People Healthy.

Why are fat people always complaining? asks some one who entertains the popular though erroneous notion that health is synonymous with fat. Fat people complain because they are diseased. Obesity is an abnormal condition of the system, in which the saccharine and oleaginous elements of the food are assimilated to the partial exclusion of the muscle-forming and brain-producing elements. In proof of this, it is only necessary to assert the well-known fact that excessively fat people are never strong, and seldom distinguished for mental powers or activity. Besides, they are the easy prey of acute and epidemic diseases, and they are the frequent victims of gout, heart disease, and apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat is the only known remedy for this disease. It contains no acid, is absolutely harmless, and is warranted to remedy the most confirmed case of obesity, or corpulency.

—A widespread evil—A big umbrella in a crowd.

—The "sweet by and by." is now spoken of as the "saccharine future."

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double throughout the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and roadbed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

of the

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must forever be a PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Dyspepsia, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Blackheads, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, sick stomach, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and permanent cures.

In an early stage of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians prescribe it as the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it invigorates the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are the concentration of three hundred medicinal roots.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. Dod' operate on the most delicate constitution, diet, or occupation.

For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulder, Tightness in the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in regions of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Dark or Yellow Skin, Tongue Coated, Pain in Side and Back, Hot Flashes, Low Spirits, Hard to Breathe, Nervous Irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, and a single dose often expels a long-standing impurer. Ape does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and hermetically close bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with Pills put up in cheap wooden, or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets ever so the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharges falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be used, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid remedy can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the numerous cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and conditions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous conditions of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause irritation and excoriate the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper parts of the head feeling constantly hot, as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free nasal discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Everything in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The unprecedented testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Change in Catholic Church Administration.

A recent dispatch from Rome mysteriously intimated that Pope Leo was about to take steps to make the Roman Catholic church in this country more powerful than it ever has been. The dispatch was immediately contradicted in various quarters on the authority of sundry Bishops, but it proves to be true notwithstanding, and a full account of the scheme comes by way of the Indianapolis Journal. It is not so odd a source of information as it might seem, for Indianapolis is in the diocese of Vincennes, whose new Bishop, Mgr. Chatard, late of the college of the propaganda, is very newly from Rome and the counsels of Leo XIII. The Pope has issued a letter to the hierarchy in America directing a radical change in the administration of the church with the stated object of bringing it into harmony with American institutions. The supreme power of the Bishops over the congregations and clergy of their respective dioceses is to be substituted by a system of canons. Priests are to be made rectors instead of pastors of their parishes; the bishops will appoint the priests, but cannot afterward remove them at will, or without their commission of some ecclesiastical or moral offense; and the decision as to a priest's guilt or innocence of such a charge will not rest with the bishop, but with an ecclesiastical court of other clergymen. This court is to be permanent, and its members are to be nominated by the diocesan council and elected by ballots in a convention of the clergy of the diocese. The court tries actions and reports its findings to the bishops, who passes on them; the accused has the right of appeal from the bishop to the metropolitan, and thence to the Pope, as now. This is a series of important changes in the form of administration; whether they accomplish the purpose assigned to the Pope in their institution may be open to doubt.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-NINTH YEAR.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

A Premium Annual to Every Reader.

The Country Gentleman is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: One Copy, one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the club; Ten copies, $22, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

For the year 1879, these prices include a copy of the Annual Register of Rural Affairs, to each subscriber—a book of 145 pages and about 150 engravings—a gift by the publishers.

The Country Gentleman possesses an unequaled corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the best farmers of all parts of the country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

The Country Gentleman gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

The Country Gentleman has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands, to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

The Country Gentleman contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

The Country Gentleman embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited Review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

THE ELECTIONS!

The returns up to Wednesday evening, in New Hampshire, gave Head for governor 32,907, McKean 25,457, Brown 5366, scattering [105; Head's majority, 1979. Sixty-eight towns remained to be heard from, and it was thought Head's majority might be reduced to about 1000. The Council stands four republicans and one democrat; House, so far as reported, 138 repubs., 75 dems., seven greenbackers; Senate 16 repubs., six democrats, with the Newmarket (Philbrick's) district and the Plymouth district in doubt. All the Congressmen are republican.

The vote of Massachusetts was all in but eight towns, and showed Talbot's plurality over Butler to be over 25,000, and his majority over all to be rising 6000. Butler is killed once more—but he won't stay killed more than a week. The republicans elected all but one of their candidates for Congress, including Walbridge A. Field, whose seat in the present Congress is occupied by Dean.

In New York, city and State, Tammany was beaten all along the line. Danforth, repub., was elected judge of the court of appeals, and the Assembly is republican by eight or ten majority. Muller, Eickhoff and Willis, Tammany democrats, are all defeated for Congress by republicans, a gain of three; "Jemmy" O'Brien, anti-Tammany, is elected in the tenth district.

Connecticut's Legislature is strongly republican, which secures the return to the United States Senate of a republican in place of Barnum, the "mule" merchant. In Connecticut the republicans gain two Congressmen. The defeat of the demagogue Landers by Gen. Hawley is of itself a great victory.

Rhode Island is all right, as usual, with her regular republican majorities and two republican Congressmen.

In Vermont, Barlow, bolting repub., was elected to Congress from the third district.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania is more strongly republican than the one last elected; the democrats on Wednesday were claiming that the delegation in Congress will stand the same as the present one, 17 republicans and 10 democrats; the republicans claimed a gain of three Congressmen.

In Michigan the republican plurality was stated at 30,000, the Legislature being strongly republican, and the Congressional delegation solidly republican—a gain of one.

New Jersey elected a Legislature republican in both branches, which secures a republican United States Senator in place of Randolph. Hon. George M. Robeson is elected to Congress; the republicans gain one or two Congressmen, which secures the vote of the State for the republicans in case of the election of President by the House.

In Illinois the republicans report gains throughout the State, and have elected their State ticket. In Chicago a gain of two republican Congressmen is assured.

Wisconsin reports a republican victory and possibly a gain of one Representative.

Minnesota reports the usual republican majority, and an entire republican delegation in Congress.

Kansas reports the election of two republican Congressmen, leaving one district to be accounted for. The State, as usual, is republican.

In Maryland the republicans gain one Congressman, which is offset by a loss of one in Tennessee.

The "solid South" is broken up by a single Congressman, Jorgensen of Virginia. The democratic "red-shirt" campaign in South Carolina sufficed to overcome the 5000 or more majority in each of the districts of Rainey and Smalls, and in very few other districts in the south did the republicans put up candidates. The bull-dozing of the south has been effectual.

A statement prepared in Washington, Wednesday, shows that the democratic majority in the House will be from ten to fifteen. This is based upon the following gain of Representatives by the republicans; New Hampshire, one; Massachusetts, one; New York, five; New Jersey, three; Connecticut, two; Pennsylvania, three; Maryland, one; Illinois, three; Michigan, one; Wisconsin, one; making a total of twenty-one. The democrats are credited with a gain of three in South Carolina, one in Louisiana, one in North Carolina, and ten at the October elections, making a total of fifteen, leaving the Republicans with a net gain of six. The present democratic majority is nineteen, and deducting the gains by the republicans would leave the democrats with only a majority in the next House of thirteen.

News and Notes.

While Mrs. John Shea, of Lowell, Mass., was down cellar after some coal, her two-year-old son had his clothes catch on fire from the stove, and in his pain jumped into the cradle in which was his little sister, seven months old. The former died in an hour from his injuries, and the infant child is not expected to live.

Two weeks ago Jennie Coyle, who lived with her brothers on a farm near Fort Dodge, Ill., disappeared with her infant and no trace of them was found until Nov. 4th, when the bodies of both were found in a well. The supposition is that the woman drowned herself and child, as her relations with her family were unhapy.

Patrick Hart drew a revolver to shoot Hugh Towey in a saloon in San Patricio, Tex. The barkeeper requested him not to fire, because the mirrors might be broken. So the pair considerately retired to the street, where they shot at each other, duel fashion, until Towey was killed.

John Sherman of Brimfield, Mass., aged eighty, while taking care of his horse Saturday morning, was kicked senseless, the blow breaking his jaw and inflicting many injuries. His wife in trying to pull him from under the horse, was kicked in the face, having both jaws broken and most of her teeth knocked out. It is doubtful if either recover.

Reasons have been filed in court at Camden, N. J., for a new trial in the case of Benjamin Hunter, convicted of the murder of John M. Armstrong, but decision is reserved.

Mr. Sartoris, Nellie Grant's husband, is said to have grown aldermanic in size and to bear a striking resemblance to the Prince of Wales.

Conrad Kepp, a Keokuk (Ia.) German, was so fearful the removal of the Keokuk and Des Moines car shops from town would throw him out of work that his services in the shop became of little value, and he was discharged. Then he became possessed of the idea that he and his family would starve to death, and for over a fortnight not a morsel of food or drop of water has passed his lips, and for a month he has not taken off his clothes, and sits in his chair dozing from time to time. The monomaniac has lost a third of 150 pounds weight, and the doctors say he must soon die, for it is too late for food to do any good now.

At the last Cabinet session it was unanimously agreed that the President's message should contain some recommendation for the enactment of legislation either to increase the weight of standard silver dollars or diminish the coinage, or to adopt both of these means of preventing further depreciation of its value. The subject will be again considered at a future meeting.

News and Notes.

The fifth annual Convention of the New Hampshire Sunday-school Association commenced a three days' session in the Congregational church at Nashua on the evening of the 5th inst. As address of welcome was delivered by Rev. W. H. Eaton of Keene, and was responded to by Rev. G. C. Waterman of Dover. Eminent Sunday-school workers from abroad were present.

Charles H. Souther, who died at South Seabrook, Oct. 29th, was the tallest man in the town, and perhaps in the State, measuring six feet four inches in his stockings.

Mr. James Ham, a well-to-do farmer and resident of Barrington, was found dead in his bed on Monday morning, 4th inst. Mr. Ham retired on the previous night in apparently good health, but his non-appearance at the breakfast table the next morning caused a search, which resulted in the above discovery. Deceased was widely known, highly esteemed, in easy circumstances, and had reached his 75th year.

They Fought a Good Fight.

Intelligence received from New Hampshire indicates that the republicans have given up all hopes of carrying that State on Tuesday.—Boston Post, Nov. 2d.

Notwithstanding the acknowledged hopelessness of their cause, the New Hampshire republicans made a good fight, didn't they, Mr. Post? If they had not "given up all hopes of carrying the State on Tuesday," where would the democrats have found themselves on Wednesday morning?

Origin of the Tilden Engagment Suit.

A Western paper hints that Miss Nellie Haseltine of St. Louis set afloat that story of her engagement to Mr. Tilden merely to advertise a grand charitable performance of "The Mistletoe Bough," in which she was to appear, and without any expectation of two contingencies—that the news would be given to the Associated Press and a public denial return instantly and that the reporter to whom she had told the story would "give her away," as he did promptly in self-defense. Rev. John Snyder, of the Church of the Trinity, preached a plain-spoken sermon on Sunday night, in which he hauled the writers of "Society Gossip" over the coals in the most merciless manner, concluding as follows: "In many cases, very many cases, the young ladies are not to blame for these silly reports. They are to be put to the credit of the indelicacy of the daily press. But in scores of instances they themselves stand ready to furnish the information needed, and feel a slight if they are not paraded in public print. The papers have full encouragement and applause or else they would soon abandon a practice so revolting to any refined sensibility."

EASTERN RAILROAD CO.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 75 State street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the Register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office to Mr. Joshua Crane a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the Voting Register will be closed on the twenty-ninth day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, no registration will be made.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. disp1019

THE CITY.

Those greenback majorities turned out to be all "fiat."

The "Borneo Midgets" will be on exhibition in Franklin hall for the week commencing Nov. 8th.

The number of coasting vessels which arrived at this port from November first, 1877, to November first, 1878, was 1172; number of seamen, 7465.

Col. J. Horace Kent's majority for sheriff will foot up between eleven and twelve hundred. He is ahead of every other candidate on the county ticket, from which it appears that Andrew Jackson Hoyt's greenbacked "powder-boat" circular was no more dangerous to the enemy it aimed to injure than the original Butler invention was.

Col. J. J. Dillon, by order of the commander-in-chief of the New Hampshire Volunteer Militia, will inspect the Second Troop of Cavalry, of this city, on Monday, Nov. 11th, at two o'clock P. M., and the Portsmouth Guards at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of the same day; the Light Artillery on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock; and the heavy Artillery at half-past seven o'clock Tuesday evening.

The democracy concede that Joshua L. Foster is the only sound democratic editor in this section, and the only man of the party in the newspaper field whose counsels are always right. We shall now see the other papers scrambling back to the democratic field, but Joshua stands like a beacon light that has never succumbed. As one of the life-long democrats while stirring his whiskey and water on election evening remarked, "we lost a safe pilot when we let Joshua go from this county, and we ought to have him back again."

We are informed that the city is likely to be defendant in a suit for defaming the character of the Boston Saturday Evening Express, or something of the kind. As we hear it, Mayor Sise instructed the police to suppress the sale of the Express in this city on Sunday, on the ground that it is an obscene publication; and the proprietors of the sheet have brought suit for damages against the city, or are going to, and have employed Copeland and Edgerly of Great Falls as their counsel. Quite a number of the papers were sent by mail on the 4th and 5th insts. to various citizens of Portsmouth, some of whom had never before seen a copy of it, and it is possible that the parties thus "favored" may be cited to court to say whether or no they consider the Express obscene, or merely scurrilous.

If the national-repudiation-inflation-greenback party is to be, as its advocates have so loudly proclaimed during the campaign just closed, "the party of the future," it must be of a future so distant as not to concern anybody yet born. In March, 1878, the greenback vote on governor in this city was eighty-one; on representative, taking the highest vote in each ward, 109; on State senator the greenback vote was but sixty-two, the managers having sold out the party to Hon. Marcellus Eldredge, the democratic candidate. At this election the governor vote was 139, an increase of thirty votes in eight months—not a wonderful growth considering the aid given to the movement here by the Butler-Kearney campaign in Massachusetts, and that Major Urch stumped the city. On representatives the increase of the greenback vote of the city was thirty-eight, the highest vote of each ward aggregating 147 against 109 in March. The deluge was only a shower after all, and not a very heavy shower at that.

A PERILOUS TRIP.

A correspondent at the Shoals writes us that "Capt. Jonathan Godfrey, of Hampton, who has commanded several vessels, made one of the quickest passages between the Shoals and Hampton beach on record, if not the very quickest, on Wednesday, Oct. 23d, (the day of the great gale which wrecked so many vessels between Cape Ann and the Florida keys,) when in thirty-nine minutes from the time he hoisted the sail on his small boat in Star Island roads he had her high and dry on Hampton beach, where he was compelled to run her as the only chance of saving his life, the sea running very high and the wind blowing a living gale at the time. At the time he made sail he had a stiff breeze, which rapidly increased to a heavy gale, with rain; when about half way across the boat broached to and was boarded by three seas, which half filled her and made her almost unmanagable, but Capt. Godfrey being an experienced boatman managed to take her to land. As he neared the shore he was anxiously watched by Messrs. Harvey Brown, Orin Lamprey and several other experienced boatmen and fishermen; as the boat neared the beach they stood at the water's edge, ready with stout hearts and strong arms to lend a hand, and as the boat struck she was seized and ran up the beach out of harm's way, though not without her saviors getting a watery reminder that old Neptune was in no mood for trifling that day."

WATER STREET MISSION.

The basement of the building recently purchased by Mr. C. Morris Tredick, at the head of his wharf on Water street, has been neatly fitted up for a Gospel Mission hall for the especial benefit of residents in the immediate vicinity, and has a very pleasant and comfortable appearance. The first service was held there on Sunday, Nov. 3d, at seven o'clock in the evening, Dea. E. B. Goodall presiding, and also directing the singing; about forty persons attended the services, which consisted of singing, and a number of short and appropriate addresses. Services will be held each Sunday and Wednesday evening until further notice.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

Regular meeting Wednesday evening, Nov. 6th; present, Mrs. Kniget, Mrs. Wilson, Messrs. Sherburne, Hoyt, Hackett, May, Gardner, Knight, Vaughan, Locke, Wendell and Pender.

Miss Rothwell's confirmation as teacher in the Lafayette school was reconsidered and laid on the table.

Committee on revision of studies reported recommending that the masters and teachers make a revision and submit it to the Board; accepted and adopted.

Report of district two committee as to transfer of teachers in the district was accepted.

Report of the committee on teachers' meeting was deferred until the revision of studies can be considered.

Bills of H. B. Buzzell & Son, and of others, were ordered paid.

An amendment of No. 11 of the General Regulations, so as to transfer the granting of certain excuses from the chairmen of district committees to the teachers, was reccommended.

A "LIBERALLY PASTED" CANDIDATE.

The Times on the evening of election day said: "Scratching among the republicans has apparently been in order, especially noticeable with the names of Kent for sheriff and Broughton for State senator, both of whom have, we understand, got liberally 'pasted.'" The Times has a chronic habit of "understanding" that what it would like to be, actually is; and is evident that in this case the wish was father to the thought, at least so far as Mr. Kent is concerned. Mr. Broughton did run seventy-seven votes behind the governor ticket in the three wards comprising the 24th senatorial district, yet still his majority was 101 over Hon. Daniel Marcy, Major Urch and "scat." combined. How "liberally" Col. Kent "got pasted" is shown by the facts that he ran ahead of his ticket in every ward in this city; that he led the governor ticket by thirty-seven votes, the congressional ticket by thirty-two votes, and had seventeen more votes than did Mr. Harriman for county solicitor, Mr. Harriman's vote coming the nearest of any * to Col. Kent; and that Kent's plurality over the horse-jockey candidate of the green-demobackracy, A. Langdon Jenness, was 212, Natt Head's majority for governor being only ninety-seven. Mr. Kent's home vote would have been still more flattering but for the fact that quite a number of tickets on which his name had been placed, had the "sticker" put on in such a manner that the office for which he was a candidate was not designated, and of course such ballots could not be counted at all. As the horse-jockey candidate, who was on both democratic and greenback tickets, ran seventy-eight votes behind the combined vote for governor, seventy-five behind the combined vote for congressman, and sixteen behind Frank W. Rand, coalition candidate for register of deeds, it is possible that the "liberal pasting" of Kent referred to by the Times was the pasting of his name over that of "Lang" Jenness.

* On looking over our election report, we observe that Mr. Newton Johnston, for county commissioner, leads Col. Kent by eight votes, having a total of 1150—an endorsement by his townsmen that he should be proud of, whether he is or not.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 6; Smith, J.

The following is a list of the jurors who were summoned for the fourth week:

Abednego Robinson, Sherburne Somerby, Exeter; William F. Batten, Hiram B. Lord, (excused before court,) Wm. Conn, (excused before court,) Alexander L. Rand, Portsmouth; Charles W. Jones, Stratham; George F. Armstrong, Windham; Hiram P. Pierce, Atkinson; David P. Dickey, Auburn; Joseph B. T. Graves, Brentwood; John Mason, Chester; Jonathan French, Danville; John L. Philbrick, Joseph R. Webster, East Kingston; Osmond S. Currier, Joseph B. Sanborn, Fremont; Joseph A. Lovering, Nathan Berry, Greenland; Emmons B. Blake, Joseph J. Mace, Hampton; Orender Corson, Albert H. Little, Hampstead; Henry McDevitt (excused before court,) Matthew S. Pike, Hampton Falls; Benj. F. Rowe, John Page, Kensington; Geo. F. Quimby, Nathaniel Parker, Kingston; John E. Yeaton, John W. Neal, Newcastle.

Joseph A. Lovering of Greenland was excused from service as a juror.

David E. Smith of South Newmarket, and Charles E. Smith of Dover, vs. L. P. Cushman, was opened in the morning. This action is brought to recover damages for obstructing by a building a way to the use of which the plaintiffs claim a right. The defendant denies that there is such a way, and claims that the premises are the close and freehold of defendant, and that he erected the building lawfully as he had a right to do; also that the land was the property of the Hedding Camp Meeting Association, and that the building was erected by the permission of the association. The pleas were the general issue, with three special pleas. Defendant was a Methodist clergyman, now deceased. The question of course is to whom belongs the land. Smith's land lies somewhat remote from the road, and he bought it of one Barber; the way is claimed as an appurtenance of the tract conveyed. It is also claimed to be an ancient way, occupied as a passage way for a long series of years, and that at the time Smith bought the land it was the only way of access to his land. Elder Cushman, then a clergyman living in Nashua, erected his cottage there, and hence the controversy. A plan was shown the jury by Mr. Frink, who opened the case for the plff., who is the senator-elect from the Dover district. The jury left in the mixed train on the Concord & Portsmouth railroad for East Epping, "to view the landscape o'er;" and the trial will begin on Thursday.

Cases First National bank vs. Rider and Newell, and Rider vs. Pickering in review, are next in order.

In the afternoon the new docket was called. The number of actions entered this term is one hundred and ninety-seven.

THE VICINITY.

Nearly fifty members from Hope Division, Sons of Temperance, of Newcastle, visited Old Oaken Bucket Division of this city, Monday evening. Several representatives of the Dover Division were also present. The guests were entertained with literary and musical exercises, and a bountiful supper was served.

The new barque building near the railroad bridge in Newburyport for M. F. Pickering & Co. of Boston, is named "McLauin" in honor of Capt. McLauin F. Pickering, formerly of Greenland, senior partner of the house of M. F. Pickering & Co. The vessel will register 1300 tons, and will be ready for launching about Thankgiving time.

Our correspondent at York, under date of Nov. 6th, sends us the following: "The large three-story boarding house, with the stable near by, at the brickyard in this town belonging to J. P. Norton of Lewiston, Me., with their contents, were burned this morning, all efforts to save any of the property proving vain; reported insurance, $5000; cause of the fire, the old, old story! a defective flue."

SHIPBUILDING IN KENNEBUNK.

We have for a long time wondered how the shipbuilders at Kennebunk could manage to be at work upon the construction of so many ships, while in other places the yards were idle. It is explained that they build not upon contract but for sale, and although they build cheaper vessels than would be contracted for they have increased the supply over the demand. It seems that several vessels are being finished at Kennebunkport with the sheriff and his keepers aboard, as the firms that built them are minus upon their payments.

Beware of Cheap Excitants,

And use, if you need a tonic stimulant and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The liquors of commerce, even when they are not adulterated, fail to produce more than a temporary exhilaration, usually followed by a depressing reaction, anything but beneficial to a weakly constitution. Not only do the potent botanic ingredients combined with the alcoholic of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters minister to the health and vigor of those who use it, but the basis—pure old rye, the finest and most salubrious liquor distilled, is no mean promoter of a healthful condition of the digestive organs. Its presence in the Bitters is essential to preserve their vegetable constituents from fermentation, and it unquestionably augments their remedial value. Few medicinal preparations of a proprietary nature have ever received such strong commendations from medical men.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. inov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the choicest extracts of barks, roots and gums, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties. It cures all throat, chest and lung difficulties. Price 35 cts.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. inov9

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by all Druggists.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Are Fat People Healthy.

Why are fat people always complaining? asks some one who entertains the popular though erroneous notion that health is synonymous with fat. Fat people complain because they are diseased. Obesity is an abnormal condition of the system, in which the saccharine and oleaginous elements of the food are assimilated to the partial exclusion of the muscle-forming and brain-producing elements. In proof of this, it is only necessary to assert the well-known fact that excessively fat people are never strong, and seldom distinguished for mental powers or activity. Besides, they are the easy prey of acute and epidemic diseases, and they are the frequent victims of gout, heart disease, and apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat is the only known remedy for this disease. It contains no acid, is absolutely harmless, and is warranted to remedy the most confirmed case of obesity, or corpulency.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed, a system of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. tieb20 79

THE GREAT
FALL RIVER LINE, BETWEEN
BOSTON and NEW YORK.
THE MAMMOTH STEAMSHIPS
Bristol and Providence,
Of this Line, are the Largest, Handsomest, and Most Costly in the World!
Trains leaving Boston from the OLD COLONY Railroad Station at 4:30 (Accommodation) and 6 (Steamboat Express) P. M., connect with these Floating Palaces at Fall River daily (Sundays excepted), arriving in New York at 6 A. M.
No line can offer the accommodations presented by this favorite route.
ONLY 49 MILES OF RAIL.
Passing through Narragansett and Mount Hope Bays by daylight—
NO DISAGREEABLE NIGHT CHANGES,
But affording passengers a full night's rest, and having an open water route, avoids the intricate and perilous river navigation incident to other routes.
Grand Promenade Concert on each Steamer every evening during the summer.
New and Elegant Drawing-Room Cars on Steamboat Express Train.
BROOKLYN ANNEX STEAMER connects with this Line only, leaving Pier 28, North River, New York, on arrival of steamer from the East. Passengers and baggage for Brooklyn transferred free.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Itch, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from "Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cure.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and evinced physical proofs, that it is the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to the Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative influence. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden, or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge (dilute to thick, acrid, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, uncomfortable throat, ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or letter applied by the aid of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument for applying a remedy with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge proceeds. This douche is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. 1dec29

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, or exposure to wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the glands are open, in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous constitution, of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from simple catarrh to ozæna, are at times thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow, like, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the membrane being dry and parched, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. The latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the membrane to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms false scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, accompanied by inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, recommends it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for dieting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases of Catarrh. It is Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Bank Taxes.

A subscriber who confesses that the fact that national banks pay taxes is news to him, asks if a bill taxing them was not defeated at the last session of the legislature? In reply: National banks have always been taxed; first, by the general government, one per cent on their circulation and one-half of one per cent on their deposits; and secondly, by the towns in which the stockholders reside. The rate of the State or town tax varies, the stock being taxed at its par value at the same rate as other property; thus, a Manchester man this year pays $1.74 tax on each $100 share of bank stock which he owned, while a man living in Franklin pays $2.25, and a resident of some of the towns in Carroll county, $4 on a share in the same bank.

The report of the secretary of the Treasury contains a table giving the amounts of the national and local taxes paid by the national banks during the year which the report covers. We have two of these reports, those for 1876 and 1878, before us.

From the former it appears that in 1875 the national banks in Maine paid United States taxes to the amount of $112,652, and local taxes amounting to $212,918; the average rate being three and four-tenths per cent. In the same year the New Hampshire banks paid United States taxes amounting to $61,006 and local taxes amounting to $103,949; the average rate being three per cent. All the banks in the country paid, that year, taxes amounting to seventeen millions, three hundred and seventy-five thousand, six hundred and fifty-three dollars.

In 1876 the banks in New Hampshire paid United States taxes amounting to $52,627, and local taxes amounting to $97,255. In the whole country the bank tax for that year was nearly seventeen millions of dollars; the average rate being three and four-tenths per cent.

The bill referred to by our correspondent is doubtless one which provided for the taxation of any surplus which the national banks may have, and its defeat was due to a decision of the court, that such surplus is taxable under existing laws.

And here, let us say, that while we care very little what becomes of the national banks, if any substitute can be provided which will do the business as well and as cheaply as they do, we have very serious doubts whether it is possible to drive the capital invested in them into any other business where it will pay as much in taxes as it now does.

The aggregate capital of all the national banks in New Hampshire is $5,615,000, and from it our towns and cities get about one hundred thousand dollars a year in taxes, while the general government gets nearly as much more. It is true that we have to help pay the interest on the bonds belonging to the banks, but if New Hampshire people don't drink more liquor and use more tobacco than they should, their share of the bond interest is very much less than one hundred thousand dollars.—Nashua Telegraph.

—There are ten shades of red this season in woman's foggery, and three hundred and forty-seven shades of blue about the husband and father who foots the dry-goods and millinery bills.

—"Mother, what is an angel?" "An angel? Well, an angel is a child that flies." "But, mother, why does papa always call my governess an angel?" "Well," explained the mother, after a moment's pause, "she is going to fly immediately."—London Mayfair.

—There is a fashion in perfumes, just as there is in hats and dresses. In French high life penetrating odors are now prescribed and pure flower scents are alone permitted, particularly one made from lime flowers. A lady having adopted a certain perfume must abide by it, so that her friends may recognize her even without seeing her.

COMBINED PAPERS—FORTY-NINTH YEAR.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

A Premium Annual to Every Reader.

The Country Gentleman is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: One Copy; one year, $2.50; Four Copies, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the club; Ten copies, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

For the year 1879, these prices include a copy of the Annual Register of Rural Affairs, to each subscriber—a book of 145 pages and about 120 engravings—a gift by the publishers.

The Country Gentleman possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the best farmers of all parts of the country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

The Country Gentleman gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is to obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

The Country Gentleman has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and continues, to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

The Country Gentleman contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

The Country Gentleman embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited Review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Elections.

Thursday evening's accounts from Concord reported no choice of State Senators in Newmarket and Plymouth districts. For Congress, Hall has about 2500 plurality, Briggs 2500, and Farr about 1000. Of the counties the republicans carry Rockingham, Strafford, Merrimack, Hillsboro', Cheshire and Sullivan, and the democrats Carroll, Belknap, Grafton and Coos. Returns of the governor vote of 215 towns foot up: Head 37,058, McKean 29,722, Brown, 6182, scattering 125. This leaves nineteen towns to be heard from, which, if returned the same as at the last election, will give Head a majority of 606.

A letter from South Carolina says that the election there was a complete farce. The negroes in many counties were advised to stay away from the polls by the red-shirted democracy, and they did so. The result was that in more than twenty precincts, where the republicans usually poll an average of 600 votes, not a dozen republican votes were cast. In strong republican counties, where the majority heretofore has been upwards of 2000, the democratic election returns show that the democratic candidates received more votes than there are white population in the county, counting men, women and children. At one poll in Charleston 2500 democratic ballots were stuffed into the boxes.

Cheap Ships.

Those who believe that "free trade in ships" is all that is needed to restore the ocean carrying trade of the United States to its former prosperous condition, and cause all the ship-yards on the coast to become cheerful with the sounds of industry, will find food for reflection in the circular of A. J. Maguire, dated New York, Nov. 1st. He says, concerning ship property: "The tendency of the market for this property the past few months has been towards lower values, and this in the face of facts somewhat remarkable; our foreign exports thus far in the year exceeding any similar period in our history, and the construction of new tonnage being less, and the losses at sea greater, than in several years past. These causes have effected nothing, however, to the benefit of owners, owing to the immense superabundance of tonnage in every quarter, especially steam. But for this we might have seen as high freights the present year as prevailed in '73. The lack of employment from the Mediterranean and Black sea ports, as a consequence of the late war in that quarter, caused a large amount of tonnage heretofore engaged in that trade to seek business in this direction, thus aiding the depression. The only remedy for the depression is to cease the production of the commodity already so greatly in excess of the wants of trade. New ships of eleven years French class are offering at $36 per ton register, without metal."

Not A Good Sample.

Dr. Sample went to Daytown, Ohio, while a temperance revival was in progress there, and soon became the foremost speaker. He was eloquent, looked like a philanthropist, sang melodiously, related thrilling incidents in his past career of drunkenness, and made himself exceedingly popular with the women, who petted, fed and clothed him. One day he lapsed into the old evil, and while drunk exultantly showed love tokens from several of the women who had figured most conspicuously in the temperance work. A husband of one of the women had him arrested on a charge of stealing her watch, but it was proved that she had lent it to him. Now he is under arrest on an accusation of blackmail.

News and Notes.

The corpse of A. T. Stewart was stolen from his family tomb in St. Mark's churchyard, New York city, on Wednesday night or Thursday morning. The body was laid in the tomb April 15th, 1876.

In the case of the steamers Denmark and England, seized for silk smuggling at New York, the Secretary of the Treasury remitted all fines, penalties and forfeitures, upon the payment by the owners of $10,000 and costs.

A Norwegian whaler from the Arctic, arrived at London, reports that off Nova Zembla she was boarded by two piratical Russian schooners and robbed of everything portable.

It is charged that Fernando Wood built a house in New York across a projected street after it had been laid out, recovered $25,000 from the city for damages, and the street has not been opened.

Tom Dawley, a drunken charcoal vender of Griswold, Conn., tried to outrage Mrs. Worcester at Griswold on a recent night and came near being lynched by his captors, who supposed that he was a tramp. A rope was procured and every preparation made for stringing him up, when an officer appeared and took him in charge. His parents celebrated their golden wedding on the night of the assault.

A disastrous earthquake has laid desolate Jucuapa and neighboring towns in the southern portion of the Republic of San Salvador. Nearly all the houses in Jacuapa were destroyed, and many families were buried in the ruins. The district devastated is one of the most thickly settled portions of the country.

Rev. Father Pealing of Newburyport arrived home on Wednesday from a six months' tour in Europe, and received a magnificent reception, thousands greeting him at the depot. Bonfires were lighted, buildings illuminated and fireworks were burned along the streets, through which a torchlight procession nearly half a mile long escorted him and several priests.

The record of the proceedings of the bench and bar of the Circuit Court of the United States for the district of Maine, upon the decease of the late Judge George Foster Shepley, have been printed at the office of Stephen Berry at Portland. They contain the remarks of U. S. District Attorney Wilbur F. Lunt, Hon. Nathan Webb, Ex-District Att'y, A. A. Strout, Esq., and Hon. Wm. L. Putnam, with the very appropriate and well chosen words of reply from Hon. Nathan Clifford, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States attached to the First Circuit. The pamphlet contains some of the finest eulogistic tributes it has been our fortune of late to peruse. The subject of their remarks was worthy of the generous commendations of his former associates, who in common with the city of Portland appreciate the loss sustained by his decease.

The daughters of Capt. Ezra Blake of Hadlyme, Conn., cowhided a Mr. Rand because he had remarked concerning the size of the shoes of one of the Misses Blake.

A New York man committed suicide Wednesday because of the defeat of his party in the election. He had been promised an appointment to some lucrative office in the city government if the Tammany ticket succeeded.

W. W. Smith barely escaped being buried alive, at Independence, Mo., showing signs of life just as he was being placed in the coffin, after having apparently been killed by falling into a well. In an hour he regained full consciousness, and is now on the road to health again.

Political.

The spook party has given up the ghost.

The tramp law of New Hampshire will not be repealed for the next two years; the tramp-admiring party failed to carry the election.

Mr. Shupe, the leader of the greenback faction in the United States, says Gen. Butler must be his candidate for president. Mr. Shupe says that Butler has spent $250,000 in his Massachusetts campaign, and as Butler is worth five millions he can afford to spend a million in running for the presidency.

The New Haven (Conn.) Union, greenback organ, on the day after the election said: "The republican victory in this State yesterday, paradoxical as it may seem, foreshadows the total destruction of that party and the death of the money power. Hereafter the voice of the democratic masses will be heeded. The democratic party in this State from this time forth will be democratic. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin, as well as Connecticut are not republican States. The latter party triumphed in them yesterday, on account of the greenback vote. When the democrats and greenbackers unite two years hence, the republicans will be trampled under foot."

The New York Tribune has discovered that Mr. William T. Pelton was in Baltimore on the 20th of November, 1876, the day when Smith Weed wanted a "safe man" sent there with $80,000 to buy a majority of the South Carolina returning board. The day and price were fixed; Weed was there; and now it appears that Pelton was there. He arrived in the morning, and returned to New York the same night. The Tribune wants to know now, where he got the $80,000.

—A tower of strength—the tow boat.

—A gentleman in New Orleans was agreeably surprised to find a plump turkey served up for dinner, and inquired of his servant how it was obtained. "Why, sir," replied Sambo, "dat turkey has been roosting on our fence tree nights, so dis morning I seize him for de rent of de fence."

—For pure, unadulterated cheek, North Carolina can carry off the palm. The illicit distillers down there, who were recently granted amnesty by the Government on condition of good behavior, have actually petitioned the Government to pay the costs of their arrest and indictment on the ground that they are unable to pay it themselves.

—A Dutch clergyman was in the habit of giving out two likes of a hymn at a time for the choir to sing. One dark, rainy day he could not see the words, and said, "Mine eyes ish dim, I cannot see; I left mine specks at home." The choir, supposing this to be the hymn, struck up the time of common metre. The old fellow bawled out, "Mein Gott! mein Gott! dat ish no hymn. I only said mine eyes vash dim." The choir sang these two lines, the old fellow saying, "I think de debil's in you all. Dat vash no hymn at all."

—In a Danbury clothing store is a card announcing: "Perfectly-fitting garments. Every article sets as good as a hen."

—An old Pitsford (N. Y.) dog got tired of life, and actually laid his head on the rail for the engine to end his existence, as it did, though once or twice bystanders got the old fellow away, only to see him return and lie there till the train came.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 75 State street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the Register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office to Mr. Joshua Crane a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the Voting Register will be closed on the twenty-ninth day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, no registration will be made. nov2 EDWARD C. PERKINS, Clerk.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept19 79

THE CITY.

See notice of bank and railroad stocks at auction to-morrow.

The Federal Fire Society enjoyed its semi-annual dinner at the Rockingham on Thursday.

The Buffalo Bill combination is coming, and will appear at Music hall on the evening of Nov. 21st.

Schooner Arcilla, Capt. McCarron, arrived at this port on Thursday from Boston to load apples for St. John, N. B.

Mr. Palmer will lecture this evening in Mechanics' hall upon "The spirit of love in the temperance work." Meetings will be held there each evening until further notice, to commence at 7:30. Take your "Gospel Hymns."

Rev. A. J. Patterson, D. D., of Boston, is sick with the Roman fever. The disease was contracted during his visit to that city last August, and has just made itself manifest. The fever is of a mild type and no serious consequences are anticipated.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 19th, Dr. E. B. Goodall will give at Music hall an entertainment consisting of a lecture and concert combined, in which he will be assisted by Miss Edith Wendell, Mr. Geo. F. Monroe, and a fine chorus. The proceeds will be devoted to the Children's Home, Faith Home, and other local charities.

Miss Kathrina Eastman will meet all who may desire to enter a class for instruction in elocution and voice-building, at the High school building on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, at which time and place arrangements will be made and the first lesson given. Miss Eastman's terms are but $3 for a series of fifteen class lessons; she comes highly recommended, both as a lady and a teacher, and should have no difficulty in securing as large a class as she wishes.

The wrecked schooner Samuel Knight, of Pembroke, Me., brick laden, lying on Landstaff rocks, off Dover point, has been turned partly over by Newington parties, who have succeeded in getting out about 3000 bricks. Efforts are now being made, by means of hawsers and oxen, to throw the schooner on her beam ends for the purpose of getting out the remainder of the cargo, which it is confidently expected will be accomplished. The vessel is beyond repair.

"Harry," the Rye correspondent of the Times, displays a shocking disregard of the editor's feelings when he writes as follows about the wisdom of the Commercial-house board-of-trade democreenback auction business: "The election was one of the quietest ever known here, general apathy prevailing among the democrats. Many were disgusted with the county coalition, and refused to vote or stayed away, and scores of others slashed the ticket in every direction. One more such stupidly-managed campaign, and even 'old democratic Rye' might almost be classed among the doubtful towns."

CITY COUNCILS.

A special meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen was held on Friday morning, Nov. 1st, to view the premises corner of Hanover and Vaughan streets, and consider the petition for widening the street at that point.

Voted that the request of the petitioners be granted, and the award of land damages be made at the regular meeting on Thursday evening.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening:

Voted that $150 be awarded for damages in the street widening at the corner of Vaughan and Hanover streets.

Committee on accounts submitted the usual monthly bills, which were ordered to be paid.

Same committee presented the bill of L. F. Rice, of Boston, for $15 for expenses, for appearing before the Board at the last regular meeting, and asked the opinion of the Board as to the legality of the bill.

Voted that the bill of Wm. P. Israel be laid on the table, and he invited to appear before the Board and explain.

Committee on accounts reported that the pay of some of the laborers on the streets is more than that of others, and they found one bill incorrect. Voted to lay the bill referred to on the table, and that the Street Commissioner be requested to appear before the Board in explanation.

Same committee reported that bills of men working on schoolhouses varied in prices of day's works.

Wm. P. Walker was granted permission to enter sewer from his house on Hanover street.

Thomas E. Call asked leave to remove two trees from in front of his house on Pleasant street. Referred to the Mayor, with power.

John Lynch asked leave to erect a barn on the beach in front of his residence on South Mill street. Voted that petitioner have leave to withdraw.

Jeremiah Sanborn was granted leave to enter sewer on State street.

Petition for gas light on the corner of Brewster and McDonough streets, the city to pay $20 dollars toward it, the whole cost being $65, was granted.

A resolution that the ordinance relating to side and cross walks be amended so as to read the same as Chap. 14, Sec. 2d, of the city ordinances, was laid over for one week.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 7th; Batchelder, J.

Thomas Philbrook, who returned to this city from Brentwood on Monday, just in time to vote, was arraigned for an assault on Adam Milton. There is nothing remarkable in Tom's being brought before the police court, but when he is discharged, as he was on this complaint, it is indeed a wonder.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 7; Smith, J.

Case First National Bank of Portsmouth vs. John E. Rider and Lafayette Newell, was tried Thursday morning. Action is brought to recover amount of a promissory note for $400, made by James E. Dennett and endorsed by J. Rider & Son. It appeared that the note was endorsed by John E. Rider, one of the partners, without the knowledge of Mr. Newell, and was not paid at maturity, and the bank sought to charge the members of the late firm of J. Rider & Son as endorsers. The bank contended that as holders for a valuable consideration, of the note, they were entitled to recover; while Newell contended that the fact that Dennett took the note to the bank for its discount was such a knowledge that the endorsement was only accommodation as should have put the bank upon its enquiry as to the note, and that they could not recover. The case was argued by J. S. H. Frink, Esq., for the defendant, and Frank W. Hackett, Esq., for the bank. The instructions of the court were favorable to the defendants' view of the case, and to these the plaintiffs excepted. Case given to the jury in the forenoon. Verdict for defendant.

Case Smith vs. Cushman was resumed, and occupied the rest of the day. The court adjourned to two o'clock P. M., on Friday, to allow Messrs. Hatch and Frink, counsel in this case, to attend the funeral of the late Col. Clement March at Greenland.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

In the suit in equity in the Circuit Court of the United States in which Gedney K. Richardson and others, stockholders of the Nashua & Lowell railroad, obtained an injunction against the proposed consummation and adjustment of accounts between the Nashua & Lowell and the Boston & Lowell railroads, an answer has been filed by the defendants in which they state that they had no intention or design to execute a lease of the Nashua & Lowell to the Boston & Lowell except by a vote of the stockholders, and intended to recommend to the stockholders a plan for a lease and an adjustment of the differences between the corporations for their approval and adoption upon proper legislative authority being obtained.

The parties have agreed to proceed at once in taking testimony before William H. Hackett, the Examiner of the Court, and will begin with the complainants' evidence on Monday, the 18th inst., and complete the taking at the earliest possible time in order that the case may be submitted to the court for decision at an early day.

THE VICINITY.

The remains of the late Clement March will arrive in this city to-day, and be laid in the family tomb at Greenland.

Mr. Dudley Littlefield, of Stratham, has this year raised and shipped about twenty-five hundred bushels of apples.

A dividend of $35 per share has been declared by the York Manufacturing Company of Saco, payable to stockholders of record of Nov. 1st.

Hon. Joseph Titcomb has resigned the presidency of the Kennebunk national bank, and Hon. Joseph Dane has been elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. William Thompson, one of the directors, has also resigned.

Joseph Adams, of the firm of Adams Brothers of Boston, dealers in cotton waste, died suddenly on Thursday, Oct. 31st. Mr. Adams was formerly a resident of Biddeford, and well known there as an active democrat.

George W. Peterson, night watchman for many years at the Eastern depot in Biddeford, was fatally injured on the night of the 6th, while unshackling freight cars. Both legs were broken and one arm was torn from his body. He died early Thursday morning.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Nov. 6th.

The vote of this old democratic town, yesterday, was as follows:

Governor — Head 99, McKean 154, Brown 15; Congressman — Hall 97, Norris 155, Chesley 17; Senator—Philbrick 113, Pickering 139, James 13; Sheriff—Kent 97, James 151; Solicitor—Harriman 98, Hodgdon 148; Councillor—Brown 99, Goodrich 154, Giddings 15; Commissioners—Johnson, Underhill and Burley 98 each, Joy 135, Proctor 154, Whitney 154; Treasurer—Geo. W. Lane 162, Geo. E. Lane 98; Register of Deeds—Rand 163, Weston 98; Register of Probate—Hoyt 158, Durgin 98.

Joseph W. Garland was elected moderator, Oliver P. Jenness representative, and Joseph P. Trefethen, Joseph G. Jenness and Richard L. Locke, supervisors of checklist—all democrats.

Last March the vote stood 189 dem., 104 repub. and three greenback, showing at this election a falling off in democratic votes of 35, of republican votes five, and an increase of twelve greenback ones, which makes a democratic net loss of 40 on the governor vote. On the senatorial vote it was still more disastrous, for Pickering goes out of town with only thirteen majority, when it is usually considered certain that Rye is good for 75 to 100 democratic majority—and so it has been usually, and probably will be again when the democrats have a straight ticket which a few office-seekers don't have the making-up of. But that the party was demoralized was evident early in the afternoon, and the result proved that a good many declined being sold out, and did not vote at all; while others made free use of pencil, knife and stickers, which made such a mixed-up mess as was never seen before in this town, and it was nearly seven o'clock before the vote was announced.

Mr. Philbrick made an excellent run, and if the other towns in this district do as well in proportion he will be elected by the people.

It was a noticeable fact that all the greenback votes came from the democratic party; and another significant fact is that not a candidate on the fusion ticket came up to the combined vote of the two candidates for governor on those tickets.

Several republicans were sick, and some out of town; and there were a few who might have voted, but from some cause did not—these are the reasons for the slight falling off in the republican vote. NAT.

—A young lady who recently gave a public reading in Washington is known as "a recitatrist."

—Officer Reynolds of New York city was astonished at finding a man standing in front of the Shakspeare statue in the Mall, Central Park, widly anathematizing the great bard, and telling him to come down and he would cut his head off. The man was respectably dressed. He said he had seen Shakspeare raise his hand to his nose and heard him call him an ass.

—Henry Carey, cousin of Queen Elizabeth, after having enjoyed her majesty's favor for several years, lost it in the following manner: As he was walking one day full of thought in the garden of the palace, under the queen's window, she perceived him, and said to him in a jocular manner: "What does a man think of when he is thinking of nothing?" "Upon a woman's promise," replied Carey. "Well done, cousin," answered Elizabeth. She retired, but did not forget Carey's answer. Some time after he solicited the honor of a peerage, and reminded the queen that she had promised it to him. "True," said she, "but that was a woman's promise."

Beware of Cheap Excitants,

And use, if you need a tonic stimulant and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The liquors of commerce, even when they are not adulterated, fail to produce more than a temporary exhilaration, usually followed by a depressing reaction, anything but beneficial to a weakly constitution. Not only do the potent botanic ingredients combined with the alcoholic of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters minister to the health and vigor of those who use it, but the basis—pure old rye, the finest and most salubrious liquor distilled, is no mean promoter of a healthful condition of the digestive organs. Its presence in the Bitters is essential to preserve their vegetable constituents from fermentation, and it unquestionably augments their remedial value. Few medicinal preparations of a proprietary nature have ever received such strong commendations from medical men.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tnov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the choicest extracts of barks, roots and gums, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties. It cures all throat, chest and lung difficulties. Price 35 cts.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by druggists. tnov9

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it it the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Are Fat People Healthy.

Why are fat people always complaining? asks some one who entertains the popular though erroneous notion that health is synoymous with fat. Fat people complain because they are diseased. Obesity is an abnormal condition of the system, in which the saccharine and oleaginous elements of the food are assimilated to the partial exclusion of the muscle-forming and brain-producing elements. In proof of this, it is only necessary to assert the well-known fact that excessively fat people are never strong, and seldom distinguished for mental powers or activity. Besides, they are the easy prey of acute and epidemic diseases, and they are the frequent victims of gout, heart disease, and apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat is the only known remedy for this disease. It contains no acid, is absolutely harmless, and is warranted to remedy the most confirmed case of obesity, or corpulency.

—A fellow has named his cat "Plutarch," because he's got so many lives.

—Perry Mills and Frank Griffith met in Vinzlia, Cal., after long separation. They were very glad indeed to see each other. "I've been looking for you more'n two years," said one. "This is what I've been longin' for," said the other. Then each drew a revolver and began to fire. The wounds were numerous, but not mortal.

—Instead of bridesmaids, fashion in France now prescribes two tiny pages, who are chosen from the prettiest of the boy relatives of the bride or bridegroom. These are dressed in velvet of the bride's favorite color. At a recent wedding the tiny court dress worn was of sapphire velvet, with white silk stockings and velvet shoes and diamond buckles. A bouquet composed of a rosebud, an orange blossom, and a branch of myrtle is attached to the left side. They perform the usual role of the bridesmaid, carry the bride's missal, bouquet and gloves, and, in addition, meet her and assist her from and to the carriage step.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the traveling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and roadbed, a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are radically and vigorously healed and a sound constitution established. Pimples, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Scaly Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ring Worm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compound of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without distress to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Foul Blood, Pain in the Shoulder, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a single tissue escaping their curative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or paper pill boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous or purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stoppage or obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, mucous secretions, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and tasty distress, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc., etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be used, or better applied by the aid of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument ever invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently form, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or potency. Catarrh Remedy and Douche 40 by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. BENSON'S CAPCINE Porous Plaster.

A Wonderful Remedy.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is to every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It combines new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For LAME BACK, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York. mov29

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL,
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw bolton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. tdec29

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, emitting a foul fetor, or clear as the white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, painful band. The latter disease is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mucus passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throats as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when production of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of the most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the concern in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1878.

The Elections.

The reports of republican successes in the Congressional elections improve as the could goes on. On Friday it was claimed that Bisbee, republican, is reelected in Florida, dividing that State. Two republicans are probably returned from North Carolina, a gain of one. Nevada, which was reported democratic, elects a republican by a good majority. The republicans gain at least one in Pennsylvania, where no gain was reported. Thursday night's reports indicated a gain of two more Congressmen in Illinois, and that the republicans have secured the Legislature and the United States Senator. Washburn has a majority of over 3400 in the Minnesota district said to have been carried by Donnelly, democrat. In several districts throughout the south and west, the regular democratic nominees have been defeated by the independents. There are indications that even in Kentucky the republicans have gained one, and possibly two Congressmen. If the gain continues in this fashion, the democratic control of the House will depend upon the greenback men.

From Louisville, Ky., Friday, came a report that the republicans have elected one Congressman in that State certainly, and perhaps two; the democrats in Washington were terribly afraid the report would turn out to be true, and the republicans were still more afraid it wouldn't. Further confirmation of the election of two republicans to Congress from North Carolina, and one from Florida, were received at Washington on Friday.

The Rag-Baby Kicked.

It is not enough that the republican party has sat down on the rag-baby, but here comes the Dover Democrat and kicks the flattened-out infant as follows:

The republicans have elected all three of the Congressmen. The cause of this democratic defeat in New Hampshire was the greenback fools. They overloaded us, and that, too, by the advice and consent of the democratic leaders, and candidates also, in many cases. They encouraged and fondled the fools, endorsed their absurd doctrines, tickled the rag-baby, and got up all sorts of pretty little trades to 'beat the republicans.' It has been the most disgusting campaign we ever knew. The republicans stole the democratic hard money platform, and all our thunder and lightning both, and have won a victory as any man with a half-thimble full of brains knew they would. Nine-tenths of the whole greenback vote came from the democratic party. They might as well have voted for the republican Congressmen outright. We told them so before the election, but they had not the eyes and sense to see and understand it. They see it now when it is too late. They did the job and let them take the consequences. They have accomplished our defeat and gained nothing whatever themselves. As an independent party they are simply contemptible. As individuals they ought to see now what fools they have been, and get themselves right as soon as possible. The greenback devilitry has hurt us all over the country.

News and Notes.

The Newfoundland government has been requested by cable from the foreign office at London to send a statement respecting the Fortune bay trouble, and a case has been prepared by the Newfoundland government setting forth that American fishermen, when in Newfoundland waters, are bound equally with Newfoundland fishermen to respect the general laws of the colony.

There are thirty ocean steamers at New Orleans, and sufficient tonnage to carry a quarter of a million bales of cotton.

Chief of Police Oliver learned that a plot had been formed to raise an alarm of fire during the performance of the "Two Orphans" at the Opera House in New Brunswick, N. J., Monday night. The chief informed Mr. Stevenson, the husband of Miss Kate Claxton, who prevented the execution of the infamous design by delivering a brief address to the audience. The remarks were greeted with applause, and had the vile practical jokers attempted to create a panic they would have been summarily dealt with.

It is reported that Alexander Black, for some time an instructor of convicts in the Concord, Mass., State prison, has been discharged. It is understood he is charged with secretly carrying letters out of the institution which had been written by the prisoners to their friends.

John Hickey and James W. Ford of Boston are under arrest for swindling the Old Colony Railroad out of $110 by fraudulent claims for injuries received at the Wollaston disaster.

Wade Hampton of South Carolina was thrown from a mule he was riding on Thursday, and had one leg badly broken below the knee.

Prof. H. W. Bache, of the United States coast survey, died at Bristol, R. I., Thursday night.

Judge Hilton has offered a reward of $25,000 for the recovery of A. T. Stewart's body and the conviction of the grave-robbers who stole it.

Louis Bechler was buried by a caving well at Newark, N. J., on the 5th inst. Workmen partly dug him out, but his legs were fastened in the debris so that he could not be entirely extricated, and suddenly another cave occurred and he was swallowed up. Bechler knew his fate was sealed, and lifting his hands in the attitude of supplication, cried in pitiable tones to his employer standing above: "Oh, Mr. Burnham, for God's sake look out for my children." He leaves a wife and five small children.

Mrs. Isaac Danforth, of St. Albans, Vt., committed suicide by hanging herself to a door knob. She had been ill for several months. The physicians pronounce it a case of insanity. She leaves a husband and three children.

The broken Glasgow bank had a branch in a medium sized town in the north of Scotland, and to this branch orders were telegraphed on the morning of the failure to at once close the doors. But in this town the post and telegraph office was presided over by a canny old lady, who was assisted in the latter duties by her daughter. Accordingly, when the astounding missive arrived, and was being duly transferred to writing, the old lady quickly put on her bonnet, went across to the bank—a few doors off—and drew out the whole of her deposit. Five minutes later she was with the rest of the little community expressing her amazement at the ominous words, "Bank closed."

By the census of 1870, the population of the United States was 38,558,371, and the public debt, per capita, amounted to $60.46, with an annual interest charge of $3.08 per head. The National Government makes a census only once in ten years, but in various States a census was made five years subsequently to the general enumeration in 1870, and, from the figures thus obtained, as well as by comparisons with former years, a close estimate can be made of the increase of our population which has taken place since 1870. The Treasury Department, in connection with an analysis of the public debt on the 1st of July last, in this way arrives at the population of the United States on that date, which it places at 47,983,000, with a debt per capita of $41.67, and an annual interest charge of $1.97.

When Abraham Lincoln was a candidate for his first term as President, a little girl in New York, who had seen his photograph, thought his gaunt face would be improved by cultivating a heavy growth of whiskers on it, and wrote a letter to him suggesting it, at the same time requesting an answer from him, or from his little girl if he had not time to write. A few months later he wrote her a kindly answer, telling her he had not any little girl, and describing his children, but expressing doubt on the whisker question. Still later, however, he took her advice, and told a friend of her family the whole story.

Italy has agreed to abolish paper money for smaller amounts than five francs. This action is taken for the purpose of relieving France of the glut of small coins driven there by the use of small notes in Italy. The countries of the Latin Monetary Union have agreed that hereafter the coinage of gold shall be made free and the coinage of silver be suspended indefinitely.

Political.

A specially significant fact in reference to the recent Congressional elections is the prompt retirement from the southern delegations of all republican or moderate democratic members, and their replacement in every instance by men of the most radical and irreconcilable southern type.

A large meeting of the Tammany Hall General Committee was held Thursday night. All the leaders were present. Resolutions were passed expressing confidence in John Kelley, and a determination to follow his standard, and denouncing the action of Davenport toward the aliens naturalized in 1868. Speeches were made by Fernando Wood, S. S. Cox and John Kelley, the latter predicting a sweeping majority for the Tammany candidates at the next election.

Senator Sharon, Nevada's chronic absentee, proposes to return to the legislative hall at Washington in December. His fortune, attention to which has kept him from his post of duty, is estimated at $15,000,000, all paying a good income, to which the Palace hotel at San Francisco contributes $180,000 net annually.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes thus, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

THE CITY.

Auction sale of bank and railroad stocks at noon to-day. See advertisement.

Capt. Robert S. Law, U. S. N., Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, paid an official visit to this navy yard on Friday and received the customary salute.

Rev. Dr. Alden will commence a new series of lectures suggested by his travels in Syria and the Holy Land, at the Middle street church on Sunday evening. The subject of the first lecture will be, "Going toward Damascus."

At the late election Mr. William Goodrich, of ward two, voted the State ticket for the sixty-seventh time, having never missed an election since casting his first ballot. He was a whig at first, and remained one until that glorious old party ceased to exist; since then he has been a firm republican.

On election day the voters in ward three varied the exercises of voting early and often, and running in shaky or indifferent voters, by guessing at the weight of a huge ruta-baga turnip which was hung there by Mr. Harry J. Freeman. The turnip was raised in York, and its weight was twenty-eight pounds.

The Borneo Midgets will be exhibited at Franklin Hall all next week, commencing Monday, November 11. They have been before the American public for twenty-five years, are past sixty years of age and weighed 40 pounds each. The public will be repaid for a visit to these wonders. For particulars see advertisement.

A concert to be given in Music hall on Tuesday evening will afford a rare musical treat. The widely-known and everywhere-admired Temple Quartette of Boston, Miss Emma J. Flanders, Van Raalte, the violinist, and George M. Nowell, pianist, will take parts—a guaranty of a splendid entertainment. See advertisement.

The first heavy frost of the season in this vicinity occurred Monday night, Oct. 28th. A still heavier frost came on Sunday night, Nov. 3d, freezing whatever plants were untouched by previous frosts. On Monday noon, the 4th, the first snow squall of the season made its appearance, lasting a few minutes but making things look wintry; on the morning of that day ice was noticed on both the millponds, and it had not melted at noon on Tuesday. Thursday night, 7th inst., snow enough fell to whiten the streets, though it showed mostly as mud in the morning.

The schooner George L. Treadwell, formerly of this port but sold to Baltimore parties several years ago after being wrecked on Chincoteague shoals, and since then capsized and sunk near Nassau, New Providence, and again raised, has once more had a streak of hard luck. She arrived at Mayaguez on the 10th ult., on her way from Baltimore for Jamaica, and reported that she had experienced very heavy weather; had been thrown on her beam ends, sprung mainboom, lost and split sails and sustained damage to hull and rigging. She made temporary repairs and proceeded on her voyage.

THE VICINITY.

The Biddeford Times says "there are only eight young men reading law" in that city and Saco.

The wife of Robert H. Hussey of the Great Falls hotel died suddenly Thursday afternoon of heart disease. She was the daughter of John Richards of Providence, R. I., and was forty-four years old.

Mr. John W. Stimson of this city commenced a four months' term of school at Eliot, Me., on Monday, November 4th, with about forty scholars. His brother, Edward C. Stimson, is principal of the high school at Hollis, in this State.

Mr. Edward F. Ricker, formerly of Rochester, but more recently of the Great Falls Free Press, who left home last May for Florida, has been appointed postmaster at South Lake Weir, Florida. He has a young orange and apple grove started and is improved in health.

Superintendent Chamberlain of the Concord railroad, with the president and some of the directors of the Concord & Portsmouth road, went over the Concord & Portsmouth line on Friday to examine the road, particularly the new station buildings at Raymond and also the Greenland station, where certain repairs have been requested to be made.

Rockingham county sends thirty-one republicans to the Legislature of 1879-80, nine democrats and two greenbackers, Newton and Seabrook sending the latter. Newington has no representation in the next House, but will elect a representative in 1880 for the Legislature of 1881-82. Stratham and Hampstead, each entitled to a representative, voted not to send; and so did East Kingston and South Hampton, which are classed together.

At a tea party and dance given in Biddeford on the evening of the 16th inst. by one of the secret orders there, a new feature for such entertainments was introduced in the shape of a pig-guessing match. A live pig was exhibited in a cage in the rear of the hall, and anybody on payment of ten cents could have recorded a guess at the animal's weight, the one guessing nearest it to have the pig. Sixty-two persons guessed, and there was a wide range—the highest guess being six hundred pounds, and the lowest one fifty-four! A guess of ninety-seven pounds took the prize, the pig weighing ninety-six pounds and a half; and there was another guess of ninety-five pounds and three-quarters.

Mr. James H. Sanborn of Hampton Falls, who died in that town last month at the age of thirty-five years, enlisted in August, 1862, at the age of nineteen years, in the 2d New Hampshire regiment; was wounded at Gettysburg, July 4th, 1863, and rescued by the advance of our forces after being held as prisoner for several days; was again wounded at Drury's Bluff, in April, 1864; and re-enlisted in the 2d regiment in 1865. Mr. Sanborn was engaged in many battles, and remained in the service until the close of the war, since which time he has been a constant sufferer from his wounds, which undoubtedly hastened his death, though the immediate cause was a cold, terminating in congestion of the heart and lungs. He was an ardent supporter of Gen. Gilman Marston, under whom he served, and as a delegate to the last republican Congressional convention in this district he persisted in voting for Gen. Marston after that gentleman had retired from the field.

THE LUCKY CANDIDATES.

Contrary to our usual custom we did not on the morning after the late election publish a list of the officials-elect; the fact is, we forgot it; but it does not matter, as they are officers-elect now just as much as they were on the morning after election, and we now print the list as follows:

Representatives to the Legislature—George W. Pendexter, William E. Hadley, Nathan F. Mathes, ward one; Benjamin W. Curtis, Richard H. Beacham, Thomas E. Call, ward two; six republicans. Edward D. Coffin, ward three; Henry F. Wendell, ward four; two democrats.

Ward officers, ward one: Moderator, Alfred C. Hoyt; clerk, James A. N. Rugg; selectmen, William H. Lovell, Ira W. Brock, Walter S. Gray, all republicans.

Ward officers, ward two: Moderator, Plumer D. Norton; clerk, Samuel H. Kingsbury; selectmen, Benjamin F. Winn, John W. Prior, Thomas Kennedy, Jr., all republicans.

Ward officers, ward three: Moderator, Charles A. Sinclair; clerk, George A. Blaisdell; selectmen, James G. Locke, Harry J. Freeman, Atwood J. Adams; all democrats.

Ward officers, ward four: Moderator, Charles W. Norton; clerk, William S. Hazel; selectmen, Augustus Walden, George W. Watkins, Samuel Langdon; all democrats.

Inspectors of checklists: Richard H. Waldron, James A. Waterhouse, ward one; William H. Deverson, E. Washington Brown, ward two; four republicans. Frank G. Sherburne, ward three; George S. Leach, ward four; two democrats.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 8; Batchelder, J.

The continued case of Washington I. Drake against Edward W. Clough and George T. Clough, father and son, for leaving down a pair of bars whereby Drake's cattle escaped from his pasture and got on the railroad track, was called up; the case was dismissed, as it should have been brought as a civil action for damages, and not as a criminal complaint.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 8; Clark, J.

The case of David Wadsworth, charged with a contempt of the court in disregarding the orders of this court relative to the confinement of Cyrus Dunn, sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the county jail at Manchester, of which Capt. Wadsworth is the keeper, was heard. The defendant's counsel admitted an indiscretion, but maintained that no contempt of the court was intended. Dunn was sent to jail on a mittimus after sentence, and it was contended by the government that he was allowed to go at large after commitment. Gen. Stevens of Nashua, W. R. Patten, and Luce of Manchester, appeared for Wadsworth; Dist. Att'y Hall for the United States. Judge Clark intimated that he had no desire to punish the respondent. He recognized that he had given his services to his country, and was endeavoring to live as a good citizen. He explained the responsibility of a jailer for an escape, and ordered the case to remain open for further advisement. The case goes over to the May term of the court.

New Hampshire Items.

The machine and repair shop of the Boston & Maine railroad at Alton Bay, with all the tools and materials in it, were consumed Thursday night; loss $10,000.

Mrs. Dr. Sanborn's house at Newport was burned Thursday morning; loss $2,500; insured.

A night or two since the wife of John Spollett of West Hampstead was very badly burned by upsetting a kerosene lamp, and in attempting to extinguish the flames Mr. Spollett was also shockingly burned, and is in a critical condition, with little possibility of recovery.

Ex-Governor Frederick Smyth and wife, on their return to their home from an extended tour in the old world, met with an enthusiastic reception. On their arrival at the depot they were met by the Grand Army post and military companies, with a band, and by citizens and friends, and escorted to their residence.

Dudley Putney of South Wentworth created a disturbance in Wentworth by firing a revolver and throwing stones at the house of Jeremiah Colburn and Frank Martin. The authorities are after him.

Beware of Cheap Excitants,

And use, if you need a tonic stimulant and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The liquors of commerce, even when they are not adulterated, fail to produce more than a temporary exhilaration, usually followed by a depressing reaction, anything but beneficial to a weakly constitution. Not only do the potent botanic ingredients combined with the alcoholic of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters minister to the health and vigor of those who use it, but the basis—pure old rye, the finest and most salubrious liquor distilled, is no mean promoter of a healthful condition of the digestive organs. Its presence in the Bitters is essential to preserve their vegetable constituents from fermentation, and it unquestionably augments their remedial value. Few medicinal preparations of a proprietary nature have ever received such strong commendations from medical men.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, New York. tnov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the choicest extracts of barks, roots and gums, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties. It cures all throat, chest and lung difficulties. Price 25 cts.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. tnov9

Pike's Toothache Dropsare in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by all Druggists.

HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE, Black or Brown, 40 cents.

An Imperial Crown

Is a mere bauble, but the crown of beauty, conferred on the head which nature has neglected to embellish, or time has robbed of its native hue, by

CRISTADORO'S HAIR DYE

A Husband For A Calico Dress.

A correspondent writing from Bolton, in this State, says that a most remarkable case of bargain and sale took place near that place a few days ago. It was a sale which almost equalled the famous buying and selling of the Presidency by the Southern Returning Boards. It seems that a white woman, about twenty-one or two years old—compos mentis—actually bought from an elderly woman her son, for the express purpose of making a husband of him. The young man was said to have been about 20 years old; the mother, however, sold him for a muslin dress and a few yards of calico. The trade was made Sunday, and the man was to be delivered three miles from the purchaser's house the Tuesday following, and although that Tuesday was a bad day, one of those cold east rains that is common this season of the year prevailing, the fair purchaser walked her three miles in the rain to get possession of her investment. Says the correspondent: This is no hoax, but true; the names could all be given, if necessary. The contract having been closed on Sunday, however, is void in the eyes of the law.—Atlantic (Ga.) Independent.

—Give us neither poverty nor riches—anyhow not any poverty.—Buffalo Express.

—A young man at St. Paul, Minn., found recently, on going to a mind-reading entertainment, that his two rivals had taken seats on either side of his sweetheart. Being a sensible young man, he sent up their names to the mind-reader as eligible subjects whereon to test his art, and when, amid the acclamations of the audience, his rivals mounted the penitential platform and proceeded to make themselves ridiculous he triumphantly took his seat beside the lady.

"Peterson's Magazine" contains, every year, 1000 pages, 14 steel plates, 12 colored Berlin patterns, 12 mammoth colored fashion plates, 24 pages of music, and about 900 wood cuts. Its principal embellishments are

SUPERB STEEL ENGRAVINGS!

Its immense circulation enables its proprietor to spend more on embellishments, stories, &c. than any other. It gives more for the money than any in the world. 128

Thrilling Tales and Novelettes

Are the best published anywhere. All the most popular writers are employed to write originally for "Peterson." In 1876, in addition to the usual quantity of short stories, FIVE ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT NOVELETTES will be given, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Jane G. Austin, and that unrivalled humorist, the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife."

MAMMOTH COLORED FASHION PLATES

Ahead of all others. These plates are engraved on steel, twice the usual size, and are unequalled for beauty. They will be superbly colored. Artistic, Household and other receipts; in short everything interesting to ladies.

N. B. As the publisher now prepays the postage to all mail subscribers, "Peterson" is cheaper than ever; in fact is the cheapest in the world.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough Blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors, from the worst scrofula down to common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, night sweats, and spongy, foreboding, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it gives perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

DR. PIERCE, M.D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are 25 times more powerful than mustard seed. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Piles, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, yet a gentle one, thus keeping their sanative improve. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

DR. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, sometimes only mucous; in the morning, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be applied, or when applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument of its invention with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers most frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche, $1, of druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL,
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. tdec29

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, or Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the eyes, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matterly discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mucus passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and crusts, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throats as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A thorough cure of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Everything in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of this malicious. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for affecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vital importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use, and a Vial of Catarrh Snuff. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

The International Review.

We have received from the publishers, A. S. Barnes & Co., New York, the November-December number of the International Review, which publication having reached the conclusion of a fifth volume, may be considered as now well established in public favor. Its contents exhibit the advanced thought of this country and Europe, and the reader has the opportunity of reviewing the current of literary and political ideas, as it were, at one glance. The contributions from American writers deepen a conviction that our graver periodical literature is invading what has hitherto been considered the peculiar province of the newspaper. Their drift is toward discussing topics of present interest, political rather than literary.

George W. Julian's vigorous pen is devoted to the subject of the "Pending Ordeals of Democracy," and while it will evoke much dissent, it well expresses the fears of a certain class of observers in the permanence of our institutions, which may not be lightly passed over. His views ought to be weighed in connection with those of Francis A. Parkman lately published, wherein suffrage as now extended has been characterized as debased and irresponsible. Though Mr. Julian appears to be somewhat of an alarmist, it must not be forgotten that he was a "visiting statesman," who was disappointed at the result of the last Presidential election.

Mr. Spofford, Librarian of Congress, one of our best informed and most accurate writers, a native of New Hampshire, contributes a timely article upon the Government Library at Washington, which is full of interest to every lover of literature and of education. We are not so much pleased with "Successful Mediocrity," by Albert Rhodes, who used to do clever work upon the Galaxy. Many readers will fail to agree with that all men of genius are more or less Bohemians, and that it is the man of mediocre ability who generally succeeds. The subject is difficult to handle, and the writer has made his article entertaining rather than convincing.

Socialism in Germany is discussed by a friendly writer, Prof. J. Huber, and what he says is worthy careful attention, particularly at this juncture, when a vague dread of communism is abroad in the community, and when the problem of the relation of labor to capital demands the best study of statesmen on both sides the water.

Horace White devotes his attention to specie resumption, as affected by the new silver dollar. Wilkie Collins contributes a story. The usual critical notices serve to enhance the value of this excellent periodical, which we are always glad to recommend to our readers.

—The following from the Guelph (Ont.) Herald is perhaps the most atrocious pun ever penned:—"Our governors are always getting things named after them. It must be more than a coincidence, in view of the fact that the Marquis of Lorne is to govern us, that these hand stamps to mark shirts with are now called markers of lawn."

EASTERN RAILROAD CO.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 75 State street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the Register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office to Mr. Joshua Crane a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the Voting Register will be closed on the twenty-ninth day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, no registration will be made. tnov29 EDWARD C. PERKINS, Clerk.

Portsmouth Chronicle

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1878.

Great Fire at Cape May.

Fire broke out in the attic of the Ocean house at Cape May, N. J., Saturday morning at seven o'clock, and burned furiously until nearly six o'clock in the evening, by which time about forty acres of the place had been burned over, and over $400,000 worth of property destroyed. Among the hotels burned were the Ocean, Centre, Columbia, Atlantic, Merchants', Avenue and Congress Hall; the Stockton and Knickerbocker hotels were damaged, and twenty or more large cottages destroyed, with thousands of bath-houses. The fire was incendiary. The insurance more than half covers the loss.

A Plan That Worked Well.

That little affair of the "negro insurrection and riot" in Tensas parish, La., where an immense crowd of republican negroes "attacked" fifty armed democrats and got a dozen of themselves killed and many more wounded, not a white man receiving a scratch—that little affair worked first-rate, just as we predicted it would at the time it happened. Tensas parish, up to the last election, was republican by a majority of more than seven to one; but at the late election it turned completely around, its vote being almost solid for the democratic candidate for Congress! The murder of a few of their number by rifle-clubs or "red-shirt" companies is the most persuasive argument that can be used with the colored republicans of the south.

News and Notes.

The East Boston Chemical Works were damaged by fire to the amount of $105,000, Saturday morning.

Mrs. Alexander, the paramour of Frank Bassett, and his accomplice in the murder of "Stuttering Jack" in the old carriage factory at Bridgeport, Conn., was on Friday found guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to State prison for life.

W. H. Anderson, a Dallas (Texas) Sheriff attempted to arrest William Collins, of the famous band of train robbers, in Pembina, Dakota Territory, Friday evening. The men exchanged fire, and both dropped dead.

At Hidalgo, Texas, on the Rio Grande, there was a riot Thursday, caused by Mexicans trying to drive Americans from a dance. One man was fatally wounded and many hurt. The Sheriff sought aid of Lieut. Pinder, but the latter could not use his troops under the action of Congress prohibiting the army being used as a posse. Further trouble is apprehended.

Victor D. C. Butler, for many years book-keeper for Hayward & Co., paper manufacturers of New York, committed suicide by shooting Friday night. He had been long addicted to drinking, and was divorced from his wife. It is said that he was in love with Louisa Clark, the daughter of his landlord, but she had refused to marry him on account of his habits. Butler had been on a spree for several days, and Friday evening Miss Clark and her two sisters were present in Butler's room, when he suddenly drew a revolver and saying, "Has it come to this, Louisa? God forgive me!" placed the pistol to his head and blew his brains out. Butler was the son of wealthy parents in Hartford, Conn.

On the Sound steamer Massachusetts of the Stonington line, Thursday night, five different staterooms were forcibly entered and their occupants robbed of their valuables, amounting to $700. The thieves were not detected.

The British ship Fifeshire has been totally lost while on the passage from Madras to Liverpool. Twenty-two of the crew were drowned.

A new mode of swindling was practised in Winsted, Conn., the other day, by a fellow giving his name as F. F. Jackson. He entered the Hurlbut bank and offered small bills for a $100 bill. He was given a new bill; but wanted an old one, as he wished to mail it, he said. He was accommodated with an old bill, and left, forgetting to return the new bill, and the fraud was not discoverd for some time. The trick lies in confusing by repeated requests and exchanges of money, and it is one which might be successfully played on many accommodating and unsuspicious parties.

The annual report of the Boston and Providence railway shows that the receipts for the last year were $1,206,417.21, a decrease of $166,944.39 from the previous year. The expenses were $913,058.33, showing a reduction from the previous year of $212,349.50, making the increase of net earnings $45,405.11. The total net earnings of the road were $293,358,88, from which two dividends of three per cent each, making $240,000, have been paid; leaving a balance of $53,358.88.

Nine persons in Middleboro, Mass., have been added to the pension list on account of the war of 1812. One of them, a widow, has had three husbands, all of them soldiers in that war.

Official announcement is made in Newport, R. I., of the engagement of Col. Thomas W. Higginson, the historian and writer, to Miss Thatcher of Boston, author of "Seasbore and Prairie," who is a prominent magazine writer. Col. Higginson recently returned from Europe.

New Hampshire Items.

A St. John (N. B.) paper says that "returns from New Hampshire indicate that Nothead (Repullie) is elected."

By the fall of a staging at the Manchester gas-works, Friday, two men were fatally hurt, and three others badly.

A convention of the Granite State Deaf Mutes' Mission began Saturday, at Amherst.

A deaf and dumb compositor (son of the late John S. C. Abbott, the author,) is employed in the office of the Lake Village Times.

A mad dog was shot in Franklin, Thursday, with "F. G. Colby" on the collar. He was brought by hunters from Massachusetts on Wednesday, and bit every dog he encountered in that region, some dozen of them. Several of great value have been killed, and the town is in great excitement.

On Wednesday evening a kerosene lamp on the mantel in the house of Robert Lockhead, of Piscataquog, suddenly and violently exploded, scattering the oil, which ignited with the explosion, over the clothing and persons of Mrs. Locke head and her child about five years of age. Mrs. Lockhead was rendered frantic, and ran about the house and down stairs in her fright, fanning the flames and increasing the peril to herself and the house. Fortunately her husband, who was preparing to go out, and in a few moments more would have been absent from the house, preserved his presence of mind, and pursued his wife with articles of bed-clothing, and succeeded in quenching the flames before they were communciated to the house, and in season to save her from destruction. As it was, her clothing was badly burned, and her hands and back somewhat seriously. The child was slightly burned on the hands. Had the explosion occurred a few moments later, in the absence of the husband, the consequences would probably have been fatal.—Manchester Mirror.

Naval Matters.

The U. S. S. Marion was at Trieste Oct. 7th, where she was to remain a short time.

There are 7,100 enlisted persons, including boys, in the navy, 5,700 of whom are afloat.

The Enterprise will shortly sail from New York for the Mediterranean.

Political.

The conservatives of New Orleans, which party includes nearly all of the better class of citizens, have been engaged ever since the election in making affidavits charging the democratic election managers with frauds in counting, and with stuffing the ballot boxes, destroying conservative votes and replacing them with democratic ones, etc. The conservative leaders are democrats who do not consider that the back slums should have sole rule in the city, and they are supported by the entire republican party—that is, all of that party that is allowed to vote. The frauds committed in that city involve the titles of the Congressmen from the 1st and 2d districts, as well as of all city and parish officers.

Before the election, the Boston Post's Washington correspondent, and the Concord People, about every second day announced that the New Hampshire radicals had made "another agonizing appeal" to the republican national committee at Washington for funds, as that was the only chance to save the State, but that no funds were forthcoming, so the State was sure to go democratic. Of course everybody understood that the Post's Washington correspondent lied; for tho' he is entirely reliable as to general information, when politics are concerned he will lie as magnificently as a democratic witness before a House committee, and never by accident blunders into telling the truth. Since the election, however, he has nothing to say; and in this he differs from the People, which now says the republican victory in this State was due to the use of money.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dsept1079

THE CITY.

The Board of Instruction has decided that the schools shall have three days' vacation, (Thursday, Friday and Saturday,) Thanksgiving week.

Capt. J. Gilman Moses left this city for Europe last week, sailing from New York for Queenstown, Ireland, on Wednesday, by steamer Bothnia. Capt. Moses goes across the herring pond on business connected with ship property.

The Borneo Midgets' exhibition at Franklin hall commences at two o'clock this afternoon. In addition to the little people, there is a Punch and Judy show, music and legerdemain. Admission ten cents. See advertisement.

Mr. George G. Kimball of this city, Boston agent of the Associated Press, who was badly injured by the Old Colony railroad accident, was on Wednesday of last week removed from Wollaston to Boston by special train. He is now in a fair way of recovery.

Col. Hackett on Saturday at noon offered certain stocks for sale by auction, with the following result: Five shares of the First national bank brought $143.-50 each; four shares of the New Hampshire national bank, $101.50 each; five shares of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, $124 each. The sale was well attended.

The social gathering of members of Osgood Lodge of Odd Fellows and their ladies, at Pythian hall Friday evening, was a thoroughly enjoyable affair. Speeches were made by True M. Osgood, from whom the lodge took its name, and others; there was singing, and other amusements in which all joined; a plentiful collation was served, and the festivities were kept up until a late hour, when the party separated, all the participants expressing themselves as having greatly enjoyed the reunion.

THE VICINITY.

The Great Falls Woolen Mill took fire from a spark from a chimney, Saturday forenoon, and was damaged to the extent of $500 by fire and water.

The republicans of Dover, to the number of about two hundred, celebrated the late election at the farm residence of Col. Andrew H. Young at Madbury on Friday evening. Among the distinguished persons present were senator Rollins, Col. John Bracewell, Rev. Dr. Spaulding and Charles H. Sawyer, Esq., of Dover, and several gentlemen from Portsmouth.

There have been more fires in the town of York within the past year, twice over, than have occurred in Portsmouth, and it is estimated that the losses in that town from this cause will aggregate at least $20,000 during the period mentioned. On Thursday the house and barn of Mr. Elliott Remick were burned, with the contents of the house; loss $800; partially insured. Cause of the fire not stated.

Marcellus Perkins, landlord of the Sea View Cottage at York beach, has purchased a lot four hundred feet long, facing the beach, between the cottages of A. E. Lord and J. F. Noyes, and is selling it in house lots. Albert Thwing of Great Falls has bought one of the lots, and it is expected they will all be sold and built upon before "the season" sets in next year. Three new houses have been built on "Salmon Falls row" at this beach since the close of the season of 1878.

The best regulated and equipped amateur printing office that we know of is that of Mr. B. F. Chandler, civil engineer at the navy yard, at his house on Seavey's island, where a good deal of work is done in a manner not to disgrace a professional. Mr. Chandler has over 150 founts of job type, much of which was purchased of the late Dr. Nathaniel B. Shurtleff of Boston, including a large lot of stereotyped matter relating to historical events, cuts of Boston schoolhouses, etc.; Mr. Chandler not long ago also purchased the office material of Mr. William H. Foster, the veteran job printer of this city, and is constantly adding to his assortment of type. His office is systematically arranged, and he has some of the best cabinets we have ever seen. He has a quarto medium Gordon press, on which 3000 impressions are frequently taken in a day.

SAD ACCIDENTS.

On Friday afternoon, while Mr. Albert Rowe, steward at the Rockingham house, was going through a passage-way leading to the dining room, with a platter containing cold meats on which rested a carving knife, Mr. Rowe holding the latter so that it would not slip, one of the kitchen girls, named Henrietta Monyurkett, who was hastily moving in the opposite direction, not noticing Mr. Rowe ran heavily against the platter, and the blade of the knife thereon penetrated the left side of her abdomen to a considerable distance, making a dangerous wound. Drs. Parsons and Hall attended to the unfortunate girl's injuries, but on Saturday she was reported in a very critical condition, with the chances against her recovery. She is about twenty years of age and has been employed in the house about two weeks. On Sunday she was improving, and there was more hope that she would get well.

On Saturday afternoon, as Mr. George David, one of the employes at Star island, was at work cleaning out the gasometer, and was on top of it attempting to get the man-hole plate off, from some unexplained cause it blew up and landed on the tank above, striking and carrying away a truss, which with other wrecked matter fell upon the lower portion of Mr. David's body. The gas-house was shattered, the roof, one side and one end being blown out. The proprietors of the island immediately sent their schooner Mary E. Caswell to this city for surgical aid, the gale blowing so heavily at the time that she had to beat in with her fore and mainsails single-reefed and the bonnet off the jib, though she was manned by a crew of Shoals fishermen, who even under ordinary circumstances are not quick to shorten sail. Dr. Parsons started for the Shoals at nine o'clock in the evening and returned at noon on Sunday, bringing in Mr. David, who was taken to his home on Water street, the injured man being in a critical condition and the doctor expressing no hope of his recovery. Mr. David has always been a hard-working man, and has a large family dependent on him for support.

IMPROVEMENTS AT FREEMAN'S POINT.

Hon. Frank Jones is to commence this morning the construction of a pile wharf on the north side of Freeman's point, opposite the southern end of Eliot neck, where there is a cove and a good place for vessels to lay out of the tide-way. The work down to low water mark, composed of stone, etc., is already in a good state of forwardness. Mr. Meshach T. Muchmore, the experienced bridge and wharf builder, is to begin with the driving of piles to-day. This wharf is to be used for shipping hay, etc., and as despite the large consumption on his farm, Mr. Jones is a producer beyond his immediate wants, he will have an easy and convenient place to ship hay and produce at the new wharf, which is to be sixty by eighty feet in size, and built in a substantial manner.

Mr. Jones finds that the increased production of his land at Freeman's point requires additional barn-room, and he has commenced there a new barn, fifty by one hundred feet on the ground and twenty feet posts, for storage of hay, etc. The building is to stand upon land which Mr. Jones purchased of the estate of the late George W. Emery.

SUPREME COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 9th; Smith, J.

Case Smith et al. vs. Cushman was given to the jury Saturday forenoon. Verdict for the plaintiffs. Frink for plffs., Hatch for deft.

John E. Rider vs. Frank T. Pickering, deft. in review, was begun on Saturday, and the evidence for the plaintiff put in. This action was entered at the January term, 1873, and once sent to a referee; the defendant after report elected a jury trial. The case has since been continued, and two years ago it was tried without an agreement of the jury. It is brought to recover for services and for money paid out in procuring some testimony at Demarara to be used in a suit which Mr. Pickering had in court some years ago. The trial will be resumed on Monday morning. Page and Hatch for Rider; Towle for Pickering.

The next case in order is Sarah F. Smith vs. Josiah H. Stevens. The defendant is a clergyman living at Epping, and the action is brought to recover damages for driving his horse against the plaintiff in the highway in Epping. The defence is that if any damage occurred it was purely accidental and unintentional on the part of the defendant. Hatch for pliff.; Frink and Page for deft.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

BONNETS.

Piquant little felts are in garnet or wine shades, trimmed with satin of corresponding color and completed by garnet or wine colored flowers and leaves. Those are worn with walking costumes of garnet or wine color, and the tout ensemble is pretty enough, I assure you. Birds have come up again, and perched on both hats and bonnets bear witness to the fact that female perversity is more than a match for a vast amount of sermonizing. We say "scissors" to the last, especially as their is no fear of drowning for it. But what is of more consequence than a bird upon your bonnet, is a pair or perhaps two pairs of strings tied under your chin. Perhaps you may compromise by tying the bow on one side, but somewhere or other, the bow you must have, for a bonnet is not a bonnet without a pair of strings. We find quite a run made on felts, and the favorite mode of trimming is to lay the ribbon on plainly, except at the top where a somewhat extravagant bow gives finish. The many colored ribbons of the day show prettily on the dark felts.

NEW DESIGNS.

The Princess and the Mathilde walking costumes are both quite new and tasteful; either are combining well with the Octavia sacque, in case an outside garment be added. The Zolina visite is another street garment of recent introduction, but this is cut in circle shape. The Panier polonaise, showing the new bouffant back, is a handsome design for house or carriage wear. For the benefit of ladies who make their own garments, I will mention that T. & P. Coats have received the gold medal at the Paris Exposition, for their spool cotton. This however is only a confirmation of the awards of all Expositions, where they have invariably obtained the highest prizes. The Willimantic Linen Company have taken only a second-class prize—the silver medal.

SOCIETY TOILETTES.

I have written of the handsome flowered ribbons, called the Pompadour. Well then, should you hear any one speak of Pompadour silks, you will know that they are exponents on a more extended scale, of the same idea. I could not possibly give you an idea of how handsome they are, yet even they do not come up to the hand embroidered silks wrought entirely over with the delicate and refined traceries of the skilled work woman's needle. Satin is the favorite material employed in combination with these beautiful fabrics, and in general the satin falls in the continuous sweep characteristic of the court train, while the embroidered or Pompadour silk is disposed in front or elsewhere as may seem appropriate. Brocaded silks are also brought largely into requisition. The greater number of toilettes, even for evening, are made high or square neck, with elbow or long sleeves, but sometimes, for evening, the neck is cut low, and in this case the sleeves are so extremely short as to seem no sleeves at all. Many toilettes are cut in one, but an equal number show a basque and trimmed skirt. The basque is often pointed back and front, finished by a heavy cord; sometimes there is no point in front, a soft belt from the sides giving finish, or again we see the soft belt even where the point in front is retained. Flowers are almost ignored. If they appear at all, it is only as a looping for which nothing else will answer, and even bridal toilettes are very sparingly adorned by the traditional orange blossom. An evening dress made by Worth for Mrs. Russell, the beautiful daughter of ex-judge Hilton, who was married last winter, is of pale pink satin and brocade silk. The corsage of satin is a basque pointed back and front, with square neck filled in with rare Mechlin lace. The sleeves are long. The front of the skirt is composed of the brocade in pattern of peacocks plumes, and at the back, a train of satin falls. A word as to trains. Some are square, quite as many are still rounded, while occasionally we see one side square, the other rounded. A charming evening toilette devised by a modiste of this city for Wm. H. Vanderbilt's only unmarried daughter is of pale blue satin united with hand embroidered silk of a corresponding shade. This is made with basque pointed at the back, finished with soft belt in front, and elbow sleeves. The skirt is a rounded train, and the two materials are united throughout in a most artistic manner. The ganteline, so called from the French word gant, meaning glove, is coming rapidly into favor. This is not wonderful, since it is exceedingly pretty and also convenient. A hook is passed through the button hole of the dress on the front of the corsage, and pendant therefrom on the outside, is a short chain to which any imagable device is attached, such as a boat, fan, medallion, cross, etc. Ladies who study convenience select a device in which a gold pencil is concealed. The hook inside is of such shape as to form a glove buttoner, or upon occasion, may be used to fasten a shoe or boot. Only first quality gold is used. LUCY CARTER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8th.

I Told You So.

Mr. Williams, like a good many others of his townsmen, announced to his wife at supper last night that he thought he would go out and hear the election news, and Mrs. Williams, having a patriotic heart, of course made no objection. Mr. Williams started out with good intentions resolving to home as soon as he had learned enough to indicate which way things were going. He met Smith on the way down town, and it being election night, of course they stopped in several places and took something. "Because, you know," said Smith, "election night don't come every week." When they arrived down town they saw a dispatch announcing that Ben Butler had been defeated, and it struck both of them all at once that they both had predicted it a long time before, and knew it was going to happen. This coincidence being something unusual, Mr. Williams insisted upon Mr. Smith's taking something with him, and Mr. Smith responded by insisting upon Mr. Williams taking something with him. The dispatches began to come in rapidly, and, very curious to relate, in almost every instance, Mr. Williams and Mr. Smith both declared that they had said it was going to be just so, and every discovery of this kind involved a mutual invitation to take something. Mr. Williams was not used to taking things in such rapid succession. Toward midnight Mr. Williams and Mr. Smith, locked arm in arm, paraded the streets, smiling benevolently upon the whole world, and every time the crowd cheered, yelled vociferously, "I told you so." Dispatches were no longer of importance to them, and as they were no longer able to read them this was a fortunate circumstance. They knew everything before it occurred. Mr. Williams climbed up a lamp-post and attempted to address the crowd. Somebody pulled his foot from its place, and he disappeared very suddenly. Then he and Mr. Smith began a maudlin discussion of politics, Mr. Smith always chiming in with "Those er my sentiments; always told you so." At one o'clock in the morning Mr. Williams was lying in the gutter in a blissful state of ignorance. When a policeman shook him up, set his hat straight upon his head, and steadied him upon his feet, Mr. Williams asked, "Who's elected?" The policeman replied "Everybody." Mr. Williams yelled triumphantly, "Told yer sho," and rolled off crookedly on his uncertain path home. At two o'clock Mrs. Williams was awakened by a loud crash in her room, as if somebody had attempted to perform an unsuccessful feat of balancing on the top of the bureau. Mr. Williams, emerging from a heap of ruins, yelled "Hoorray." Then steadying himself at the foot of the bed he addressed Mrs. Williams, beginning "Felcitzens, lemme congrashulate you. This is a (hic) glorious occashun. Houpla! Hoo—" Just then Mrs. Williams leaped from the bed, and pulling Mr. Williams down into a chair screamed: "Mr. Williams, you are a drunken old fool." Mr. Williams swung his hat in the air, replied "I told yer so," and the domestic tableau closed.—Ex.

PIANO-FORTE TUNING,

HAVING REMOVED to the new and spacious store No. 6 Pleasant Street, near Post Office, and intending to keep a larger assortment of goods in my line, including Artists' Materials, I have deemed it advisable to give my whole attention to business in the store, and have secured the services of MR. CHAS. R. SARGENT, a Competent and Reliable Tuner, who has been connected for the last ten years with prominent Music Houses in Boston and other places. I would therefore give notice that all orders for Tuning and Repairing Pianos, left at my store, will be promptly and faithfully attended to on the first of each month by Mr. Sargent, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

PIANOS, ORGANS AND MELODEONS TO RENT,

Sheet Music, Musical Goods, Artists' Materials, Pictures, Frames, &c., constantly on hand.

—A careful man went to his room and noticed that there was only one match remaining in the box. "Now if that shouldn't burn to-night when I come in," soliloquized he, "what a fix I would be in." So he tried it to see if it was a good one. It was.

—It is said that there is one word which is never pronounced right even by the best scholars, and that is the word wrong. It is only fair to observe, however, that there is another word which is never pronounced wrong, and that is the word right.

—Many smokers have noticed that for some mysterious reason there is no pleasure in smoking in the dark. This singular fact was recently confirmed by the testimony of a large number of smokers at a political gathering in Buffalo, N. Y. One member of the company having remarked the fact in his own experience, the discussion that ensued developed the fact that all had noticed it. Who will give a plausible reason for it?—Boston Advertiser.

—Russian soldiers are sorted, as far as practicable, according to their size and complexion. The late Emperor Nicholas was especially exact in this. He had a hussar regiment entirely composed of dark-haired men pitted with the small-pox and another of light-haired men similarly scarred. The soldiers of one regiment all had fair hair, blue eyes and slight figures and of another swarthy features and hooked noses. Assortments are less exact at present, but care is taken to bring men together speaking different dialects in order to guard against mutiny.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an incredible event that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated at the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Your pills have reduced my weight from 190 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A great man writing from Boston, says: "Without special or unusual attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Your pills have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A great man writing from Boston, says: "Without special or unusual attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Your pills have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A great man writing from Boston, says: "Without special or unusual attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-six pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. CARWELL & FLIMTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'At the Anti-Fat had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-six pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unknown blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROPRS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of its wonderful specialities of adaptation to the peculiar personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for the class of diseases, and ones that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, it is claimed to make my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a work of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

BENSON'S CAPCINE Porous Plaster.

A Wonderful Remedy.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including linaments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For LAME BACK, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which case the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, exhibiting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling tenderness and pain, as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free and watery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate, to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose, it coagulates, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The earache becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease shows all who are afflicted with it to need a careful preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from our best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and symptoms of diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health of what is required by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

THE OLD BRITISH FRIGATE HUSSAR, SUNK AT HELL GATE.

In the autumn of 1780, while the British occupied New York and its neighborhood, the fifty-four gun frigate Hussar was sent from that city, with military supplies of all kinds, and, as claimed in later years, nearly four hundred thousand guineas in treasure; the latter designed for the payment of the troops in Connecticut. In making her way through Hell Gate, she struck on Pot Rock, staving a large hole in her bow, and then in attempts to beach her, she was sunk in six fathoms of water. One of the legends that survive as to the cause of the accident is that the frigate had no pilot on board, and another that there was a pilot, but that being a patriot who was impressed into the service of his majesty, King George the Third, he did not feel the interest in getting the frigate and her treasure through in safety that he would have done had they been the property of the newly-formed United States of America. In 1820 a company was got up for the purpose of making an attempt to recover a portion at least of the supposed vast wealth from the wreck, but after the labor of more than two years, and the expenditure of a large amount of money, it was given up as a hopeless speculation. In 1840 Mr. George W. Taylor employed his then newly invented submarine armor in a similar enterprise, but with a like result. In 1850 another company used the Taylor armor, but gave up the search after sinking twenty thousand dollars of their money; and yet another company succeeded them whose outgoings amounted to thirty thousand, and meeting with the same lack of success as their predecessors in the work. The explorers, after removing much of the wreck, found their further progress checked by a hard mass of concrete or cement, thirty feet square and three feet in thickness, composed of oxide of iron, mixed with mud and gravel; the oxide having resulted from the cast iron of the ship, as the theory was, while the wrought iron had wholly disappeared. The cement was of the consistency of adamant, resisting everything but the hardest tempered metals. All that was ever recovered in coin value did not exceed a hundred and fifty guineas, and they were supposed to have belonged to the officers and others on board at the time of the accident, instead of being a portion of the alleged vast wealth so much had been expended in seeking to bring to the light of day. Curiosities of various kinds were found, such as the bell of the frigate, but from which the clapper had rusted; several large cannon, two of which are now at Central Park, besides numerous other articles possessing no value but as relics of the old frigate. Human bones were discovered in large quantities, which it is to be feared give confirmation of the legend, that fifty unfortunate prisoners were left to their fate in the hold, shackled, handcuffed and ironed to the deck in the same barbarous way inflicted upon the prisoners at that time in the British prison-ships at Brooklyn and elsewhere, whose bones yet survive in the vault prepared for them in recent years at Washington Park; no effort being made to save them while endeavors were going on to beach the vessel, and the British were making their escape. A chartered company still exists, bearing the name of the Frigate Hussar Company, whose advertisements appear occasionally in the New York papers, and who, in order to retain their charter, keep up the appearance now and then of doing something about the wreck. The most curious part of the whole story here related, is that from the following item, which appears in the New Hampshire Repository and Observer, published at Portsmouth by the late T. H. Miller, and bearing the date of Sept. 27th, 1827, it would appear that the amount of gold so many have sought after was greatly exaggerated, and that whatever it might have been, it was removed in safety previous to the accident that caused the wreck of the Hussar:

A communication has appeared recently in the Edinburgh (Scotland) Observer, signed by Fletcher Yeits, who was an officer in the British frigate Hussar, sunk at Hell Gate, New York, in the Revolutionary War. He affirms that all search for the money supposed to be lying in the wreck will be in vain, as the $20,000 which was on board until two days before she was lost, he himself saw removed and safely delivered to Commissary General Delancey. When the accident occurred the Hussar was on her way from New York to Gardiner's Bay, with dispatches to Admiral Arbuthnot.

It appears much more probable that the sum in question was $20,000 instead of two hundred thousand guineas, as the latter would be an immense amount to be used in paying off the British troops in Connecticut. J. H. B.

How One Democratic Law Works.

Gen. Pope, commanding the Department of Missouri, reports to Gen. Sherman that Lincoln county, New Mexico, has for the past twelve months been in a state of anarchy which is a disgrace to the civilization of the age. The United States military authorities being prohibited by act of the "democratic House" from assisting to keep the peace in any manner whatever, they are compelled to stand idly by and see houses containing women and children attacked, and many persons— some of them undoubtedly innocent of any part in the quarrel—either killed or driven to seek refuge on the military reservation at Fort Stanton. This state of things demands the exercise of a stronger power than is lodged in the civil authorities of New Mexico. Having no power to defend any one, men, women or children, against these outrages, the general deems it at least within his province to inform the public of the condition of affairs, for which condition changes of civil functionaries are no remedy.

The law passed by the democrats prohibiting the use of the United States army to protect the lives and property of United States citizens, was of course intended only to prevent it being used to protect southern republicans from being murdered for political reasons; but none the less does it prevent its being used to preserve the peace in any State, though the constitution expressly provides that it shall be so used when required. Should the democratic governors of West Virginia and Maryland again call on the general government for aid in preserving the peace which the State authorities could not preserve, as they did at the time of the railroad riots last year, the president could only point to the fact that a democratic law has nullified the constitution, and refuse all assistance.

Solidifying the Solid South.

The detailed reports of the elections in South Carolina and Louisiana show that the democratic white-liners and rifle-clubs were active in carrying out the "Mississippi plan" of securing the success of the democratic ticket no matter what the opposition majority might be.

Not only were 2,500 votes put into a ballot box in Charleston in one lump, but ballot-box stuffing was everywhere resorted to in South Carolina, and the colored republicans driven from the polls by the Hampton militia disguised as "red-shirt" democratic clubs. At Kingstree and scores of other places the democrats opened the polls and stuffed the boxes before daylight, the legal opening hour being eight o'clock; Kingstree has always given over three hundred republican majority, and the vote this year was heavier than it ever was at any previous election—yet the democrats reported a majority for their party! At Salter's Station the democrats openly put two or three tickets apiece into the ballot box, and when they found 120 more votes in the box than there were names on the voting list, they threw out 125 republican votes, and declared the district democratic. At Bonson, the negroes were beaten and shot at during election day by a "red-shirt" gang of whites. The favorite weapons, however, were sticks, with which the whites attacked and beat all negroes who tried to vote. James Rivers, a colored republican, was fatally shot, and several others badly wounded. There is little wonder that South Carolina has sent a solidly democratic delegation to Congress, or that Wade Hampton, that "great and good" man, should have secured 100,000 majority in a State which is unquestionably republican by 25,000 majority on a fair and free vote. The moderation of Hampton's tools in only making his majority 100,000 is to be commended, for as the result depended not in the slightest degree on the number of votes cast, they could have made it 100,000,000 just as easily.

In Louisiana the Mississippi plan was as successful as in South Carolina. Every democratic candidate for Congress was elected, including the notorious Acklen, who has 3000 majority in a strongly republican district. The amusing episode at Waterproof, in Tensas parish, where a dozen or so republicans were murdered several weeks before election, was successful in its aim, for Tensas parish hardly polled a republican vote, though its republican majority in 1876 was 2,800; Caddo parish, which never before gave less than 900 republican majority, is democratic by 2000 this year; Concordia, with 300 white voters and over 2000 colored ones, and which give 1700 republican majority in 1876, is roundly democratic this year; Natchitoches and Red River parishes give democratic majorities far exceeding the total white vote; the Red River Congressional district, which is honestly republican by over 7,000, gives a democratic majority of about that number—the memory of the Coushatta massacre not having died out yet; in Lincoln parish not a republican vote was polled; in Ouachita, the scene of many murders of republicans, thirteen republican votes were cast, though the parish never before gave less than 800 republican majority; Morehouse, always good for 500 republican majority, polled fifty republican votes; and a similar state of affairs is reported all over the State.

It is reported that some of the southern democratic leaders, particularly in Louisiana, fear that this thing has been carried a trifle too far; that the open and shameless frauds and violence by which the ballot has been overthrown and free speech crushed in the south will after all react against the perpetrators, and that a solid south, made solid for the Bourbon democracy by the shot-gun, the halter, the whip and the bowie-knife, will be confronted as once before by a solid north devoted to freedom and the rights of all. The recent elections give good grounds for this fear on their part.

News and Notes.

Steam collier Panther, Capt. Miller, bound from Philadelphia for Newburyport with 860 tons of coal, ran ashore near the North Breakers at the mouth of Newburyport harbor, Sunday night. She was in a very dangerous position, but was towed off Monday forenoon without damage.

A Greek vessel was captured in the Dardanelles by Turkish pirates last week, and all the crew murdered. The pirates were subsequently captured by boats from the British fleet.

Three brothers named Peabody were on trial at Palmer, Mass., Saturday, for highway robbery committed in that town four years ago last September, when George H. Brewster of Westfield was attacked and robbed by them on the road. The brothers were soon after arrested by a Connecticut officer for a similar offence committed in that State, convicted, and have just served out their sentences in Wethersfield prison, being taken from there to Palmer.

The Penobscot tribe of Indians held their annual election of officers, Wednesday, with the following result: Governor, Stephen Stanislaus; Lieutenant-Governor, Saul Neptune; Delegate to the Maine Legislature, Sabattis Dana.

A man named Dakin was on Friday found guilty at Marshalltown, Iowa, of the murder of John K. Slough in March last, and was sentenced to State prison for life. On Saturday an Italian named Frank Ross, who formerly worked for Dakin, acknowledged himself as the murderer.

The U. S. S. Plymouth left St. Thomas on the 7th inst. Some of the crew were sick, and two officers in the hospital.

A Ku-Klux reign of terror is reported to exist in Darke county, Indiana, where several prominent colored men have been driven from the county by a gang of "regulators," and others, who refused or neglected to leave when ordered, have been murdered. Several of the regulators have been arrested.

Political.

Among the newly elected members of Congress is the former Secretary of the Navy, Hon. George M. Robeson of New Jersey, who seems, in spite of threatened investigations and "startling exposures," to have satisfied the majority in the first district of his State that he is at least honest enough to send to a democratic Congress. He will be a good man to serve on the committee on naval affairs, or upon naval expenditures, and it will save much time to have him upon the floor of the House to point out to unsophisticated democrats the impracticability of attempting to run the navy department without an appropriation sufficient for its wants.

The ballot-box tender of Huntington, Conn., has been arrested charged with substituting democratic ballots for republican ones at the late election, thereby changing the results of the voting for town representative. He confesses his guilt.

Owing to a lack of money, many public schools in Virginia will not be opened this year. Virginia did have a goodly school fund set aside, but the reform democracy of that pattern democratic State have spent the school fund, which they had no legal right to touch, for current State expenses.

The Buffalo, N. Y., Courier, a democratic sheet, does not take a rose-colored view of the democratic prospects, since the election. It says: "We are now midway between two Presidential elections, and it must be freely admitted that the outcome of the contest of 1880 looks more uncertain than democrats believed and hoped that it would be. Obviously the democracy cannot afford to commit any new blunders or indulge in bitter feuds among themselves."

The republican Congressional committee having lost its chairman through Hale's defeat, the defeat of Barnum, chairman of the national democratic committee, makes honors easy in the matter of chairmanships.—Washington Star.

—Greene county, N. Y., has won distinction by fining George Trumpbour seventy-five dollars and giving him sixty days in the county jail, for pointing a pistol at another person.

—Youth knows no sterner rule, and none more wholesome at times, than the ferule.

—The religious newspapers of England are discussing the momentous question, "Ought clergymen to wear moustaches?" A contemporary thinks that, as cold weather comes on, they should, and on days of extreme severity they might add a pair of trousers and a thick vest.

—A little Portland girl recently testified innocently to the life of drudgery experienced by the average "queen of the household" who does her own housework. Somebody asked the child if her mother's hair was gray. "I don't know," she said, "she is too tall for me to see the top of her head and she never sits down!"

—A poor Irishman at Rochester, N. Y., owed a rich man some money and was unable to pay. The rich man obtained a judgment and an execution, but there was nothing on which the sheriff could levy. The Irishman had two large pigs, but the law allows a man two, and the sheriff could not take them. The rich man then bought two little pigs, had them presented to the Irishman and thereupon took his two large ones.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

THE CITY.

Inspection of Portsmouth Cavalry at the armory on Market street, at 7 o'clock this evening.

This evening, at Music hall, a most enjoyable concert will be given. The famous Temple Quartette, of Boston, Miss Emma J. Flanders, soprano, Albert Van Raalte, violinist, and George M. Nowell, pianist, will appear. Reserved seats only 50 cents; admission 35 cents.

The City Guards, Capt. Ford, were inspected Monday evening by Col. J. J. Dillon. The Light Artillery will be inspected this afternoon, and the Cavalry and Heavy Artillery this evening.

The combination entertainment at Franklin hall—the Borneo midgets, Punch and Judy, music and legerdemain—opened on Monday. The price of admission is only ten cents; doors open daily at 2:00 and 6:30 P. M.

The temperance meetings which were begun last week will be continued each evening this week in Mechanics' hall. There is a good interest in these meetings, and signatures are obtained to the pledge each evening. All are invited; meetings begin at 7:30 o'clock.

At the recent convention of the New Hampshire Unitarian Association, William H. Hackett of this city was chosen president; Solon A. Carter of Keene and A. W. Sulloway of Franklin were vice presidents. The convention was held at the Unitarian church in Concord, which was handsomely decorated with evergreens and flowers; the latter were furnished from the establishment of M. E. Hutchinson & Co. of this city.

Mr. Ira A. Stevens, who went from this city to Texas some weeks ago, is engaged on the ranche of Mr. George B. Mudge, another Portsmouth boy, (a son of Mr. George A. Mudge,) who is located in Kendall county, six miles from Borne and thirty miles from San Antonio. Mr. Stevens writes that he "don't like Galveston or San Antonio, but thinks the country where Mr. Mudge's ranche is situated 'just fine,'" being "so much like New Hampshire that he cannot realize he is so far from home." It is just such active, energetic young immigrants as Mr. Mudge and Mr. Stevens that Texas needs thousands of, to place her in the position of influence to which her vast territory and great natural advantages entitle her, and which she will one day attain to.

The aquarium at the second Newcastle bridge, which was so great an attraction all summer, has recently been fixed for the winter; the tank and brow were last week hauled ashore, and the occupants of the tank disposed of in a proper manner, viz.: the sharks and dogfish killed and given to the pigs, the harmless but useless varieties of fish set at liberty, and the edible fish, such as cod, tautog, etc., put in shape for cooking and then distributed. A couple of the tautog were sent to us with a request that we try what they were fit for; we have tried them and found them fit to eat, being a great improvement on the canner, because many times larger and quite as well flavored, with fine-grained flesh and no small bones. A baked tautog is a dish fit for an editor, a farm hand or a fisherman, and altogether too good for a king. Major Urch we believe intends to put the aquarium afloat next year much enlarged and improved, and make it an object of even greater interest than it has been this season.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Nov. 11; Batchelder, J.

George Anderson and John Caton, for drunkenness, were ordered to pay $9.90 each, fine and costs. Brentwood for two.

A GOOD RUN.

The full returns from the 22d (Newmarket) senatorial district give Emmons B. Philbrick of Rye, republican, 1260 votes; Charles W. Pickering of Greenland, democrat, 1258; greenback and scattering, 143; no choice. Philbrick's plurality, two; plurality of the combined opposition, 141. As the Governor, Council, Senate and House are all republican "by a large majority," Hon. Emmons B. Philbrick will if he lives represent the 22d senatorial district for two years from June, 1879.

The result in this district shows the importance of putting up strong, "clean" men, and men who will work for victory, as candidates. The 22d district, when the new apportionment was made last June, was democratic by a majority of 119 over all others, by the governor vote of March, the republicans being in a minority of 147; when Mr. Philbrick was renominated (he is a member of the present Senate, representing the old 1st district,) his candidacy was regarded as a very forlorn hope indeed; and even the most extravagant republican hardly dared hope that his popularity and energy would enable him to defeat a choice, for the district being considered democratic beyond hope he was left to pull through as best he could, with what little assistance he might get in close towns where an effort might be made to save representatives. But the splendid run he made in Rye, where his townsmen gave him a support of which any man might justly be proud, and the effective work done by the energetic young republicans of several towns, and particularly by those of Newmarket, who not only sent two republican representatives from that old democratic town but gave a good majority for all the other candidates on the ticket, have actually put Mr. Philbrick two votes ahead of his democratic competitor, Mr. Charles W. Pickering of Greenland, who was undoubtedly the strongest available man the democracy had for a candidate.

How would it do to mark the appreciation of Mr. Philbrick's earnest and successful work by making him President of the next Senate? He is well qualified by experience and natural ability to fill the position acceptably.

A SOUND SLEEPER.

The robbery of four staterooms of the steamer Massachusetts, on one of her trips between New York and Stonington last week, has already been reported. The thieves prepared for their raid by securing the bolts of three of the staterooms with wooden wedges, so that the occupants could not bolt their doors. One of the victims of the robbery was 1st Lieut. Israel H. Washburne, U. S. M. C., a gentleman well known in this city and who married a Portsmouth lady. He was robbed of $240 in money, the robbers leaving his silver watch, probably not thinking it worth while to carry that away. In this instance the robbers showed themselves experts in other ways that in gaining entrance. The money was in Mr. Washburne's vest pocket, and the vest was folded up and carefully placed under his pillow. The robbers took the vest from under the pillow, removed the pocketbook, and then refolded the vest and replaced it under the pillow without disturbing the sleeper. In this case there was no wedge behind the bolt, but from shrinkage, or from some other reason, the bolt would not fit the socket, and Lieut. Washburne was unable to bolt the door when he retired. Otherwise this robbery was like the others.

"SEE! THE CONQUERING HERO COMES."

The eloquent young orator, Howe Call, has returned from his labors at the west in behalf of the democratic-greenback movement. Everywhere the young apostle of finance was enthusiastically received,—by the greenback and democratic soft-money men, who took stock in the newspaper announcements of his powerful harangues, and by the republicans, who were satisfied that his speeches in the west, like those in New Hampshire, would be followed by an increased vote for the republican candidates and honest money!

THE VICINITY.

Rev. H. A. Wales has accepted an invitation to become pastor of the Saco and Biddeford Universalist church.

Mr. Oliver Sanborn and wife, host and hostess of the Shute house, South Newmarket, which is somewhat noted for its famous coffee-pot, on Monday of last week celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their marriage by giving a turkey supper to some of their immediate friends, about twenty sitting down to a table bountifully supplied with the good things of this life, the regal turkey being supplemented with pies and cake of all kinds, ices, jellies, fruits, etc. A thoroughly good time was enjoyed by all present, and the guests of the evening all say of their entertainers, "May they live long, and prosper." JERRY.

New Hampshire Items.

Messrs J. P. S. Otterson & Co., proprietors of the Otterson foundry at Nashua, have nearly completed an iron tablet frame for the chancel of the new Trinity church, Boston, that for beauty of design and perfection of workmanship has never been excelled in this country.

Mr. Benjamin Folsom of Gilford, a farmer aged fifty-five years, was found dead in his house by some of his neighbors, on Saturday, the 2d inst. A sister who at times has been of unsound mind and resided with him, has been missing ever since, and is supposed to have perished of cold in the woods. Diligent search is being made for her.

R. W. Farley, City Clerk of Nashua, has issued the required official announcement stating that the citizens have voted not to abolish the common council, and that lager may be sold without legal objections. These questions were submitted by order of the last Legislature.

—The amateur fisherman, if the capricious fish refuse to be hooked, goes not home empty handed. He boys of ye lucky angler, or in other words he "hires a haul."

—At Allier, France, an old bridegroom after the marriage ceremony, nearly thrashed a young man to death for shaking hands with the bride; then he stabbed her to death with a dagger, and next went to his wine cellar and shot himself.

Beware of Cheap Excitants,

And use, if you need a tonic stimulant and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The liquors of commerce, even when they are not adulterated, fail to produce more than a temporary exhilaration, usually followed by a depressing reaction, anything but beneficial to a weakly constitution. Not only do the potent botanic ingredients combined with the alcoholic of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters minister to the health and vigor of those who use it, but the basis—pure old rye, the finest and most salubrious liquor distilled, is no mean promoter of a healthful condition of the digestive organs. Its presence in the Bitters is essential to preserve their vegetable constituents from fermentation, and it unquestionably augments their remedial value. Few medicinal preparations of a proprietary nature have ever received such strong commendations from medical men.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tnov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam is prepared from the choicest extracts of barks, roots and gums, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties. It cures all throat, chest and lung difficulties. Price 35 cts.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. tnov9

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Universal Suffrage.

Goldwin Smith, an English publicist, who has made the science of the government a life study, and who has always been exceedingly friendly to the United States, delivered a lecture on Thursday to the students of Cornell University on universal suffrage. This is a subject that will attract more and more attention in coming years, and it is likely that whilst the principle will continue to be the rule, more extension will be given to exceptions. In his lecture Prof. Smith made the two points which are most obvious to all thinkers, and which have been often made before, namely: 1st, that in voting for representatives and rulers some standard of intelligence should be required. He considers that the ability to read should be the test of ability to vote intelligently; and that one who has not this moderate qualification should be exempted from voting, as is a blind man from public service requiring eyes. The second and greater limitation would, according to Mr. Smith, be in voting for the government of cities. There he thinks that those who pay most for city government should have most of the management.—N. Y. Witness.

—A young bride, who was expecting the return of her husband, was handed a telegraphic dispatch which so excited her that without having strength to break the envelope, she fainted away. Upon recovering she found her husband seated beside her. "Oh, Alick!" were her first words, "I thought you had fallen down and cut your throat with one of those horrid standing collars."

—It is not very long since French doctors congratulated their countrymen on relinquishing breeches in favor of pantaloons—so named in honor of Santa Pantaloone of Venice. But a doctor now states that the habit of wearing belts instead of braces produces incurable hernia and serious congestions of the brain; he also adds, "The use of too tight pantaloons is one of the causes of the degeneracy of the human race and the diminution of the population."

"Peterson's Magazine" contains, every year, 1000 pages, 12 steel plates, 12 colored Berlin patterns, 12 mammoth colored fashion plates, 24 pages of music, and about 900 wood cuts. Its principal embellishments are
SUPERB STEEL ENGRAVINGS!
Its immense circulation enables its proprietor to spend more on embellishments, stories, &c. than any other. It gives more for the money than any in the world. Its
Thrilling Tales and Novelettes
Are the best published anywhere. All the most popular writers are employed to write originally for "Peterson." In 1878, in addition to the usual quantity of short stories, FIVE ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT NOVELETTES will be given, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Jane G. Austin, and that unrivalled humorist, the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife."
MAMMOTH COLORED FASHION PLATES
Ahead of all others. These plates are engraved on steel, twice the usual size, and are unequalled for beauty. They will be superbly colored. Also, Household and other receipts; in short everything interesting to ladies.
N. B. As the publisher now prepays the postage to all mail subscribers, "Peterson" is cheaper than ever; in fact is the cheapest in the world.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. Its road-bed is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South-Western without change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. 16eb20 79

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.
In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials from which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me three pounds. I was so elated with the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 140 pounds, and she reports a great improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change of attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DODDITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWLE & FLETCHER, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'If the Anti-Fat had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds, I never to regain what I have lost.' Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a powerful agent for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while administering its curative results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, found it out as the climax of overcoming gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint or disappoint the expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which it is recommended, that I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats on all those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

BENSON'S CAPCINE Porous Plaster. A Wonderful Remedy.
There is no comparison between it and the common plaster, called porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For LAME BACK, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled; when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, or Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, being retained by breathing through the nose impede or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate, to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eyes in some cases become inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and much discharged in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being vexed by the most violent neuralgic pains, coming frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when production of the entire system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the efficacy in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be sent free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada, and by WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The National Scourge.

It is estimated that the annual damages caused by the ravages of insects and worms exceed $150,000,000 in the United States alone. Truly an enormous loss! Yet it sinks into insignificance when compared with the ravages of that more terrible scourge, consumption, which annually sweeps hundreds of thousands of human souls into eternity. The causes of consumption are various, depending in every instance for the development of the disease upon the scrofulous diathesis, or temperament, of the victim. Thus the same cause which will produce in one person an attack of acute disease or a slight nervous prostration, will engender consumption in a person of scrofulous habit. That consumption can be cured by proper treatment will be readily perceived when the exact nature of the disease is understood, viz.: the accumulation and deposition of scrofulous matter (tubercles) in the lungs. Obviously, the principal remedies required are (1) a powerful alterative, or blood-purifier, to arrest the accumulations and also cleanse the blood of the scrofulous matter, and (2) a mild cathartic to expel the diseased matter from the system. This course of treatment, in conjunction with a strict hygienic regime, has proved the most successful method of curing this disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alterative and cathartic remedies before the public, and have been alone used in thousands of cases of consumption with the most marked efficacy. Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y., affords special and unequalled advantages to consumptives, not only possessing the best medical and hygienic means of treatment, but having the essential advantage of being situated in a climate where the inhabitants are notably free from this disease.

—A girl in Kentucky struck her croquet partner on the head with a mallet; brain fever set in, and the young man nearly died. The girl was kept under arrest until his recovery, and when he got well she married him, and now he's sorry he didn't die.

—An Irishman found a government blanket, and rolling it up put it under his arm and walked off, saying: "Yis, that's moin—U for Patrick and S for McCarty; be me sowl, but this learnin's a fine thing, for if I hadn't any edication I wouldn't have been after findin' me blanket."

—A young negro bootblack observed a neighbor poring wisely over a newspaper, whereupon he addressed him thus: "Julius, what are you looking at dat paper? You can't read." "Go away," cried the oiker indignantly; "guess I can read! I'se big enuff for that." "Big enuff!" retorted the other scornfully, "dat ain't nuffin'. A cow's big enuff to catch mice, but she can't."

—Every day we have evidence that the small boy has no soul. The other day a crowd gathered around a farmer whose wagon with a load of butter and eggs was fast in a mud hole, and while some suggested that he pull his horse gee, and others that he pull him haw, the ever-present small boy yelled, "It's no use, mister. Yer old horse ain't stout enough. Take him out an' hitch in a roll of yer butter."

EASTERN RAILROAD CO.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 79 State street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the Register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office to Mr. Joshua Crane a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the Voting Register will be closed on the twenty-ninth day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, no registration will be made.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1878.

How It Looks For 1880.

The most significant demonstration of the recent elections is the fact that the States which were carried by the republicans in October and November cast 213 electoral votes, while those carried by the democrats cast only 156 votes. Thus it appears that if a President had been voted for on Tuesday, Nov. 5th, the republican candidate would have had a clean majority of fifty-seven votes in the Electoral College. The "Solid South" has with it now only the States of Indiana, Oregon and Missouri. The "Solid North" could lose New Jersey and Connecticut, and still win by thirteen majority. It could lose Ohio and Connecticut, and still win by one majority. But there is now no probability that either of these States will return to the democracy in 1880. The issues which rallied them to the republican side on Tuesday will be the issues of the campaign of 1880. The following table shows the number of electoral votes of each State, and how each State last voted:

REPUBLICAN.

States.	Electors.
Maine	7
New Hampshire	5
Vermont	5
Massachusetts	13
Rhode Island	4

Unless there should be a decided change in public sentiment from causes impossible to foresee and wholly unlikely to arise, the election of a republican President in 1880 is assured by the sweeping republican victory in the north this year. Instead of any State in the republican column being carried by the democrats, it is more than likely that Oregon will go republican; and the republicans have certainly a good fighting chance of carrying Indiana. The "Solid South" has created a "Solid North."

The Louisiana Outrages.

The executive committee of the Citizens' Association of New Orleans visited Governor Nicholls at his house, Monday, and laid before him the sworn testimony of several hundred witnesses as to the outrageous frauds perpetrated in the recent municipal election. The documents contain affidavits concerning each of the 103 polling places of the city. He was asked if with this state of facts in view it were not possible to annul the recent election and order a new one. He gave it however, as his opinion that this power lay only with the legislature, but promised to make a careful study of the law which directs him to issue commissions to all officers excepting Lieutenant-Governor and members of the General Assembly. The Governor it is said was extremely indignant, and said that occurrences of this character, but more particularly the events recently enacted in the country districts of the State, contributed greatly to substantiate the charges made by the republican party against the democracy of Louisiana.

Doesn't Feel Well.

Some of the democratic papers are struggling desperately in a vain attempt to prevent their readers from realizing the extent to which the democratic prospects for carrying the presidential election in 1880 were damaged by the recent elections; these editors loudly proclaim that the deluge was only a shower, and hope their drowned friends will believe the yarn. Not so the Buffalo, N. Y., Courier, the organ of the democracy of western New York, which frankly acknowledges the bad outlook for its party in the following language:

We have lost Connecticut, where the present excellent democratic State officers nominated for another term were defeated. In addition to this we lose a United States Senator. New Jersey, whose delegation in the present House has a majority of democratic members, will have more republican than democratic representatives in the next Congress. In New York also the democratic party has been greatly weakened. The fact that these three States—New York, Connecticut and New Jersey—which gave fifty electoral votes to Tilden and Hendricks, and which must be regarded as indispensable to a complete democratic victory in the nation, are more doubtful than many democrats are willing to admit, should be fully understood, and in the party's future course duly considered.

News and Notes.

Commodore Shufeldt's resignation as Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting takes effect on the 20th inst. Captain Earl English succeeds him.

Three girls and three boys have been expelled from the college at Oberlin, Ohio, for clandestine courtship. One of the professors of the institution declares that he would rather have had all the buildings burn to the ground than have such a thing happen, as it was a blot upon Oberlin, an injury to the college, and a blow at the co-education of the sexes. There is no charge of any immorality among the young people, but they have broken the rules and attended to "sparking" rather than study.

The enterprise which has been shown by the citizens of the United States in making known the attractions of their country to intending emigrants and others has long been proverbial. The Australian colonies have of late manifested equal energy in the same direction. As an indication of this we have received from the Secretary of the Royal Commission for Victoria at the French Exposition a copy of the Illustrated Australian News, in which is contained views of many interesting objects in Melbourne and other parts of Victoria, with an account, (in various languages) of the attractions which the colony offers to emigrants. The United States on account of their increasing trade relations with the British colonies in Australia and New Zealand are specially interested in their growth, and the time is probably not far distant when the commerce between them will greatly exceed its present dimensions.

Ship St. Enoch, an iron ship built in Glasgow in 1874, and having the highest class in Lloyd's for hull and stores, passed Dover, Eng., March 24th, on her way from Dundee to India with 2,500 tons of coal, and has not since been heard of. She carried thirty-three men. The new iron steamer Dreamland left Glasgow on the 8th of July for Malaga, with a cargo of coal and a crew of six men, and has not since been heard of. Steamer Copia, four years old, left Barrow, Eng., Sept. 10th, for Montreal, with 1594 tons of steel rails, and has not since been heard of. All these vessels are undoubtedly lost, with all hands.

W. A. Williams, a prominent member of the bar of Worcester county, Mass., was shot Monday afternoon by John Grady, a former tenant. The ball struck Mr. Williams' collar-bone, and the wound is not considered dangerous. Grady has been arrested.

George Fessler, defaulting treasurer of Stark county, Ohio, has been sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary at hard labor, and to pay a fine of $30,000 and costs.

J. O. Glenn and Walupi Astorigo shot and killed each other, Monday, at Tehachapi, Cal.

Sunday night Harry Younger, son of Col. Younger of San Jose, Cal., aged fifteen years, was shot by Elton Moody, about the same age, dying Monday evening. The trouble arose from Younger ordering Moody off his father's premises, where Moody was hunting.

A young man named Raymond Gauldin, and his sister Ellen, of Liberty county, Ga., have been sentenced to be hanged for murder. Ellen is but nineteen years old.

A Texas paper asserts that the business of robbing stages in that State is a regular occupation, and has so far proved a profitable one.

A woman named Heffron was instantly killed Monday morning at Malden, Mass., by an outward bound express train. She attempted to cross the track, leading a calf, when the animal became unmanageable and started up the track, the woman following. The engineer of the approaching train blew the whistle, but the woman failed to get out of the way, and both she and the calf were struck and mangled in a terrible manner.

It is now stated that John P. Phair, the convicted murderer of Mrs. Freize, whose case is now before the Vermont legislature, was a vicious young man, and many years ago made several attempts to kill leading citizens of Vergennes, for which he was arrested, but always escaped punishment.

An investigation into the management of the asylum for insane persons at Columbus, Ohio, has resulted in the discovery that the female patients have been subjected to the most cruel tortures that human ingenuity can devise. The victim's heads were forced under running water until the poor creatures were nearly strangled, and then their heads were raised for a moment that they might recover somewhat. Then the operation was repeated until the patient, worn out from exhaustion, and almost limp, was forced to promise to obey at all times. The torturers were women attendants, and ten of them have been discharged.

Political.

The friends of Dean, the fellow who for two years has occupied the seat in Congress to which the republicans of the third district of Massachusetts elected Walbridge A. Field, were not satisfied with the count at the recent election, by which Dean was defeated, and demanded a recount. This was granted, and a committee composed entirely of democrats made the recount, the result being to increase Mr. Field's majority forty-three votes! Dean will now settle back into the obscurity where he belongs.

A number of suits are to be brought in Baltimore to test the constitutionality of the federal law authorizing supervisors at Congressional elections. Many democratic judges of elections in Baltimore refused admission to the supervisors where the elections were held. The republicans are proceeding against these judges before the grand jury.

The Bangor Tribune, the principal greenback organ of Maine, has collapsed.

A fine two-horse team was provided by the democrats of this place to bring in the "aged and infirm voters" on election day. It was sent up to Moshassuck to get a load of the faithful, but unfortunately the driver was not much acquainted in that vicinity, and meeting Mr. Samuel Fessenden, insisted on his furnishing a load for the wagon. It was not much trouble to fill it with good sound republicans, and the driver felt that he had done a good thing as he drove up to the polls. The democratic managers, however, felt differently, as they saw the occupants get out, and knew they didn't belong to their side, and they gave the driver a pretty good talking to for his blunder.—Central Falls Visitor.

—It is now said that there is no truth in the report that Edison has invented a soap that will do its own washing and hang out the clothes.

—The Chinese theatre at San Francisco has been remodelled and altered. The leading actor is paid a salary of $7000 a year under a contract for two years. He is also furnished a room in the theatre, board, and a servant. He has had a large room fitted up for himself, and furnished with carpet and American furniture, at a cost of $180, and has had a mirror costing $70 placed in there. He would not consent to play until these articles were furnished him.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dsept19 79

THE CITY.

The Granite State base ball club will give their third assembly at Mechanics' hall Thursday evening, when good music and a well selected order of dances will be provided.

Arrangements have been made by Rev. C. A. Holbrook, president of the Children's Home, to place in that institution three of the children of Mr. George David, who was fatally injured at the Shoals on Saturday afternoon.

We have not received a copy of the greenback organ of New Hampshire, the Granite State, since election, and we fear that—like its party in this State—it has "petered out." It was the flattest, feeblest thing in the shape of a party organ that ever came under our notice.

Miss Henrietta Monvourkett, the French Canadian girl who was accidentally stabbed in the stomach on Friday afternoon at the Rockingham house by running against a carving knife, died Tuesday morning. It was decided to hold an inquest, and an autopsy was made Tuesday afternoon.

The little Borneo Midgets are genuine curiosities. They are neat and cleanly little men, wearing the wrinkles of three score and ten, while they are no larger than the ordinary boy of five years. Prof. Haskins' Punch and Judy performance is the best that has ever been in our city. The exhibition will be open every afternoon and evening this week. The price of admission is only ten cents. See advertisement.

The Times says that on Monday evening "about forty of the parishioners of the Court street Christian church paid a surprise visit to Elder Abner Hall, and wife at their home on Gates street. An abundance of the substantials of life, together with a generous roll of bills, was presented to the aged and devoted couple. Rev. John A. Goss made the presentation address, to which the Elder as happily responded. Mr. Hall is one of the old ministers of the Christian denomination, is seventy-six years of age, and was formerly settled at Kittery and York, and at one time preached on Star island."

In one of the cars of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad last week were two widows journeying north; one was Mrs. Martha Sinclair, the widow of Chas. G. Sinclair, formerly of Barnstead, who had been paying a visit to her grandson, Col. Chas. A. Sinclair of this city; the other was Mrs. Francis A. Freeman, widow of Ass Freeman of Dover. Each of these ladies is over eighty years of age, but both show wonderful retention of their faculties; and they are patiently waiting the time when the pension office shall allow their claims to a pension. Mr. Sinclair served over a year in the war of 1812, and Mr. Freeman was a lieutenant in Capt. Isaac Lyman's company at Fort Edward in York harbor, in 1814.

The Portsmouth Times of Saturday and the Boston and New York papers of Monday, contained the following item: "Schooner C. C. Smith, which left Philadelphia on October 28th with a load of pressed brick consigned to Hon. Frank Jones, to be used in the construction of his new block, has not been heard of since she left that port. Fears are entertained that she has been lost with all on board." As we could not see the slightest grounds for uneasiness regarding the safety of the vessel and her crew, we made no mention whatever of the "fears" entertained by somebody—we don't know who; and we should not mention them now were it not that in our marine news we have a report that the schooner passed through Hell Gate on Monday, on her way here.

SUPREME COURT.

In case Rider vs. Pickering, the jury returned a verdict for Rider, the plaintiff in review. Page and Hatch for pltf.; Towle for deft.

William M. Howe, appellant, vs. Chas. H. Day, admr. of Leonard L. Day. This was an appeal from the report of the commissioner of insolvency on the estate of L. L. Day, disallowing the plaintiff's claim for services. The case after entry in this court was sent to a referee, who allowed the plaintiff's claim, and now the defendant elects a trial by jury. Several witnesses were in attendance. This case occupied the day on Tuesday. Daniel Barnard for pltf.; Bartlett for deft.

PROBATE COURT.

Tuesday, Nov. 12; Leavitt, J.

Wills presented: Theodore A. Burleigh, Greenland. Eliza F. Howard; A. F. Howard, Executor.

Administration granted: George W. Emery; J. F. Hall, admr. B. Frank Lowd; W. H. Mason, admr. C. W. Fowler, Seabrook; Robt. Collins, admr. Frank F. Boyce, Rye; J. Wesley Foye, admr.

Alfred F. Smith, guardian, petitioned for license to sell; granted.

Inventory returned: John Elwyn; Samuel M. Hart.

Petition insolvency wanted: Jeremiah D. Goodrich; Samuel P. Treadwell, comr.

Account settled: John Elwyn.

Guardian appointed: George W. Pickering, J. I. W. Pickering and Howard Pickering; Gilbert P. Hoyt of Newington, guardian.

THE VICINITY.

Dr. Thomas E. Quimby, son of Thomas Quimby, Esq., of Biddeford, has arrived at Heidelberg, Germany, where he has entered the University.

Samuel Day, a Kennebunk farmer, disappeared suddenly the other day, and foul play was feared, but it now appears that he has gone west, leaving endorsed notes for one Garvin, who is also missing.

The Portland Argus says Miss Lizzie Goodwin Haines, daughter of Hon. William P. Haines of Biddeford, and Miss Mary Isabella Goodwin, daughter of Hon. John M. Goodwin of the same city, have left for Montreal to pass another winter in the study of the French language.

—Silver was first coined by the United States on July 18th, 1794. Gold was first coined by the United States on Feb. 12th, 1795.

DIED.

Hodgdon. In this city, Nov. 12th, after a brief illness, Sophia J. Hodgdon, wife of Mr. Charles A. Hodgdon, daughter of the late Rev. Enos George of Barnstead, and mother of George E. Hodgdon, Esq., of this city.

Odiorne. In Chelsea, Mass., Nov. 4th, Miss Nellie M. Odiorne, aged 29 years, daughter of John W. Odiorne, Esq., formerly of this city.

"She did but float a little way,
And putting to the shore,
While yet 'twas early day,
Went calmly on her way,
To dwell with us no more."

A family circle heretofore unbroken by death, mourns with deepest sorrow the decease of one of its most precious members,—a daughter and sister whose daily life was the personification of gentleness, whose cheery presence was a constant blessing, and whose unassuming disposition won and retained the esteem and affection of those who knew her. Conscientious in all things, gentle and affectionate, she lived a Christian life from youth, perfect in its record and unmarred by the memory of an unkind word or expression. Nellie was "one in whose eyes the smile of kindness made

Its haunts, like flowers by sunny brooks in May,
Yet at the taught of others' pain, a shade
Of sweeter sadness chased the smile away."

Steadfast in belief that the reward for a well-spent life is certain, death had no terrors for her, and the future promised nothing but a necessary change from a pleasant and beloved home-circle to a higher existence in which she would welcome the dear associates she preceded. And thus she passed away, undismayed and with peaceful resignation and content, uttering no murmur at suffering, conscious of no obstacle to her enduring faith worthy of a thought, and happy that she was not bidding an eternal farewell to parents, sister, brother and friends.

Fond hearts grieve with a sorrow unspeakable, but the memory of kind words and kind deeds remains to console those whose pleasure it has been to minister to her wants; and the glad thought that no tender care was spared, no step untaken to render her last days as devoid as possible of pain, will linger in memory so long as this life shall last, a sweet remembrance of duty and devotion.

"Tenderness
And woe are twins! and may not deeply bless
Except together, when the tear one weeps
Falls in the golden cup the other keeps
Hid for this moment in his breast, unshown Till needed most."

Full returns have been received from every voting precinct in the State, and the governor vote is as follows: Head 38,085; McKean 31,083; Brown 6385; prohibition and scattering, 129; Head's majority over all, 488.

The lower branch of the Legislature of 1879—80 will consist of 279 members, viz.: 166 republicans, 104 democrats and nine greenbackers; republican majority, fifty-three.

The names of Hon. Charles H. Burns of Wilton, Hon. Charles P. Sanborn of Concord, Hon. Ossian Ray of Lancaster, Hon. Ira P. Colby of Claremont, and Henry H. Huse of Manchester are prominently mentioned in connection with the office of District Attorney for the United States, to become vacant next March, by the resignation of District Attorney Hall.

A terrible accident occurred Monday at Conant & Co.'s pulp mill, in Bath. Squires Clough, aged 16 years, son of Richard C. Clough, attempted to remove a belt from the shafting that runs the elevator belt, which is joined together with hooks. These caught his coat sleeve and whirled him rapidly around the shafting, which makes 240 revolutions a minute. The mill was immediately shut down and he was extricated. His right arm was torn completely from his body at the shoulder, both legs were broken in several places, and his recovery is impossible.

—A Victory (Vermont) man went hunting, and in getting out of his wagon to go after a partridge which flew up by the roadside, he stumbled and shot his horse dead.

Ease Attainable by the Rheumatic.

Yes, although they may despair of relief, it is attainable by rheumatic sufferers, for there is a remedy which carries off, by means of increased activity of the kidneys—important channels for blood purification—the acrid element to which pathologists the most eminent attribute the painful symptoms—a theory completely borne out by urinary analysis. The name of this grand depurent is Hostetter's Bitters, a preparation likewise celebrated as a remedy for constipation, which causes contamination of the blood with the bile—and a certain means of relief in dyspepsia, fever and ague, and nervous ailments. It is, perhaps, the finest tonic extant, and is highly recommended as a medicinal stimulant by distinguished physicians and analysts who pronounce it to be eminently pure and very beneficial. The press also endorses it.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. nov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

The people of the Crescent City are rapidly reviving under the clear skies and frosty days. The dread visitor, yellow fever, has left, and the spirits of men are once more in accord with the development of their beautiful city. As the best evidence of the growing prosperity, it is noted that the sales of tickets in the Extraordinary Grand Drawing, which takes place on Tuesday, December 10th, under the management and care of Generals Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, are greatly increased.

More cases of remarkable cures of coughs, colds, asthma and consumption have been effected in the past four years by Adamson's Botanic Balsam than all other medicines that have been advertised for twenty years. Price 25 cents. Try it.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. nov9

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

A Dangerous Hiding-Place.

The Chicago correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer writes that paper as follows, under date of Nov. 3d:

Among the desperate devices resorted to by faro bank proprietors to evade the vigorous raids of the police, a favorite one is to lock up the inmates in fire-proof vaults, which are supplied with ventilating holes for this purpose. This morning at one o'clock George Hankins' den was raided, and seventeen players were bundled into the vault, the door locked and the police admitted. Hankins and a negro servant remaining outside. Instead of going away, as usual, on finding the room deserted, the officers, who were up to the dodge, sat down and waited. Noticing the ventilating holes, they stuffed paper into them and again sat down. In about an hour the air in the vault became so vitiated that the prisoners became desperate, and from the inside came faint cries of "Let us out; we are nearly dead!" Even then the proprietor refused for a time to liberate them, and when he did the seventeen inmates rushed out in a state bordering on suffocation. One old man was nearly dead, and all were terribly exhausted. They were taken to the station to be arraigned in the police court. The confinement of seventeen men in an air-tight vault only eleven feet square was a dangerous experiment, which faro bank patrons will hardly consent to try again, and its disastrous result will be of value in aiding the police in their efforts to suppress gambling in Chicago.

"Peterson's Magazine" contains, every year, 1000 pages, 14 steel plates, 12 colored Berlin patterns, 12 mammoth colored fashion plates, 24 pages of music, and about 900 wood cuts. Its principal embellishments are

SUPERB STEEL ENGRAVINGS!

Its immense circulation enables its proprietor to spend more on embellishments, stories, &c. than any other. It gives more for the money than any in the world. Its

Thrilling Tales and Novelettes

Are the best published anywhere. All the most popular writers are employed to write originally for "Peterson." In 1876, in addition to the usual quantity of short stories, FIVE ORIGINAL COPYRIGHT NOVELETTES will be given, by Ann S. Stephens, Frank Lee Benedict, Frances Hodgson Burnett, Jane G. Austin, and that unrivalled humorist, the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife."

MAMMOTH COLORED FASHION PLATES

Ahead of all others. These plates are engraved on steel, twice the usual size, and are unequalled for beauty. They will be superbly colored. Also, Household and other receipts, in short everything interesting to ladies.
N. B. As the publisher now prepays the postage to all mail subscribers, "Peterson" is cheaper than ever; in fact is the cheapest in the world.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. Its
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its turning into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week, in spite of this remedy being before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was astonished at the result and I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drugstore for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 189 pounds to 19 pounds, and there is general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks. A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWERS & WEBSTER, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "To the Anti-Fat had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-four pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of these diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organic or women, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a potent, safe, and efficient remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under circumstances, and that too, in all cases, will gain my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, of Sterility, and Female Weakness. It does not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a single class of purposes, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a treatise of 1000 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the Largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. 1dec29

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, insufficient wearing clothing, or exposure to inclemency of weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the system is in a morbid or susceptive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge causes the membrane to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate, to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scales, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require the persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting a cure with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, a speedy and permanent cure. Also other medicines for the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Political.

A day or two before the late election the democratic managers and editors announced that "the radicals concede a democratic majority of thirty-five over all opposition in the next House, and many of them acknowledge that a democratic plurality of sixty-seven, and a clean democratic majority of fifty-one, is probable." Now the same managers and editors are trying to show that if the democrats have a bare majority in the House—through the gerrymander in Ohio, and the shot-gun and tissue-paper ballots in the south—they have won a glorious victory, and secured more than they expected.

It is not very long ago, that the Louisville Courier-Journal gave notice that unless the east compromised with the west and south on the money question, the devil would be let loose. Since the elections the devil appears to have gone into winter quarters, and the Courier-Journal now says, for the democratic party, "The sooner we get rid of the greenback idiots, the better."

The Washington Post thinks that Gen. Butler is to be a candidate for the Presidency, and that he means mischief for the democracy. The question to be considered in such an event is not "What States can he carry?" but what States will his candidacy be likely to enable one or the other of the regular parties to carry by plurality?

The democracy are astonished by the result of the election of Congressmen; but they need not be. It is the natural result of proved incompetency on their part. Their leaders know well enough that the possession of power is the most dangerous thing that can happen to their party. They are certain to use it foolishly and to the despair of conservative citizens. Speaking from experience, the fact that the democracy will control both branches of the next Congress makes republican success in the elections of 1880 almost sure. They will have full opportunity to show how unable they are to govern the nation wisely, and they may be expected to make the best use of the opportunity.—Boston Advertiser.

—Harry Austin of Boston, and Herr Von Heisenburg of Berlin, are two fools who recently met in New York to see which could waltz for twenty hours. Both did it, and unluckily it did not kill either of them.

Scribner's Monthly,

CONDUCTED BY J. G. HOLLAND.

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now MORE THAN 70,000 MONTHLY,

And it has a larger circulation in England than any other American Magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, from fifty to seventy-five original wood cut illustrations.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR 1878-79.

Among the attractions for the coming year are the following:

"HAWORTH'S," a serial novel, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." The scene of Mrs. Burnett's new novel is laid in Lancashire; the hero is a young inventor of American birth. "Haworth's" is the longest story Mrs. Burnett has yet written. It will run through twelve numbers of the Monthly, beginning with November, 1878, and will be profusely illustrated.

FALCONBERG, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "The Man who Lost his Name," &c. In this romance, the author graphically describes the peculiarities of Norse immigrant life in a Western settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to begin with the conclusion of "Falconberg." This story will exhibit the state of society in Creole Louisiana about the years 1803-4-5, the time of the Cession, and a period bearing a remarkable likeness to the present Reconstruction period.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series (begun in August, with the portrait of Bryant) will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November, then the portraits are shortly to be illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

STUDIES IN THE SIERRAS. A series of papers (mostly illustrated) by John Muir, the California naturalist. The most graphic and picturesque and, at the same time, exact and trustworthy studies of "The California Alps" that have yet been made. The series will sketch the California Passes, Lakes, Wind Storms and Forests.

A NEW VIEW OF BRAZIL. Mr. Herbert H. Smith, of Cornell University, a companion of the late Prof. Agassiz, is now in Brazil with Mr. J. Wells Champney (the artist who accompanied Mr. Edward King in his tour through "The Great South"), preparing for Scribner's a series of papers on the present condition,—the cities, rivers and resources of the great empire of South America.

THE "JOHNNY REB" PAPERS, by an "ex-Confederate" soldier, will be among the richest contributions to Scribner during the coming year. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood, of Baltimore. The first of the series, "Johnny Reb at Play," appears in the November number.

THE LEADING EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES. We are now making ready, for SCRIBNER, articles on the leading Universities of Europe. They will be written by an American College Professor, Mr. H. M. Boyesen of Cornell, author of "Falconberg," &c., and will include sketches of the leading men in each of the most important Universities of Great Britain and the Continent.

Among the additional series of papers to appear may be mentioned those on "How Shall we Spell," two papers by Prof. Lounsbury, "The New South," "Lawn-Planting for Small Places," by Samuel Parsons of Flushing, "Canada of To-day," "American Art and Artists," "American Archæology," "Modern Inventors;" also, Papers of Travel, History, Physical Science, Studies in Literature, Political and Social Science, Stories, Poems; "Topics of the Time," by Dr. J. G. Holland; record of New Inventions and Mechanical Improvements; Papers on Education, Association, &c.; Book Reviews; fresh bits of Wit and Humor, &c., &c., &c.

Terms, $4 a year in advance; 35 cents a number.

Subscriptions received by the publishers of this paper, and by all booksellers and postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers, should write name, Post-office, County and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter, to SCRIBNER & CO., 743 & 745 Broadway, New-York.

Portsmouth Chronicle

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1878.

A Lively Convention.

The Butler democrats of Boston having nominated Hon. F. O. Prince for mayor, the "workingmen" (or Kearney men) held a convention on Tuesday evening, the 12th inst., and after a most exciting and disorderly time nominated a full city ticket, with Davis J. King, a hatter, as candidate for mayor. The prince of blatherskites, Denis Kearney, was on the platform instructing the "workingmen" as to their duties. There was so much confusion toward the end that the janitor of the hall turned off the gas, fearing there would be a big fight between the Prince and anti-Prince men, and the police were sent for. A committee on platform was appointed, to report through the press, and they propose to present resolutions demanding, among other things, that there shall be no working over eight hours in any one day, and that wages shall not be less than two dollars a day.

Those Cipher Dispatches.

William Purcell, chairman of the New York Democratic State committee and editor of the Rochester Union and Advertiser, says in his paper that it was the Tribune's publication of the cipher dispatches and the pressing of the charge of attempted bribery home to Tilden's doorstep that defeated the New York democracy so badly on the 5th inst. In an editorial chairman Purcell says:

There was on the democratic side an element of weakness that could not be expelled—a drag of defeat that could not be shaken off. It was the exposure on the eve of election by the New York Tribune of batches of cipher dispatches which implicated certain democratic leaders in an alleged conspiracy to bribe and buy Electors in the late Presidential contest, and pressed the charge of such conspiracy up to the very threshold of the democratic candidate for the Presidency. Those dispatches and this charge were through the columns of the Tribune and its republican contemporaries thrust into the faces of democrats, who were powerless to refute or in any way meet them. They were hurled into the teeth of democratic journals which were silenced by their inability to dispute or repel them, or which, if they spoke, only made the matter worse by insufficient answer. They lost to the democratic party the great advantage of the cry of fraud accomplished, in the actual counting in of Hayes, by presenting a prima facie case of fraud attempted, in the unsuccessful effort of men in the closest family, personal and political relations to the democratic candidate to do the same for him.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11th.

The letter of Secretary Evarts to the British Government on the subject of the fisheries award has been published in full. It is an exhaustive discussion of the subject, and leaves the Halifax Commission little ground to stand upon. The Secretary takes the ground that the Commission exceeded its authority and went outside of the questions submitted to it. But supposing it did not, then the award was monstrously exorbitant. Statistics show that the whole mackerel catch of the United States for five seasons in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, both within and without the three-mile line, was 167,945 barrels. The provincial estimates claimed that three-quarters of this catch was within the three-mile line. The United States estimate placed the proportion at less than a quarter. Upon the provincial claim of three-quarters, the product to our fishermen of these five years of inshore fishing would be 125,961 barrels. It was established, upon provincial testimony, that the price which mackerel bore in the provinces was $3.75 per barrel, and this would give as the value, cured and packed, of the United States inshore catch for five years, the sum of $472,353. Upon the evidence $1 a barrel would be an excessive estimate of net profit, and this would give our fishermen but $25,000 a year, or for the whole treaty period of twelve years, $300,000. Even allowing the extravagant claim of the Canadians we should have but $125,000 a year, or $1,500,000 for the entire twelve years of the treaty, for the gross valuation of the concession to the United States by Article XVIII. And it is not too much to say that the counter-privilege granted the Canadian fishermen of free access to our markets for their mackerel is worth three times all this. Yet we are expected to pay a balance of $5,500,000 for a privilege which is about one-third the value of that we give, and exceedingly capricious and dubious at that.

A few members of Congress have already put in an appearance, and they will soon be here in plenty to look after the business of the coming session. The appropriation committee of the House will meet here on the 20th, and other committees will meet presently, so that affairs may be in a better shape than usual before the holidays. Usually the month of December is a mere waste of time preparatory to the holiday festivities, but it is likely that the coming December will be devoted to work. Not much business was left over from the last session. The most important measure was the bill providing for the government's guarantee of interest on the construction bonds of the Texas & Pacific railway, the adoption of which was earnestly urged by Senators Lamar, Matthews and others, but which was postponed on account of the press of other business. It will come up by assignment on the first Wednesday of the session, and will therefore be one of the first bills to be considered. Its friends profess great confidence in its passage, especially because of the perfidy and dishonesty of the Central-Union Pacific ring in oppressing the merchants and cheating the government. And there are not a few who were not formerly friendly to it who now say that the railroad gamblers have forced this issue upon Congress, and the only way to beat them is to put through a competing line. Another subject to come up in the early days of the session, probably, is that of transferring the Indian Bureau to the War Department, but this subject is in a very chaotic state so far as the parties for and against are concerned, and nothing can be predicted of its fate.

The appropriation bills will be of the greatest importance this winter. The democrats of course will strive to win a name for economy, but the heads of departments threaten to destroy a part of their capital in advance by cutting down their estimates below those of last year, all except Secretary Schurz, who has not yet explained why he wants more money than last year. A good deal of interesting political discussion is anticipated as the result of the reports on the appropriation bills.

It is probable that the democrats will control the organization of the next House, but their clear majority is narrow, and perhaps it depends upon certain greenbackers whether they have any majority. It is said a great effort is making to induce all who are known to be greenback in sentiment, whether elected by democratic or republican votes, to join the straight greenbackers for the control of the House upon important matters. If so, there being about twenty of them, they will dictate the organization and the committees to a great extent, and force the democrats into a position little better than that of the republicans. KNOX.

Resumption of Specie Payments.

Secretary of the Treasury Sherman has had a meeting with the New York bankers relative to the resumption of specie payments on the day fixed by law, Jan. 1st, 1879, and the accounts are that the details of the preparations were agreed upon. The Secretary was asked by the banks to limit the coinage of silver dollars to the minimum rate of $2,000,000 a month, prescribed by law, and to withdraw the one-dollar and two-dollar legal tenders and substitute silver dollars in circulation for these small notes. It will be remembered that the issue of notes under five dollars is forbidden to national banks after next New Year. It is understood that the banks propose after January to discontinue special gold accounts and to pay out gold and greenbacks on equal terms; that they will cease the use of special gold checks in exchanges at clearing houses; in short, that they will pay out and receive gold and greenbacks indiscriminately. Also, that they will refuse to receive silver except as special deposit and under special contract, and will use no silver certificates or silver dollars in clearing house exchanges, except for sums of twenty-five dollars and less. It is believed that this agreement on a common policy will have an important effect upon resumption, and that, in fact, with the help of the banks in the manner proposed the country will find itself on the first of January on a gold basis and with a fixed, stable currency, without the least shock. The committee of New York bankers returned from Washington satisfied with the arrangements made with the Secretary of the Treasury, and a meeting was held on the morning of the 12th inst. at the Clearing House to hear their report. The Clearing House then decided upon the following plan of action after Jan. 1, 1879:

First.—To decline receiving gold coins as special deposits, but accept and treat them only as lawful money.

Second.—To abolish special exchanges of gold checks at the Clearing House.

Third.—To pay and receive balances between banks at the Clearing House either in gold or United States legal tenders.

Fourth.—To receive silver dollars upon deposit only under special contract to withdraw the same in kind.

Fifth.—To prohibit payments of balances at the Clearing House in silver certificates or silver dollars, excepting as subsidiary coin in small sums (say under $10.)

Sixth.—To discontinue gold special accounts by notice to dealers on the 1st of January next, to terminate then.

A resolution was adopted declaring that in order to facilitate the payment of drafts and checks between the Treasurer of the United States and the associated banks, the manager of the association is authorized to make such arrangements with the Assistant Treasurer as will accomplish that purpose through the medium of the Clearing House.

News and Notes.

The Memphis Appeal lost during the epidemic a book-keeper, eight compositors, and ten men from the press room, while sixteen members of the families of its employes died. The Avalanche lost its business manager, two editors, five compositors, two pressmen, a porter and two carriers, and the Ledger four compositors.

Floyd Smith and his wife Mariah, colored, were hung by an armed mob near Hernando, Miss., on the 4th inst. They had been imprisoned to await trial for the murder of a little white girl, six years old, left in their charge by its mother. The mother, suspected of having instigated the murder so that she might inherit a large property coming to her on the child's death, has not yet been arrested.

Judge Dyer of the United States Court has rendered an important decision, to the effect that the constitutionality of the trade-mark statute cannot be sustained under the clause of the constitution which gives to Congress power to regulate commerce among the several States, nor under any other of the provisions of the constitution which prescribe the legislative power of Congress.

Sir Patrick McDougal, acting Governor General of Canada, at a State dinner recently given was so much scandalized by the performance of the "Boston dip" by several couples during the dance which followed, that he sent his aide-de-camp to request them to adopt some other style of dancing. They immediately left the house, and the upper ten of Quebec are greatly exercised over the affair. The gallant Sir Patrick consided the dance indecent.

The democratic returning board of North Carolina has counted out O'Hara, republican candidate for Congressman, who had only 4000 majority over Ketchen, democrat. The democratic returning board in Florida has also counted out Bisbee, republican, who had only four or five hundred clear majority for Congress. This doesn't begin to compare with the performance of the South Carolina democrats, who counted out Mackey in the Charleston district, though he had over 7000 majority.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

THE CITY.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga goes down to the lower harbor Friday to correct compasses and take in powder.

All that remained of the old south mill on Wednesday was the lower floor. No one living in its vicinity mourns its loss.

Several Portsmouth fishermen who have been fishing at the Shoals this fall have returned, and report a small average catch.

Chief Engineer D. B. Macomb, U. S. N., at present on duty on board the U. S. S. Powhatan, now laying in New York harbor, was in this city on Wednesday on a visit to his home.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Hontvet master, has been engaged to take a cargo of dried fish from this city to Boston for C. Morris Tredick, before starting out for winter fishing.

A young lad fell overboard from Adams & Co.'s wharf on Wednesday afternoon, but was rescued by one of his companions and a gentleman who happened to be on the wharf at the time.

Randall and Caswell, the fish dealers, have put up a fish house on Philbrick's wharf, and received the first installment of 40,000 lbs. of codfish on Tuesday, Nov. 12th. The firm have leased the wharf for a term of five years.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, on the 12th inst., the lease of the Eastern railroad in New Hampshire to the Eastern railroad of Massachusetts was approved, as was also the mortgage of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad to the former corporation.

Five sailors belonging to the U. S. S. Ticonderoga went on liberty Wednesday afternoon, the 13th, without asking permission. They made double-quick time across the bridge which connects the navy yard with Kittery, followed by a squad of marines, who were unable to make the blue-jackets turn.

The Lady's Almanac and Note-Book for 1879, published by the New England News Co., of Boston, is for sale by Moses Bros. It is a neat and handy little book, containing the calendar, table of moon's changes, rates of postage, and "society" notes on etiquette, with ruled leaves and illustrated title-pages for calls received and made, letters received and sent, cash accounts, shopping lists, etc.

Cyrus L. Brown & Co. have within a month shipped over five thousand barrels of apples from this port. By the schooner Brunette they sent to Prince Edward's island 865 barrels; to Philadelphia, in the schooner Active, 1144 barrels; to Georgetown, D. C., in the schooner C. C. Smith, 960 barrels; and to Baltimore, in the schooner Sunlight, 2100 barrels. William Downs & Son sent out in the Sunlight sixty barrels of potatoes.

The funeral of Miss Henrietta Monvourkett, the young French woman who was fatally injured by an accident at the Rockingham house recently, took place on Wednesday, the 13th inst., when her remains were laid in the Catholic cemetery. Coroner Samuel C. Whittier summoned Joseph H. Gardiner, Edwin A. Tilden and Harry G. Tanton as a jury of inquest, but there is not and has not been the slightest suspicion in any quarter that the sad affair was the result of anything but an unfortunate accident.

The fishing schooner Silkworm, one of the few pinques employed in the fishing business—or in any other business for that matter, the French "pink-stern" having gone altogether out of fashion years ago—has finished her course. She has been in this harbor many times, the last occasion that we call to mind being when she came here with a load of halibut from Gloucester, and sold it at retail on Market square at less than half what the local fish dealers had been asking. She was blown ashore in York harbor in one of the recent heavy storms, and has gone to pieces.

Harper's for December is ready for delivery by Moses Brothers and W. G. Myers. It opens with four old Christmas poems, by Ben Jonson, George Wither, S. T. Coleridge and Giles Fletcher. Moncure D. Conway has an article on "England's great university," with sixteen illustrations; Rose Terry Cooke has an amusing paper on "Knoware," with a dozen humorous illustrations; E. H. Knight tells of "The mariner's cautionary signal," Gen. Chellain of "The Red River colony," and Charles Barnard of "Silver," all three papers being illustrated; and there are other illustrated articles, sketches and poems, editor's departments, etc., as usual, making this Christmas number as readable and pleasing as any of its predecessors.

The new Board of Inspectors of Checklists on Wednesday evening organized by the choice of Richard H. Waldron as chairman, and Joseph H. Gardiner as clerk.

MECHANICS' ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of the Mechanics' Association, Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected:

President, Thomas E. O. Marvin.
Vice President, William A. Hodgdon.
Treasurer, John Knowlton.
Trustees, Charles E. Leach, Charles H. Downs.
Secretary, Joseph R. Curtis.
Deputy Secretary, Edward J. Moulton.
Marshal, Frank W. Miller.
Deputy Marshal, John Pender.
Standard Bearer, John M. Davis.

The following named gentlemen were appointed a committee to consider the expediency of having a social meeting or a series of social meetings during the winter, to report at a special meeting Nov. 26th: Frank W. Miller, Joseph H. Gardiner, John M. Davis, Charles H. Downs, Thomas E. O. Marvin, William A. Hodgdon.

The Association is in a flourishing condition, and has reduced its debt during the past year over $1200.

CAPT. EARL ENGLISH, U. S. N.

While we regret to lose from the naval station across the river so excellent an officer and kindly a gentleman as Capt. English, we are glad that he has been designated to fill the position of Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting. It is no disparagement to the reputation of the other officers whose names were suggested for this place, to say that Capt. English is pre-eminently fitted for the discharge of the duties of Chief of the Bureau. When Secretary Thompson was at the navy yard last summer he had abundant opportunity to become familiar with Capt. English's qualifications, and it is perhaps due to this circumstance that the selection for the new position was made. Capt. English and his family have many friends in Portsmouth, who will rejoice that his ability as an officer has been thus recognized, and who will be glad at some future day to welcome him back as Commodore.

In the case of Howe, appellant, vs. C. H. Day, admr., the jury in the forenoon brought in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1010, with interest from Jan. 1875, the date of the intestate's death, amounting to $1232.20, which is above the amount allowed by the commissioner, and subsequently by the referee. Barnard for plff.; J. C. Bartlett for deft.

No. 152, Sarah F. Smith vs. Josiah H. Stearns, was begun, and occupied the day. Action for damages occasioned by being driven against by the defendant at Epping. Hatch for plaintiff; Frink and Page for defendant.

Europe Acknowledges the Superiority of Johnson's Cyclopædia.

From Hon. John D. Philbrick, LL. D., Commissioner of the Educational Section of the International Exposition, at Paris.

166 BOULEVARD MONT PARNASSE,
PARIS, Oct, 14th, 1878.

ALVIN J. JOHNSON, ESQ.—Dear Sir: I am glad to inform you that your excellent Encyclopædia has at last received the "recompense" it deserves. A Bronze Medal has been awarded to you as its Publisher, and a Gold Medal to Dr. Barnard as its Editor-in-Chief. There has been no question as to its merits.

Yours very truly,
JOHN D. PHILBRICK.

In addition to the two Medals awarded at the International Exposition at Paris, Prof. F. A. P. Barnard, LL. D., president of Columbia College, New York, received the decoration of "Officer" of the Grand Legion of Honor for services to science as author, and as Editor-in-Chief of Johnson's New Universal Cyclopædia.

Henry P. Rolfe has been appointed by the Governor and Council a member on the commission of the Winnipiseogee Lake Cotton and Woollen Manfacturing Company, in place of Francis H. Faulkner of Keene, resigned.

The town of Gilford has voted without a dissenting voice to exempt from taxation, for a term of ten years, all capital to the amount of $5000 and upwards which has recently been or may hereafter be invested in that town for manufacturing purposes.

Only 300 tons of starch were manufactured in the town of Dalton the present season, which is about one-fourth the usual quantity made there. The scarcity and high price of potatoes causes, as would be expected, this limited amount of starch production. In Grafton and vicinity agents are buying up potatoes in large quantities at seventy-five cents a bushel for the Boston market.

—The inhabitants of Rheims thought one night some weeks ago that there was a revolution, for at midnight the Cathedral bell began to ring a dreadful knell. It was an American tourist who had sampled all the wines in the neighborhood, and gone into the steeple as most tourists do, but gone to sleep there as no tourist does.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Those Horrid Men.

Look at the ridiculous way in which a man takes for granted that a woman will be interested in his sayings and doings. If his wife has a long story to tell him she is filled with misgivings lest it might tire him, she leaves out many little picturesque touches that she may not take up his time, and even on the handgallop she has not arrived within call of her conclusion when he asks with confusing directness, "Well, how did it turn out?" But the man has never a misgiving that he will be hurried, or that life has anything better to offer than listening to him. He begins his story as its earliest moments and lopes leisurely to its close, or if it is rapid he gives it rapid transit, but he never omits anything on his wife's account. He tells what he said and what the other man said, and what the other man might have said, and what he would have said if the the other man had said what he might have said. And the worst of it is—the fatal point is—that his confidence is justified. The woman is interested. The man's talk takes her out of her own into a larger life, and she not only tolerates but enjoys it; and what are you going to do about it?

—Postal cards often give rise to peculiar troubles. A Rochester lumber dealer mailed one to a discharged clerk, accusing him of swindling, and the clerk has obtained a verdict of $450 damages, based on the publicity of the charge while passing through the mails. A similar charge is on trial at Pittsburg, the plaintiff being a sewing machine agent, to whom his employer addressed an accusation of improperly retaining money.

—At Brussels recently a woman appeared at the police office to complain of her husband, who had boxed her ears. "Boxed your ears, eh?" said the official; "How?" "So," said the woman, and leaning over the desk she gave the official a whack of the heartiest sort. He reported the assault to his superior, but "in consequence of the woman's naivete," as the report reads, she was excused.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noted:
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and roadbed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the fatty tissue, diminishing the size of its cells, without injuring the health. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.
In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen: Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 189 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change of diet or exercise, I reduced of Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allen's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks. A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allen's Anti-Fat reduced me twenty pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. POWERS & FLAMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "It (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of lime diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To distinguish this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, regarded it as the chief and crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, sure, safe and speedy cure of this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations as a single lovable boon to those who use it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and will make a FORFEIT OF $500 for failure (for conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Incurable Cases, Sensations, Hot Flashes, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion and Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exist this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in Dr. Pierce's Plain Talks on Some Medical Advisers, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats plainly of those diseases peculiar to females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, or becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the system and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, which cases they are and our are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so irritate the nostrils and excoriate the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the crusts, from any part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The foul watery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge and remove. The eye is sympathetic, becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and moist as excreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being vitiated by the most vicious neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the position in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

The National Scourge.

It is estimated that the annual damages caused by the ravages of insects and worms exceed $150,000,000 in the United States alone. Truly an enormous loss! Yet it sinks into insignificance when compared with the ravages of that more terrible scourge, consumption, which annually sweeps hundreds of thousands of human souls into eternity. The causes of consumption are various, depending in every instance for the development of the disease upon the scrofulous diathesis, or temperament, of the victim. Thus the same cause which will produce in one person an attack of acute disease or a slight nervous prostration, will engender consumption in a person of scrofulous habit. That consumption can be cured by proper treatment will be readily perceived when the exact nature of the disease is understood, viz.: the accumulation and deposition of scrofulous matter (tubercles) in the lungs. Obviously, the principal remedies required are (1) a powerful alterative, or blood-purifier, to arrest the accumulations and also cleanse the blood of the scrofulous matter, and (2) a mild cathartic to expel the diseased matter from the system. This course of treatment, in conjunction with a strict hygienic regime, has proved the most successful method of curing this disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alterative and cathartic remedies before the public, and have been alone used in thousands of cases of con-

Lager Beer.

From certain facts that came out on the trial of a case in St. Louis recently the mysteries and manners of the lager beer men of the west were unfolded. It is a mistake to suppose lager beer is made from hops and barley exclusively. On the contrary, rice, corn, and other ingredients enter largely into its manufacture. A recent investigation at Milwaukee showed that nearly all the large brewers there use immense quantities of rice and corn making in beer; one firm used about seventy thousand bushels of corn per month, another three thousand bushels, and others used from five thousand to fifteen thousand pounds of rice per month. In St. Louis these and other materials are used in making beer, but not to the same extent, and this may account for the present superiority of St. Louis beer.

The present trial developed the fact that some of the enterprising brewers of that city have been selling beer of their own manufacture under the name of imported beer, the consumers paying a higher price for beer with a foreign name than for the home-made article. It seems that Bohemia furnishes the best hops in Europe, and a place there called Budweis turns out the vast beer of Bohemia. It is largely consumed in Vienna, in Prague and other cities, and has a world-wide reputation. Very little of it comes to America, and the different brands of Budweiser sold here are all made in St. Louis, some of it containing a small quantity of imported hops, and some of it made of American hops, rice or corn and barley.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 75 State street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the Register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office to Mr. Joshua Crane a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the Voting Register will be closed on the twenty-ninth day of November, between which time and the annual meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, no registration will be made. nov9 EDWARD C. PERKINS, Clerk.

Portsmouth Chronicle

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1878.

The Louisiana Outrages.

The following significant despatches were sent from New Orleans under date of Nov. 13th:

Sheriff Young, of Concordia parish, visited Governor Nicholls to-day and informed him that just prior to the late election forty colored men were murdered in that parish. The coroner of the parish furnished him with the "procès-verbal" of seven inquests upon as many colored corpses killed by gun-shot wounds, that were found in plantation ditches of Concordia parish.

The Executive Committee of the Citizens' Association to-day notified Gov. Nicholls in writing that they charged, and were prepared to prove fraudulent registration and intimidation, violence and bribery in the election. The Election Bureau state that as soon as H. N. Ogden, the Attorney-General, now at a safe distance, has sufficiently recovered from his terror of the yellow fever to return to his official duty, they will through him present to the grand jury testimony which will clearly establish every allegation made.

Col. Frank Zacharie, who was sent by Gov. Nicholls as a special agent to Tensas to report the true condition of affairs there, has returned and submitted a lengthy report. He says that, notwithstanding the exaggerated reports from Tensas, he could only succeed in finding that twelve negroes had been killed.

Col. Zacharie could only find that twelve negroes were murdered for political reasons in Tensas parish alone! Only twelve—that's all; not enough, surely, for even the most rabid "bloody-shirt" republicans to make any talk about, when it is considered that the enormous republican majority of Tensas parish could be made into a democratic one only by murder, that the murdered men were all republicans, and that the murder of this petty dozen did suffice to change Tensas parish's republican majority of 3000 to a democratic majority as large. It must be remembered that this Col. Zacharie is not only a democrat, but that he was one of the "white-line" organizers and leaders in 1876, and that all his prejudices and sympathies are with the democratic white-liners; yet even this man, who certainly would put the best face possible on the matter, can only say that "notwithstanding the exaggerated reports" he can "only succeed in finding that twelve negroes were killed" in Tensas parish just before the election.

Vote of Tensas parish, 1876, by the democratic count: Hayes 3207, Tilden 464.

Vote of Tensas parish, 1878, by the democratic count: about 3000 democratic majority!

As to Concordia parish the case is somewhat different; the sheriff of that parish is a republican, it having given (by the democratic count) at the last previous election 2507 republican votes to 307 for the democratic candidates. The "bloody shirt" men will contend, we have no doubt, that the fact that Concordia parish, which two years ago was more than eight to one republican, is this year as strongly democratic, is strong corroborative proof of the truth of Sheriff Young's statements; and Col. Zacharie's confession that "only" a dozen republicans were murdered in Tensas parish will probably also be adduced in support of the sheriff's story.

Another thing meriting attention is the fact that the Citizens' Association of New Orleans, which so boldly charges intimidation, fraudulent registration, violence and bribery against the democratic managers in New Orleans, and presents proofs of corruption against the democratic officials at every one of the 103 polling places in that city, is not a republican organization at all, but on the contrary a democratic one, many of the leading men of which were active in overthrowing the legally-elected State government in 1876. These men, the merchants and reputable business men of the city, though they failed to see anything wrong in the country districts being carried for the democracy by wholesale murder and outrage, do not wish to see their city ruled—as Tammany hall for so many years has ruled New York—by the back slums; and at the late election, being backed by the republican party in a body, they unquestionably carried the city by a very large majority. They find out, however, as New York found out to her cost, that the count is mightier than the ballot; and it remains to be seen whether this revolt of the better portion of the democratic party against the iron rule of its thieves and murderers will be successful.

This democratic waving of the bloody-shirt in Louisiana will be watched with interest, and none the less because the "Solid South" now has every Congressman from that State, notwithstanding its large republican majority.

As You Like It.

It is no news to say that the democratic party has no principles worth mentioning, on the financial question; everybody knows that; but the democratic party has views on the subject of greenbackism, in variety sufficient to suit all callers, if it has no principles. For instance, the leading democratic organ of the west, the Cincinnati Enquirer, thus discourses of the good which greenbackism has done democracy:

> The first grand fact seen is that the greenback gained for the democracy ten members of the House of Representatives, a majority of twenty in that body; saved the House for the democratic party; saved a majority of the State delegations in the House, if that majority is saved at all. The greenback doctrine, that is, brings as its offering to the democratic party every valuable thing the democratic party has gained this year. This is the gift of the "Ohio idea" to the national democracy. The stone which so many of the builders rejected has become the chief of the corner, and this alone has spared the democratic party in the United States from complete humiliation, from disgraceful defeat in the elections of 1878.

If that view does not suit, you can get an opposite one by going to the Buffalo Courier, the democratic organ of western New York, which says:

> The eastern democracy have learned an important lesson. To maintain our organization and strength intact we must fight the "greenback" enemy, not treat with him. Only in this way can democratic defection be prevented. By such an aggressive course New York was saved to the democracy in 1875, when the soft-money craze in Ohio and Pennsylvania had seriously impaired the party prospects. To the same tactics the republicans are largely indebted for their present success. The effects of the election will doubtless be felt in Congress at its coming session.

"You pays your money and you takes your choice."

News and Notes.

Arthur L. Barry, the robber of the $15,000 trunk of jewelry at the Worcester, Mass., depot last year, has been sentenced to five years in State prison. That is, he is paid at the rate of $3,000 a year for his five years' imprisonment. Many an honest, hard-working man would be glad to get one-third of that amount.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker of Providence, R. I., celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding on Monday, the 11th inst. Each is eighty-eight years of age.

The Scientific American announces that half the vinegar now sold is rank poison, and a Massachusetts chemist states that out of twenty jars of pickles, put up by different wholesale dealers, he found copper in ten of them.

A brass propeller for the U. S. S. Tennessee, weighing 23,000 pounds, was cast at the Washington navy yard, Thursday.

At Mount Airy, Va., Col. Ballard Lambert attempted Sunday to take his child from the residence of his mother-in-law, and, being opposed by the latter, killed her by a blow on the head. Lambert's wife had left him for ill treatment.

New Hampshire Items.

Diphtheria is raging at Laconia, where there are forty or fifty cases, and the disease is still spreading.

Henry J. Fox was before the Police Court of Manchester, Wednesday, charged with embezzling the funds of the Granite State newspaper, a greenback organ published in that city. He was bound over in $300 to appear before the Supreme Court. He had been a canvassing agent for the paper.

Hon. Harry Bingham, senior counsel for the defence in the Dickey-Eastman murder case, stated Wednesday that owing to want of time it would not come to trial this term, being postponed until the March term at Haverhill.

At Epping one night about three weeks ago, Charles Purington hearing a knock at his door about midnight, went to answer the summons. On opening the door he found a bundle in which was wrapped a boy-baby about two weeks old, $150 in cash and clothes enough to last the boy a year. A few years ago a child was left at Mr. Purington's door under similar circumstances. It was kindly cared for but it did not live. The present caller will be taken care of and may develop into a good and useful citizen. The parentage of the child is at present unknown.

George E. Danforth, republican, who has been elected to the supreme bench of New York, is a son of the late Isaac Danforth of Concord.

The new chime of bells donated to the Franklin street Congregational church at Manchester by ex-Gov. Frederick Smyth, has arrived and will be placed in position immediately.

Prominent citizens of Manchester are becoming interested in the system of heating buildings by steam. A delegation is soon to visit Lockport, N. Y., Springfield, Mass., and other places, to witness the operation of the system.

Political.

The next New Hampshire House of Representatives will consist of 164 republicans, 101 democrats and nine greenbackers.

New York shows a republican majority of 26,900, and the majority in the Assembly is larger than ever before in the history of the party. Yet some of the democratic newspapers talk of New York as a democratic State.

Milton Sayler announces that he will not contest the election of Benjamin Butterworth as Congressman from the first Ohio district. It is also announced that Benjamin Dean will not contest the election of Walbridge A. Field as Congressman from the third Massachusetts district. In order that the fullness of this magnanimity may be appreciated it must be known that Butterworth has not much over a thousand clear majority over Sayler, and Field less than five hundred unquestioned majority over Dean, so of course a "democratic House" would in an instant seat the two democrats if they demanded it.

The New York Tribune is spoiling for a libel suit srom Moses-Match-Manton-Marble-Mobble, or Tilden, or Pelton, or Weed, or any of the other coparceners, and is constantly flourishing the cipher business in their faces, telling them they are all frauds and rascals, and asking when the libel suits are to be begun. It seems likely that Pelton won't begin his in a hurry, as he has cleared out to Canada, probably to avoid an examination under oath.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

THE CITY.

Buffalo Bill and his retinue of "big injuns," will visit Portsmouth on the 21st inst.

The lecture at Miss Morgan's seminary this (Friday) evening, will be by Mr. John Albee; subject, Chaucer.

The U. S. S. Marion, now on the European station and expected home about Jan. 1st., is it is said ordered to this station.

Commander Henry Erben, equipment officer at the navy yard, will be relieved to-day by his successor in that position, Commander Henry L. Johnson.

The Ticonderoga will leave the navy yard at 8:30 o'clock this morning for the lower harbor, where she will stay to take in her powder, and will sail on Saturday afternoon for Norfolk, Va.

Capt. Jonathan Young, U. S. N., has been ordered to succeed Capt. Earl English as executive officer at this navy yard, and captain of the yard, a position he has before filled. Capt. Young has been on duty at this station as commander of the receiving ship as well as an officer of the yard, and he has many friends on both sides of the Piscataqua who will be glad to see him again at this station. His last service was in command of the U. S. S. Tennessee. He reports for duty at the yard on the 20th inst.

In a paragraph which we recently published we expressed an opinion that the Granite State, of Manchester, the flimsy, whang-banging organ of the New Hampshire greenbackers, had caved in, we not having received a copy since the election. A friend since then has handed us a copy of the paper dated Nov. 9th, which announces the suspension of the paper for one week while it is being enlarged. It claims to have "probably the largest list of subscribers (11,000) of any paper in the State of New Hampshire," and proposes to "give its readers the very best paper." That list of subscribers in probably largely "fiat," --but what a mighty change in the value of the paper the managers propose to effect!

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 14; Smith, J.

The trial of Smith vs. Stearns was resumed this morning. Previous to this the Court called over the jury cases as far as No. 282.

In the Smith case it appears that as Mr. Stearns was driving in the street of Epping he saw a child in the path and drew up his team to save running over the child, and in doing this he turned aside and his horse ran against the mother, Mrs. Smith, who was running across the street to protect the child. Stearns was going at a moderate pace, as was testified wherefore he came to the child, perhaps five or six miles an hour, and three or four miles an hour when Mrs. Smith was struck.

In the afternoon several cases on the new docket were called; and cases on this docket, marked for trial, will be in order after the trial of case No. 4 on the equity docket, Towle vs. Raymond, on Tuesday of next week.

The defendants in Smith vs. Stearns called several witnesses. The case will be argued on Friday.

Judge Smith is to be absent to attend a referee hearing on Monday and Tuesday of next week, when Judge Foster will preside. Case Charles H. Sides against the city of Portsmouth is next in order. The court intimated that jury trials would not proceed beyond Thursday of next week.

The clerk calls the attention of the bar to the rule established at the December law term of 1877, which provides that "when it appears in any case that the value in controversy did not exceed $100, and the title of real estate was not concerned, costs will be regulated and terms imposed according to the justice of the case, and no costs will be allowed to the prevailing party after the second term, except by special order for cause shown." This rule went into effect December 20th, 1877.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 14; Batchelder, J.

The court was in session from a quarter before nine o'clock in the forenoon to twelve, and from half-past two o'clock to half-past four.

Michael Monday, for drunkenness, was ordered to pay $8.76, fine and costs.

John Crowley, a common drunkard, was sentenced to sixty days at the county farm and to pay $8.81 costs. He claimed an appeal, and was ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $100.

William Hanscom, Frank Adderton and Ada Marden, the latter claiming to be Adderton's wife, were charged with breaking and entering the house of Allen Hunter on Madison street, and stealing therefrom a cookstove, washstand and other furniture. The evidence was that the Marden woman had a bill of sale of the goods from a Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer; that Marden and her husband, with Hanscom, a sailor, a teamster and another man went to Hunter's house, the door of which was forced open, and a stove, etc., put in the team and taken to Pickering street, where Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Marden-Adderton were intending to go into some kind of business. After a long hearing, all parties were discharged on this complaint.

Complaints against the teamster and the man who assisted him were nol. pros'd, they evidently having no interest in the matter other than to do a job of work they were paid to do, in the regular line of their business.

Frank Adderton and Ada Marden were then arraigned on a charge of maliciously injuring property (growing out of the same affair) and were bound over to answer in the sum of $50 each.

CITY COUNCILS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening:

Benjamin W. Curtis asked leave to encumber Washington street for building purposes.

Mayor Sise appointed Aldermen Hadley, Hodgdon and Barri a committee to further confer with parties interested in land damages by the contemplated widening of Vaughan street, at the crossing of Hanover.

City Clerk notified the board that the appropriation for the police department was exhausted.

Chief Engineer Fletcher asked to have a gaslight placed upon Dearborn engine-house on Hanover street. Referred to committee on gaslights with power.

Band of Hope asked for use of south ward room. Referred to Ald. Mugridge with power.

Petition of Frank Jones and others for a sewer in rear of Congress street was referred to committee on sewers.

D. H. Montgomery asked leave to put a sign on the tree in front of his store on Pleasant street. Referred to the Mayor with power.

Voted that the amendment to chapter 14, section 2, be taken from the table and indefinitely postponed.

Voted that the bills of John Shannon, Wm. P. Israel and L. F. Rice be paid.

Adjourned.

THE U. S. S. TICONDEROGA.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga, which has been fitted out at this navy yard and is now ready to sail, reflects great credit on those whose duty it has been to superintend the needed repairs made on her; and we have no hesitation in saying that the improvements that have been made in all departments are such as will receive the commendation of all sea-faring men. We paid a visit to this ship Thursday; we felt somewhat interested as to the accommodations for both officer and men, and could but be pleased with the arrangements made for those who are for a long time to come to make her their home. It is well known that Commodore Shufeldt, although a strict displinarian, takes a fatherly interest in the comfort of all under him, and we are informed on good authority that he has selected his officers on this qualification as well as on their other merits.

The construction department, in charge of Constructor Wilson, has been well attended to in all respects; in company with that gentleman, through whose courtesy we were shown the ship, (and who extolled the improvements made in other departments rather than in his own,) were enabled to examine the improvements made and no one can say but that all the room on the ship has been utilized to a good purpose. We can see but two serious objections in the apportionment of room, and those are the placing of the warrant officers' quarters in the forward part of the ship, and the brig (or prison) in the center of the berth-deck; in all other details we cannot see where any improvement could be made. The important subject of ventilation for officers and men has received the attention it demands. The Commodore's and Captain's cabin, which is on the spar deck, is handsomely fitted, and painted so as to harmonize with its surroundings and relieve the eye from the effects of any too brilliant light. The ward room, which in a flag ship necessarily contains a large number of officers, is so arranged that all are well situated and have good quarters. The steerage, although small, furnishes good accommodations for those who will have to live there.

The holy-stoning of berth decks having been given up by order of the department, the Ticonderoga's berth deck has been covered with three coats of shellac varnish, more being put on board the vessel in case its use is required. No turpentine or other inflammable liquid is carried under hatches, chests being provided on the poop for all such materials.

The ship's boats, some of which are new and all of which are in good order, have all the modern improvements.

The engineer department, with the improvements made by the bureau of steam engineering at the yard, will we think prove satisfactory to all interested.

The armament of the ship has been somewhat changed since her last cruise, and is now considered perfect by the navy department—that is, as nearly perfect as the means placed at the department's control will allow. Her battery consists of two eight-inch rifle pivot guns, six nine-inch broadside guns, one sixty-pounder rifle on the top-gallant forecastle, and two twenty-pounder breech-loaders on the poop. The substitution of two eight-inch rifles for the eleven-inch smooth-bore pivot guns does not reduce the weight of the battery, but adds something to its weight and much to its effectiveness.

Commander Cromwell, on receiving the ship from the officers of the yard, complimented the heads of the departments and the mechanics on their work as being as well done as any he had ever seen.

The officers and crew of the ship in all departments have taken hold of their work in earnest since she has been in commission, and have gotten everything in readiness for sailing at any moment, on any service a ship of war is required to perform.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

There was a lively runaway on Thursday forenoon, when two horses attached to a dump-cart took fright as the cart was about being loaded with coal at C. E. Walker & Co.'s wharf on Water street, and ran through Water and up Daniel streets to J. W. P. Carter's store, where the dump-cart struck Mr. Carter's store wagon, which was standing in front of his place of business, and smashed it all to pieces. The runaway team kept on across Market square and up Congress street, other teams and pedestrians getting out of the way with judicious alacrity, until H. L. Garrett & Son's store team was met near Fleet street, and run into, the latter team then running away up Fleet street a short distance, but stopping before doing any damage. The other horses slipped and fell on the crosswalk at Fleet street, and were secured before they could get up again. Mr. Garrett's wagon was slightly injured, and Mr. Carter's damaged beyond repair; the runaway team was but little harmed. The latter belongs to Mr. J. W. Fogg Hobbs, of North Hampton. The driver of Mr. Hobbs' team, a farm hand named Peters, was thrown out near Chapel street and very seriously injured.

THE VICINITY.

Old Oaken Bucket Division, Sons of Temperance, of this city, and Hope Division of Newcastle, have accepted an invitation from Union Division of Dover to partake of their hospitalities on Thursday evening.

Rev. Charles H. Webber, for several years pastor of the Cross street Freewill Baptist society of Saco, but latterly engaged in the insurance business, is reported to have eloped from that place with a young lady belonging to a most respectable family. The couple are thought to have gone to Canada.

A valuable three-years-old colt owned by Miss Rollins, of the Rollins farm in Newington, was killed by the evening train of cars on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad on Wednesday, at the crossing of the road leading from the foot of the hill on the Dover bridge road to the river. There is said to be a lack of properly constructed culverts at this crossing. Some years ago a favorite horse belonging to Wm. W. Nutter, Esq., was killed by a locomotive at this spot, and subsequently four sheep were in like manner disposed of.

MARRIED.

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

An Equine Propeller.

The La Crosse Chronicle gives the following description of a queer craft that is on its way down the Mississippi :—

A small sized steam boat in appearance, and certainly had a screw propeller. A small smoke-stack was erected in its proper place, back of the pilot house, but no smoke could be seen issuing therefrom, and there proceeded from the engine-room a sound far more familiar to the agriculturists who never saw a larger stream than that which turns the busy wheel of the grist mill, than to the river men whose days are spent in close proximity to the roaring monsters which form the motive power of the ordinary river craft.

As the boat passed the city inquisitive eyes discovered through a half-opened door leading to the engine-house a pair of horses patiently toiling up the never ending ascent of an old-fashioned tread power, and at the same moment the fact dawned upon the longshore intelligence that the smoke-stack was as complete a fraud as the Quaker guns of Manassas memory, being built of tarred paper. A goodly stack of hay in that section usually allotted to the coal bunkers, indicated what sort of fuel the "roaring furnaces" are wont to feed upon withal. The bow of the craft was decorated with a pair of enormous elkhorns.

Upon the cabin deck was a light buggy, before which the power is often called upon to perform when lying up for the night along pleasant country roads. A small barge and several skiffs of various sizes, also formed part of the outfit. As the craft passed the foot of Main Street the pilot shouted to the engineer to 'tuck on the gad;' the engines cantered, the speed increased; and the primitive craft passed away.

—A youth of sixteen in Du Page county, Ill., fell madly in love with his schoolmistress, aged thirty, but his wise father induced him to give up his sweetheart, with whom he had planned an elopement to Kansas, for and in consideration of a "real nice double-barrelled shot gun."

—A Boston woman induced her rather weak-minded husband to will all his property to her, and then locked him up in a woodhouse to die, while she received the courtship of the man whom she intended to marry when she became a widow. In her absence the husband's friends made a search, and found him emaciated, drugged, and nearly dead. She was arrested.

Ease Attainable by the Rheumatic.

Yes, although they may despair of relief, it is attainable by rheumatic sufferers, for there is a remedy which carries off, by means of increased activity of the kidneys—important channels for blood purification—the acrid element to which pathologists the most eminent attribute the painful symptoms—a theory completely borne out by urinary analysis. The name of this grand depurent is Hostetter's Bitters, a preparation likewise celebrated as a remedy for constipation, which causes contamination of the blood with the bile—and a certain means of relief in dyspepsia, fever and ague, and nervous ailments. It is, perhaps, the finest tonic extant, and is highly recommended as a medicinal stimulant by distinguished physicians and analysts who pronounce it to be eminently pure and very beneficial. The press also endorses it.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. nov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

More cases of remarkable cures of coughs, colds, asthma and consumption have been effected in the past four years by Adamson's Botanic Balsam than all other medicines that have been advertised for twenty years. Price 25 cents. Try it.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Takes according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received; took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately went to ACKERMAN'S drug store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 161 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change of diet, or exercise,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'I (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope you will again what I have lost.' Anti-Fat is an unrivalled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity free on receipt of stamp.

BUFAMO MEDICINE CO., PROP'RS, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to women, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation, coupled with wonderful in positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, singular it is, the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and universal cure for the class of diseases, and on that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and to confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it fully of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE (for conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not retail this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfils a sixfoldness of purpose, being the most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

BENSON'S CAPCINE Porous Plaster.

A Wonderful Remedy.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow healing porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electric appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For LAME BACK, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Kidney and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 25 cts. Sent on receipt of price, by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt Street, New York.

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary in severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden changes of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellowish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the digestive organs. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free matter discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The matter passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate so there is off; but when the membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing down from the nose and throat, the mucous becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye is sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in its directions, makes it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

Solidifying the Solid South.

The following extract from a letter written by Ex-Congressman Mackey, the republican candidate for election to Congress from the Charleston, S. C., district, gives a good idea of one of the means adopted by the Bourbon democracy of that State to make its delegation in Congress "solid" for their party, regardless of the opposition vote:

That I received a majority of at least 5000 there is no doubt; yet O'Connor is given by the election officers a majority of 7000, and perhaps it will be more. How it has been done I shall tell you, and I hope you will publish the fact in every paper you can.

In the first place, in the appointment of managers of elections, the democratic Commissioners of Elections in the several counties in this district absolutely refused to appoint a single republican manager throughout the district, so that we were compelled to vote without a single election officer to represent us in the entire district. It is true we had a United States Supervisor appointed at each poll; and though the democratic managers at most of the polls admitted them into the polling places, yet they threw every obstacle they could in their way, and in no instance would they allow them to exercise any authority save to stand by and witness the voting. In some instances the authority of the supervisors was entirely ignored. In one case the managers ordered the supervisor out of the polling place, and upon his refusing to go they ordered the State constables to eject him, which they did. This was at the Mt. Pleasant poll in this county. At the Palmetto engine house in ward three of this city, the supervisor was severely beaten by the democratic voters and driven away from the polls. The authority of the United States marshals was treated with utter contempt, and to save themselves from arrest by the city and State authorities they were compelled to refrain from exercising any authority.

In this city the democratic managers of elections arbitrarily refused to at least 2,000 colored voters the right to vote. Unless a colored man was known to one of the managers of election he was refused the right to vote unless he could bring witnesses to prove where he resided. Many were turned off under the pretext that they were not twenty-one years of age, or rather that the managers were doubtful of it.

At the last session of the Legislature, the two voting precincts in St. Andrew's Parish were abolished, and the 900 colored voters of that section of the country left without a polling place. The parish is only separated from the city by the Ashley river, and used to be connected with Charleston by a bridge, which you will probably recollect was burned at the evacuation of the city by the rebels. The people crossed over to the city of Charleston for the purpose of voting, but the democratic managers would not receive their votes, though the city of Charleston was the only place where they could vote. The Legislature also abolished all the voting places on the State road between Charleston and Summerville, and yet when the people came to Charleston to vote the democratic managers denied them the privilege, telling them to go and vote where they lived, although they knew full well that there was no polling place where they resided.

Notwithstanding all these outrages, the republicans carried this county by at least 4,000 majority, but to their utter surprise, when the ballot-boxes were opened at the various polls, the boxes were found to contain in most cases several hundred more ballots than there were names on the poll list. Out of the 32 polls in this county, at 20 of them the ballots were largely in excess of the names on the poll list. Every ballot-box was stuffed with tickets of the kind I enclose. [The ticket is of tissue paper with the names printed upon it "For Governor, Wade Hampton," etc.] These tickets were not circulated during the election, but had been printed by the Democratic Executive Committee and distributed amongst the managers only. The regular democratic ticket, as well as the republican ticket, was five times as large. In most instances, especially where few democratic votes were cast, the managers, after counting the ballots and ascertaining the excess, returned them to the ballot-box, but were careful to leave them unfolded, and proceeded to draw out the number of ballots in excess. They were careful, however, to draw out none of these small tickets, but in every instance the large republican ballots were drawn out and destroyed.

At the Mt. Pleasant poll 482 republican ballots were thus drawn out and destroyed, and this poll, where the republicans had voted five to one against the democrats, was made to give a democratic majority of 326.

The most outrageous cases of ballot-box stuffing occurred at the two polls in ward three of this city. At the poll known as the Palmetto engine house, one of the managers, W. L. Daggett, the foreman of the News and Courier job printing office, stuffed 2,600 of these little tickets in the box after the poll was closed. The managers, finding that there were 3,569 ballots in the box, declined to throw out any, but counted them all, and returned the vote of that poll as 461 for Mackey and 3,108 for O'Connor. At the other poll in the ward the same act was performed, and the managers returned 121 for Mackey and 1,866 for O'Connor, so that one ward out of the eight in the city was made to give a majority of 4,392 votes for O'Connor. The utter impossibility of voting 3,569 persons at one poll in the space of twelve hours need hardly be argued. As the managers swore each voter separately, and in many cases consumed three or four minutes questioning some voters, it is safe to say that the average time consumed in voting each man was one minute, which would allow 720 votes to be polled, provided there was a continuous stream of voters during the twelve hours the polls were opened. Yet at this poll the managers make a return under oath that 3,569 persons voted in the space of twelve hours. By this method Charleston city is made to give O'Connor a majority of 6,527, or a majority larger than the entire democratic vote of the city.

Throughout this county and the entire district the boxes were stuffed in the same way, not only in Charleston, but in Clarendon. Not satisfied with stuffing the ballot-boxes, the democrats, finding it impossible to stuff the ballot-box at the Washington engine house in ward six, because of the vigilance of the United States supervisor, put out the lights and stole the box and destroyed it because I had a majority of about 500 there. On Edisto island, where 1,000 republican voters reside, and where the democrats have only about 40 or 50 votes, the democratic commissioners failed to open the polls, thus actually disfranchising these voters.

From all over the State comes the same reports. Ballot-box stuffing was a democratic pastime all election day, and no secret at all was made of it. The tissue paper tickets were not distributed at the polls anywhere, but were found by hundreds in every ballot-box, showing that the wholesale fraud was planned and the tickets issued by the democratic central committee.

Report of Chiefs of Bureaus.

The annual reports of the chiefs of the various bureaus of the navy department have been submitted to the Secretary of the Navy.

W. H. Shock, Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering, gives an exhibit showing that the bureau is free of debt, with a small unexpended balance of the appropriation. He thinks that the Pensacola navy yard should be placed in the highest state of efficiency, and makes an earnest appeal for the mechanics employed in our yards and stations, for whom there is no provision in case of death or disability while in the discharge of their duties.

J. W. Easby, Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, gives in his annual report the list of vessels on which work in repairing or completion was performed during the last fiscal year. He says one of the large monitors rebuilding (the Miantonomah), can be completed with the funds already on hand; the others, viz., Monadnock, Terror, Amphitrite and Puritan, cannot be finished without additional appropriation. The service requires fast unarmored cruising ships, and also one more powerful ram. Believing that Congress will not long delay the appropriations for vessels of this character, directions have been given to have plans prepared by naval constructors for iron unarmored cruising vessels of 3500 tons displacement, and iron rams of 2000 tons displacement. It is estimated that $1,500,000 will be required the next fiscal year to keep in good order ships needing but slight repairs and completing or extensively repairing the following vessels: Mohican, Brooklyn, Ossipee, Hartford, Canandaigua, Monocacy, Lancaster and Ashuelot.

Col. McCawley, commandant of the Marine Corps, reports that there are 1650 men in the Marine Corps, of whom 1053 are on ships in commission and 889 at shore stations. He submits estimates for 300 additional privates, the number allowed by law, 1500, being insufficient.

News and Notes.

The supreme court of Vermont on Friday refused to grant a new trial to Hayden, the Derby Line wife murderer, and sentenced him to be hung in January, 1881.

Frank Ross, the Italian who made a sworn statement several days ago, at Marshalltown, Iowa, that he murdered John K. Slough, has made another affidavit to the effect that the first confession is a lie. He says that he confessed the murder in order to clear Dakin, his old employer and now under sentence for the murder, and whom he declares innocent of the crime.

Capt. John S. Sleeper, of Boston Highlands, died at his home in that place on Thursday evening, aged eight-four years. In early life he was a sailor, and rose to the rank of master mariner. In 1830 he left the sea, and commenced a journalistic career as editor and proprietor of the Exeter News-Letter; later he owned the Lowell Journal, and later still was associated with Col. Rogers in the management of the Boston Journal, until after 1856. Capt. Sleeper was an extreme whig until that party ceased to exist, and since then has been a rabid democrat.

Body-snatching seems to be the branch of industry in which the greatest activity is exhibited just now. There was a sharp pursuit of a grave-robbing gang at Zanesville, Ohio, Thursday morning, and the bodies of four prominent men were recovered.

The Providence, R. I., city hall, just completed at a cost of about $1,000,000, was dedicated Thursday. A procession of city officials and other dignitaries moved from the old city building to the new, where, after formal delivery of the keys, a prayer of dedication was offered by President Robinson of Brown university. An oration was delivered by Hon. Abraham Payne and benediction was pronounced by Bishop Hendricksen of the Roman Catholic church.

At North Brookfield, Mass., John Duggan called late at night at Daniel Healy's saloon, and, rapping him up, demanded drink. Because Healy refused to re-open his saloon Duggan smashed a window, whereupon Healy shot him in the head, the ball going through his eye. Duggan lies insensible, and the doctors can't find the ball. Healy is not yet arrested.

Fannie McCarty, an eighteen-year-old girl, was enticed into the Bay State house, at Worcester, Mass., Wednesday evening, by Cornelius Leary, a Canadian tramp, employed on the new iron bridge structure on the New Haven & Northampton railroad, and assisted by Dick Daley, another employe, both outraged her, each choking her to submission while the other accomplished his purpose. The villains fled, but were arrested at Simsbury, Conn., Friday morning.

A train on the New Brunswick Railway ran off the track at Peel, N. B., six miles below Florenceville, on Thursday. The cars rolled down an embankment, a passenger car taking fire. Three persons were killed and several injured; some of the wounded are badly burned.

The report of A. D. Hazen, Third Assistant Postmaster-General, shows that in the division proper the appropriation for the service during the year was $1,151,150, and the expenditures only $752,232, leaving an unexpended balance of 34 1-2 per cent. The large saving is due to the fact that shortly after the appropriation was made new contracts were entered into for adhesive postage stamps, postal cards, etc., at a great reduction from the old rates, on which the appropriation was based.

Pringle Jenks, the oldest and wealthiest resident of Lyme, died early last week of heart disease, aged nearly seventy-four years. He was unmarried, and leaves a sister living in Lyme, and two nieces with a nephew, residents of Boston, to inherit his property. He has always been an industrious man, and identified with the town's interests.

Political.

Over seventy republicans were killed in Caddo parish, La., during the week immediately preceding the election. Reason—vote of Caddo parish in 1876, republican 2688, democratic 1554. Result—vote of Caddo parish at the late election, 1550 democratic majority! It took a few more murders than the "only twelve" that the democratic Col. Zacharie found had sufficed to make Tennessee democratic, to induce Caddo to "vote right;" but then the Louisiana bull-dozers are generous, and would murder seven hundred radical niggers if necessary to secure a democratic majority in any given parish.

It looks as if we are tending toward a Solid North as an offset to the much talked of Solid South. That this is portentous of evil and strife in the country must be apparent to every one who has sufficient foresight to read the signs of the times.—New Orleans Times (Dem.)

The "Solid South" has been rolling under the democratic tongue as a sweet morsel, but it begins to taste bitter since all the northern States but Indiana and Oregon have gone republican. There is such a thing as too much solidity to be handy.—Burlington Hawkeye (Rep.)

The cipher scandals have for the moment taken both sting and terror out of the "fraud" yell, and the sooner the democrats see it the better it will be for them.—New York World.

The Concord republicans are indulging in some cruel amusement at the expense of the corps of greenback apostles from Maine which proclaimed the fiat-money doctrine during the campaign, and since election have been encamped at a Concord hotel, waiting for somebody to pay them for their services. It would not seem, at the first look, that a fiat-money party ought to be out of funds, but, unfortunately, hotel keepers and railroads decline to accept the promises to pay of this band of peripatetic patriots, and unless somebody furnishes them with some of the hated hard money of the Shylocks, they cannot settle their bills. But then the walking is good, and if they should run off without paying their landlord nobody would pity him much, for he shouldn't have taken that crowd on trust.—Mirror.

Hard Money.

Lately in Virginia City, an old fellow, who for some time worked at the sluice-boxes in Six-Mile canyon, sold his Sierra Nevada stock and came out $7500 ahead. He went to his broker and remarked that he was going east to see the folks, and guessed he'd take the money along.

"You want a draft on New York, I suppose."

"No draft for me. I want coin. Gold twenties are what I came for."

Here he placed a brown leather valise on the counter and told them to pile in the money.

"I'm going to take this sack all the way to New York myself."

"You can get the gold in New York and save the bother of carrying the coin along," remarked the clerk.

"You can't play gold in New York on me; they don't have any there; the last time I was there I never set my eyes on even a two-and-a-half piece. Now just dump the coin in this sack. I want good solid Comstock money. No paper in mine."

He was given the coin as desired, and that night he was on the train with the carpet-bag alongside of him. The chances are that the first three-card monte sharp that falls in with that fellow will relieve him of his pile.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. d&eop130 79

THE CITY.

Rev. James DeNormandie's subject, Sunday, will be "The second coming of Christ."

See advertisement of Sheriff's sale of clothing and gentlemen's furnishing goods this day, at store No. 26 Market street, lately occupied by Moses Spear.

The schooner Free Wind, of this port, Frisbee master, which was blown ashore and damaged at Vineyard Haven in the great gale of Oct. 23d, and afterward floated and towed to New Bedford, sailed from the latter port for New York on Thursday, having completed her repairs.

Capt. John S. Sleeper, recently deceased, formerly editor and proprietor of the Exeter News-Letter and later concerned in the management of the Boston Journal, and who years ago was widely known by his nom de plume "Hawser Martingale," in 1862 married a Portsmouth lady, Miss Mary Folsom Noble, who with three children survives him.

THE VICINITY.

Mr. D. Parker Spinney of Eliot has made seven hundred barrels of cider thus far this season. The firm of Brackett & Co. at Greenland have ground out two thousand barrels of cider this year.

A cow belonging to Cornelius Ahern of Stratham fell into a well twenty-six feet deep, on the 5th inst., but was gotten out alive after two hours' work, and is now all right except that there are several kinks in her tail, which was badly broken by the fall.

Mr. E. Sands, of Saco, lectured before the Young Men's Christian Association of Boston, Thursday evening, his subject being "a trip through the White Mountains;" the lecture was illustrated by means of a stereopticon, and the large audience testified approval by frequent applause.

The schooner Samuel Knight, of Pembroke, Me., which was wrecked on Landstaff rocks some months ago while coming down the river with a cargo of brick, and afterward sold and resold, has been again purchased, this time by James W. Coleman of Newington. All her cargo has been removed, and the hulk floated off the rocks and up alongside the Portsmouth & Dover railroad bridge. So says a News-Letter correspondent.

SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 15; Smith, J.

The case of Smith vs. Stearns was given to the jury in the forenoon.

The jury returned a verdict for Mrs. Smith, giving damages in the sum of twenty-five dollars. The amount claimed was one thousand dollars.

In the afternoon the trial of case Chas. H. Sides vs. city of Portsmouth was commenced. The writ alleged that Elm street was a public street, and at a place where the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire crosses it, at grade, there was such a defect that an accident was occasioned to a carriage driven by Mr. T. F. Stackpole, in which rode a minor daughter of Mr. Sides, who was permanently injured thereby. The plaintiff amended his writ and added a count alleging that by want of a guard to notify travellers that there was a space outside the limits of the highway which was dangerous, etc., the injury complained of was occasioned.

The accident occurred Aug. 22d, 1876. Mr. T. F. Stackpole, with others of Mr. Sides' family, was going to Dover driving a pair of horses, and in attempting to drive across this crossing he saw a large team which prevented his going straight over, and he was obliged to rein his horses on one side. A hole existed between the planking of the track, passing over the road, and the rail of the railroad. The carriage wheel dropped into this hole or space and caused the carriage to upset. The inmates of the carriage were thrown out. Miss Nellie Sides, the daughter of the plaintiff, aged then fifteen years, for the loss of whose services this action is brought, had her arm broken. A plan of the locality was exhibited to the jury, who went to view the premises.

The plaintiff claims that Mr. Stackpole used every care in driving. The accident probably happened outside of the limits of Elm street, and the plaintiff maintains that if there was no guard or anything to warn the traveller that the space adjacent to the highway was not the public street, the claim that the city is liable for damages is secured. Frink and Page for the plaintiff; Hatch and City Solicitor Foster for the deft. This is the last jury case for this week.

The testimony of the plaintiff, his daughters and Mr. Stackpole was heard in the afternoon.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 15; Batchelder, J.

Robert Foster, one of the police court's most regular customers, was up once more, having been drunk again, as usual. He was sent to the county farm for thirty days, and ordered to pay $6.90 costs.

Eugene Smith, ditto, ditto, ditto.

THE PRICE OF FORENSIC ORATORY.

In the bill of a lawyer of an adjoining county furnished in a suit in the court now in session in this city, occurs the following little item: "To argument two hours and forty minutes, and preparation of the same, $50.00." This would seem to confirm the theory of the old adage, that "Time is money."

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following are among the transfers of real estate in Rockingham county left for record in the office of the Register of Deeds:

PORTSMOUTH.

Frank W. Miller, of Portsmouth, to Florence S. Laighton, of Portsmouth, land, $37.50.

Sarah B. Akerman, of Portsmouth, to Charles C. Akerman, of Portsmouth, land and buildings, $1500.

HAMPTON.

John Newell, of West Newbury, Mass., to Samuel C. Batchelder, of West Newbury, Mass., land, $500.

EPPING.

George H. Bean, of Epping, to Francis Ham, of Epping, building, $125.

John H. Pike, of Epping, to Enoch H. Pearson, of Epping, land, $150.

COUNTY RETURNS.

The full returns of the vote for county officers are as follows:

FOR SHERIFF.

John Horace Kent	6659
Amos L. Jenness	5688
Kent's plurality	971

FOR SOLICITOR.

Walter O. Harriman	6064
George E. Hodgdon	4719
Harriman's plurality	1345

FOR TREASURER.

George E. Lane	6750
George W. Lane	4750
George E. Lane's plurality	1300

FOR COMMISSIONERS.

Newton Johnston	6037
Wells C. Underhill	5039
Joseph C. Burley	6981
Charles H. Joy	4591
George N. Proctor	5811
George K. Whitney	4988
Johnston's plurality over Joy	1344
Burley's plurality over Proctor	990
Underhill's plurality over Whitney	941

FOR REGISTER OF PROBATE.

Woodbury M. Durgin	6643
Andrew J. Hoyt	4750
Durgin's plurality	1293

FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS.

George W. Weston	6060
Frank W. Rand	5060
Weston's plurality	1000

The above figures are from certified returns from all the towns excepting Deerfield and Newington. The governor vote of Deerfield is taken for all the county officers excepting sheriff. The vote of Newington for solicitor, treasurer, registers of deeds and probate, is based on the vote returned for two county commissioners. The plurality for commissioners was arrived at by placing the candidates from same localities against each other.

A SACO SCANDAL.

The Portland Argus of Wednesday, the 13th inst., published a despatch from Biddeford asserting that one C. H. Webber of Saco, an ex-clergyman now engaged in the insurance business, and a man with a wife and children, had left town in company with a young lady belonging to one of the first families of Saco. On the afternoon of the 13th Mr. Webber called at the Argus editorial rooms and wished through the paper to inform his friends that he had not run away, and furthermore had no intention of so doing, but was then on his way home. Furthermore, he left Saco with the full knowledge of his wife and family and went to Farmington, where he owns a farm, to settle some business matters. He said he thought he knew who instigated the stories about him, and it was not the first time bad stories had been started. Mr. Webber evidently returned to Biddeford Wednesday afternoon, as the Biddeford Times of that evening contained the following item:

The Argus of this morning contains a sensational dispatch from this city implying the elopement of two well known persons of Saco. The party named in the dispatch was in our office this afternoon, hence the "elopement" falls through and somebody has been sold.

The Argus of Thursday morning prints the following despatch from its Lewiston correspondent, under date of Nov. 13th:

A gentleman and lady registered at the De Witt house last night as man and wife. They proved to be an insurance agent and a young lady of leading respectability of Saco. The gentleman registered as C. H. Webber. City Marshal Dearing of Saco was in quest of them this afternoon, but they left on the 11:30 train west.

The Argus then comments as follows: "Either the above despatch must be wrong, or else the ex-reverend gentleman made a mistake in the place he stopped Tuesday night. He said nothing about being in company with a young lady. It must all be a very wicked conspiracy against him."

In answer the Biddeford Times of Thursday evening says:

The Argus says their article referred to in yesterday's Times was not sensational, and that in the "elopement" matter the Times, and not the Argus, was sold. All the parties were at their homes the day the Argus was issued, having returned as intended, hence the elopement theory falls through.

Ease Attainable by the Rheumatic.

Yes, although they may despair of relief, it is attainable by rheumatic sufferers, for there is a remedy which carries off, by means of increased activity of the kidneys—important channels for blood purification—the acrid element to which pathologists the most eminent attribute the painful symptoms—a theory completely borne out by urinary analysis. The name of this grand deputrent is Hostetter's Bitters, a preparation likewise celebrated as a remedy for constipation, which causes contamination of the blood with the bile—and a certain means of relief in dyspepsia, fever and ague, and nervous ailments. It is, perhaps, the finest tonic extant, and is highly recommended as a medicinal stimulant by distinguished physicians and analysts who pronounce it to be eminently pure and very beneficial. The press also endorses it.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tnov9

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, is a model establishment. It is superb in both style and appointment, and its table and service cannot be excelled.

More cases of remarkable cures of coughs, colds, asthma and consumption have been effected in the past four years by Adamson's Botanic Balsam than all other medicines that have been advertised for twenty years. Price 35 cents. Try it.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by all Druggists.

HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE, Black or Brown, 40 cents.

—"Let rum alone, and it will let you alone." It's false! and every man who quotes the stereotyped apology knows it. There are wives and mothers all over this land who not only let it alone, but work against it; whose lives are but histories of miserable woe; who are being killed by slow torments unmatched outside of perdition, and the slow murder is the more torturing, because husbands or children are the instruments used by the murder-making destroyer. Nor will it let any citizen or business man alone, but makes him pay taxes for it, and subjects him to burdens and penalties of all sorts; and then, like the rebels, after they had fired the Southern heart, cries out, "Let us alone."—Portsmouth Weekly.

—Miss Nellie Hazelton, that St. Louis belle, is of medium height, slender and graceful, with luxurious auburn locks, large magnetic eyes of a beautiful liquid brown, fringed with lovely long black curling lashes, and a countenance rather full for positive beauty in a front view, though when seen in profile "the outlines are statuesque in the extreme." She is twenty-one. The society reporter of the Globe-Democrat says that she wrote to him, desiring him to call on her, and when he called, authorized him to announce formally her engagement to Mr. Tilden and that they would be married in January or February, 1879. Next day she denied to a Post reporter that she had ever seen Mr. Tilden or authorized such an announcement. Her friends say they cannot explain her conduct; the Balitore Gazette thinks her object was to secure free advertising. Miss Hazelton is of good family, her father, a leather merchant, having recently failed for $200,000.

Painting Farm Buildings.

In painting even a shed it is just as cheap and easy to give it a pleasing color as to make it a blemish on the landscape. Barns and other farm buildings, painted red—especially the dark Venetian red—offer a fine contrast to the green of the fields and the trees, and we are pleased to note that the use of this color is increasing. The numerous red buildings of English farms are very attractive to the traveller's eye; and they are not only handsome in appearance, but also give an air of thrift and permanency to a place, which unpainted wood or white or straw color do not impart. We have one set of farm buildings in mind in which the brackets and other trimmings are finished off in black, with a most satisfactory effect. The black thus used gives a distinctness and boldness to the details, and forms with the red walls a happy combination, and one most appropriate in its place. Red barns and outbuildings are not rare; these, when of a glaring, self-asserting red, are not pleasing, and they are still less so when they are, as we often see them, trimmed with white. It is a rule of good taste in painting buildings to have window caps, brackets, and other details, darker than the ground work or main body of the material. Why not apply the same principle to farm buildings, especially as it costs no more, and adds to the attractiveness and value of the structure?—Springfield Republican.

—The city clerk of Elizabeth, N. J. is in a quandary as to how he can inform William Keller of his election to the office of justice of the peace in the second ward. Keller received a majority of 599 votes, and now the city clerk is informed that the succesful candidate died over six months ago.

—A girl in Hillborough, N. C., poisoned a young man because he refused to make love to her. Young men run a fearful risk in refusing to make love to young women. But, per contra, we read that in another town a young girl shot the top of a young man's head off because he persisted in making love to her. Therefore young men also run a fearful risk in making love to a young woman. The safest plan would be to start on an expedition to discover the North Pole. There are no young women there.—Norristown Herald.

—There is said to be in Bangor a little boy, who, as his mother is an invalid, has been most of his life under the special care of his nurse, to whom he always showed the strictest obedience. During the summer, however, the mother went away for the season, leaving the nurse behind, having with her the little boy and his grandmother. Being unused to receiving orders from his mother, he at one time rebelled, and she was obliged to punish him to make him obey. To this he stoutly demurred, affirming that only the nurse had a right to punish him, and going to his grandmother he complained that his mother struck him. "That was right," said she, "if you were naughty; she is your mother and has a right to whip you if you don't behave." The little fellow listened sobbing till she had finished, then looking up he asked, "Have mothers a right to strike their children?" "Certainly," she replied. "Are you her mother?" he asked. "To be sure I am." "Well then," sobbed he, "hit her!"

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of

$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

In use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in recordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.

In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen: Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to SEVERANCE'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writes for a patient from Providence, R. I., says: "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 199 pounds to 142 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOLLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. TOWLE & PALMERTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen.—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. 'If the Anti-Fat had the desired effect, reducing the flesh two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.' Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.

THE BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., PROP'S, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN

By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.

To designate this natural specific, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases incident to the organism of woman, alleged it to be the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician, and am confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single intelligent lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it. that I offer and sell it under a POSITIVE GUARANTEE (for conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before witnessed: Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not extol this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of "America Ahead in pool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL,
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal,

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. tdec29

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat,

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the strength and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eyes and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever causes they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow, in, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces being dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it was encircled by a tight, unyielding band. This latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free watery discharge causes the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. A peculiar hawking and hoarse throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but when this membrane is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations and hard masses, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages as to require severe efforts to dislodge them. The eye in sympathy becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, ulceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of this most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE are conclusively believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the direction, marks it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the extent in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with minute directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Political.

The New York Tribune prints a fac simile of the significant cipher dispatch in which "Moses" informs Mr. Tilden that he has "wasted three visits on Controller" Cowgill, in Florida; and under it, for the purpose of comparison, is given the fac simile of a dispatch signed by Manton Marble in his own name. The writing of each dispatch was evidently by the same hand. Or if one be an imitation of the other, the imitator is an artist.

"In any way we can canvass the returns, as they have come to this office, and as obtained from other sources, we cannot do otherwise than admit the election of Mr. Bisbee." So said the Jacksonville Sun (democratic) of Nov. 9th; but Mr. Bisbee has been counted out. The matter is to come before the courts.

Jesse Yates, democrat, is elected to Congress in the first North Carolina district over Martin, republican, by six majority. That is, Yates has been counted in by the democratic election officers, as he would have been counted in had Martin's majority been a thousand greater than it actually was. The Solid South must not be broken in upon by a republican Congressman just because he beats his democratic competitor at the polls by a few thousand votes.

The blunder which has been committed in South Carolina this year in making that State "too unanimous" is worse than a crime. It has cost us at the polls many votes and will cost many more unless the habit is given up.—Troy Press (Dem.)

—The Hartford Courant says that in 1780 the pastor's salary at Longmeadow, Mass., was fixed at $22,500 a year, and that the sexton got $2000 for ringing the bell. The payment, however, was made in Continental shinplasters.

—House plants taken up in the fall for window gardens through the winter, may be kept more neatly in their pots by covering the surface of the soil with about an inch of clean, coarse sand. This prevents the sides of the pots from becoming dirty, makes a smooth, even surface, and prevents the formation of any crust from watering.

—A little girl stood the other day in a window of the Grand Union hotel, when the crowd of pre-millennaries, post-millennaries, Millerites and other queer folks were coming out of the meeting house on Madison avenue, where they spent last week in endeavoring to determine the time and the manner of the second coming of Jesus Christ to judge the living and the dead. "Who are all those people?" said the child to her mother; and the mother told her who they were and for what they had come together. "How silly of them!" exclaimed the child; "why the Bible says that even the angels shall not know that!" Thus out of the mouth of a babe and suckling all that is necessary to be said concerning this curious convocation was uttered.—Catholic Review.

These Tissue-Paper Ballots.

Commissioner Raum has received a letter from Internal Revenue Collector Brayton, of the South Carolina District, in which a graphic account is given of the frauds perpetrated all over the State by the democrats. Mr. Brayton's description of the tissue paper ballots agrees in every repect with those received from other sources. He says in his letter: "This county was republican in 1876, in spite of all the methods resorted to, by over 1,500 majority. I never saw the colored people vote more solidly than they did this year, and when the polls were closed they felt confident of success by 1,800 majority. Think of our consternation at the count when the democratic majority was reported at over 2,800, at least 500 more than there are white voters in the county! * The managers were observed during the voting often stirring up votes, but nothing was thought of it. Now it turns out it was a device to scatter the tissue votes that were put in by the quantity. Surely it would be better to have votes weighed instead of counted."

No U. S. Law for South Carolina.

A letter from South Carolina states that United States Deputy Marshal Keitt was arrested by a State constable in Orangeburg, for attempting to enter a room where the votes were counted, and taken to jail. The law of South Carolina provides that votes shall be counted in public. On Monday of last week the United States Attorney had warrants issued for all the parties who interfered with Keitt as United States Marshal. Next day, while Keitt was quietly standing on the streets of Orangeburg he was surrounded by a crowd, including those who were arrested for interfering with him at the polls. Some drew pistols to prevent Keitt's friends from coming to his rescue, while others beat and cut him in a fearful manner. After nearly killing him, Keitt was carried off to jail, while his assailants were all allowed to walk off undisturbed. He is now lying in jail for having the audacity in the State of South Carolina to exhibit his commission from the government of the United States.

News and Notes.

Jason Scribner, who murdered two of his little children last May by beating out their brains with a spade, nearly killed a third one, and then cut his own throat—unfortunately not fatally—was tried for the crime in the court at Augusta, Me., last week. The evidence showed Scribner to have been always a man of the most violent and cruel disposition. The defence was insanity. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines, and also of the Invalids' and Tourists' Hotel of that city, has recently been elected to Congress by the very flattering majority of nearly 3,000. He has already served his constituency as State Senator, and this renewed endorsement signifies that his services have been highly satisfactory. His extensive practice in the treatment of chronic diseases will not, we are informed, be neglected or suffer in the least when the time arrives for him to take his seat in Congress, it being intrusted to his brother and other experienced medical gentlemen who have long been associated with the doctor in the Medical Department of his celebrated World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel. Besides, as the Forty-sixth Congress does not convene until December, 1879, Dr. Pierce's patients will not lose his personal attention for some months yet.

Johnson, the would-be murderer of his wife, in Brooklyn, who was placed in the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum by rich relatives, has left there, and the Superintendent refuses to say whether he was cured or by whose authority he was allowed to go away. It will be remembered that he deliberately shot his wife and that he endeavored to shoot his child. His wife barely survived. The District Attorney of Brooklyn supposed the would-be murderer to be still in the asylum. Considerable indignation is expressed.

Arrangements are said to have been made with the Portland, Bangor and Machias Steamboat Company by which, next season, there will be a daily line between Rockland and Mount Desert.

Cyrus Elliott of Columbus, Ohio, and a Capt. Billiard, a prominent citizen of Zanesville, were arrested Thursday for complicity in the recent grave-robbings in Columbus, Hilliard being the leader of the gang of thieves. Dr. Edwin Heyl was arrested at Columbus on Friday as one of the thieves.

The list of marine disasters for the month of October is extremely large compared with other months. The total number of vessels belonging to, or bound to or from, ports in the United States, reported totally lost and missing during the past month, is 85. Of this number 54 were wrecked, 17 abandoned, 2 burned, 1 sunk by collision, 1 capsized, 8 foundered, and 3 missing; divided as follows: Three steamers, 3 ships, 14 barks, 7 brigs and 58 schooners. The total value of the above craft, exclusive of their cargoes, is estimated at $1,162,000.

An Anti-Masonic Convention was in session last week in Worcester, Mass. Wednesday evening some one who claimed to have been master of a lodge in Chicago amused the boys by putting a supposed candidate through what he said were the ceremonies of initiation of an Entered Apprentice, whatever that may be. The exposure caused little excitement in the city, for the Worcester Gazette says that when the convention opened the next morning there were only nineteen persons present. There is palpable evil enough in the world for these performers to combat, without wasting their energies in fighting something whose mischievous tendency they can only guess at, and which really may not be one-half so bad as they imagine. American society is not likely to be very soon agitated and divided again by an Anti-Masonic crusade.

The question may be asked how the banks can refuse silver in quantities, when it is legal tender. In California, which maintained specie payments all through the war, the depreciated greenbacks were ignored. A customer could stand on his legal rights and demand that his legal tender notes should be received, but in that case the bank protected itself by refusing any longer to keep his account. Practically, there was no trouble because business men were thoroughly in accord with the banks, in the opinion that the best interests of that section demanded the exclusion of a depreciated currency. The result was shown by the ease with which California sailed through the panic which so racked and shattered the east.

Senator Blaine goes to Washington on Tuesday.

A few years ago there were in Belfast, Me., ten young ladies, highly educated, intimate friends, and moving in the first circles of society. Since that time all of them have been married, and every one has either been divorced or has instituted legal proceedings for divorce.

Elman Dickey, of Stockton, Me., mate of the barque F. W. Carlon, who one year ago was imprisoned at Buenos Ayres for shooting a man in suppressing a mutiny, has been honorably discharged and arrived home. He is mate of a New York ship.

Naval Matters.

Lieut. Comdr. Bowman H. McCalla is ordered to the Powhatan as executive officer.

Medical Inspector Thomas J. Turner and Constructor F. L. Fernald have been ordered to examine and report upon the means of ventilation of the Richmond.

Medical Inspectors Thomas J. Turner and A. L. Gibon have been ordered to Richmond, Va., to represent the medical corps of the navy at a meeting of the American Public Health Association to be held in that city.

Lieut. Comdr. F. E. Chadwick is detached from the Powhatan, and placed on waiting orders. Also Lieutenant C. H. Arnold.

The Secretary of the Navy has received the following contributions for the yellow fever sufferers: From Capt. O. C. Badger, commanding the Constitution, at Havre, $260.37 gold, from the officers and crew of that vessel. From Lieut. Commander Hitchcock, commanding the Supply at Havre, $80.18 gold, from the officers and crew of that vessel.

Lieut. R. D. Hitchcock, commanding the Supply, at Havre, encloses under date of Oct. 28, a report of Lieut. C. F. Hutchings, executive officer of that vessel, in relation to the gallant conduct of John Flannigan, boatswain's mate, on the Supply. Lieut. Hutchins reports that on the morning of October 26, Flannigan nobly jumped overboard and rescued from drowning one of his shipmates—David Walsh, seaman—who had fallen from the top-gallant-forecastle of the Supply into the water. It was intensely dark, and but for the prompt action of Flannigan, Walsh, in all probability, would have drowned, being unable to swim, and having been considerably hurt by the long fall. This is the second instance that has come to the knowledge of Lieut. Hutchings since he has been on board the Supply, where Flannigan has recklessly thrown himself overboard and gone to the rescue of a drowning shipmate. The Secretary of the Navy has ordered that a medal of honor be prepared and bestowed on Flannigan.

J. Fowler and W. Corey of Lisbon went fifty miles to Livermore in a handcar on election day to get a democratic voter.

Edward L. Page, of Haverhill, died Nov. 17th, aged 45 years. He was the youngest son of the late Gov. John Page, and a brother of Hon. John A. Page, State treasurer of Vermont. Mr. Page was well known in New Hampshire and Vermont, having held offices of trust and responsibility in his native town. His buildings were burned during the late war on account of his loyalty and his earnest efforts as one of the town officials in enforcing the draft.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept10 79

THE CITY.

The ship Frolic, Capt. Bush, is loading at New York for the East Indies.

Rev. Dr. Alden will preach at Faith Home this (Monday) evening at 7:45. All are invited.

The National Mechanics' and Traders' bank of this city is paying a dividend of three per cent to its stockholders.

The Masonic Grand Lodge of New Hampshire will pay an official visit to St. John's Lodge, No. 1, of this city, on Wednesday evening.

Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's sermon on the second coming of Christ was listened to by a large number of attendants from other churches on Sunday. The subject will be resumed in his sermon next Sunday morning.

On Saturday, at the Brokers' Board in Boston, Eastern railroad stock sold at 13, and Eastern railroad 3 1-2s of 1906 at 72 1-2; Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad stock brought 90; New Hampshire 6s of 1884 brought 113; Great Falls Manufacturing Co., 81.

The schooner M. E. Eldredge, of this port, Staples master, bound from New York for the Canary islands, put into Vineyard Haven on Wednesday of last week to make some slight repairs, having lost her foretopmast and split her jib in a southwest gale the previous day.

The exhibition of the Borneo Midgets, the champion Punch and Judy performance, etc., will continue through this week at Franklin hall. The show was liberally patronized last week, the attendance increasing each day and evening. Admission only ten cents. See advertisement.

The Buffalo Bill combination will present "May Cody, or Lost and Won," at Music hall on Thursday evening. Concerning this show the Boston Journal says: "For thrilling situations, fine pictures, and interesting dialogue, 'May Cody, or Lost and Won,' is the most attractive of the sensational dramas."

To-morrow evening at Music hall will be presented a novelty in the way of an entertainment—a lecture illustrated by music—in aid of the local charitable associations. Miss Edith Wendell, the favorite young soprano, Mr. George F. Monroe, the tenor of the Unitarian church choir, and a selected chorus, will aid Dr. Goodall in furnishing an evening of enjoyment for all who attend. Concert to commence promptly at a quarter to eight. Tickets to all parts of the house, only thirty-five cents. See advertisement.

SUPREME COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 16; Smith, J.

In the case of Sides vs. the city of Portsmouth the evidence for the plaintiff was closed early in the forenoon, and the case was opened for the defendant by the City Solicitor, who read from the books under a request to the court to charge the jury that in this action the city cannot be held liable, as the condition of the track of the railroad was something over which the city had no control. There was but little evidence offered for the defendant, and the case was argued in the forenoon; and in the afternoon a verdict was returned for the plff. in the sum of $449.16. The city will move to set aside the verdict, and for a new trial.

Hanscom vs. Warren, on the equity docket, a petition for a new trial of a case defaulted by mistake at the April term, was next heard; decision reserved. John Hatch for Hanscom; Hackett for Mrs. Warren, petitioner.

Case Smith and al. vs. F. W. Rogers and city of Portsmouth, trustees, was heard on motion to change the trustees. A. R. Hatch for plffs.; Foster for the city.

Larken vs. city, No. 51 equity docket, petition for abatement of tax, was heard and decision reserved. Hackett for petitioner; Foster for city.

The action of Charles A. S. Dearborn against Richard Jenness, for building a house in Rye, referred this term to Messrs. George W. Pendexter, Moses Yeaton and Isaiah Wilson, has been heard, and the referees report in favor of Mr. Dearborn, awarding him $514.61, and costs of court—the referees' fees to be divided between the parties. Frink for plff.; Marston and Eastman, and Page, for deft.

Court adjourned late in the afternoon to Monday at half-past ten o'clock A. M.

CHAUCER.

Mr. John Albee read his very interesting lecture upon Geoffrey Chaucer before a closely-attentive audience at Miss Morgan's schoolroom on Friday evening. Chaucer, sometimes called the father of English poetry, was claimed to have been born in three different localities, but as far as he was knowing to the fact, the poet claimed London as his birthplace. Though there is some dispute as to the date of his birth, the best authority says that it occurred in 1328. The lecturer claimed an intimacy with the subject of his discourse, and he introduced him to his audience in a pleasing manner.

He maintained that if we understood our own English language as we should, we could read it in the words in use five hundred years ago, and appreciate the beauties of Chaucer. To be able to do this, we must be educated to read the best English literature, and this training should begin at school. The speaker condemned the mode in which reading books were produced for our schools, and advocated such poets as Shakspeare as the proper subjects for educational reading.

Chaucer's cheerful nature was depicted. He could be serious without being of the sad style so common in many modern poets, whose lives teem with the sombre and unhappy instead of the inspiring and hopeful. The lecture was enjoyed throughout, given as it was with a purity of language and a freshness so greatly in contrast with the efforts of the so-called popular lecturers, who in days gone by went up and down the land with their recitals, to listen to which was a lamentable waste of time.

But it is the excellent matter which Mr. Albee gives us, not the manner in which it is rendered, that creates the enjoyment of a production of this kind—showing a thorough intimacy with his subject, a power of perception and delineation of the salient points of this celebrity of the fourteenth century. The lecturer, without going into details, "presuming that his audience had either read Chaucer or intended at some time to do so," brought out in bold relief many of the most interesting traits of his character, and delineated some of the characteristics of his most attractive writings. To the adult portion of the audience the entire lecture was of the most pleasant nature, while to the young ladies of the school it could not fail to prove a most valuable and instructive series of suggestions in the formation of correct habits and the cultivation of the best method of acquiring a proper knowledge of the highest order of English literature.

The next lecture of the course will be by Mr. James T. Fields, upon Robert Burns. Mr. Fields' engagements as a lecturer, numerous as they are, cannot allow him to deprive the residents of the scenes of his childhood of the pleasure of again listening to him "on his native heath."

THE VICINITY.

The new post-office in Walker's block, Dover, was occupied last week.

Dolly Bidwell is booked to appear in Biddeford on the 3d of December.

The river at Saco was frozen over between Factory and Pool islands, Friday night.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Co., of Dover, has declared a dividend of three per cent, payable Dec. 2d. The Northern railroad will pay $2.50 per share on the same date.

Josiah B. Wiggin of Stratham, republican candidate for the legislature, proposes to claim his seat, alleging that he was elected, and that the polls were declared closed while voters were present desiring and offering to vote.

The farm buildings belonging to Justus L. Hill, situated on the Goodwin's Mills road, near Biddeford, were burned on Friday morning. The furniture and farming utensils were nearly all saved; loss about $4000; insurance $3750. Cause of the fire, defect in a chimney.

There was a republican jubilee at Hampton, Thursday night, over the recent victories. The attendance of prominent politicians was large, and addresses were made by John D. Lyman, Peter Sanborn and George E. Lane. The festivities closed with a supper at the town hall.

A good story is told relative to one of the political speakers the night before the late election at Great Falls. Frank W. Hackett, Esq., of this city, while in his speech reached a point where he was depicting the results to the country if certain measures should become a part of the law of the land. Said the speaker, "If this should occur the country would—would—" here the orator paused for the right word to come to the point. On the instant, a man in the rear, near the door of the hall, shouted out, "What, for God's sake, what?" to which the speaker instantly replied: "If my friend will come around to the hotel after the meeting is over, I will tell him confidentially," and then went on with his accustomed fluency. The large audience enjoyed the incident, which was regarded as about as happy an extrication as the campaign had afforded.

Rev. Warren H. Cudworth, of East Boston, on Friday evening gave the opening lecture of a series to be held at Brackett academy in Greenland the coming season.

Some of the Greenland people have reported the postmaster of that place to the post-office authorities, and requested his removal. They complain that the office is managed by his son, and the war is against him. Special Agent Bigelow gave the parties a hearing in this city last week, and an adjourned hearing will be had on the 25th inst.

Joshua, of the Dover Democrat, maketh merry in his issue of the 15th inst. over the demise of "the little Hessian"—from which we infer that the Dover Press, the rival sheet which was started some time ago in that city to annihilate the Democrat, has gone the way that papers started on a platform of mere personal opposition usually go. Mr. Foster, as a democrat, is just as bad as ever he was, we think; but the Democrat, barring its politics, is a pretty good paper, the local news being well attended to and served up in a readable manner, and any new comer would find hard work in running it off the track.

P. S. Further advices say the Press "has changed hands, and will appear this week on a strong stock basis, with George F. Gray as managing editor." Mr. Gray is an old newspaper man, and was formerly connected with the Dover Gazette.

John A. Smith, of the New England house, at Dover, was robbed not long ago of $500 in money, stolen from his bedroom one night. Next day Smith's son, John Smith, and a fellow named Augustus Cowan, the latter of whom once broke into a store in Dover, were missing, and suspicion at once settled upon them as being the thieves. On Friday morning City Marshal Rines of Dover sent a telegram to Columbus, Ohio, where Cowan has relations and to which place he had fled after the burglary above referred to, requesting the arrest of Cowan and Smith if they were there; and in the afternoon an answer was received that Cowan had been taken into custody, and $150 in cash and a gold watch found on him, and that Smith would soon be caught. A Dover policeman has gone to Ohio with a requisition from Gov. Prescott for the return of the thieves.

The Portland Argus, which has been following up Rev. C. H. Webber of Saco in his wanderings with his young lady friend, says: "The Webber affair appears to create no end of trouble. A prominent official in York county, residing in Biddeford, is a cousin of the young woman, and when he saw the Argus containing the first mention of the facts he hurried with it to her mother, who is in feeble health, and read it, which of course affected the lady deeply and increased her illness. A young man friend of the family thought such a proceeding not at all manly, and did not hesitate to tell the aforesaid official so. It soon became so hot that words failed to interpret the feelings of either, and they fell to blows. A large crowd immediately gathered on Main street, Saco, where the arguments were proceeding, and watched the thing through. The young man, being the more muscular of the two, soon had the official's head in chancery, and the result is the beforementioned professional gentleman carries about a proboscis chiefly noticeable for its immensity."

It will be remembered that there was a run on the Somersworth savings bank some time ago, and that many depositors withdrew their funds from the bank, under the impression that it was a shaky concern. The annual meeting of the bank corporators was held on the 4th inst., when it was found that but sixteen of the whole number (fifty) were entitled to act, of whom fifteen were present. Enough additional corporators were elected to bring the number up to thirty-five, and at an adjourned meeting the next day nearly the whole number under the new dispensation were present. Thirteen trustees were elected, and a committee appointed to examine into the condition of the bank and report at a future day. The examining committee has now reported: "After carefully examining all the stocks, bonds and other securities held by this bank, and deducting from the same all of a doubtful value, we find the bank with an amount of perfectly good securities to pay all its legal liabilities and leave a handsome surplus to be divided among its depositors at some future time. We also by this examination feel it a duty to report to you our entire confidence in its management, and believe it to be as safe a bank for depositors as any institution of its kind in New England." Now the depositors who withdrew their funds are disgusted, as they can have no share in the distribution of the surplus.

—Col. Ingersoll is not, as has been stated, a godless man. At a recent sale of curios in New York, he bought between forty and fifty gods. The smaller specimens he carried away from the auction room in his pockets, leaving the bulky and unwieldy divinities to be delivered by express.

—Every woman may now follow a fashion of her own and still be becomingly dressed.

PIANO-FORTE TUNING.

HAVING REMOVED to the new and spacious store No. 9 Pleasant Street, near Post Office, and intending to keep a larger assortment of goods in my line, including Artists' Materials, I have deemed it advisable to give my whole attention to business in the store, and have secured the services of Mr. CHAS. E. SARGENT, a Competent and Reliable Tuner, who has been connected for the last ten years with prominent Music Houses in Boston and other places. I would therefore give notice that all orders for Tuning and Repairing Pianos, left at my store, will be promptly and faithfully attended to on the first of each month by Mr. Sargent, and perfect satisfaction guaranteed.

The National Scourge.

It is estimated that the annual damages caused by the ravages of insects and worms exceed $150,000,000 in the United States alone. Truly an enormous loss! Yet it sinks into insignificance when compared with the ravages of that more terrible scourge, consumption, which annually sweeps hundreds of thousands of human souls into eternity. The causes of consumption are various, depending in every instance for the development of the disease upon the scrofulous diathesis, or temperament, of the victim. Thus the same cause which will produce in one person an attack of acute disease or a slight nervous prostration, will engender consumption in a person of scrofulous habit. That consumption can be cured by proper treatment will be readily perceived when the exact nature of the disease is understood, viz.; the accumulation and deposition of scrofulous matter (tubercles) in the lungs. Obviously, the principal remedies required are (1) a powerful alterative, or blood-purifier, to arrest the accumulations and also cleanse the blood of the scrofulous matter, and (2) a mild cathartic to expel the diseased matter from the system. This course of treatment, in conjunction with a strict hygienic regime, has proved the most successful method of curing this disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alterative and cathartic remedies before the public, and have been alone used in thousands of cases of con-

—It is not the servant girl who is under arrest in Allentown, Pa., for opening her mistress's letters, but exactly the reverse. The servant received letters from her lover, and the mistress yielded to curiosity and read them.

—The chief of police of a town in Minnesota has issued an order to the effect that "all persons whose cows are found running at large in the city limit will be impounded." A more effective process, on the whole, than to impound the cattle.

—Once upon a time, as the happy couple were leaving the church, the husband said to the partner of his wedded life, "Marriage must seem a dreadful thing to you; why, you were all of a tremble, and one could hardly hear you say, 'I will.' "I will have more courage and say it louder next time," said the blushing bride.

—"Do you make any reduction to a minister?" said a young lady in Richmond the other week to a salesman. "Always. Are you a minister's wife?" "Oh no, I am not married," said the lady, blushing. "Daughter, then?" "No." The tradesman looked puzzled. "I am engaged to a theological student," said she. The reduction was made.

—While a bill against church grab-bags was up, at Montpelier, Vt., on Tuesday, Capt. How of Ludlow favored the bill, as he was in favor of having churches raise money to pay the ministers in some other way than selecting the handsomest woman in the town and kissing her at ten cents a kiss. Mr. Camp of Newport rejoined that the bill did not refer to kissing, but only to things where a man did not get the worth of his money. This brought down the house. He must be a mean man, anyway, who wouldn't willingly pay ten cents for the privilege of kissing a pretty woman.

More cases of remarkable cures of coughs, colds, asthma and consumption have been effected in the past four years by Adamson's Botanic Balsam than all other medicines that have been advertised for twenty years. Price 35 cents. Try it.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. nov9

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE

GAZETTE

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of

$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and contains a summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all humors from the worst scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poison, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Scrofula, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Recently this has manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ecze Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Gathered Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow complexion, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, bilious fever or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tempe rance, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system, and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and baleful ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. "Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, and a hundred other Stomach, Bowel of Blood in food, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. Are sizes not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired, they keep good for life, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes acrid, thick, white, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, scaly, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, offensive scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Not a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. Two bottles will cure any ordinary case. One bottle is warranted to do more than any other remedy. Sold by druggists.

CATARRH

Catarrh of the Nasal Cavities, Acute, Chronic, and Ulcerative, Hay Fever, or Rose Catarrh, Catarrh of the Eye and Ear and Catarrh of the Throat.

SUCCESSFULLY TREATED WITH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

CATARRH is a disease of the mucous membrane. Temperaments and constitutions vary its severity in individual cases. Catarrh may arise from a cold or a succession of colds, from sudden change of atmosphere, wearing wet clothing, or exposure to inclement weather, and becoming thoroughly chilled when the digestive organs are in a morbid or inactive condition, and the sanitary and vital forces exhausted. The disease may arise from a scrofulous condition of the blood, from Scarlet Fever, Measles, and Diphtheria, in which cases the eye and ear are generally involved and discharge quantities of matter. The discharges from the nose, the distinctive feature in all catarrhal cases from whatever cause they arise, may be thin and watery, and so acid as to cause redness and excoriation of the skin with which they come in contact, or thick and yellow-ish, emitting a foul odor, or clear and white like the white of an egg. There may be an entire lack of secretion, the surfaces acting dry and feverish, the face, front and upper part of the head feeling uncomfortable, and as if it would crack if by a light, sudden stroke. The latter phase is called Dry Catarrh. The free mattery discharges cause the passages to swell and become thickened, rendering breathing through the nose difficult or impossible, and the sufferer finds it necessary to breathe through the mouth, thereby permitting cold air to pass directly to the bronchial tubes and lungs. The mattery passing down the throat creates a constant desire to hawk and expectorate to throw it off; but in some cases the throat is dry and feverish, instead of passing freely down from the nose and throat, the mucus becomes hard and forms into scabs, incrustations, and hard lumps, which adhere so firmly to the nasal passages and throat as to require very persistent efforts to dislodge them. The eye is sympathetic, becomes inflamed, red, weak, and watery, or in the morning the lids may be found glued together, and matter is secreted in more or less quantity. The ear also becomes seriously affected, discharging quantities of matter, besides being visited by the most violent neuralgic pains, ending frequently in inflammation, alceration, and finally deafness. The throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs are in many cases affected by catarrh, and when prostration of the nervous system is superadded, such affections become alarming.

A brief survey of the most serious disease warns all who are afflicted with it to make speedy preparation for its treatment before it becomes chronic. The advantages offered by SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE we confidently believe are to be found in no other remedy. Every step in its preparation, every line in the directions, mark it as a scientific remedy, calculated to meet every phase of the disease. The numerous testimonials from the best people in the United States attest the esteem in which it is held by those who have been freed from the most destructive and dangerous disease with which mankind is to-day afflicted.

JUST PUBLISHED.

A carefully revised Treatise on Catarrh, with an accurate description of symptoms and sympathetic diseases, together with simple directions for effecting with SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE a speedy and permanent cure. Also observations on diet and the general health, of vast importance to all afflicted with catarrh. It is wrapped about each bottle of the RADICAL CURE, or will be mailed free on receipt of stamp.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists, sale and retail, druggists throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

RAYMOND.

The tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. Gilman E. Gile and wife was celebrated on the evening of the 13th inst. It was a very interesting occasion. Very many were present. The gifts were valuable. An oyster supper was served. There was singing, and a very excellent social time was enjoyed. Somewhat unhappily, a portion of the services customary on such occasions, was omitted, such as the presentation speech, response, etc., because so late was the hour of supper, and many then immediately departing. The following by Rev. J. Fellonton was prepared for the occasion.

WHERE TRUE BLISS IS FOUND.

I sought it 'mong the men of State,
In kings of regal crown;
Happiness is not there complete,
It is much lower down.

I sought it in the rich of earth,
In men of worldly fame;
But bliss was not, it is a truth,
What's called so, but in name.

I sought it in fair pleasure's throng,
Who walk in pride and show;
A race of folly they all run,
True bliss they hardly know.

I sought it in fair virtue's path,
Which all the good have trod;
And there I found it—it was there,
True peace and all that's good.

This husband and his faithful wife
United now have been,
In closest union, married life,
In years the number ten.

May Heaven's blessing on them rest,
In all life's journey through;
Blessings divine, blessings the best,
And on their children too.

REPORTER.

Political.

A paragraph in the Charleston News aptly illustrates democratic methods in South Carolina. At the recent election that paper published a report to the effect that a certain precinct had gone republican, whereupon a democratic correspondent corrects the statement, and says that the precinct gave a democratic majority of 100, and adds: "If 100 is not enough, say how many more you need, and our best efforts, now in reserve, will be put in motion." The italics are those of the News.

It is a frequently stated fact that there are parts of the country where voters still cast presidential ballots for Thomas Jefferson, deceased, and Andrew Jackson, equally deceased; and now comes Elizabeth, New Jersey, and elects William Keller a justice of the peace. Mr. Keller had been dead several months when he was nominated, but he was elected by a handsome majority over a living opponent.

The election board of the fourth ward of Philadelphia, consisting of four republicans and five democrats, were arrested Saturday by the Deputy United States Marshal, charged with a violation of the election laws in having registered more votes in that district than were really cast.

Denis Kearney, the California "sandlots" blatherskite who left the bogs of the "Ould Dart" a dozen years ago to instruct the American people in their political duties, gave his last exhibition of slang, vulgarity and obscene profanity in Boston on Sunday, and has gone back to California. Good bye, Denis.

The Washington Post has discovered a horrible plot concocted by Zach Chandler, Don Cameron and other republican managers, which is nothing less than for the republicans to take charge of the hall of representatives in December, 1879, by force, sent enough defeated republicans from the south to make a quorum, and proceed to organize the House.

While we should be ashamed to doubt Mr. Tilden's personal integrity, we are yet constrained to say that it is proved and admitted through the publication of the cipher telegrams that during his Presidential campaign he suffered a clique of politically immoral people to surround him, to act for him, and to compromise him. We knew at the time that some of these persons were profoundly foolish and we denounced them for their silliness; but it now appears that this was not their worst endowment. At any rate, they have proved themselves able to fatally injure what they could never have built up. Their imbecility and their immorality could never create anything, but with the extraordinary confidence reposed in them their power for mischief was great indeed. They have sufficed to damage the character of a lifetime, and they have wrought a deplorable mischief to the course of public affairs. Mr. Tilden will not again be the Presidential candidate of any party. —New York Sun.

—Butler was sixty on election day. He has acted like sixty for some time past.

—A Chicago witness testified that he understood the mysteries of the gas meter, and the court promptly ruled out his evidence on the ground of insanity.

Portsmouth Chronicle

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1878.

The Nashua & Lowell War.

The suit of Richardson and others against the Nashua & Lowell railroad and others, pending in the Circuit Court of the United States, is likely to be disposed of without trial. Last week Col. William A. Turner's resignation of the presidency was accepted, and Mr. Horace P. Watts resigned his directorship in the corporation. Francis A. Brooks, Esq., of Boston, who organized the proceedings for injunction, was then chosen president, and C. V. Dearborn of Nashua, the present treasurer, was elected a director to succeed Mr. Watts. Mr. Brooks is now apparently master of the situation, with a Board of Directors favorable to his plans, and is able to manage the interests of the stockholders without the aid previously invoked of the Federal Court. This is not as good an outlook for the Boston & Lowell railroad as that corporation could wish, and its managers will not be more inclined to make their peace with the new head of the Nashua & Lowell.

The Cincinnati Ballot-box Stuffers.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun in a recent letter says:

If ballot-box stuffing has been done in South Carolina and other southern States as alleged, there can be no justification for it, and all those engaged in it should be punished. But why make fish of one and flesh of another? Is the pre-eminently republican city of Philadelphia ballot-box stuffing long since attained to the dignity of a fine art, but no complaints were ever made to the White House in consequence. A notorious ballot-box stuffer of Cincinnati, with several of his accomplices, was brought to justice, and they were all sentenced to the penitentiary for their misdeeds. President Hayes pardoned every member of this gang, commencing with the leader and ending only two months ago with the last one. A number of the "pudding" tickets, so called, alleged to have been used by the democrats in South Carolina, have been sent to this city. Several gentlemen have taken samples of them to the White House for inspection by the President. He examined them with much interest, and was anxious to know the manner of their fraudulent use. If he had sent for one of the Cincinnati ballot-box stuffers whom he has released he could be initiated into all the mysteries of the business.

The Baltimore Sun is an "independent" paper, after the fashion of the New York Sun's "independence;" what the correspondent is we do not know, but it is evident that he intends to convey the idea that republican rascals in Cincinnati stuffed the ballot-boxes, and were pardoned out of prison by President Hayes on account of their politics. The fact is that every one of the Cincinnati gang of ballot-box stuffers, from Eph Holland, rum-hole and gambling-saloon keeper, prize-fighter, perjurer and democratic reformer, who led the gang, down to the meanest of the Baltimore Plug Uglies and New York Bowery Boys whom he led from poll to poll to vote, is a staunch democrat; and that the man they elected to Congress by voting from thirty to fifty times each, as Holland confessed they did, was one Henry B. Banning—the "Bounding Banning," no less, the democratic chairman of the military committee of the present "democratic House," and the author of the bill prohibiting the United States army being used to protect the citizens of the United States.

A Party of Principle.

The following, which we clip from the Concord People, is truly refreshing in its coolness:

As a party we are a party of principles, and an unwavering adherence to those principles, even though defeated, is better than victory purchased at their sacrifice.

As nobody would suspect that the democratic party was the one alluded to as "a party of principles" unless told of it, we now record that fact. When the reader remembers that the People was one of the democratic papers that (according to the Dover Democrat) "fooled with the greenback idiots" and truckled to the irredeemable-soft-money party in the late campaign, the lofty declaration that "we are a party of principles" seems real funny, and that talk about defeat through adherence to principles being better than victory purchased at their sacrifice sounds too nobly patriotic and pure for anything.

A Hint to Boutwell.

Under the above heading the Baltimore Gazette, an ultra democratic sheet, says:

The republican correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial in the south writes a letter comparing Georgia with South Carolina, in which he admits that democratic supremacy is the best for the negro, not only because it gives him an opportunity to prosper and accumulate property, but because it insures his personal safety. Mr. Boutwell, who is preparing to electrify Massachusetts with a crusade in behalf of the oppressed and down-trodden colored voter of the South, should write to the able and observant Mr. Redfield and secure some satistics before he rends his intimate linen.

In this paragraph the Bourbon sheet not only gives "a hint to Boutwell" but to the people of the entire north. "Democratic supremacy is the best for the negro * because it insures his personal safety." In other words, the "oppressed and down-trodden colored voter of the south" has not any personal safety so long as he votes the republican ticket—just what the northern republicans have maintained, and proved by instancing the thousands of murders of colored republicans at the south; but just what such sheets as the Baltimore Gazette have always denied, though this one now acknowledges it. The Gazette's reasoning is this: The negro, so long as he persists in voting as he wishes, is liable to outrage and murder by the democracy; therefore democratic rule, by which he is prevented from voting at all or made to vote the democratic ticket, is best for him.

Life Saving Service.

The annual report of the Superintendent of the Life Saving Service, which is in course of preparation, will be an interesting document. The location and construction of thirty-seven new life-saving stations was authorized by Congress at its last session. The sites for nearly all these stations have been obtained, but in some cases the superintendent has had difficulty in obtaining a good title. Sites have been selected at Cranberry Isles, Mount Desert, and at Watch Hill, Rhode Island, but no site has yet been obtained at Scituate, Mass. No new station will be equipped in New England this winter, but further down the coast buildings have been constructed at nineteen of the new stations, and crews will be placed upon them this winter. Thirteen of these new stations are on the coast of North Carolina, three on the coast of Delaware, one on the coast of New Jersey and two on Long Island. The total number of life-saving stations in operation this winter will be 168. The service is in a very efficient condition, and has accomplished more this year than ever before in the salvation of life and property. The work done upon the coast of the lakes has been in many cases extraordinary, and a great number of lives have been saved there recently.

News and Notes.

The Secretary of State hesitates to draw his check for the five million and a half on account of the fishery award.

It is estimated that the yellow fever has cost the country $175,000,000.

The city of Hartford at present offers but three candidates on the republican side for the United States Senatorship from Connecticut.

There is a Kearsage mountain in California, and it is claimed that on a certain ridge there is a spot where at about midday the rumble of trains on the Southern Pacific railroad, 140 miles distant, may be heard. We do not vouch for the truth of this, but take it from another paper.

The police authorities in New York are hunting for Stewart's remains in a body.

The Boston banks will follow the lead of the New York banks in the matter of resumption on New Year's day.

The managers of the Paris Exposition have figured out their receipts, and the sum total is $2,530,749. This is $400,000 more than the receipts of the Paris Exposition of 1867, but $1,300,000 less than those of the Centennial Exhibition. That the most successful of the seven great world's fairs was that held in this country will give encouragement to those who urge that the next Exposition should be held in New York.

At Elgin, Ill., Friday night, the body of Mrs. Minnie Shroeder, who was buried last September, was stolen. The robbers were arrested in Chicago on Saturday afternoon. The corpse was intended for Rush Medical Institute.

An attempt was made on Sunday to assassinate King Humbert of Italy, by a man named Giovanni Passamante. The assassin is twenty-nine years old; a cook by profession; is out of work, and has a dislike to kings. Humbert was slightly scratched with a poniard, and Cairoli, the chief minister, who caught the assailant by the hair, was stabbed in the thigh; the King hit Passamonte over the head with his sword, and the guard took him in charge and locked him up.

Mrs. Bond, the wife of a leading merchant; Mrs. Brown, the wife of the county clerk; and Mrs. Wilcox, the wife of the county supervisor, are under arrest at Owoggo, Mich., for aiding in the tarring and feathering of one Ingersoll, an editor, on Monday night, the 11th inst. It was at first thought that the outrage was perpetrated by men in female apparel, but it turns out that many of them were real women. Those arrested occupy high social positions.

A lamp was overturned in a sleeping car on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Sunday morning, setting the car on fire. The thirty-five passengers, several of whom were ladies, escaped with only their night-clothes, and the car was burned with all their baggage and valuables.

The recent action of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York, in reducing rates to new comers, is attracting much attention and provoking considerable adverse comment. The prevailing opinion seems to be that it would be wiser for the directors to give their attention to retrenchment in official and clerical matters, instead of making abnormal effort to add to a business already overlarge. The Boston Advertiser says that eminent lawyers in Massachusetts impugn the legality of the proposed new departure.

Mr. Walker Blaine, eldest son of Senator Blaine, was admitted to the bar in Augusta on Wednesday of last week. He is twenty-three years of age and is a graduate of Yale College and of the Columbia Law School of New York city. He will remove the first of the coming year to Minneapolis, Minn., where he will at once enter upon the active practice of his profession.

Hon. James H. Chamberlain, a prominent business man of Ellsworth, Maine, and for many years cashier of the Veazie bank, was found hanging in his barn Sunday, dead, having committed suicide.

Walton Dwight, of Binghamton, N. Y., died Saturday, aged forty. He was the colonel of the Pennsylvania Bucktail Regiment during the war, and ex-mayor of Binghamton.

Saturday night, in New York city, Michael Rossiter quarrelled with his wife, and threw a lighted lamp at her. The kerosene scattered over her clothing, ignited, and she was frightfully burned. She died Sunday afternoon.

A man named Campana, of Bridgeport, Conn., walked and ran 521 miles and fifty-four feet last week; he made thirty-seven miles between two o'clock Saturday afternoon and 9:36 in the evening, nearly all on a run, one mile being scored in seven minutes, thirty-three seconds. So far as appearances indicated he could have kept on all night. During the whole week he did not touch a drop of liquor.

Seven persons were killed and twelve seriously injured by the accident last Thursday on the New Brunswick narrow-guage railway.

Five persons were killed and eight wounded by the explosion of a locomtive boiler at Mahanoy City, Pa., Saturday.

It is reported from Washington that another survivor of the ill-fated Huron has turned up in that city. His name is William Buder, and he was picked up the day after the wreck by the Norwegian bark Forto, having drifted sixty miles out to sea while clinging to a spar. Buder's story seems incredible but it is believed to be true by the Washington people. He explains his long silence by illness in a hospital in Norway for six months, and says that he returned to the United States in the vessel that rescued him, which is now at Baltimore.

In an affray at Shelbyville, Tenn., on Wednesday night of last week, Felix Hall (white) and Sidney Frazier (colored) mortally wounded each other. On Friday night a number of masked men went to Frazier's house, where he lay in a dying condition, and shot him dead.

By a heavy rise in the Winsum river the city of Norwich, England, has been partially flooded, between 3000 and 4000 dwellings being rendered uninhabitable. Only one or two lives were lost, but the suffering is great and the pecuniary loss immense.

Thomas Kennar and his wife Mary Kennar, and Miss Lizzie Callahan, all of Pawtucket, R. I., were drowned at Woonsocket, Sunday night, through a carriage they were in being driven into a trench forty feet wide and with nine feet of water in it. The driver and Bridget Kennar, daughter of Thomas, were saved.

A Good Word for the Bulldozers.

Senator Conkling made a speech at Philadelphia on the evening of the day that the democratic News and Courier of Charleston, S. C., contained a gleeful report of the breaking up of a republican meeting at Sumter by Wade Hampton's "red shirt" gangs of militiamen, commanded by one of his aides. In the course of his speech Mr. Conkling said:

Yet there is much that is encouraging in the south. When they go gunning for negroes or revenue officers they observe the game laws. They do not shoot them out of season. They only kill them when it is necessary to prevent a collection of the revenue or to carry an election. But that is not all that is encouraging. Wade Hampton has actually offered to allow the revenue to be collected if the government will allow him to receive it. There is something refreshing in this. But that is not all. When republicans hold meetings now they never kill more than one or two, and not so many if they keep still. In to-day's South Carolina democratic papers we are told the democrats went to a republican meeting and loaded a cannon with tenpenny nails. They trained it on the speaker and covered him with 500 rifles; but he did not say anything, and they did not shoot.

—A traveller in Kentucky says that in one week he was addressed as "Governor," "General," "Colonel," "Major," "Parson," "Boss," and "Old Hoss."

—A full-beared grandfather recently had his beard shaved off, showing a clean face for the first time for a number of years. At the dinner table his three-year-old granddaughter noticed it, gazed long with wondering eye, and finally ejaculated, "Grandfather, whose head you got on?"

—A chap walked into a house at Eureka, Nevada, and calling for the lady of the mansion unbottled a centipede and a tarantula, remarking that he would make them fight for the pleasure of the family. It is unnecessary to say that the woman retired quickly, and when the room was looked into again the man and his menagerie were gone, as was also the jewelry of the household.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsept19 79

THE CITY.

Schooner C. C. Smith, Atwood, from Philadelphia with bricks for Hon. Frank Jones, arrived at this port on Sunday. On the 23d of October the vessel encountered a gale on the Delaware river and was somewhat damaged, and put into Wilmington for repairs, where she remained nine days. When off Cape Cod on Wednesday of last week another severe gale was encountered, and the schooner was obliged to heave to for eight hours, but suffered no damage.

Dr. Goodall's lecture at Music hall this evening will commence promptly at quarter before eight o'clock, and it is hoped that all will be in their seats at that time, so that no interruption will occur. As there will be no printed programmes, Dr. Goodall will announce the pieces from the stage during the evening. Judging from the number of seats that have been secured the house will be filled to its utmost capacity—as it should be, for the entertainment will be a good one, the object is most worthy, and the price of tickets low.

Of the Buffalo Bill Combination, which will appear at Music hall on Thursday evening in "May Cody: or lost and won," the Providence Evening Journal says: "The novel sensational celebrity, Buffalo Bill (Hon. W. F. Cody) supported by a powerful dramatic organization appeared at the Opera House last night. The extremely novel character of the entertainment drew a crowded house, and to say that all were pleased would be but faint praise. The entire affair was highly attractive and entertaining, and the visit of this combination marks quite an epoch in dramatic affairs."

A man from Texas has been holding forth on Market square for several evenings, extolling the attractions of his State as a place for emigrants to go to. He is well acquainted with his subject—so we are assured by a friend who is personally acquainted with Texas—and makes a strong appeal to the emigrating New Englander to select the immense State on the Rio Grande as his future home; but until the people of the Southern States learn that the northern man values his civil and political rights quite as much as he does a dollar, their fertile soil and beautiful climate will have less attractions for the New Englander than the regions of the great northwest, where he can speak and vote as he pleases without being either murdered in cold blood or ostracised socially.

SUPREME COURT.

MONDAY, Nov. 18; Foster, J.

Court came in at 10:30 o'clock A. M. The docket was called, and no cases being ready for immediate trial a recess was taken to three o'clock P. M.

THE VICINITY.

A complete set of elegant stained windows has been presented to the Congregational church at North Hampton, by members of the society.

Apples were on exhibition at the late Barnstead fair taken from the original Thomas Millett tree, brought from England and set out at Dover point almost two hundred years ago.

Byron Wadleigh, a young man of South Berwick, while lying on the track of the Eastern railroad Saturday night in a drunken stupor, was struck by an engine of a freight train, mangling his hand and arm and causing other injuries which will probably prove fatal.

Two hard-looking tramps made two attempts to enter the house of Mr. Timothy Shaw of Biddeford, Saturday forenoon. The police were notified, and found the fellows in the edge of the town; they were just drunk enough to be ugly and vicious, and threatened to shoot if they were interfered with, but were quickly chucked into the station-house. They had a gallon demijohn half full of rum, and a big bottle of cod liver oil, in their possession when they were arrested, besides other property, all of it no doubt stolen. It is just such fellows as these that the New Hampshire tramp law was passed for, and that it keeps out of the State; and notwithstanding the outspoken sympathy of the greenback party with the tramps the law will stand, at least until the women of the thinly settled parts of the State have forgotten the terror in which the tramps had kept them for years. Vermont also has just passed an "accursed tramp law."

Deputy Sheriffs Hanson, Durgin and Grant, of Biddeford, raided Charles H. Babb's place on the Pool road Friday afternoon. They searched the house, fishing pumps, measures, etc., but no liquors. In the stable they found, hidden beneath cornstalks, four cases of lager beer. The officers then forced open a door leading to the rear of the barn, and just outside found a board on the ground, covered with a cloth. Removing this they found a bunch of hay, etc., and beneath this the bung to a cask. On taking out the cask, which was about eight inches under ground, they secured some forty gallons of liquor. The pumps are supposed to have been used in drawing the liquor. Saturday morning officers Durgin and Grant captured a half-barrel of ale and two gallons of rum at the Boston & Maine depot. Verily, the saloon keeper in Biddeford or Saco laboreth under great tribulations, and seems likely to as long as Durgin and Grant are deputy sheriffs.

Ease Attainable by the Rheumatic.

Yes, although they may despair of relief, it is attainable by rheumatic sufferers, for there is a remedy which carries off, by means of increased activity of the kidneys—important channels for blood purification—the acrid element to which pathologists the most eminent attribute the painful symptoms—a theory completely borne out by urinary analysis. The name of this grand deputrent is Hostetter's Bitters, a preparation likewise celebrated as a remedy for constipation, which causes contamination of the blood with the bile—and a certain means of relief in dyspepsia, fever and ague, and nervous ailments. It is, perhaps, the finest tonic extant, and is highly recommended as a medicinal stimulant by distinguished physicians and analysts who pronounce it to be eminently pure and very beneficial. The press also endorses it.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. nov9

More cases of remarkable cures of coughs, colds, asthma and consumption have been effected in the past four years by Adamson's Botanic Balsam than all other medicines that have been advertised for twenty years. Price 35 cents. Try it.

"It seems as if I should cough my head off" is sometimes the impatient exclamation of a sufferer from a severe Cough. Quell the paroxysms with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. The relief is immediate and the cure certain. Sold by Druggists. nov9

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in 1 minute.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE, Black or Brown, 40 cents.

Unpresentable Heads

are in a moment beautified by the operation of

which, without the slightest trouble, imparts to the hair of the head, the whiskers, beard or moustache, any shade of brown or the most perfect black. Ladies can use it without soiling their fingers. It is the most expeditious hair dye in the world, and the only one free from every poisonous ingredient, and that contains a nourishing and emollient vegetable principle.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 86 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tdec15

Bonds Called.

The Secretary of the Treasury on Saturday issued another call for the redemption of 5-20 bonds of 1865, consols of 1865. The call is for five million dollars, of which two million are coupon and three million are registered bonds, principal and interest to be paid at the Treasury on and after the 16th of February, 1879, and interest to cease that day. The following are the descriptions of the bonds:

Coupon bonds, dated July 1st, 1865, namely: $100, No. 140,001 to No. 142,000, both inclusive; $500, No. 99,001 to No. 102,000, both inclusive; $1000, No. 193,001 to No. 197,000, both inclusive. Total coupons, $2,000,000.

Registered bonds, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States, after the first of July, 1870, as follows: $50, No. 2486 to No. 2493, both inclusive; $100, No. 19,151 to No. 19,222, both inclusive; $500, No. 11,251, to No. 11,279, both inclusive; $1000, No. 38,651, to No. 39,000, both inclusive; $5000, No. 12,101, to No. 12,350, both inclusive; $10,000, No. 23,541 to No. 24,120, both inclusive. Total registered, $3,000,000; aggregate, $5,000,000.

New Hampshire Items.

A house, barn, four cattle and several hogs were burned in Chester, Friday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss about $5000; insurance, $2000.

The first chime of bells ever in Manchester were tested Friday afternoon on the Franklin Congregational church building. The chimes are the gift of Ex-Governor Smyth, and proved very satisfactory.

David L. Morrell, an old and respectable citizen of Nashua, was thrown from a wagon Saturday, and serious results are apprehended from injury to the brain.

F. T. French, republican, was elected Representative at East Kingston, Saturday.

A fine buck, weighing 172 pounds, was shot on the Col. Grout farm, in Acworth, on the 12th. He was seen among a flock of sheep in Claremont two days before, and had evidently wandered down from northern Vermont.

Marshall E. Hatch, of Newport, hung himself in his barn Sunday afternoon. He was fifty years old, and a much respected business man; he leaves a wife and daughter.

—A southern negro, arrested with chickens in his sack, declared—"De man who put 'em dar, was no fren' ob mine!"

—An exchange records the fact that "a rural inventor has patented a padded gate-top, to facilitate courtship." As it is not the gate-top the old man kicks at when he sails in on the scene, it appears to us the padding has been misapplied.

ST. NICHOLAS,

SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE

For Girls and Boys.

AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs. Scribner & Co., in 1873, began the publication of St. Nicholas, an illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of Over 50,000 Copies.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideal of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day St. Nicholas stands as Alone in the World of Books.

The New York Tribune has said of it: "St. Nicholas has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

GOOD THINGS FOR 1878-79.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the next volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A Jolly Fellowship,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number; and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor preserves a good-humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophesy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and love of "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter-box," and "Riddle-box."

Terms, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a Number.

Subscriptions received by the Publishers of this Paper, and by all Booksellers and Postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers should write a plain, Post-office, County, and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter to

GAZETTE

Established 1736.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of

$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. Munn & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, have had 34 years experience, and now have the largest establishment in the world. Patents are obtained on the best terms. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. By the immense circulation thus given, public attention is directed to the merits of the new patent, and sales or introduction often easily effected.

Any person who has made a new discovery or invention, can ascertain, free of charge, whether a patent can probably be obtained, by writing to the undersigned. We also send free our Hand Book about the Patent Laws, Patents, Caveats, Trade-Marks, their costs, and how procured, with hints for procuring advances on inventions. Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents,

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

GREAT THROUGH LINE

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. Its

Construction AND Equipment

THE

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,

JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

Pullman Palace Cars

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,

WITHOUT CHANGE,

and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poison, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.

Especially built up and fortified its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or pimples and brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternate with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.

In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it arrests the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.

No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, compounded of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. They Sweeten, Invigorate, Purify the Blood, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Bad Breath, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Heated feeling about the Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets only go over a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a disease or disease escaping their assaultive purpose. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, that virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, and they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH

SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, thick mucous, purulent, sometimes offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping of nostrils, obstruction, in the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, nauseous breath, dizziness, loss of voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, disease, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY

produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried RIGHT UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. ST. NICHOLAS,

SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE
For Girls and Boys.

AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs. Scribner & Co., in 1873, began the publication of St. Nicholas, an illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of Over 50,000 Copies.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideas of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine is swiftly follows after. To-day St. Nicholas stands

Alone in the World of Books.

The New York Tribune has said of it: "St. Nicholas has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

GOOD THINGS FOR 1878-79.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A Jolly Fellowship,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number; and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor preserves a good-humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophecy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and lore of "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter-box," and "riddle-box."

Terms, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a Number.

Subscriptions received by the Publishers of this Paper, and by all Booksellers and Postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers should write name, Post-office, County, and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter to

Political.

The Richmond (Va.) State is bright enough to see that a Solid South against a Solid North is not a very agreeable situation for the weaker section. It almost always happens that the dog wags the tail, and not the tail wags the dog. Democrats, as well as well as republicans, had better cultivate a party in both sections. The State says: "The sooner we drop this solid business, the better for both sections, but especially for our own interests."

The Washington Post predicts a union of the democrats and the greenbackers which will sweep the country in 1880. Such a union would disgust and drive away thousands of democrats who have not forgotten the traditions of their party, and bring them into the republican ranks. A party organized upon fiat money and bull-dozing will not prevail in this nineteenth century.

The Cincinnati Gazette has information that in the third Congressional district of Georgia the republican candidate had 3000 majority, but was deliberately counted out by throwing out republican votes on one pretext and another. The Winston (N. C.) Republican claims that James O'Hara (republican) was elected in the second North Carolina district by 8700, but several strong republican counties have been thrown out to elect Kitchen (democrat).

The democrats are attempting to break the effect of the South Carolina disclosures by declaring that the republicans nominated no State ticket. This is a specious plea. The complaints are not on account of the State ticket, but on account of the Congressional ticket, and the republicans nominated candidates in every district.

And now the solid counties of the Solid South contend for the first place in unanimity. So far, Abbeville county, South Carolina, takes the lead. This county has 3,370 black voters, and did not return a single republican vote at the late election! This is the way in which Wade Hampton fulfills his pledges of protection to all classes of citizens.

A Sudden Death.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next at our feet, pale with death, deaf to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seven-tenths of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.

—Judic, the French prima donna, pulls her hair down to her eyebrows in dark, irregular waves, and feminine Paris imitates her. Feminine America will probably soon follow suit.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1878.

A Silver Currency.

The American minister to Mexico writes to the department of State concerning the disastrous effects to that country of the recent decline in the price of silver in the London market, that, although the double standard of gold and silver (the latter being an unlimited legal tender for all debts, public and private) prevails there, and although gold is being constantly coined in mints, it has entirely ceased to be a circulating medium, and the country has been almost completely drained, it being hard to purchase even a few thousand dollars in the city of Mexico at a premium of from fourteen to eighteen per cent, according to the fluctuation of the London silver market. In addition to its being the only circulating medium in Mexico, silver constitutes four-fifths of the entire exports of the country. The sudden decline in its price in the London market from fifty-six pence per ounce to forty-eight and three-fourths pence has therefore been severely felt in every branch of commerce. Exchange in London ruled, at the date of the minister's despatch, Oct. 29th, at twenty-two per cent.

News and Notes.

The Norwegian brig Fram, bound from Stockholm for Boston with a cargo of iron, was totally wrecked near Life-saving Station No. 7, on Cape Cod, Tuesday morning. Crew saved by the station men.

In a fight near Xenia, Ohio, Sunday, between whites and blacks, one negro was shot and two whites fatally beaten. Further trouble is feared.

Jacob Dewitt, a prominent farmer and road surveyor of Columbus, Ohio, was shot and fatally injured on Sunday by a neighbor named Ingalls, during a dispute about the payment of a road tax.

The life insurance companies in New York city were startled by the information that Colonel Dwight of Binghampton, N. Y., had died suddenly. Within sixty days he had secured $256,000 of insurance upon his life. He arranged for quarterly payments of premiums, and died after paying each company one premium. Doctors have gone from New York to hold a post-mortem examination of the remains, the insurance men believing that he poisoned himself. Dwight was the owner of the Dwight hotel at Binghampton, and failed last summer.

A widow of Chickopee, Mass., fifty years old and possessed of a snug little property, last week went to New York with a smooth-talking chap named King, who had won her confidence and affections. On her return she informed her friends that she had been married to King, but they suspect the ceremony was a bogus affair, as they can find neither husband nor record of the marriage. Also, $3000 which the foolish woman loaned King has disappeared.

The wife of a hotel keeper at Bangor, near West Salem, Ill., was informed by her husband that their son, a young fellow hardly arrived at manhood, was a gambler and had robbed a guest of $13 to play poker with. She was a strong, healthy woman, but on hearing the story dropped dead at her husband's feet.

A man named Michael Walsh was shot last week while endeavoring to rescue his brother from the custody of the police at Pittston, Pa. The wounded rough died Saturday evening, and the chief of police and two officers of Pittston were at once lodged in jail on a charge of murder; the two officers who actually did the shooting had to fly the city before Walsh died, for fear of being mobbed.

At Mount Stirling, Ky., on Monday, a riot took place in which from twenty to thirty shots were fired. Two men were instantly killed and three wounded. The city marshal, in attempting to quiet the disturbance, was mortally wounded. Two of the rioters, George and William Howard, were wounded, one dangerously. John Thompson, a clerk and disinterested party, was instantly killed by a shot fired through the window of a store in which he was employed. Three of the rioters were arrested.

It is reported that the United States grand jury have indicted eight parties alleged to have been interested in frauds connected with the erection of the custom house building in Chicago, including supervising architect Hill and ex-supervising architect Potter.

A small Winsted, Conn., boy, who is probably a reader of current juvenile literature, when put off a train by a Naugatuck road brakeman the other day, drew a revolver and remarked in tragic tones, "I'll lay for you." The police were notified, and the boy only escaped arrest on his father's promise to "lay for him" with a good birch switch.

Capt. Skare of the Norwegian barque Forto, now at Baltimore, denies that he picked up at sea William Buder, the man who went to the navy department at Washington Saturday and stated that he was a survivor of the Huron, saved by the Forto. The Forto was in the Mediterranean sea at the time of the loss of the Huron, and could not have rescued the man. A man named Oscar Grentoft, who stated that that he was an old man-of-war's man, shipped on the Forto at Antwerp and deserted upon her arrival at Baltimore. Capt. Skare thinks that Grentoft and Buder are the same person.

In accordance with the opinion of the Attorney-General of Pennsylvania, Gov. Hartranft of that State on Monday issued a warrant for the execution on the 18th of December of the notorious Molly Maguire, John Kehoe, convicted of the murder of F. S. W. Langdon in Schuylkill county in 1862. Warrants were also issued for the execution on the same day, of Martin Bergen of Schuylkill county, Charles Sharpe and James O'Donnell of Carbon county, and Alexander Sayre of Philadelphia.

Three men supposed to belong in New York were arrested at the depot in Providence, Monday evening, on the charge of passing counterfeit silver dollars at various places in that city. A fourth member of the gang escaped.

Rev. Dr. Patterson of the Roxbury Universalist church is gradually improving in health and is able to walk out.

At London, Ohio, last Friday, Archibald Steen and son beat Charles Young, wife and daughter and a hired man, and fled. Young and the hired man will die.

Mr. Montague Anderson, a highly-endorsed English "gentleman" who has been delighting the hearts of the New York aristocracy by living at the Knickerbocker club house and raising money on bogus checks, has disappeared. It is not yet known whether he was a valet or a footman before he became a "first family."

At Florence, Italy, on Monday, there was a procession in honor of King Humbert's escape from the assassin's dagger. While the procession was moving a bomb was thrown into a corps of veterans, and exploded, killing two men and wounding several others.

Two volcanoes, Izalco and Santa Ana, in Salvador, Central America, are in active eruption, and the inhabitants of the neighboring villages have fled for safety, leaving all their property behind. An earthquake at Manizales threw down one hundred and twenty-one houses, but no lives were lost, the shocks having been light at first and given the inhabitants ample time to escape to the fields.

The Williston church at Portland raised $10,000 on Sunday, sufficient to clear it of debt.

Upwards of 200,000,000 persons were carried on American steamers during last year, and only one and one-tenth were lost in each million. It is believed that travel by steamer, under the existing laws of the United States, is safer than in any other country.

The annual report of the Revenue Marine Bureau of the Treasury Department shows that during the year the vessels of that service have cruised 238,505 miles, and their officers boarded and examined 31,096 vessels, of which 2009 were found violating the law in some particular, and were either seized or reported to the proper authorities; of the vessels wrecked or in distress, with an aggregate of 926 persons on board, 192 have been assisted by revenue cutters; the estimated value of property saved is about $1,700,000, and 142 persons actually rescued from drowning; the expenses of the revenue marine service, year ending June 30,1878, were $844,001, and the number of vessels in the service thirty-seven.

The counsel for Edward Tatro, the young French Canadian who murdered Mrs. Alice Butler at Highgate, Vt., in 1876, by beating her to death with a chair and an axe because she resisted his felonious assaults upon her, on Monday appeared before the judiciary committee of the Vermont legislature urging a commutation of his sentence of death to imprisonment for life. There is no likelihood that the legislature will interfere in the case.

John M. Wright, of Indian River, Me., who murdered an old boatman named Bernard Ferron on board a schooner in the Erie basin, New York harbor, in March last, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree, and sentenced to State prison for life. He is only about twenty years old.

A. Oakey Hall has become city editor of the New York World. He could write slashing editorials on fraud, if he should set out.

Louis Maneude arrived at New York, Saturday, from Spain. On retiring in the hotel Espanol, he blew out the gas and was found suffocated on Sunday.

Charles Yopp, an old man of Trenton, N. J., while gathering cresses in a swamp, Wednesday of last week, sank into a bog and was found just as he had disappeared up to his neck. He was taken out, but died Sunday.

George W. Huntzinger, ex-president of the Philadelphia Coal Company, has been lodged in jail at Philadelphia in default of $100,000 bail, on a charge of having used $80,000 of the funds of the company for his own purposes.

Tobacco at the Paris Exposition.

Official advices just received from Paris declare that P. Lorillard & Co., of Jersey City, successfully carried off the highest award given to any tobacco exhibitor, viz.: The only grand prize, a gold medal, for the superior quality of their "Tin Tag" plug tobacco, fine-cut chewing tobacco, smoking tobacco and snuffs. Some twenty-eight American firms, as well as the principal houses of Europe, were their competitors.

Four Per Cents.

From an extended article in the Boston Herald we cull the following information regarding these bonds as being of interest to all classes:

The Maverick National Bank, of Boston, assumed the Government agency for the sale of the four per cents, about ten months since, being the first to introduce them to the people of New England, and since then they have sold many millions, orders coming not only from their immediate vicinity, but from all parts of New England,—this agency acting as the distributing medium for this section of the country, furnishing the banks largely, as they make a saving of time by ordering through them.

The four per centloan has over twenty years to run, and is regarded with favor on account of its permanency, as well as its absolute security, while its freedom from all taxation renders this four per cent interest equal to five and one-half per cent on any other kind of investment.

The immense demand for them comes chiefly from persons holding trust funds, and those having $100 or upwards to invest where they feel it will be safest and the returns surest. There are fifty small purchasers to one large buyer, and the former are altogether of the middling and working classes.

People have made a grand move in taking and holding for investment their own national debt, thus retaining in this country the vast amount of interest that would otherwise be paid to foreign capitalists. The Maverick National Bank also does a large business in all other issues of Government loans,—and buy, sell and exchange any United States securities, either delivering to the parties' address, or in Washington—where many prefer.

The Primary Cause of a Distant Symptom.

Nervousness is rarely a disease in itself inherent, but is the lineal offspring of dyspepsia, in a majority of cases. The nervous disturbance is at first trifling, but ultimately its parent so undermines the general health as to produce consequences very threatening to that great nervous centre, the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most powerful medicinal opponent of the ravages of indigestion, and protects the nervous system from them. The tremors, the unnatural anxiety, the headaches, the sleeplessness and loss of appetite which characterizes digestive irregular ity and weakness, and which are almost invariably accompanied by an uncertain condition of the bowels and inactivity of the liver, are all eradicated by this matchless corrective, and when nervousness does not proceed from the cause designated, it affords most grateful relief.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tnov9

The return of General Beauregard, of Louisiana, to his home in New Orleans, is announced; also that he is accompanied by his brother in arms, the redoubtable Jubal A. Early, of Virginia, and daily the two old soldiers are seen hard at work from early morn to late at night counting the ballots of the Extraordinary Grand Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, which takes place on Tuesday, December 10th. Last June a merchant in New Orleans got the $100,000, which is the capital prize. The reader who sends ten dollars to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, may get it this drawing. Who knows?

The great popular remedy of the day for coughs, colds, asthma and all lung difficulties is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price 35 cts. Samples free.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dsept19 79

THE ORIGINAL

Borneo Midgets!

35 years before the public. Diminutive in size, but Perfect Little Giants in strength. Celebrated for their herculean feats in strength and liliputian proportions. Weight, 40 lbs.; height 34 feet. They lift men weighing 500 lbs. with apparent ease.

THE MODERN SAMSONS!

Their astonishing feats of strength have won them high encomiums from the press and public.

LILIPUTIAN KINGS!

$50,000 that they are the smallest of their age and strongest of their size in the world. The descriptive lecture on these curiosities from the time of their capture to the present time, delivered by Dr. Warner of Boston, will not fail to please and interest every visitor.

Prof. Haskins, the Champion Punch and Judy Performer of America, will play and amuse the old and young alike. At one moment he has the audience in a roar of laughter and the next moment tears will flow as freely as raindrops from the clouds.

A RARE MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT!

PROF. WYSENDOFFER will amuse the audience by playing four instruments at one time.

To conclude with the

Wonderful Decapitation Feat

Which must be seen to be appreciated.

THE CITY.

The easterly gale of Monday must have been very heavy at sea, judging from the surf on the shore, Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Monroe's class in dancing for misses, masters and children, will commence in Congress hall on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 30th, at three o'clock.

At the regular meeting of New Hampshire Lodge, No. 17, I. O. O. F., this evening, something of special interest will be offered by one of the brethren; there will also be singing by the Odd Fellows' Quartette.

Capt. Thomas Jamieson, the well known fisherman who has sailed out of this port for many years, will haul up his vessel at Christmas, and commence work on his weir preparatory to placing it in position at Little Harbor next spring.

The sale at auction by a guardian of a minor's interest in a valuable estate on Middle street occurs at nine o'clock this morning. The excellent locality of the premises will doubtless invite the attention of parties desirous of securing what seems likely to prove a good investment.

The New York World says of the Buffalo Bill Combination, which will appear on Music hall stage to-morrow evening: "The great scout and guide, Buffalo Bill, with his fine dramatic company, are drawing immense houses at the Grand opera house. The drama, introducing genuine Indian chiefs in faithful portraiture of frontier life, constitutes a most attractive bill."

The coroner's jury in the case of the young woman who came to her death through running against a knife at the Rockingham house, rendered a verdict that the wounding "was purely accidental, and that no blame attaches to any person;" and also "that every attention which kindness could devise or skill execute was cheerfully rendered by the proprietor of the Rockingham house, and his assistants."

Mr. Richard Walden, one of our well known citizens, died at his residence on Water street, Tuesday morning. For many years he was engaged in the caulking business, and had the reputation of being a thorough mechanic. During the administrations of Pierce and Buchanan he was foreman caulker on the navy yard. Mr. Walden has in late years kept a grocery store on Water street. He was a pleasant companion, and was liked and respected by those who knew him well. Politically, he was always a democrat, and for many years—twenty-five, we believe—he was the moderator in "old ward three."

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Nov. 19; Batchelder, J.

Frank Adderton and Ada Marden, two of the defendants in the recent case before this court concerning the stealing of certain furniture from the house of Ellen Hunter on Madison street, were complained of for fornication, and were bound over in $100 each to appear at the next term of the Supreme Court. Jail in default.

SUPREME COURT.

MONDAY, Nov. 18; Foster, J.

Actions Edwin A. Pickering vs. Frank T. Pickering were founded on three writs of entry to recover possession of land in Newington. The defence was that the actions were brought to foreclose three mortgages given for notes in settlement of judgments founded upon verdicts obtained by false swearing. Defendant formerly had for counsel the late Hon. Wm. B. Small, and after his decease J. Warren Towle, Esq., of Exeter, but Mr. Towle had not time to examine the papers in order to do sufficient justice to Mr. Pickering's case. In short, after much diligence in obtaining counsel, Mr. Pickering, the defendant, did not succeed in finding any advocate, and having some experience in courts he attempted to try his side of the case himself. His only witness offered was the defendant himself, (but in the case before the jury the piff. was administrator and therefore the defendant could not testify,) and Hon. A. R. Hatch, whose testimony was brief. The defendant presented his views of the case as it progressed. The plaintiff 's counsel did not argue the case, and after a brief charge by Judge Foster the jury returned a verdict for Edwin A. Pickering in the first case, and a default was entered in the two other actions. Frink for piff.

A decision was rendered in the note case of the Merchants' national bank of Boston vs. Eastern railroad, judgment being against the railroad. The question of the trustees' liability is to be heard by the court at the present term.

TUESDAY, Nov. 19; Smith, J.

William W. Messer and Maria P. Messer vs. David P. Smyth and Orianna S. Smyth, action upon a mortgage of a certain farm in Northwood, originally sold by Mr. Messer to the Smyths, and mortgaged back to secure payment of part of the purchase money, recorded Aug. 9th, 1875. The notes were payable in two years after date, dated July 30th, 1875, for $4250, and signed by the defendants and payable to the plaintiff. Endorsed is "July 30th, 1875, received of within $250. July 30th, '76, Interest paid to date, $240. May 24, '77, Rec'd of within $50.00.

The defence is that the note was given in part payment for farm and personal property of the Messers which was bought by the Smyths upon representations of Messer that the farm produced more than was the fact; that by these inducements the Smyths were led to believe that the farm was of greater capacity for produce, pasturage, etc., than was the case. The defendants were not familiar with the value of farms and farm lands, and set up that in the trade they were overreached in paying $8250 for the place, which was more than it was worth; and that the representations of Messer as to the place were materially untrue. The defts contended that a fair price had already been paid.

Hatch for piff.; S. C. Eastman and Harriman for deft.

CITY COUNCILS.

The Board of Mayor and Aldermen had a special meeting at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, to hear the report of City Solicitor Foster in relation to the cases now pending in the supreme court against the city, the Solicitor having requested the meeting for the purpose of consultation and to enable him to report progress. Our reporter, who proposed to be present at the meeting, was on presenting himself informed by Mayor Sise that the meeting was a secret one! This rather surprised the reporter, who was laboring under the impression that any well-behaved citizen has a right to attend any meeting of the city government, and that no such citizen can be excluded from any but executive sessions, which this meeting was not; but, as he says, he "can take a hint without waiting for it to be emphasized by a kick," so he withdrew. We are fully posted, we think, as to what business was transacted, but we respect the wishes of the city fathers, and won't expose 'em.

A PAPER SWILL-CART.

The Boston Express, a sheet which we judge from reports is not suited for family reading except in the case of families of the toughest sort, has created quite a breeze in certain circles of this city of late. The paper, so far as we are informed, is something after the pattern of the old Life in Boston, or the Gleaner, of years ago, and puts in all the scandal and scandalous rumors sent to it by correspondents, who take good care to remain "anonymous" to the general public. The Express it seems has a correspondent in this city, who sends lots of stuff, whether true or false we cannot say, about different persons, and the persons thus gazetted are naturally indignant, if innocent, and of course still more indignant if the injurious statements or inuendoes are well founded.

Some weeks ago Mayor Sise instructed the police to prevent the sale of the paper in the streets of this city on Sunday, which was done, the Times indorsing the Mayor's action by saying "Mayor Sise is entitled to the thanks of every decent man in the community, for suppressing the sale of the Boston Express in this city." This was the first two had heard of the paper for five years or more, so of course we were not competent to offer any opinion in the case one way or the other.

But the anonymous correspondent has kept on, and the parties attacked have kept getting more and more wrathy, and at least two persons have been roughly used on suspicion—one of them an railroad man, and the other a poor, illiterate person who cannot write his own name, and who probably could not tell his own name in print if he saw it in six-inch letters on a poster, but who was knocked down all the same, and had his eyes blackened and his face bruised by a party of enraged men who had pitched upon him as the objectionable correspondent.

On Monday another batch of the papers was received by a news-dealer—not Moses Brothers—and an excited crowd gathered outside of the shop; and the news-man, fearing trouble if the papers were delivered, requested the police to take charge of them, which was done by Assistant Marshal Gray, who kept them until Tuesday morning, when they were returned to the news-dealer's custody. The Boston papers on Tuesday morning had an account of this affair which would lead the reader to suppose there was something very like a mob at the news-stand on Monday; but neither the police, nor anyone else so far as we can discover, knows anything about any further trouble than we have mentioned. But even if the news-man had been seriously bothered he would not have been overwhelmed with sympathy, as the man who lends a hand to circulate such a paper is only less contemptible than the ones who get it up.

The sheet is not worth a tithe of the fuss made about it; it is simply a low, vulgar publication, the ready medium for the gratification of envy and personal malice, the dagger with which the anonymous coward stabs in the back the person he dare not openly face; and nothing which such a sheet or any of its vile contributors could say would injure the good name of any man or woman in the estimation of people whose good opinion is worth considering. Nevertheless it is no doubt exasperating to those who are attacked by it, just as it is unpleasant to be assaulted from behind a fence on a dark night by the Mephitis Americana; and its Portsmouth correspondent, if found out, would probably be made into something very like sausage meat by those he has assailed.

Last Thursday morning a Biddeford man named Simpson made ready to start on a three-hundred-miles journey to Aroostook, where he proposes to settle with his wife and family. The vehicle in which his family and wordly goods were stowed was a nondescript kind of craft, the tongue being a rough joist with the corners bevelled, the whiffletree secured by a half-dozen turns of wire, and the whole concern patched up with shingle nails, bits of string and pieces of wire. The people who saw the preparations Simpson was making, satisfied that such a ricketty turnout would let all hands down in the road before getting many miles, "chipped in" and purchased him a good emigrant wagon, and he soon started off, thanking the crowd for the assistance rendered and assuring the people he "had no hard feelings against them!" He was heard from on Friday evening, six miles this side of Portland.

New Hampshire Items.

Two students in chemistry at the Manchester high school have been expelled for dosing several of their associates with new cider containing a liberal amount of tartar emetic. Doctors were called, and the parents of the victims threaten criminal proceedings.

Ex-Gov. Smyth recently gave a chime of bells to the Franklin street church, where he worships, and for aught we know is worshipped, in Manchester. The generous donor did not intend to have the affair get out, but the indefatigable reporter of the Mirror found it out and published the weight of the bells and the name of the giver. So it, like the chimes, has been noised abroad in Manchester. The Governor must be more careful when he seeks to do a generous act on the sly. Ordinarily a chime of bells to many persons becomes a bore, but Concord had a chime and of course it became necessary to have a set at Manchester.

—The sky, unlike man, is most cheerful when the bluest.

—A lady was the mother of a bright little boy about three years old. The whooping cough prevailed in their neighborhood and the mother became very much alarmed lest her boy would take it. She had talked so much about it, and worried over it, that she had infected the child with her fears to such an extent that he would scarcely leave her side. One night after the little fellow had been put to bed and to sleep a jackass was driven past the house and when just opposite set up his he-haw, he-haw, he-haw. With a shriek the little fellow was out of bed, screaming at the top of his voice, "The whooping cough is coming, mamma; the whooping cough is coming." He didn't catch it that time.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered for sale from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution restored. Tumors, Swellings, Salt-Rheum, Fever-Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow blotches upon the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has proved, among the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Hideous feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the powers of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, Dr. Pierce's Pellets will be the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, at others thick mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, scaly, with inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, offensive breath from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, weakness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing, if a pleasant, thorough trial be made, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of douche ever invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the sufferers or cavities communicating therewith, in which pores and pelicules reside the germs, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.

ST. NICHOLAS,
SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE
For Girls and Boys.
AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs. Scribner & Co., in 1873, began the publication of St. Nicholas, an illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of Over 50,000 Copies.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideas of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day St. Nicholas stands

Alone in the World of Books.

The New York Tribune has said of it: "St. Nicholas has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

GOOD THINGS FOR 1878-79.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A Jolly Fellowship,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number; and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy-tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor preserves a good-humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophecy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and love of "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter-box," and "riddle-box."

Terms, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a Number.

IN AUTUMN.

BY CELIA THAXTER.

The aster by the brook is dead,
And spent the golden-rod's brief fire:
The maple's last red leaf is shed,
And dumb the birds' sweet choir.

'Tis life's November, too—How swift
The narrowing days speed, one by one!
How pale the waning sunbeams sift
Through clouds of gray and dun!

And as we lose our wistful hold
On warmth and loveliness and youth,
And shudder at the dark and cold,
Our souls cry out for Truth.

No more mirage, O Heavenly Powers,
To mock our sight with shows so fair!
We question of the solemn hours
That lead us swiftly—"where?"

We hunger for our lost—in vain!
We lift our close-clasped hands above
And pray God's pity on our pain,
And trust the Eternal Love.

Garcelon and Smith on the Currency Question.

Dr. Garcelon and Mr. Joseph L. Smith, the democratic and greenback candidates for governor of Maine, have been interviewed by the reporter of the Lewiston Journal, and that paper gives the views of those gentlemen on finance. Dr. Garcelon says:

While I think it might be well for government to issue a currency redeemable in coin of full value, I am not opposed to national banks under certain restrictions. Our national bank system is a great improvement over the old State bank system. Indeed, I should rather prefer national bank currency to a limited amount. I want no United States bank. My objection to the present national bank system is that we are giving interest on their banking capital and then letting them have interest on the same amount of capital. I think we have too much currency now. I believe that with gold and silver again in circulation, the present greenback currency will be nearly enough for the business of the country. Gold and silver have been articles of merchandise in this country for years. On resumption they will come forward as currency, and it seems to me that it is obvious we now have too much currency. In the old specie time we never had anything like the amount of circulating medium that we now have. I am in favor of a greenback, gold redemption currency, but I think four hundred millions is enough. I think the government ought to issue paper notes, promises to redeem on demand in gold, and then redeem.

Dr. Garcelon does not believe resumption can be maintained with the Bland silver dollar, and calls that dollar a fraud. He says it would be downright robbery to pay the bonds in depreciated money, and scouts the idea that making notes receivable for duties would cause them to be equal in value with gold. The hard times, he says, are not attributable to the want of money, but to too much poor money. He doesn't believe in extravagance in State affairs, nor in being niggardly, and says, "We must support our public institutions." We do not see why any republican senator in Maine need hesitate to vote for Garcelon for governor, so far as financial matters are concerned.

Mr. Smith was of the opinion that the volume of the currency had been contracted too fast. "But now that we have realized all the disadvantages of contraction," continued he, "now that our property has shrunk all it can shrink in value, I for one am not in favor of retracing our steps in order to endure all the misery over again. It has all got to come to the gold value at last; if we now get away from it—when we have just reached it—we shall have to come back to it sooner or later. I think we had better stay." "Then do you not favor the repeal of the resumption act?" was asked. "That amounts to but little, anyway," said he. "We can redeem because nobody wants the coin; they prefer the paper; it is more convenient. But if people wanted to exchange for coin, the government would then have to refuse to redeem, because it is practically impossible to accomplish it, and put out coin for the outstanding notes." As a man with some property at stake, as well as the same interest in the public welfare which all good citizens have, he was opposed to any scheme of a currency which would not have a gold value somewhere behind it. But he thought our legislation had been too much in the interests of the banks and money lenders. They had had control of legislation and had used it for their own advantage. He thought the government should issue all the notes which the business of the country needs, and with the proceeds take up the bonds, the six per cents, and save the interest, and not let the banks have the privilege for the sake of a miserable pittance of a tax they paid for it.

News and Notes.

A remarkable death-bed confession has been made to Bishop Pinkney by Charles Bradford, a wealthy young man of Union Square, Md., who tried to die in peace by acknowledging himself the author of numerous letters sent in the last four years, which have smirched the characters of an innocent man and woman and caused many quarrels in that neighborhood.

Henry Vreland, alias Whalen, and Wm. Burke, have been held in $50,000 each for trial on a charge of stealing the body of A. T. Stewart.

The man representing himself as Wm. Buder, and claiming to be a survivor of the wreck of the Huron, is undoubtedly an imposter. A navy department clerk detailed to investigate the matter says that Buder was unquestionably lost with the ill-fated ship; and the "claimant" clandestinely left the steamer Passaic, at Washington navy yard, where he was quartered temporarily, on the night of the 19th inst.

An earthquake was felt at Cairo, Ill., and Little Rock, Ark., at about eleven o'clock on the night of the 19th inst., the shock lasting one minute and ten seconds. Another shock was felt the next morning. No harm was done beyond frightening people.

Jealous husbands and wives will be interested to learn that the post-office ruling to the effect that under the law a husband cannot open his wife's letters nor a wife the letters of a husband, is not to remain a dead letter. Col. L. V. S. Mattison has been arrested in Oswego on a charge of opening letters addressed to his wife. A suit for divorce is pending between the parties and Mr. Mattison intercepted the missives for the purpose of procuring evidence. Mrs. Mattison made the complaint on which the warrant for arrest was issued.

Col. G. H. Butler, the nephew of Gen. Butler, and former Consul-General to Egypt, is now undergoing a sentence of thirty days in the Washington workhouse in lieu of a fine which he was unable to pay in the police court. During the past year Butler has been of dissipated habits, and has been either in jail, the hospital or the workhouse one-half of the time. His relatives, friends and wife have done everything to induce him to reform, but without success, and they have all abandoned him to his fate, not one coming forward to pay the small fine for the offence for which he was committed, which was that of being drunk in the street and being a vagrant. His mind is so affected that one time he was for months in the insane asylum at Washington.

An English farmer, touched with compassion at the sight of a feeble woman trudging along the road, carrying a child, gave them a lift. He was promptly summoned and fined £5 for using his cart as a carriage when he had not taken out a carriage license.

The grand jury of Zanesville, Ohio, have found indictments against the grave robbers, Lyman Easton, Capt. Hilliard and Dr. Heyl. It is thought that Hilliard, who is much affected by his position, will make a full confession.

One Hackett, brother of the Orangeman who was murdered by Montreal Ribbonmen, July 12th, 1877, has been made private secretary to Mr. O'Connor, a Catholic member of the new Canadian cabinet, and to complete the political millenium, it is believed that Mr. Bodwell, another minister and Grand Master of the Orangemen, is to take an Ultramontane as his private secretary.

A girl of eighteen, named Edith Shaw, has been arrested at Dublin for stealing about £1000 worth of baggage. She used to go to the railroad stations when trains came in and direct the porters to place articles which she selected in her carriage, and then calmly drive away with her plunder.

David R. Reeves, a wandering singing master, formed a class in Pettis county, Mo., and fell in love with Amelia Yost, one of his pupils. She spurned him, but he persisted in his wooing, even threatening to kill her if she did not accept his addresses. Still she was cold. A letter in his handwriting asked her to meet him at a certain stile one evening. Her father and three brothers believed that he intended to lure her to this lonely spot and murder her, so they armed themselves with guns and hid near the stile. Presently a man appeared, looked around as though expecting somebody, and then stood leaning against a fence. One of the Yost boys fired on him, killing him instantly. He was not Reeves, however, but a neighbor and close friend of the Yosts, wearing Reeves' hat and coat. Why he went there in that manner and dress is not explained. The Yost who did the shooting is now on trial, but no solution of the mystery has been reached. The singing-master has not since been seen in that neighborhood.

W. A. Parsons, cashier of the People's Coal Company at Norfolk, Va., has absconded with all the funds of the company.

Rev. R. H. McGuire, a Catholic priest of Braidwood, Ill., Sunday evening fatally shot his sexton and usher, named Muldowney, mistaking him for a burglar. The priest was unwell and in bed, and Muldowney entered and went up to his room in the dark. McGuire asked twice "Who is there?" without eliciting any reply. He then said, "Tell me your name or I will shoot." No reply came, and he then fired.

William Moore, an employe of the Boston Water Works, in Framingham, Mass., and a native of Prince Edward Island, was run over in Framingham on the night of Tuesday, the 19th inst., and one of his legs carried twenty-four miles on one of the brake beams of the passenger train from Boston to Worcester. His body was terribly mangled, and portions of it strewn for some thirty feet along the track.

A Valuable Supporter.

The address to the party of the Democratic State Central Committee of Rhode Island complains that "the democratic party of Rhode Island is at present without an able organ in which the interests of the party might be defended and advanced day by day." Democratic newspapers have been very unfortunate in that State. The Providence Herald sank $60,000 in five years; its owner went into bankruptcy, and his creditors, with characteristic Rhode Island generosity, let him off without payment of a cent, although they might have managed to squeeze a few thousand dollars out of him. The kind of support the Herald got is best illustrated by a story told by Mr. Walter P. Phillips, formerly editor and business manager of the Herald. Walter went out to Chepachet, the democratic stronghold, to collect some ancient subscription bills. He interviewed an old farmer, a steady reader and admirer of the Herald, and of its predecessor, the Post. Walter presented a bill for eight years of Herald and Post. The old farmer was first amazed, then indignant. He put on his spectacles, scrutinized the bill, and after assuring himself that it was genuine, he exclaimed: "I've been supportin' this yere paper for nigh onto eight year, and I never had no such thing as that flung at me before. I'll stop supportin' it." He not only withdrew his valuable support, but failed to pay the bill. This incident shows pretty well why the Rhode Island democracy is without an organ.

"Yes, mother," added the young hopeful, "and yesterday I licked Ned Raren, threw the cat into the well, and stole old Hickey's gimlet."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsep10 79

THE CITY.

The Buffalo Bill combination will appear at Music hall this evening in "May Cody, or lost and won." See advertisement.

Miss Mary E. B. Miller, of this city, is by request instructing a class of young ladies in Lowell, Mass., in oil-painting, one day in each week.

The U. S. S. Ticonderoga sailed from the lower harbor at eight o'clock Wednesday morning for Norfolk, Va., where she will take on board Commodore Shufeldt.

It is reported that the U. S. S. Plymouth, at Norfolk, Va., from Santa Cruz, West Indies, has been ordered to this station. Also that the Marion, previously reported likely to be ordered here, will go to some other station.

The new bonds of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad, to be exchanged for those of the former issue, are being engraved. They will not be ready for exchange for three weeks. When issued there will be three coupons, or six and three-quarters per cent, due and payable.

The exhibition at Franklin hall continues to draw the large patronage which it deserves. No one should fail to see those Midgets. The Punch and Judy performed by Prof. Haskins seems to interest every one. This is the last week, and concludes Saturday evening with a dance. Fifteen cents will admit one to the entertainment and dance.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY Nov. 20; Smith, J.

The case of Messer and al. vs. Smyth and al. occupied the entire day, the defence offering evidence in rebuttal of the testimony in behalf of the plaintiff. The evidence was closed at the adjournment of the court. Hatch for pltf.; S. C. Eastman of Concord, and Harriman, for deft.

THE LECTURE-CONCERT.

The musically illustrated lecture and concert in Music hall on Tuesday evening was pleasing in its quality as it was unique in its character. The large audience had been led from the advertisement to expect something entertaining and instructive, but were hardly prepared for the novelty and variety that awaited them. The lecturer opened the entertainment by some brief remarks concerning the uses and abuses of music, time and tune, and then introduced his first illustration. This was a round—in costume—by Messrs. Newell, Tilton and Owen, and was not only well done, but it most aptly exemplified this peculiar style of music. Following this round was more instructive talk upon the subject of music as handled by the old masters, and then the invitation fugue, "Fly like a youthful hart or roe," was rendered by an excellent choir under the direction of Mr. G. F. Monroe. The singing of the song "Once Again," by Mr. Monroe, was the occasion of the first appearance of this celebrated tenor upon the concert boards in this city. He was enthusiastically encored, and in response gave a pleasing song entitled, "The Yeoman's Wedding." Our space will not permit us to notice extendedly each feature of the programme, but it was all well done. Those grand old chorals by Mendelssohn and Bach were used to illustrate the grandeur of music as well as the matter of time. The duet by Miss Remick and Mr. Monroe, "The Sailor's Sighs" (Balfe) was loudly applauded and was replied to by some operatic selection, the title of which we have forgotten. The rendering of the One Hundred and Twenty-first Psalm in what was called antiphonal singing was delightfully pleasing, and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience, who called for its repetition, which was promptly granted. One of the best things of the evening next followed, which was a tenor recitative and aria from the oratorio of "Elijah," which was rendered by Mr. Monroe in an exquisite manner, showing the remarkable voice which this gentleman possesses, as well as illustrating the power and pathos of song that is at his command. The touchingly pathetic strain, "O, that I knew where I might find Him," showed a rare delicacy of tone and its rendering thrilled the entire audience. The closing number of the programme was an opera song of "Robert le Diable" by Miss Wendell, and was a fitting finale. The power and sweetness of tone of this young lady's voice is simply marvellous, and we predict for her a place among the musical "stars." Of course she was encored, and the "Last Rose of Summer" was given in response. If we may judge by the reluctance with which the audience left the house, the entertainment was far too brief. Although Dr. Goodall gracefully complimented the audience, thanked them for their patronage, apologized for mistakes and commissions that might possibly have occurred in the hasty preparation for the concert, and politely bowed himself off the stage, still the audience kept their seats and waited for more, and it was not until the doctor appeared and courteously informed his patrons that the performance had ended, that they began to perceive a broad hint to go home! We hear of one whose business would not allow him to devote the entire evening to the entertainment, but greatly desiring to hear one number he dropped in at an early part of the concert. Like Pilgrim, or whatever his name was, in the Enchanted Castle, he was riveted there in the hall until the close of the entertainment, ere he could return to his pressing duties.

Too much credit cannot be given to the originator of so enjoyable an entertainment. Its object, too, was of so worthy a character, as to place every lover of humanity under obligations to Dr. Goodall for his last noble and successful effort. We learn that the proceeds of the lecture netted the sum of one hundred dollars, which will no doubt be gratefully received by the several beneficiaries to whom it is promised.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD SUITS.

S. S. Hollingsworth, Esq., of Philadelphia, solicitor for the Locomotive Engine Safety Truck Co. of New York, entered in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of New Hampshire, on Wednesday, bills in equity against the Boston, Concord & Montreal, the Concord, the Boston & Maine, and the Northern railroads, in behalf of the company, who are holders by assignment of the Smith patent for improvements in locomotive axle trucks, which are in use on the above named railroads in this State. Mr. Hollingsworth was last from Portland, where he had entered a bill against the Maine Central railroad; and he had previously shown the same attention to the Central Vermont, and Montpelier & Wells River railroads. The complainants set forth that the validity of their patent has been judicially established in a suit against the Erie railroad in the United States Circuit Court in New York, and also in another suit against the Pennsylvania railroad, decided in Pennsylvania; and that railroads in New England using the patent should be made to pay the penalty for infringement. The corporations in New England club together under what is denominated the "Eastern Railroad Association," and make common cause in the defence, their counsel being a lawyer in Springfield, Mass. C. F. Blake, Esq., of New York, a patent lawyer of celebrity, now engaged in arguing the Metallic Cartridge Co.'s case against Gen. Butler, before Judge Lowell, at Boston, is counsel for the Truck Co. in these suits.

OUR SENATORS.

We clip from the Manchester Mirror the following notices of State-Senators-elect Philbrick and Broughton:

Mr. Philbrick is a farmer and hotel-keeper. He represents a democratic district and has won his seat in the Senate twice against the most popular opponent that could be brought against him. We shall be fortunate if the next nomination in that district falls to a man so strong at the polls and so willing and able to do good service in the Senate, where he was distinguished as a tireless worker for the interests of his constituents.

Portsmouth sends one of its best men in the person of Ex-Mayor Broughton, a lumber dealer, who was popular enough to beat Daniel Marcy and the greenbackers, in a district which under most circumstances is democratic. He made an excellent mayor of Portsmouth, and is certain to pay one hundred cents on a dollar on all the promises his most enthusiastic friends make for him.

It will astonish the republicans of the 24th (Portsmouth) senatorial district to learn that they live "in a district which under most circumstances is democratic."

THE VICINITY.

A gentleman who resides on the Greenland road complains that the road is in bad condition, not being nearly so well cared for as Lafayette and Middle roads, though largely travelled.

Notwithstanding the somewhat liberal rainfalls lately, the farmers in the surrounding districts want more. The wells and springs are not yet in order for the "shutting up" of the ground by frost.

J. Warren Towle, Esq., of Exeter, files exceptions to the statement in Wednesday's CHRONICLE that as counsel for the defendant in the cases of Edwin A. Pickering vs. Frank T. Pickering of Newington he "had not time to examine the papers in order to do sufficient justice to" his client. On the contrary, he did fully examine the papers and reported to defendant that he had no grounds for a defence, but Mr. Pickering not being satisfied endeavored to procure other counsel, and not succeeding decided to conduct his defence himself.

A barn belonging to Mrs. Charles H. Bell of Exeter, and situated about one mile from the centre of the town, was burned on the night of Tuesday, the 19th inst., with its contents, consisting of hay and farm tools; loss about $500; cause, incendiary. The light of the fire was plainly seen in this city.

On Sunday night, 17th inst., the millinery store of the Misses Flynn on High street in Great Falls was entered by thieves, who got in by breaking a window. No great amount of plunder was secured, but about $20 worth of finery in the window was damaged by being trodden upon. The store was only opened a few days previous, being a branch of a Dover establishment.

One Thomas Scott, alias Thomas Smith, formerly a drummer for the lithographing house of Andersen & Cameron of New York, is "wanted" in Dover and various other places for swindling hotel keepers and others with worthless checks on his former employers, Anderson & Cameron. He got $10 from Mr. Walker, landlord of the New Hampshire house at Dover, on Saturday, 16th inst., and made good his escape before word could be received from New York. It appears that since August, when he was discharged, he has been tramping all about, pretending still to be the agent of Anderson & Cameron, and has collected bills due them to considerable amounts, and used worthless checks at his convenience.

Charles H. Webber of Saco, the ex-clergyman and present insurance agent whose leading astray of a young lady of good family has caused so much excitement in that city, was on the night of the 18th inst. arrested on a warrant issued by the municipal court of Lewiston, and taken to that city on the 20th to answer to a charge of adultery there committed. Col. Burbank, county attorney of York county and a prominent and respected citizen of Saco, who is a cousin of the lady seduced by Webber, has addressed a note to the Portland Argus in reference to the scandal, and his altercation with one Hill, a champion of Webber. It seems that the county attorney was so enraged at Hill's language that, in the excitement of the moment, he struck Hill, who returned the blow, and quite a tussle ensued. While regretting the unfortunate collision with Hill, Col. Burbank says: "To such as seek to shield the sanctimonious seducer, who, entering a respectable and happy household under the guise of a moral and religious teacher, and welcomed as a friend, has accomplished his infamous villainy, I have naught to say. To those cognizant of the facts attending the sad sensation I am content to submit the measure of my moral deserts."

A Romance of the Press.

A gentleman of talents and means is connected with the press of the Pacific coast. At the house of a friend, newly arrived, he saw an album filled with portraits. The editorial gentleman was attracted by the picture of a New York lady. A correspondence was opened, portraits exchanged, an engagement was entered into, and a contract of marriage made before either had seen the other. The gentleman showed that he meant business by sending on a royal sum to pay expenses. The lady showed her pluck by setting out for the land of gold, all alone, for a husband and a home 3000 miles away. The parties met at Ogden and exchanged salutations. The lady found her expectations more than met, as her intended weighed over 200 pounds. The couple reached the coast in the evening and were married the same night. As may be presumed, so excellent a business man did not fail to have a dominie engaged for the arrival. There was no bridal tour, as the ante-nuptial ride of the bride was sufficient.

—A Boston woman recently testified that a man had threatened to take her life, and he was put under bonds to keep the peace for six months. The woman evidently thinking this was not sufficient punishment, subsequently married him. She says revenge is sweet.

Political.

Senator Gordon of Georgia was re-elected by the legislature of that State on the 19th inst., receiving all but five votes.

The election tangle in Iowa is more involved than ever. It appears that there was more or less voting a fortnight ago in six of the nine Congressional districts, with the result of giving majorities again for the two greenbackers who won in October, two of the republicans who were successful then, and two democrats who were defeated last month; in the other three districts neither republican nor opposition ballots were cast week before last. According to the November voting, therefore, the delegation in the next House would stand two democrats and two greenbackers—or four opposition—to two republicans, with three vacancies. The fact that republicans in six of the districts participated in the November voting is of course seized upon by the democrats as a virtual confession that it was the legal election, and there is already talk about Clerk Adams' either putting the successful candidates at the November election on his roll, or leaving off the Iowa names altogether.

The Solid South is badly scared. There is abundant evidence of that. The size of the electoral vote on the side of the Solid North has startled unpleasant emotions. Here, for example, is a loud wail from the chief organ of the South Carolina bulldozers, the News and Courier of Charleston. It says the temper with which the northern press has discussed the election "is not encouraging or reassuring to those who had hoped and believed that the period of sectional agitation and sectional strife was past and gone." This declaration in the face of a democratic majority of 80,000 in a republican State, a majority obtained by cresting a reign of terror and stuffing ballot-boxes with tissue-paper votes, is the coolest performance of the season. "There is no thought of disfranchising the colored people," adds the bulldozing editor; "we want them to vote, as they will hereafter vote, with the democracy." That is, they will be "persuaded" with pistol and club to vote the democratic ticket. That is freedom of franchise with a vengeance. "Time will tell its tale," concludes the editor; "the south is ready to be judged by her actions." That is just what will happen to her. At present the country is sitting in judgment on the infamous performances in South Carolina, and the longer it sits the hotter does its righteous indignation wax.—Tribune.

—A high toned but impecunious Chicago youth recently jilted a Cincinnati girl because he thought he found out that she was poor. Then she went and inherited $2,000,000, and wouldn't speak to him. He now thinks it a great Misfortune.

The Primary Cause of a Distant Symptom.

Nervousness is rarely a disease in itself inherent, but is the lineal offspring of dyspepsia, in a majority of cases. The nervous disturbance is at first trifling, but ultimately its parent so undermines the general health as to produce consequences very threatening to that great nervous centre, the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most powerful medicinal opponent of the ravages of indigestion, and protects the nervous system from them. The tremors, the unnatural anxiety, the headaches, the sleeplessness and loss of appetite which characterize dyspeptic irregularity and weakness, and which are almost invariably accompanied by an uncertain condition of the bowels and inactivity of the liver, are all eradicated by this matchless corrective, and when nervousness does not proceed from the cause designated, it affords most grateful relief.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure for consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send, free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and using, in German, French, or English. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. Sherar, 149 Powers' Block, Rochester, New York. tnov3

The return of General Beauregard, of Louisiana, to his home in New Orleans, is announced; also that he is accompanied by his brother in arms, the redoubtable Jubal A. Early, of Virginia, and daily the two old soldiers are seen hard at work from early morn to late at night counting the ballots of the Extraordinary Grand Drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery, which takes place on Tuesday, December 10th. Last June a merchant in New Orleans got the $100,000, which is the capital prize. The reader who sends ten dollars to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, may get it this drawing. Who knows?

The great popular remedy of the day for coughs, colds, asthma and all lung difficulties is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price 25 cts. Samples free.

The fact of the business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by all Druggists.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE
GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed, a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
By its great and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Blotch, Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Scrofulous, Syphilitic, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Ringworm, Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goiter or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Bronchitis, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and eminent physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest Coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in Region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Heated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensative fingers. They does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., PROP'R, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, dullness, dizziness, intolerance of smells, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, acrid, acrimonious, excoriating, etc.
In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, sometimes tender, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dim sighted, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be used, or better still, the dry one in the Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists. R. V. PIERCE, M. It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. 1dec29

Scribner's Monthly,

CONDUCTED BY J. G. HOLLAND.

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now MORE THAN 70,000 MONTHLY,

And it has a larger circulation in England than any other American Magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy-five original wood cut illustrations.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR 1878-79.

Among the attractions for the coming year are the following:

"HAWORTH'S," a serial novel, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." The scene of Mrs. Burnett's new novel is laid in Lancashire; the hero is a young inventor of American birth. "Haworth's" is the longest story Mrs. Burnett has yet written. It will run through twelve numbers of the Monthly, beginning with November, 1878, and will be profusely illustrated.

FALCONBERG, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "The Man who Loved his Name," &c. In this romance, the author graphically describes the peculiarities of Norse immigrant life in a Western settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to be begun on the conclusion of "Falconberg." This story will exhibit the life of society in Creole Louisiana about the years 1860-1-5, the time of the Cession, and a period bearing a remarkable likeness to the present Reconstruction period.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series (begun in August with the portrait of Bryant) will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on tinted paper, as frontispieces of four different numbers. Illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

STUDIES IN THE SIERRAS. A series of papers (mostly illustrated) by John Muir, the California naturalist. The most graphic and picturesque and, at the same time, exact and trustworthy studies of "The California Alps" that have yet been made. The series will sketch the California Passes, Lakes, Wind Storms and Forests.

A NEW VIEW OF BRAZIL. Mr. Herbert H. Smith, of Cornell University, a companion of the late Prof. Hartt, is now in Brazil, with Mr. J. Wells Champney (the artist who accompanied Mr. Edward King in his tour through "The Great South"), preparing for SCRIBNER a series of papers on the present condition,—the cities, rivers and resources of the great empire of South America.

THE "JOHNNY REB" PAPERS, by an "ex-Confederate" soldier, will be among the recent contributions to SCRIBNER during the coming year. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood, of Baltimore. The first of the series, "Johnny Reb at Play," appears in the November number.

THE LEADING EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES. We are now having prepared, for SCRIBNER, articles on the leading Universities of Europe. They will be written by an American College Professor, Mr. H. H. Boyesen of Cornell, author of "Falconberg," &c., and will include sketches of the leading men in each of the most important Universities of Great Britain and the Continent.

Among the additional series of papers to appear may be mentioned those on "How Shall we Spend Our Money?" by Prof Leonsbury, "The New South," "Lawn Planting for Small Places," by Samuel Parsons of Flushing, "Canada of To-day," "American Art and Artists," "American Archæology," "Modern Inventors," also, Papers of Travel, History, Physical Science, Studies in Literature, Political and Social Science, Stories, Poems; "Topics of the Time," by Dr. J. G. Holland; record of New Inventions and Mechanical Improvements; Papers on Education, Decoration, &c.; Book Reviews; fresh bits of Wit and Humor, &c., &c., &c.

Terms, $4 a year in advance; 35 cents a number.

Subscriptions received by the publishers of this paper, and by all booksellers and postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct will do the publishers, should write name, Post-office, County, and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter, to

A Sudden Death.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next at our feet, pale with death, deaf to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seven-tenths of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.

Badly Lighted Stables.

The horse, although it looks straight forward much more than most animals, yet does not do so nearly as much as man, and therefore requires in its habitation an arrangement of light quite different from that in its owner's dwelling. Give the horse the light from only one side, and it will direct only one of its eyes towards it, but the other eye will be in the shade; this inequality weakens both eyes. Put it in such a position that it looks into the dark, which is certainly unnatural, and when taken out of the stable the abrupt change from darkness to light will harm it. To place it straight against the light, gives the latter a blinding effect which is also injurious to the eyes. The horse-stable should therefore always receive its light from above, either through skylights or through windows placed near the ceiling in the wall to which an animal's head is turned as he stands in the stall. Moreover, the stable should be always bright indeed as daylight; for the horse is not a night or twilight animal, and is in no need of an artificial darkness, like fattening stock.—Rural New Yorker.

What an Advertisement Can Accomplish.

In Paris, last summer, I saw a friend of mine who had just come over using a pen of peculiar construction, designed with special reference to those untidy persons who, like myself, ink their fingers when they write. Now, my friend is a man whose hands are as white as lilies, with finger-nails like rosebuds in tint; noticeable hands, even remarkable, considering that he is an elderly man, and one who occasionally helps with the lighter work on his farm in Nebraska. Catch him inking his fingers!

"Why, where did you get that nice pen?" I asked him, a vista of blissful exemption from an inked middle finger opening on my joyous, expectant mind.

"In Omaha," he answered. "It's the nicest thing; I used to ink my fingers before I got it!"

He did! He inked his fingers! That was enough for me. I got the name of the merchant from whom he bought the pen, the price of it, and enclosing the money I sent from Paris to Omaha for that pen.

By the last steamer it came to me. There had been a little delay. The stationer at Omaha was out of them, but he sent up to Sioux City to the man that advertisers them for another lot. And now here is where the laugh comes in. The pens are an English invention, and tons of them can be bought in London if desired. At the stationer's next door I could have got what I had sent after to Sioux City. But how could I know that? I dealt with the man that advertised.—London Letter to Cincinnati Enquirer.

Nails.

Many people are puzzled to understand what the terms "four penny," "six penny," and "ten penny" mean as applied to nails. Four penny means four pounds to the thousand nails, six penny six pounds to the thousand nails, and so on. It is an English term, and meant at first ten pound nails (the thousand being understood;) but old Englishmen clipped it to "ten-pun" and from that it degenerated until penny was substituted for pounds. So when you ask for four penny nails now-a-days, you want those a thousand of which will weigh four pounds. When a thousand nails weigh less than one pound they are called tacks, brads, etc., and are reckoned by ounces.

—You can never expect to have all you desire, so get what you can and be happy.

—It was under the stars, at the front gate: "May I kiss you?" he murmured in her ear. Her color came and went, her heart beat faster than "Rarus" work; she looked down to blush, and she looked up to sigh, with a smile on her lip and a tear in her eye, and shyly replied: "Proposition accepted if done only once."—Albany Journal.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1878.

New York Travel.

Boston occasionally takes a step forward in the matter of travel, but her railroad managers have always persistently compelled the eastern travellers bound to New York to remain within her borders, until the way by Nashua and Worcester from Portland is beginning to be patronized for this cause. This week the New York and New England railroad, a lively and energetic man having by some means taken charge, has begun running a fast mail service from New York to Boston. Before this the New York newspapers reached Boston at 2:40 P. M. over the Boston & Albany, but now leaving at the same hour and coming over the same iron as far as New Haven, the N. Y. & N. E. railroad line can put a mail into Boston, by saving sixty-three miles of travel, an hour and ten minutes earlier than by way of Springfield. Thus we can get our New York mail in the afternoon, with more certainty than before. The time of arrival is conveniently arranged for persons coming east, but Boston seems to pay but little regard to the convenience of persons at the east going south. For example, the New York & New England line, which under a vigorous management is likely to secure most of the all-rail travel to New York, because being so much shorter it can carry its passengers quicker, starts its first train to New York at 9 A. M.; this overtakes the train leaving by the Boston & Albany railroad at 8:30 A. M., and passengers go to New York from New Haven drawn by the same engine. Of course these short mornings the N. Y. & N. E. will have the advantage in the thirty minutes. Their trains reach New York at about four o'clock, or after business hours are over in the afternoon, but no one east of Boston can go in these trains unless going by the Pullman train at a very early hour, and this entails a long stop at an uncomfortable hour in Boston. The next train on the N. Y. & N. E. road leaves at 6 P. M., rather late for passengers reaching Boston from the east at 1:45 P. M. On the Shore line one can leave at one o'clock P. M., about three-quarters of an hour before trains on the Eastern & Maine Central road reach Boston, and at night at ten P. M., or over two hours after the Bangor express has arrived! On the Boston & Albany one can leave at eleven o'clock A. M., who leaves Dover and Portsmouth by the very early trains, but must wait in Boston, or he can leave at three P. M., after an hour and a quarter's delay, and also at nine P. M.

Now Boston people should know that a large share of their travel comes from persons residing east of the hub, in New Hampshire, Maine and the Provinces. There should be some way by which the trains bound south from Boston should connect with the trains arriving from the east, if Boston expects eastern folk to go over her roads. The new step of the N. Y. & N. E. railroad will be hailed with delight by eastern travellers, and one of these days unless the Boston & Albany runs a car over to the Eastern and Maine station for through passengers it will lose all of this business. But the opinion has gained ground in Boston that the N. Y. & N. E. railroad is to have the bulk of the through New York travel by rail, as it now carries most of the passengers by the Sound steamers, just as by its judicious through arrangements during the Centennial Exhibition it did the heaviest business betwben Boston and Philadelphia of any all rail line.

The Yellow Fever Commissioners' Report.

The report of the Yellow Fever Commission was presented to the Health Association Convention at Richmond, Va., on the 20th inst. It recites that yellow fever was introduced into New Orleans May 23d, by the barque Emily Souder, two of her crew dying there. The investigations of the commission extended to many cities, towns and villages, and the fact ascertained that filth, bad drainage, swamp lands and carelessness aided the spread of the epidemic. The conclusions reached are as follows:

First—We have not in a solitary instance found a case of yellow fever which we could justifiably consider as of de novo origin, or indigenous to its locality.

Second—In respect to most of the various towns we visited, and which were points of epidemic prevalence, the testimony showing importation was direct and convincing in its character.

Third—The transmission of yellow fever between points separated by any considerable distances appeared to be wholly due to human intercourse. In some instances the poison was carried in clothing or about the persons of the people going from infected districts. In other instances it was conveyed in cotton bagging, or other goods of the same description.

Fourth—The weight of testimony is very pronounced against the further use of disinfectants. Physicians in infected towns, almost without exception, state that they are useless agents to arrest the spread of yellow fever, while some of them affirm that their vapors are seriously prejudicial to the sick.

Fifth—Personal prophylaxis by means of drugs or other therapeutic means have proved a constant failure. A respectable number of physicians think the use of small doses of quinine of some value in prevention.

Sixth—Quarantine, established with such a degree of surveilance and rigor that absolute non-intercourse is the result, has effectually, and without exception, protected its subjects from attacks of yellow fever.

News and Notes.

Wilfred Montressor, otherwise known as "Lord Ogilvy," who acquired so much notoriety some months ago both as an alleged swindler and a disguised Scottish peer, turns up again and now claims that while on the passage from Halifax to Boston somebody stole from him $95 in money; and while he can give no description of the supposed thief, he asks that the matter may be investigated. The Earl waits patiently for his money.

With four men in the State prison convicted of murder, a movement to abolish capital punishment met with poor success in the Vermont legislature. The yeas in the House were 26, the nays 157.

The British steamer John Bramall, shore on Little Gull island, has been abandoned, as her bottom is all gone. She was made of the meanest quality of iron, and the least touch of a stone or sand-bank stove her.

Edison's application for a patent for his electric light has been rejected on the ground that patents issued to other inventors cover his claims.

Mr. Edward King, the well-known correspondent of the Boston Journal, is on his way home from Europe.

Mrs. Stull, of Washington, Ohio, confesses that she murdered the widow Best for continued intimacy with her husband. The former is the mother of seven children, her three months' old baby being in jail with her.

The story published about the late Col. Walton Dwight of Binghamton, N. Y., is recognized there as purely sensational. The report of an autopsy conducted by Dr. Delafield was signed by fifteen physicians present. His death was undoubtedly caused by gastric fever of malarial origin.

The British troops crossed the frontier of Afghanistan on the 21st inst., and occupied a fort which the Afghans abandoned.

Gambetta, the French republican leader, and Fourton, one of the late reactionary ministers, fought a duel with pistols on Thursday, just because Gambetta called the other man a liar in debate. Nobody was hurt at the first fire, and that was as far as the parties had got at last accounts.

A crash in the financial affairs of the State of Louisiana is said to be imminent.

New Hampshire Items.

A workman named Shannon lost his arm Wednesday by being run over by a gravel train on the Manchester & Keene railroad.

At Plymouth, on the 28th of May, 1876, Kimball Whitney, aged 69 years, struck Mrs. Wheeler over the head with a tin pail, and Wednesday the jury returned a verdict of $1500 in favor of the plaintiff, she having sued for $5000. Whitney appealed.

The Cincinnati Enquirer is the one democratic paper that condemns the recent Southern outrages, and warns its party against them. The others either ignore or ridicule them.

There is a report that Col. Pecker, the Boston Journal's New Hampshire news manager, is a candidate for United States Senator.—Norwich (Conn.) Bulletin.

The Primary Cause of a Distant Symptom.

Nervousness is rarely a disease in itself inherent, but is the lineal offspring of dyspepsia, in a majority of cases. The nervous disturbance is at first trifling, but ultimately its parent so undermines the general health as to produce consequences very threatening to that great nervous centre, the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most powerful medicinal opponent of the ravages of indigestion, and protects the nervous system from them. The tremors, the unnatural anxiety, the headaches, the sleeplessness and loss of appetite which characterizes digestive irregularity and weakness, and which are almost invariably accompanied by an uncertain condition of the bowels and inactivity of the liver, are all eradicated by this matchless corrective, and when nervousness does not proceed from the cause designated, it affords most grateful relief.

The great popular remedy of the day for coughs, colds, asthma and all lung difficulties is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price 25 cts. Samples free.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by all Druggists.

Political.

A New Orleans despatch of the 20th inst. stated that the government had commenced the prosecution of democrats of Louisiana for frauds at the recent election. On the previous day United States Commissioner Lane held two for trial before the United States Circuit Court, one being charged with bribery and the other with preventing the marshal's assistant from canvassing the vote of Carrolton. Both cases were fully proved, Governor Nicholls aiding the federal officers. One of the witnesses present was the Administrator of Commerce for New Orleans, who declared that a most shameful state of affairs existed on election day. District Attorney Leonard is prosecuting personally.

Charleston, S. C., having a population of 48,956 in 1870, polled 23,335 votes the other day under democratic management, and gave 5155 majority for the democratic candidate for Congress. Still there are men who get angry when it is intimated that the election was unfair.

The list of prominent men who are not returned to the next Congress includes Butler, Banning, Cox of Ohio, Dean, Foster, Hale, Hewitt, Harrison, Sayler, Townsend and Taylor. Some of these will be gladly missed, while others will be a loss to the service. Among the new men of note will be Gen. Hawley, Gen. Johnston, Gen. Orth, Mr. Field, Mr. Robeson and Mr. Morton.

—The following story is told to show the informal and domestic manners of the Crown Princess of Germany and the rigid etiquette of the German court: One day at a ball in Potsdam the Princess could not find the Prince, and meeting the Empress asked where her husband could possibly be. "I do not know where your husband is," said the Empress, "but I can tell you where the Crown Prince is." The Princess made no reply, but soon afterward seeing her husband she complained of the rebuke she had received. The Prince bit his lips, and walking up to the Empress said, "Mamma, will you be good enough to tell me where my wife is?"

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only "Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-making district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a little more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dtsep19 70

THE CITY.

The December number of the Folio is received; it contains the usual amount of miscellaneous reading matter, and eight selections of vocal and instrumental music.

Prof. E. B. Warman, who taught elocution so successfully in Portsmouth last spring, will be pleased to meet his former pupils and others interested in the subject, at Mercantile hall, Saturday, Nov. 23d, at 2:30 P. M.

We have received the first number of the Oakland (Cal.) Daily Radiator, a handsomely printed and lively thirty-two column paper of which Mr. John O. Hanscom, formerly of this city, is business manager. It is independent in politics.

The barque Adolph Engler, commanded by Capt. B. F. Williams of this city, which put into Philadelphia some time ago to repair damages received in the great gale of Oct. 23d while on the passage from New York to Bordeaux, France, cleared for the latter port on the 20th inst., having completed her repairs.

The Buffalo Bill Combination was greeted with a very large audience on Thursday evening, and satisfaction was general, judging from the fact that there was no leaving until the performance was ended. The play, "May Cody, or lost and won," is a good specimen of the sensational drama, and there was some very good acting.

One of the most useful and convenient articles for the student which we have ever seen is "Marshall's New Improved Reading Desk." It is adjustable to any place or position, and would seem to be almost indispensable to the invalid. Willis G. Myers is agent for this city and has them for sale at his bookstore on Congress street. More than one hundred and fifty of these desks have been sold by the agent to the students of Harvard college alone.

The Railroad Ticket Agents' Association has resolved that a clergyman is just as much of a man as any traveller, and is entitled to a full-fare ticket over the New England railroads. There have always been very many of the cloth who have insisted that it was a compromise of self-respect; this calling for a half-ticket because they were clergymen; and several cases of imposition upon railroads by pretended or ex-clergymen have come to light. Perhaps it is as well for the reverend gentlemen to pay the railroads as other men do.

We have received from Worthington, Marion county, West Virginia, a postal card addressed to "Editor Portsmoughf Herld, Portsmoughf, Maine," asking us to "Pleas sind me Coppy of your Paper and oblige," etc. The sender of the card is probably one of the numerous persons now engaged in making collections of paper, and he has got or will get a CHRONICLE to put with the rest. How many of such calls we have had we cannot even estimate—but enough of them to show that newspapers have taken the place of buttons and postage stamps as objects of interest to amateur collectors.

About three hundred copies of the Light at Eventide, the paper published at the fair held in Concord in aid of the New Hampshire "Home for the Aged," remain on hand. The paper contains original poetry by Edna Dean Proctor, Celia Thaxter, James T. Fields, Albert Laighton and others, and valuable and interesting articles on the earliest newspapers, visits of various Presidents of the United States to New Hampshire, and other topics. The price of the paper is ten cents a copy; address Mrs. Charles C. Pearson, Lock-box 64, Concord, N. H.

Mr. William H. Dennett, one of the youngest-looking men in this city for his age—he is fifty-three years old—and our veteran hackman, commenced handling the ribbons when only fifteen years old, first driving a cab for Mr. Charles Rowe, and afterward for Gen. Josiah G. Hadley. He also drove the old stage-coach "Plough Boy" for Sherburne Somerby. In the year 1847, on the 4th of July, he drove the first hack (his own) that had ever appeared on the streets of Portsmouth, President James K. Polk being that day the guest of the city. Since that time Mr. Dennett has been constantly in the hack business, and his courteous manner and genial disposition have secured to him many patrons, and his popularity has never decreased.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 21; Batchelder, J.

James Dermody, a vagrant, was sent to the county farm for ninety days and ordered to pay costs amounting to $5.76.

John Fagin, another poor creature whom the police proposed to send up as a vagrant, and who would be much better off, better fed, better clothed and better lodged at the county farm than in any home he now has or is ever likely to know, got wind that a complaint had been made against him, and cleared out. Hence it will be several days before he will keep Dermody company.

SUPREME COURT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 21; Smith, J.

In case Messer and al. vs. Smith and al. the jury found that Smyth should pay on the mortgage $1500, in addition to the amount already paid, including interest.

Towle vs. Raymond, on equity docket, was set down for trial, but after considerable negotiation in the afternoon the parties agreed upon a settlement, and the case was taken from the jury. Marston for Towle; Hatch for Raymond.

The docket will be called this (Friday) morning, and cases on the new docket marked for trial by the jury will be in order.

MORE EXPRESS MATTER.

By special request of Mr. George W. Ham we publish the following card from him concerning his traffic in the Boston Express, and the threatened "riot" of Monday, the 19th inst.:

As there has been much falsehood and misrepresentation of my action with regard to the Boston Saturday Express, will you allow me to say that the paper is much like the other Sunday papers—neither better nor worse that I know of. It has been printed for twenty years or more, and contains advertisements of Hon. Frank Jones, most of the Boston hotels, and many others, and much personal matter. Several weeks ago, solely in the interest of our city trade, I complained to Mayor Sise of the Sunday sale of this and many other papers by outside (Boston) parties who pay neither rent, taxes nor license. The Sunday street sale by runners was accordingly stopped by the police under orders of the Mayor, as I think it should be; in retaliation of which, I suppose, if not before this incident, some scandal or gossip regarding the Mayor was sent by somebody and printed in the Express. The Mayor soon afterwards informed me that the Express was complained of as obscene; and I replied, although I never so regarded it, that I sold a few copies, on week days only, but would stop at any time he so requested. This was all there was said until this week; but the public announcement that the paper was obscene, and more articles on His Honor Mayor Sise, attracted much attention to the Express, and that increased my sale many fold—until last Monday, the City Marshal came and informed me that I must not sell the paper, on penalty of the law—so although a large bundle was just arriving, and my store was full of people from the city and neighboring towns, waiting and eager for them, I refused all, at a direct loss to myself of several dollars; and so urgent and persistent were the little crowd, that I requested the police to take the said papers and keep them until I could send them back to Boston, which I did the next morning. This is the truth and nothing but the truth; and yet I am reported and stigmatized for acting contrary to the welfare of the public—which I deny. I will only add, that the Express is and has been sold by all newsdealers in this city and elsewhere, so far as I know; nor is there any good and sufficient moral or legal reason why it should not be, that I am aware of.

We think it most likely that Mr. Ham is right in assuming that there is no good legal reason why the Express should not be circulated, for such papers generally are very careful to keep within the law; their slanders are conveyed by inuendo rather than by direct assertion, and danger from libel suits is carefully guarded against; and as to this particular sheet being obscene, we must say that the only copy of it we have seen for ten years, and which was sent us through the mail by some unknown "friend" a few weeks since, though low and scurrilous was not in our opinion so "obscene" as the average "picture paper."

As to there being no "good and sufficient moral reason" why the paper should not be circulated, opinions will differ. There may be nothing immoral in aiding to spread abroad and make effective the possibly-deserved slurs or carefully-worded slanders of anonymous correspondents; similarly, there may be nothing immoral in the person to whom a scandalous rumor has been told, repeating it to others; but it is certain that did the persons who hear the slanderous story refrain from repeating it, it would fall flat and harmless, and that the anonymous scribbler, like any other scandal-monger, depends entirely on the good services of the go-between to make the scandal injurious to these it is intended to injure. The go-between is the executive department of the scandal-bureau, no matter whether the scandal be oral or written.

CITY COUNCILS.

At a special meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Tuesday evening, 19th inst., it was Voted, That the Mayor and City Solicitor be authorized to settle the claim of Thomas Quinn against the city for a sum not to exceed $600.

In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, regular meeting:

Mayor Sise being absent Ald. Hadley was voted to the chair.

The hearing on the widening of Melcher street, set for this evening, took place. Certain papers not having been legally served, the matter was laid on the table.

Mrs. Lynch, wife of John Lynch, asked the city to consider her in the matter of the south mill purchase, as her husband was not in his right mind at the time he bought it. She asked the city to take the lumber and refund the purchase money to her. Referred to committee on city lands and buildings.

Request of N. K. Raynes for use of Common Council room or Police Court room was referred to the same committee.

Mrs. Salter asked leave to open Washington street to lay a drain; referred to the committee on drains, with power.

The superintendents of burying grounds asked to have their compensation established according to the ordinance; referred to the committee on burying grounds, to report.

City Marshal's report was referred back to the Board, approved.

The special committee on the award of land damages for the widening of Hanover and Vaughan streets at their intersection, reported that $150 be allowed, the city to build fences and repair sidewalks—$75 to Mrs. Cleaves, $50 to Mrs. Stebbings and $25 to the Middle street Baptist church.

Voted that when the proper papers have been signed, the committee on city lands proceed with the widening referred to above.

David Kimball and others asked the city to accept and maintain a gaslight on Austin street; referred to the committee on gaslights.

The committee on gaslights were instructed not to allow the placing of a gaslight on any tree.

A message was received from the Common Council, stating that they had voted to accept the plans and specifications for a bridge at the south millpond; also that they had Voted that the committee on nuisances be empowered to advertise for proposals for the building of a bridge and abutments in accordance with the specifications offered this evening, the proposals to be opened before the Councils two weeks from to-night. The Councils to reserve the right to reject any and all proposals.

In the Board of Aldermen the specifications were recommitted to the committee on nuisances, to make certain alterations.

Adjourned for two weeks.

THE VICINITY.

Hon. Samuel M. Wheeler of Dover and Hon. Daniel Barnard of Franklin are reported to be willing to succeed District Attorney Hall in the office of United States Attorney whenever it may please that functionary to hand in a resignation.

The American barque Devonshire, Falker master, was recently seized by a Chilian man-of-war while loading guano in the Straits of Magellan, and towed to Punta Arenas. The Argentine government has demanded the release of the Devonshire, that government claiming the ownership of the territory where the barque was loading. The Devonshire is owned in Saco, and Capt. Falker, her commander, belongs in Biddeford.

Rev. C. H. Webber of Saco was arraigned in Lewiston on the afternoon of the 20th inst.; he waived examination, and was ordered to furnish bonds in the sum of $500 for his appearance at a higher court, which he did. As the friends of the unhappy young woman whose name has been coupled with Webber's naturally desire to shield her from publicity as much as possible, it is not unlikely that the case may never come before any other court. If he has not been cruelly maligned, Rev. Charles H. Webber, of Saco, is a reverend scoundrel of the first class.

U. S. Commissioner's Court.

Before Hackett, Commissioner, Thursday.

Two gentlemen of Freedom were complained of for carrying on and exercising trades or business for which a special tax is by law required, without paying such tax. The parties each contended that they were not guilty, and at their request their cases were continued to Dec. 24th, and they were allowed to depart upon their personal recognizance.

Naval Matters.

Commander Arthur R. Yates is detached from the navy yard at League island and ordered to the command of the Alliance, on the European station.

Commander Henry Erben is ordered to command of the schoolship St. Marys, at New York.

The Ocean Floor.

Here is an end of all romance about hidden ocean depths. We can speculate no longer about peris in chambers of pearls, or mermaids, of heaped treasures and dead men's bones whitening coral caves. The whole ocean floor is now mapped out for us. The report of the expedition sent out from London in Her Majesty's ship "Challenger" has recently been published. Nearly four years were given to examination of the currents and the floors of the four great oceans of the world. The Atlantic, we are told, if drained would be a vast plain, with a mountain range in the centre running parallel with the coast. Another range crosses it from Newfoundland to Ireland, on top which lies the sub-marine cable. The ocean is thus divided into three great basins, no longer "unfathomable depths." The tops of these sea mountains are two miles below a sailing ship, and the basins, according to Recius, are fifteen miles deep, which is deep enough for drowning, if not for mystery. The mountains are whitened for thousands of miles by a tiny, creamy shell. The depths are red in color, heaped with volcanic masses. Through the black, motionless water of those abysses move gigantic abnormal creatures, which never rise to upper currents. There is an old legend coming down to us from the first ages of the world on which these scientific deep sea soundings throw a curious light. Plato and Solon record the tradition, ancient in their days, of a country in the Western seas where flourished the first civilization of mankind, which by volcanic action was submerged and lost. The same story is told by the Central Americans, who still celebrate in the fast of Icealli the frightful cataclysm which destroyed this land with its stately cities. De Bourbourg and other archæologists assert that this lost land extended from Mexico beyond the West Indies. The shape of the plateau discovered by the "Challenger" corresponds with this theory. What if some keen Yankee should yet dredge out from the unfathomed slime the lost Atlantis?

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the traveling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and ballasted a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. feb20 79

THE GREAT
FALL RIVER LINE, BETWEEN
BOSTON and NEW YORK.
THE MAMMOTH STEAMSHIPS
Bristol and Providence,
Of this Line, are the Largest, Handsomest, and Most Costly in the World!
Trains leaving Boston from the OLD COLONY Railroad Station at 4:30 (Accommodation) and 6 (Steamboat Express) P. M. connect with these "Floating Palaces" at Fall River daily (Sundays excepted), arriving in New York at 6 A. M.
No line can offer the accommodations presented by this favorite route
ONLY 49 MILES OF RAIL,
Passing through Narragansett and Mount Hope Bays by daylight—
NO DISAGREEABLE NIGHT CHANGES,
But affording passengers a full night's rest, and having an open water route, avoids the intricate and perilous river navigation incident to other routes.
Grand Promenade Concert on each Steamer every evening during the summer.
New and Elegant Drawing-Room Cars on Steamboat Express Train.
BROOKLYN ANNEX STEAMER connects with this Line only, leaving Pier 28, North River, New York, on arrival of steamer from the East. Passengers and baggage for Brooklyn transferred free.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its rare and thorough blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, Pimples, or Eruptions. Mercurial disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a new constitution established. Scrofulous, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin in short, all diseases caused by bad blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Tissue Rash, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In nine out of ten cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect and radical cures.
In the cure of Scrofula, Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and continues to daily demonstrate it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures inveterate coughs, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, repulsive, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seed. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Fits, in fact all diseases arising from a Disordered Liver or Stomach, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Bilious Fever, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, and all kindred derangements, these Pellets are unrivaled, not a single case has been reported to the manufacturer where they failed to effect a cure. As a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, it is believed, they fill a long felt want, and are the most perfect and satisfactory medicine yet discovered. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Proprietor, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick, mucous, purulent, offensive, etc. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping of one or both nostrils, nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to raise the throat, alternating with nasal discharge, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired, or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dullness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which both medicine can be carried HIGH UP and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. It is simple and easily understood, and the directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" on a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Dr. Pierce's Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. tdec29

Scribner's Monthly,
CONDUCTED BY J. G. HOLLAND.

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now MORE THAN 70,000 MONTHLY,

And it has a larger circulation in England than any other American Magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy-five original wood cut illustrations.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR 1878-79.

Among the attractions for the coming year are the following:

"HAWORTH'S," a serial novel, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." The scene of Mrs. Burnett's new novel is laid in Lancashire; the hero is a young inventor of American birth. "Haworth's" is the longest story Mrs. Burnett has yet written. It will run through twelve numbers of the Monthly, beginning with November, 1878, and will be profusely illustrated.

FALCONBERG, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "The Man who Lost his Name," &c. In this romance, Mr. Boyesen graphically describes the peculiarities of Norse immigrant life in a Western settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to be begun on the conclusion of "Falconberg." This story will exhibit the state of society in Creole Louisiana about the years 1853-4-5, the time of the Cession, and a period bearing a remarkable likeness to the present Reconstruction period.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series (begun in August with the portrait of Bryant) will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on tinted paper, as frontispieces of four different numbers. Illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

STUDIES IN THE SIERRAS. A series of papers (mostly illustrated) by John Muir, on California Glaciers. The most graphic and picturesque and, at the same time, exact and trustworthy studies of "The California Alps" that have yet been made. The series will sketch the California Passes, Lakes, Wind Storms and Forests.

A NEW VIEW OF BRAZIL. Mr. Herbert H. Smith, of Cornell University, a companion of the late Prof. Hartt, is now in Brazil, while Mr. J. Wells Champney (the artist who accompanied Mr. Edward King in his tour through "The Great South"), preparing for SCRIBNER a series of papers on the present condition,—the cities, rivers and resources of the great empire of South America.

THE "JOHNNY REB" PAPERS, by an "ex-Confederate" soldier, will be among the raciest contributions to SCRIBNER during the coming year. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood, of Baltimore. The first of the series, "Johnny Reb at Play," appears in the November number.

THE LEADING EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES. We are now having prepared, for SCRIBNER, articles on the leading Universities of Europe. They will be written by an American College Professor, Mr. H. H. Boyesen of Cornell, author of "Falconberg," &c., and will include sketches of the leading men in each of the most important Universities of Great Britain and the Continent.

Among the additional series of papers to appear may be mentioned those on "How Shall we Spell," two papers by Prof. Lounsbury; "The New South," "Lawn Planting for Small Places," by Samuel Parsons of Flushing; "Canada of To-day," "American Art and Artists," "American Archæology," "Modern Inventors;" also, Papers of Travel, History, Physical Science, Studies in Literature, Political and Social Science, Stories, Poems; "Topics of the Time," by Dr. J. G. Holland; record of New Inventions and Mechanical Improvements; Papers on Education, Decoration, &c.; Book Reviews; fresh bits of Wit and Humor, &c., &c., &c.

Terms, $4 a year in advance; 35 cents a number.

Subscriptions received by the publishers of this paper, and by all booksellers and postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers should write name, Post-Office, County, and State, in full, and send with remittance in check, P. O. money order, or registered letter, to American Dexterity.

Not long ago one of the largest and most successful shoe manufacturers in Europe stated that, though his factory was stocked with the best American machinery, and manned by as good a class of workmen as he could get, he was undersold at his own door by American makers. His observations in American factories supplied the explanation; the average workman in our factories, he said, could turn out much more work in a day than the most skillful in Europe, owing to their superior dexterity and quickness. The Swiss watch manufacturer, Dubied, said that the American workman could turn out day by day, three or four times the average product of the European workman of the same class.

This seems like gross exaggeration; but it is not out of harmony with the testimony of many competent foreign observers. A correspondent of the British Ironmonger tells a story which furnishes an apt illustration of this feature of American workmanship.

He says that during the Centennial year an English manufacturer of stamped tin ware saw some presses in use in this country which pleased him greatly. He was particularly struck with their rapidity of operation and ordered three. They were made in due time, and the maker, hoping for other orders, took them abroad himself. They were set up, and men experienced with presses were given charge of them; but under the most favorable conditions they could not be made to turn out within forty per cent as much work as they averaged daily in American works. The operators were not quick enough. Here one man operated a machine unaided, and had a blank in position every time the die descended. In the English shop the operator had two boys to help him, one to handle the blanks, and the other to carry away the stamped article; but even with this assistance he could not supply the blanks fast enough, and forty out of every hundred times the die descended it had nothing to do.

The same writer observes that this is no uncommon experience with the makers of American machinery. Our most successful machines are often failures abroad simply because they are too fast for the workmen of other countries. Their operations are gauged by the average capacity of American artisans, and foreign operatives fail to keep up with them.

This is but another instance of the educative effect of machinery; and every year, with increasing perfection of mechanical devices, the need of intelligence, precision, and rapid manipulation is increasing. The intellectual development of skilled workers cannot but be advanced in consequence. Already the mechanic needs, and many of our mechanics possess, a higher grade of culture and vastly more knowledge than sufficed for the learned professions, so called, a few years ago.—Scientific American.

Rules for Writers for the Press.

"Causeur" knows that he will deserve and win the thanks of all editors if he can but impress these few simple rules upon the minds of those who write occasionally for the press:

Write upon one side of the leaf only. Why? Because it is often necessary to cut the pages into "takes" for the compositors, and this cannot be done when both sides are written upon.

Write clearly and distinctly, being particularly careful in the matter of proper names and words from foreign languages. Why? Because you have no right to ask either editor or compositor to waste his time puzzling out the results of your selfish carelessness.

Don't write in microscopic hand. Why? Because the compositor has to read it across his case at a distance of nearly two feet. Also, because the editor often wants to make additions and other changes.

Don't begin at the very top of the first page. Why? Because, if you have written a head for your article, the editor will probably want to change it, and if you have not—which is the better way—he must write one. Besides, he wants room in which to write his instructions to the printer as to the type to be used, when and where the proof is to be sent, etc.

Never roll your manuscript. Why? Because it maddens and exasperates every one who touches it—editor, compositor and proof reader.

Be brief. Why? Because people don't read long stories. The number of readers which any two articles have is inversely proportioned to the squares of their respective lengths. That is, a half column article is read by four times as many people as one of double that length.

Have the fear of the waste basket constantly and steadily before your eyes. Why? Because it will save you a vast amount of useless labor, to say nothing of paper and postage.

Always write your full name and address plainly at the end of your letter. Why? Because it will often happen that the editor will want to communicate with you, and because he needs to know the writer's name as a guarantee of good faith. If you use a pseudonym or initials, write your own name and address below it. It will never be divulged.

"These precepts in thy memory keep," and for fear you might forget them, cut them out and put them where you can readily run through them when tempted to spill innocent ink.—"Causeur," in Boston Transcript.

Portsmouth Chronicle

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1878.

The Boston & Maine Railroad.

We have received the report of the directors of this corporation, to be presented to the stockholders at their annual meeting in Lawrence on the 11th of December.

The net earnings for the year were $737,891.24.

The passenger and freight business of the year, as compared with that of the previous year, stands as follows:

1877.

Passengers carried,	4,442,019
" " one mile,	61,779,576
Tons of freight carried,	698,881

1878.

Passengers carried,	4,564,171
" " one mile,	64,292,723
Tons of freight carried,	762,551
" " " one mile,	38,949,183

Showing a net gain of 122,152 passengers, and for one mil a net gain of 2,513,147; and in freight a loss of 116,-030 tons, and for one mile a loss of 7,037,-028 tons.

The directors in their report say:

We have for several years suggested the hard times, and the great depression in all kinds of business throughout the country, as a reason for the annual decrease in our gross receipts. We have no worse reason to offer now. We are told that the future has a brighter outlook; that business seems to improve a little; that there is some movement in this or that branch of industry. We have no desire to question these hopeful suggestions, but we cannot vouch for them until we can begin to feel the effect of such improvement in increased receipts. Large crops in the west, seeking a market, give largely increased receipts to the railroads in that part of the country. They seem to have an advantage, that we do not possess, especially in times of depression like the present; the crops must be moved and must be brought to tidewater by rail; but your road is unfavorably located for this kind of business. Of the staple products of the country, very little, comparatively, passes over it, except what is consumed along its line. Your road depends for its profit upon the movements of the people from one town to another; upon prosperous times in the manufacturing districts of New England; upon the old time prosperity of the many thriving cities and towns in Massachusetts. Until these times shall return, we may not expect largely increased receipts.

The stockholders of this road have no reason to complain of its financial success in the past. Beginning with dividend No. 1 in October, 1838, we cover a period of forty years, during the whole of which time no stockholder has had occasion to mourn, because he did not receive his annual return for his investment.

Those stockholders who have held their stock from the commencement, have received, including the dividend payable on the 15th inst., $299.50 on each share; and in addition to this sum, all taxes on this stock have been paid for many years by the corporation. This has not been a bad investment. We would have you seriously consider that these results have been obtained only by the most prudent management, with constant watchfulness and care.

One of the sensible results of a better feeling between this corporation and the Eastern railroad appears in the following: "By an act of the legislature of the State of Maine, this road is permitted to unite with the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad company in constructing, maintaining, and using jointly a union depot at North Berwick village. Contracts have been made for the construction of such building, and the same will be completed at an early day. This road has had no depot for passengers at this place, and by this union the public will be much better accommodated, and considerable expense saved to both companies."

The directors recognize the indebtedness to an overruling Providence, (which does not appear however in the list of ordinary liabilities,) and bear the usual testimony to the faithfulness of the officers and employees. Without the latter element, in which the road abounds to a great degree, it would not be safe to trust the former. The General Superintendent, educated to the wants and capacities of the road, is a man of great executive ability, and his hand is seen throughout the detail of the business of their 200 miles of road, and the trains performing 3600 miles of service daily, so successfully accomplished.

The Boston & Maine shows a decrease in earnings. This, in addition to the prostration of business in the manufacturing towns on its line, is doubtless in a measure owing to the fact that the Nashua & Rochester railroad takes a large amount of business which came from the country west of the line of the B. & M. The result of the year's business shows that besides payment of interest on the bonded and floating debt, it has paid its stockholders six per cent on its capital stock, and has surplus earnings of $70,000, or one per cent on its capital. It may be set down then as a six per cent stock; the four per cent additional of former days having been absorbed in the payment of interest on the cost of the Maine extension and costs of the Lowell & Andover line, and the consequent competition at Lawrence and elsewhere induced by the construction of this branch.

A judicious management of the road as it now exists, with an avoidance of the unwholesome competition of the past, and a development of the business of its line, without reaching out to do (at a loss) the transportation naturally belonging to other roads, will under the hoped-for increase of business, in the better times to come, continue to the stockholders a fair remuneration for their property.

News and Notes.

The American Minister in London on Thursday paid to the British government, in the person of Lord Salisbury, the sum of $5,500,000 in gold, accompanying the payment with a note of protest stating that the United States cannot accept the result of the Halifax Commission as furnishing a just measure of the value of a participation in the inshore fisheries of the British Provinces.

It is said that fifteen of the engineers who took part in the Boston & Maine railroad strike nearly two years ago, have recently obtained situations on the New York elevated railway.

An explosion of gas took place in the coal mine at Sullivan, Ind., on Thursday, and eight kegs of powder also exploded. Thirteen men, including two of the mine's proprietors, were killed outright, and many more will probably die.

New Hampshire Items.

A French boy, aged eleven years, while stealing a ride on a freight train Wednesday night near the depot in Manchester, was struck by the switch and thrown under the cars. One of his legs was nearly severed from the body, and he died from his injuries during the night.

James G. Jesseman was brought into court at Plymouth, Thursday, pleaded nolo contendere and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and the costs of the prosecution. This was the case where his wife fired at him, accidentally killing her married sister, Mrs. Dow.

A Washington dispatch says: "New Hamphire politicians generally have signed a petition to the President for the appointment of Judge William L. Foster of their State to the vacant United States Circuit Court Judgeship. He is not at all likely to get the place, and Chief Justice Doe would more naturally be the one selected if any New Hampshire gentleman were to get the place."

Political.

When the Potter fraud committee bill was under discussion Alexander H. Stephens declared that the matter would turn out a terrible tragedy or a ridiculous farce. The committee did its best to make it the latter, and had apparently succeeded beyond their wildest hopes, when along came the Tribune with its cipher despatch exposures and made a terrible tragedy of it.

The supreme court of Florida has issued a peremptory mandamus to the democratic returning board to count the returns of the several precincts thrown out by them so as to elect Hall to Congress, the people not having done it. This action elects Bisbee, republican, by two hundred majority.

To-day the democratic party rules in the National Legislature, and the south can control the action of the democratic party.—Mobile Register, (dem.)

A Narrow Escape.

A young pianist was giving concerts through the provinces of Germany for her support, and to enhance her reputation she advertised herself as a pupil of Liszt. In a little town in the interior of Germany, where she had announced a concert, she was confounded the day before the concert was to take place, by seeing in the list of arrivals, and at the very hotel where the concert was to be given, "M. L'Abbie Liszt." Here was a dilemma, and what to do she knew not. Her fraud would be discovered; she would be exposed; she could never give another concert; she was ruined. Tremblingly she sought the presence of the great maestro, determined to make a clean breast of it and cast herself on his mercy. Coming into his room with downcast eyes, she knelt at the old man's feet, and with many tears told her story—how she had been left an orphan and poor, with only her one gift of music with which to support herself; the difficulties she had encountered, until the fraudulent use of his great name had filled her rooms and her purse. "Well, well," said the great man, gently raising her up, "let us see, my child, what we can do. Perhaps it is not as bad as you thought. There is a piano; let me hear one of the pieces you expect to play tomorrow evening." Tremblingly she obeyed, the maestro making comments and suggestions as she played, and when she had finished, he added, "Now, my child, I have given you a lesson; you are a pupil of Liszt." Before she could find words to express her gratitude, Liszt asked, "Are your programmes printed?" "No sir," was the answer, "not yet." "Then say that you will be assisted by your master, and that the last piece on the programme will be played by the Abbe Liszt." That concert, it may be readily believed, was a great success.

Wives' Property in Oregon.

Among the bills passed by the late Legislature of Oregon, and which has since become a law, is an act relating to property of married women which provides that property owned by a woman at the time of marriage or acquired thereafter by gift, devise or inheritance, shall not be subject to debts or contracts of the husband, and the wife may manage, sell, convey and devise the same as the husband can his property. The property of either husband or wife shall not be liable for debts or contracts of the other. Action may be maintained by husband or wife against the other for recovery of property of which the other has obtained possession, the same as if they were unmarried. For civil injuries committed by the wife damages can be recovered of her alone except in cases where he is jointly responsible. Conveyances of liens from one to the other shall be valid. One may constitute the other his or her attorney to act for mutual benefit, or as attorney in fact. The wife may recover the wages of her personal labor in her own name. Neither is liable for the debts of the other incurred before marriage. Expenses of family and education of children shall be chargeable on property of both husband and wife or either of them. We have here an act which seems to be pretty well up to the advanced claims of those who have been laboring for a law which would give woman control of her own property and earnings, and put her on an equality in this respect with man.—Virginia (Nev.) Enterprise.

A Sudden Death.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next at our feet, pale with death, deaf to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seven-tenths of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.

—The difference between a good farm and a boor is very simple, and is just this: The farm is cultivated and the boor isn't.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing districts of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Borneo Midgets!

21 years before the public. Diminutive in size, but Perfect Little Giants in strength. Celebrated for their herculean feats in strength and lilliputian proportions. Weight, 40 lbs.; height 34 inch. They lift men weighing 300 lbs. with apparent ease.

THE MODERN SAMSONS!

Their astonishing feats of strength have won them high encomiums from the press and public.

LILIPUTIAN KINGS!

$50,000 that they are the smallest of their age and strongest of their size in the world. The descriptive lecture on these curiosities from the time of their capture to the present time, delivered by Dr. Warner of Boston, will not fail to please and interest every visitor.

Prof. Haskins, the Champion Punch and Judy Performer of America, will play and amuse the old and young alike. At one moment he has the audience in a roar of laughter and the next moment tears will flow as freely as raindrops from the clouds.

A RARE MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT!

PROF. WYSENDOFFER will amuse the audience by playing four instruments at one time.

To conclude with the

Wonderful Decapitation Feat

Which must be seen to be appreciated.

THE CITY.

Miss Blanche Meda, with a large dramatic company, will present the drama of "Won at last" at Music hall on Wednesday evening next. The company has been playing this piece to large houses in Boston.

We call attention to Mr. Morris C. Foye's new advertisement in this paper. He announces a large stock and extra bargains in seasonable goods in his line. In kid gloves especially he is determined to take the lead, and asks particular attention to the celebrated Trefousse glove.

Volunteer City Missionary Wm. A. Loyne hands us the following: "I desire to acknowledge the receipt of $26.28, one-third of the net proceeds of the Lecture Concert. In behalf of the 'Home for Indigent Women' I thank Dr. Goodall and his staff for their interest in the Home—and the public for their liberal patronage of the concert, which enabled the managers to contribute so acceptably to the Home's support."

SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 22; Smith, J.

In Pool vs. Pool, suit for divorce, referred, the referee reports that a divorce should be decreed.

A large number of cases on the State docket were dismissed, among them the cases against Herbert W. Nowell and other witnesses who refused to testify before the grand jury at the October term, 1877.

The court was occupied throughout the day in calling the docket.

Adjourned to nine o'clock A. M. Saturday, when the cases undisposed of will be in order.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 22; Batchelder, J.

John Fagan, a vagrant, was sent to Brentwood for ninety days, costs being taxed at $6.90.

THE STORM.

The easterly storm which commenced here during Thursday night was very heavy on Friday. A large amount of rain fell, and the tides overflowed most of the wharves. Some of the trees about the city were roughly handled, and the services of the street department were required to keep the streets clear.

The sea-going men had been somewhat puzzled over the prevailing weather of the previous week, and very curious as to what the predictions would be from the signal bureau at Washington; and they had watched the signals displayed at the station in this city with a good deal of interest. It was commonly remarked by the fishermen engaged out of this port that before the unsettled weather "broke" we would have a heavy gale of wind, and although the weather had given indications of clearing at times, none of them had left their moorings, as at no time had they deemed the weather sufficiently settled to venture even on a fishing cruise of one day.

A great deal of surprise was manifested by competent judges of the weather that the Ticonderoga should sail when she did. The coast pilot who was engaged to take her to Hampton Roads visited the signal station several times, and emphatically stated that on no condition would he consent to leave the anchorage while the storm signal was flying; and in less than two hours after the ship's sailing the warning signal was ordered to be displayed,—and although ordered down for a few hours since, there has been no time for a week but all indications of the barometer and thermometer combined have foreshadowed an approaching heavy storm, which as we write, Friday night, is still raging.

At about five o'clock Friday morning a schooner was discovered by the patrol on Rye beach in the surf at Straw's point, a few hundred yards from the life-saving station. The surf boat was quickly manned, and the schooner's crew of five men brought ashore. She proved to be the schooner Caroline Knight, Capt. Dyer, of about one hundred tons burthen, bound from Boston for Rockland with a part cargo of fire-brick; at low tide her crew and the station men landed her sails, running rigging and other small articles, in anticipation of her breaking up at high tide.

Soon after the stranding of the Caroline Knight another schooner was seen at anchor among the ledges off Foss' beach. The surf boat was again launched, and the vessel, the Sea Queen, of Ellsworth, Me., was run into Rye harbor, where she was safe from the storm. She struck one of the sunken ledges heavily several times, and was leaking some when she got into safety, but it was not thought she was seriously damaged. But for the presence and efficiency of the life-saving crew the vessel would have been totally lost, and quite possibly all of her crew also.

THE VICINITY.

Hon. N. V. Whitehouse, of Gonic village, Rochester, died in that place on Thursday, aged seventy-six years.

The winter term of Hampton academy commenced on the 19th inst., with Prof. C. H. Ricker as principal, and about twenty-five pupils.

A highly interesting lecture on electricity and magnetism was given in Greenland on the evening of the 19th inst., by a member of the cable staff from Rye, and was listened to by a large audience.

Deputy Sheriffs Hanson and Durgin of Saco on Thursday made another haul of liquor, capturing ten gallons of rum from one Joseph Essenter. The rum was hidden in a barrel in the coal pen, and the officers had to shovel away about a ton of coal to get at it.

Intelligence has been received of the death of Mr. Charles Batchelder, a native of Hampton, who was fatally shot from a mail coach, of which he was driver, on the 14th ult., while on the route over the table-lands of New Mexico. The route was 240 miles long, and lay through a country infested with roving bands of Indian desperadoes, who had previously shot two drivers. Mr. Batchelder's remains were interred at Silver City.

A Stratham correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter writes: "Capt George Lane of this town was eighty-seven years old last July. On the last election day he walked to the town hall and voted the republican ticket for representative. He then walked home to dinner, and started to go back in the afternoon, but did not go on account of a vote being passed not to send a representative. Capt. Lane cast his first vote in August, 1812, for members of Congress, and has voted at every State and national election since. He always voted against the democrats. He is still active, and every morning he builds the fires and feeds the cattle before any other member of the family is up."

REAL ESTATE CONVEYANCES.

The following are among the transfers of real estate in Rockingham county left for record in the office of the Register of Deeds:

PORTSMOUTH.

William H. Rollins, of Portsmouth, trustee under the will of George Raynes, late of Portsmouth, to William Ward, of Portsmouth, land, $625.

HAMPTON FALLS.

John Batchelder, of Hampton Falls, to George A. Fogg, of Hampton Falls, land and buildings, $1500.

SEABROOK.

David Fogg, of Seabrook, to George A. Fogg, of Hampton Falls, land, $140.

Warren D. Fogg, of Seabrook, to George A. Fogg, of Hampton Falls, land, $15.

EPPING.

James Pike, of South Newmarket, to John W. Pike, of Epping, land, $450.

NOTTINGHAM.

David T. Cilley, of Nottingham, to John P. Leavitt, of Lynn, Mass., land, $500.

Anna F. Harvey, of San Francisco, Cal., et als., to Lafayette Hall, of Newmarket, land, $2516.68.

Jay Tuttle, of Empire City, Oregon, to Lafayette Hall, of Newmarket, land, $1258.33.

THE KENNEBUNK FAILURE.

The Insolvency Court of York county, Me., opened at Alfred on the 20th inst. The attendance was quite large, owing to the insolvency cases of Titcomb & Thompson, shipbuilders of Kennebunk, and of Joseph Titcomb and William L. Thompson individually, being presented. The judge appointed Joseph Dane, Esq., of Kennebunk, assignee. The transactions of the firm were of great magnitude, and there are great difficulties to be overcome in realizing upon the estates. The creditors held a meeting at which George B. Yeaton of South Berwick presided and A. E. Haley of Kennebunk was clerk. The object of this meeting was to appoint an advisory committee to act with the assignee, look over matters and see if the affairs could not be adjusted without going through the regular insolvency court. The committee consisted of Capt. Joseph T. Mason, M. C. Maling and John Hill of Kennebunk, H. Fairfield of Saco, C. W. Lewis of Boston, and Hiram Littlefield of Wells. The committee is to report on the first Monday in December. The liabilities of the three estates, according to their schedules, are $243,300, in favor of one hundred and fifty-two creditors, only five of whom appear to have any security. The assets as by the debtors appraised are $182,400.

Rev. J. A. Goss will preach Sunday afternoon, in the Court street Christian church, upon "the Bible, and Christ's second coming."

Owing to the confinement of Rev. E. M. Grant to his house by sickness, there will be no preaching at the Universalist church to-morrow; the Sunday school will meet as usual.

—Lassoing diamond shirt studs with a silk cord is the latest trick of New York thieves.

—A Mahometan named Hermas Jacobson was recently sworn at a Toronto court. He took the Koran in his right hand, and holding it from him, with his left hand on his heart, bent down until his forehead touched the book, remained in this position for a moment, and then uttered one word, "Sworn."

—The Princesss Souvaroff says in her new book on America, written from a few weeks' experience of New York, that this is a "country where no nobility exists, indeed, but where the people are more aristocratic than they are anywhere else." In fact, she thinks that pride and arrogance are the two characteristic traits of the democratic United States.

—Some bill-posters in the great moral town of Atlanta, down in Georgia, have been arrested for pasting up pictures of ballet girls who were to appear in a coming show. The culprits were taken before the recorder on the charge of putting naughty pictures on the dead wall, to disturb the morals of the Solid South. The recorder heard the evidence and held that the question was simply one of facts and that it would be impossible for him to decide it until he had seen the pictures: he therefore adjourned the court to go out and look at the red and green and yellow posters, and the crowd went along, and then the rest of the town came out, which is as far as the case had got at last accounts.

The Primary Cause of a Distant Symptom.

Nervousness is rarely a disease in itself inherent, but is the lineal offspring of dyspepsia, in a majority of cases. The nervous disturbance is at first trifling, but ultimately its parent so undermines the general health as to produce consequences very threatening to that great nervous centre, the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most powerful medicinal opponent of the ravages of indigestion, and protects the nervous system from them. The tremors, the unnatural anxiety, the headaches, the sleeplessness and loss of appetite which characterizes dyspeptic irregularity and weakness, and which are almost invariably accompanied by an uncertain condition of the bowels and inactivity of the liver, are all eradicated by this matchless corrective, and when nervousness does not proceed from the cause designated, it affords most grateful relief.

The great popular remedy of the day for coughs, colds, asthma and all lung difficulties is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price 35 cts. Samples free.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

—Weston, Conn., has an aged couple named Sturges, who, if they live a little more than a year longer will be able to celebrate their diamond wedding. The husband is 97 and the wife 94 years of age, and they have been married over 73 years.

—Schultz was the object of ridicule in a California factory, and the jokes of his companions became unbearable. Hanging a long knife over his workbench, he called attention to the weapon, and said, with a gravity of tone that indicated sincerity: "I will kill the first man that fools with me." The measure was effective for a while, but at length the spirit of mischief overcame the prudence of one of his former tormentors, and he daubed tar on the handles of Schultz' tools. Schultz unhesitatingly took down the knife and killed the joker.

—A tramp's queer romance is reported from Lebanon, Ohio, pathetic in its details and cruel in its termination. A young woman at Westchester, Pa., had a lover at Wilmington, Del., some years ago, and her father smiled on the suit, until William Udderzook was hanged for butchering Goss to get the insurance on his life, and it was known that the lover was a relative of the criminal. Then the father forbade the suitor to come to his house, which threw the daughter into an insane melancholy, and angered the young man into a course of dissipation. The old man finally sold his Pennsylvania home and moved to Ohio, but the maiden was true, and a few afternoons ago threw herself into the arms of a tramp who came to the door to beg for bred. It was the missing lover, who had a sad story to tell of a downward career and of wanderings in which he had been to the South African diamond fields. The young woman was too glad to find her lover to recoil at his rags or at the story of his dissipation, but when the father appeared on the scene he was possessed with fury, and beat the tramp so that his life was despaired of. After going for the doctor the father became insane, and the daughter was hardly persuaded to leave the wounded man long enough to allow the doctor to attend him.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of
$1.50 per year, paid in advance, or
$2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. Its
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and roadbed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.

GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY
By its great and thorough Blood-purifying properties, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all Humors, from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple, or Eruption. Mercurial Disease, Mineral Poisons, and their effects, are eradicated, and vigorous health and a sound constitution established. Pimples, Salt-rheum, Fever Sores, Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases of the Skin, Blood, are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine.
Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Rose Rash, Herpes, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, White Swellings, Goitre or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands.
If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits, and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, for it effects perfect and radical cures.
In its curative properties, for Severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty, and unquestionably takes place as it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the worst cough, it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M.D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets
SIZE OF PELLETS.
THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC.
No use of taking the large, regulative, nauseous pills, composed of cheap, crude, and bulky ingredients. These Pellets are scarcely larger than mustard seeds. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Fullness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about the Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of these Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, it may be said that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sensitive impress. And does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with pills put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. For all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction. Sold by druggists.
R. V. PIERCE, M.D., Prop'r, World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

CATARRH
SYMPTOMS.—Frequent headache, discharging falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucous, and purulent, offensive. In others, a dryness, dry, watery, weak, or inflamed eyes, stopping up, or obstruction, of the nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, constipation, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.
DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY
produces radical cures of the worst cases of Catarrh, no matter of how long standing. The liquid remedy may be snuffed, or better applied by the use of Dr. PIERCE'S Douche. This is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried into all and PERFECTLY APPLIED to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, in which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. Its use is pleasant and easily understood, from directions accompanying each instrument. Dr. SAGE'S Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. It is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. Catarrh Remedy and Douche sold by druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. tdec29

—The bicycle is unknown around the North Pole, where they ride on ice-cycles.

—A New York journal says: A very important piece of information is obtained in regard to a new method of anæsthesia, which seems to be employed by criminals in accomplishing their nefarious purposes. That method is by the employment of drugged cigars, and was resorted to on an Italian named Frank by another Italian named Romanio, last December, as the two were riding from Patterson to New York in a railroad car. Frank had $1,200 in a valise, and Romanio gave him a cigar which rendered him insensible, and while unconscious he was robbed of his money. It was not till last Monday that Romanio was arrested and taken to the police court.

—Semi-religious intelligence: A man went hunting in the Nevada mountains, armed with a rifle, a hatchet and a long bowie-knife. As he reached a clearing he espied a huge grizzly bear and at the same moment the huge grizzly bear espied him. Nothing daunted the man discharged his rifle but missed the bear. Somewhat excited he threw the hatchet, and again missed the bear. At this point he made up his mind that with nothing but his knife left he needed some outside assistance, and he determined to ask for it. Now he was not a praying man and was not familiar with the usual forms of petition, but the emergency was great and with no thought of profanity he drew the bowie-knife and ejaculated: "Oh Lord! If you are on my side in this business I expect you to see me well out of it. If you are on the side of the bear you must draw it as mild as you can, and if possible dull his claws a little. But if you have no preferences either way, just stand out one side and you'll see the cussedest bear fight that ever came off in the Nevada mountains."

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1878.

A Strange Story.

A hardly credible story comes from Wilmington, Del., as follows: an old negro was found on Wednesday morning of last week near Van Dyke's station on the Queen Ann & Kent's County railroad in Maryland, with two bullet holes in his head; but though mortally wounded he managed to tell the story of how he came in such a condition. He gave his name as James Jones, and said that some time ago he buried the bodies of two illegitimate children that had been murdered, the mothers of the children being the two beautiful and accomplished daughters of Mrs. John F. Dodson of Chestertown, Md., a wealthy widow, who with her daughters moved in the first circles of society. He was warned on pain of death never to divulge the terrible secret, but some days ago imported it to a colored woman. On Tuesday he was caught by Philip Vincent and John Newcum, confined in Mrs. Dodson's smoke-house until night, and then placed in a carriage and driven to the place where he was found wounded, his captors and Mrs. Dodson going with him. Arrived at Van Dyke's station he was taken into a wood, Mrs. Dodson holding the house while her companions made ready to murder their victim. He begged hard for his life, and the two white men left the question with the woman, who said "Kill him, and be done with it," on which they shot him down and left him for dead. Mrs. Dodson and the two men were arrested on Thursday; it is said the latter were the seducers of the two girls.

News and Notes.

Farmers are warned against sending produce to irresponsible parties in Boston who send out circulars promising higher prices than can be obtained. In this way they deceive the farmers and often receive large consignments but fail to make returns.

John Taylor, his wife and two children and a Miss Clutz left Springfield, Missouri, two months ago in a wagon for Colorado. A few days since a letter was received from Miss Clutz saying that the Indians had captured the party, murdered all except herself, and she was afterwards rescued by United States troops. Mr. Taylor killed and wounded twenty Indians before he was captured.

Forty fully armed moonshiners surrounded a house in Abbeville county, S. C., on Thursday, demanding that revenue officers there should leave the country; they were protected by the people in the house, and the moonshiners departed. Subsequently the officers made their way to Abbeville Court House.

Solon Newman, of Hillsboro', was on Friday struck by a sign blown off a building in Boston by the gale, and his head was badly cut. N. B. Mr. Newman was in Boston at the time he was struck by the falling sign; not in Hillsboro'.

Naval Matters.

The sloop-of-war Guard, recently arrived at Norfolk from South America, is ordered to this navy yard. She has two prisoners on board—Alvin R. Reed of Boston, late pay clerk of the South Atlantic squadron, and a sailor of the Hartford—both sentenced by court martial to the penitentiary for violating regulations.

The Wyoming left the Brooklyn navy yard on Thursday, and was appointed to sail on Saturday to join the European squadron. She is fitted for a three years' cruise, and is in splendid condition. Her company numbers 193 souls all told, officers, men and boys. Her commander is J. Crittenden Watson; executive officer, B. Long Eder; chief engineer, Oscar H. Lackey; paymaster, H. T. Skelding; assistant surgeon, W. G. G. Wilson; marine officer, J. M. T. Young.

The Tallapoosa left Philadelphia on the 19th inst. for this port, with the engines and machinery of the Antietam, which are to be put into the Lancaster, now being rebuilt here.

First Lieut. D. Pratt Mannix, U. S. M. C., has accepted the position af aide, tendered him by Commodore Shufeldt during the cruise of the Ticonderoga.

The widow of Rear Admiral John D. Sloat, late U. S. N., died in New York recently, at the age of 83. The Admiral died in 1867.

We learn of the death, at Bowling Green, Ohio, Nov. 1st, of Charles N. Dimick, formerly of the navy. He accidentally shot himself while taking his pistol out of his pocket. His funeral took place on Sunday, Nov. 3d.

—Common rock salt, dried in an oven and pulverized, mixed with an equal part of spirits of turpentine, will kill a felon in twenty-four hours. Keep a rag constantly wet with the preparation on the felon during that time.

—A young man at Boston, Ky., poisoned his father's blooded mare with strychnine, and the indignant reporter writes that the community is highly incensed at the dastardly deed. The young man should have murdered somebody and then run for Congress.

—The death of Jefferson Davis, Jr., leaves no one of the blood-relatives of the ex-confederate President living who bears the Davis name.

—When a crime is committed in New York now the citizens turn in and capture the culprit. Then they employ some private detective to get them a clue to the whereabouts of the police, that those guardians of the peace may be notified. It is a taxing process, but it is the only way in which criminals and the police can be caught.—Philadelphia Times.

—"I aw dweamed last night," said he to her whom he bored greatly by his attentions, "that I laid in wait for a man with an immense sum of money, and knocked his bwains out, and then wobbed him of his wealth." "There would have been more merit in the theft if you had stolen the brains," said she. "Gweat heavens! what should I have done with them?" She gave it up.

—A girl in St. Joseph, Mo., went to a drug store to buy some arsenic with which to kill herself. The clerk happened to know that she had quarrelled with her lover, and he guessed her purpose. He gave her corn starch instead of arsenic, and hurried out to tell her lover. The lover repented having grieved the girl, went to her house, found her lying on a sofa waiting in vain to die of a dose of corn starch, and made up with her.

—A Johnson (Ind.) wedding was the most curious farce on record. Pretty Melissa Underwood had promised to wed both farmer Donovan and miller Ayres, but the miller got a license and a justice first. The magistrate was half through with the ceremony when the farmer broke in, grabbed the girl about the waist and entreated her to have him, but the miller kept his hold and told the magistrate to finish the job. He refused, and the rivals still contend for the fair Melissa's hand and heart.

The Primary Cause of a Distant Symptom.

Nervousness is rarely a disease in itself inherent, but is the lineal offspring of dyspepsia, in a majority of cases. The nervous disturbance is at first trifling, but ultimately its parent so undermines the general health as to produce consequences very threatening to that great nervous centre, the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most powerful medicinal opponent of the ravages of indigestion, and protects the nervous system from them. The tremors, the unnatural anxiety, the headaches, the sleeplessness and loss o appetite which characterizes digestive irregularity and weakness, and which are almost invariably accompanied by an uncertain condition of the bowels and inactivity of the liver, are all eradicated by this watchless corrective, and when nervousness does not proceed from the cause designated, it affords most grateful relief.

The great popular remedy of the day for coughs, colds, asthma and all lung difficulties is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price 25 cts. Samples free.

The fact of the Business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the removal of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

STILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE, Black or Brown, 40 cents.

Unpresentable Heads

are in a moment beautified by the operation of

which, without the slightest trouble, imparts to the hair of the head, the whiskers, beard or moustache, any shade of brown or the most perfect black. Ladies can use it without soiling their fingers. It is the most expeditious hair dye in the world, and the only one free from every poisonous ingredient, and that contains a nourishing and emollient regrateble principle.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safeguard that predects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 53 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tdec15

—Many people find their only happiness in forcing themselves to be unhappy.

—A new swindle called the "fig-racket," is being practiced on railroad trains. The agent marks out some unsophisticated-looking passenger and approaches him with several boxes of figs. Into one of those boxes he puts a $2 bill, neatly folded. He then puts the boxes behind him, changes them about several times and offers his victim a choice of boxes for $1. As the victim examines the boxes he thinks he sees the corner of the bill sticking out from under the cover of one of them. When he buys the box he finds himself with a box of figs worth fifteen cents and the little corner of a ten-cent shinplaster. The piece of shinplaster is called the "flash," and the trick is worked with books as well as figs.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes that, although she has to pay a few pennies more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry, without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. disep1079

THE CITY.

Dolly Bidwell will appear at Music hall on Monday evening, Dec. 2d, in "East Lynne."

The schooner J. W. Smart arrived on Saturday, bringing in 20,000 lbs. of split pollock.

There was a shower, accompanied with heavy thunder and sharp lightning, between five and six o'clock Saturday morning.

Another dividend (of twenty-five per cent) will be paid the depositors in the Rockingham Ten Cent savings bank some time in December.

The Portland Advertiser of Friday says "Mayor Sise of Portsmouth, N. H., was in the city yesterday, to attend the silver wedding at his brother's."

A hearing on the question of the reduction of tolls at Portsmouth bridge will be held at Mr. Frink's office on Tuesday, at which all citizens interested are invited to be present.

Messrs. Henry A. Yeaton and Charles H. Hayes are loading the schooner Vraie, Capt. Sharp, with 3000 bbls. of apples, which will make 7000 bbls. shipped by them this season. The destination of the Vraie is not yet decided.

At five o'clock Saturday morning smoke was seen issuing from the cellar of Hon. Frank Jones' new building on Congress street. Assistant Marshal Gray and Officer Besselievre on going there found that the water had reached some lime which was there, covered with lumber, and the lime had set fire to the lumber, which was burning briskly. They went to work extinguishing the fire and slacking the lime, which they accomplished after an hour's hard work.

Many of the wharves were flooded by the high tide on Saturday, but no material damage was done. What was left of the old south mill was wholly carried away, and as the tide fell there was considerable local excitement created by the fear that the old mill bridge would be carried away too, but it didn't go. The pressure of the water on the gates was so great that that they were partially opened outward, letting a stream of water escape that undermined and washed out several stones of the outside abutment.

The Sanitarian for December is received from the publisher, A. N. Bell, 47 Lafayette place, New York city. This is the organ of the Medico-Legal society, and ably discusses practical questions relating to health, such as drainage, ventilation, domestic architecture, medicine, etc. The December number has a valuable illustrated article on wash-basins and water-closets, and the various contrivances in the way of mechanical and water traps for waste pipes and sewers. Price, $3 a year, in advance; thirty cents per single number.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 23; Batchelder, J.

John Davis was charged with drunkenness; the evidence showed the charge to be true, and Davis was sent to the county farm for not having $9.90 to pay fine and costs with.

Charles E. Peirce was brought up on a charge of vagrancy. In answer to enquiries he said he got his living just at present by fishing off the rocks, catching cod and halibut, etc., and selling them; makes plenty of money at the business—some days a quarter of a dollar, some days a dollar. When he was last in Great Falls he deposited $500 for the support of jails; has contributed over $40,000 for the support of jails. He was in Brentwood some time ago, and asked for a night's lodging, and got it; but there was another fellow there who looked just like him, and the other fellow got drunk and Peirce got punished for it, while the other fellow went clear. Judge Batchelder sentenced Peirce to sixty days at Brentwood, and to pay $6.60 costs; to which Peirce responded, "And I sentence you to the same." He is evidently partially demented.

SUPREME COURT.

SATURDAY, Nov. 23d; Smith, J.

In case Simeon S. Pickering vs. John L. Brackett, a suit for pay for labor, the referee reported in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of ten dollars and thirty-four cents. The plaintiff claimed $52.80; the defendant filed a set-off of $72.96. Page for Pickering; Frink for Brackett.

In case State vs. Nowell, his counsel contended that he should not pay any costs, as no contempt had been intended. The case was marked not to be brought forward, on paying the expenses of transferring the case to the law term. Hatch and Page for Nowell.

The cases State vs. John H. Havey, of Salem, one of which has been three times tried, were continued. Solicitor for State; Hatch for Havey.

In case Rider vs. Pickering judgment (for costs) upon the verdict was ordered. The damages having before been paid, the judgment is for costs only.

In case John W. Wilson vs. John Dame, judgment was ordered on the report of the referee for the plaintiff, as ordered by the law court. Page for plff.; Hatch and Hodgdon for defendant.

Judge of Probate vs. Wm. Downs and Isaiah Wilson. This is an action on a probate bond, in $5000, dated March 19th, 1872, signed as principal by J. M. Edmonds as admr. of est. of Christian Johnson, brought to recover in $852.49, the balance of Mr. Edmonds' accounts as such administrator. The defence is that there was no notice of the settlement of the account to these sureties, and that larger sums were charged to the deceased's account than it ought to have been charged with, and that these sureties are not concluded by this settlement, but are entitled to have the account re-opened. Decision reserved. Frink for plff.; Hatch for defts.

In the case of the Merchants National Bank vs. Eastern Railroad Co. and Frank Jones, Kearsarge Mills and several other trustees, the question of liability of trustees was heard. The trustees of the mortgage of the Eastern R. R., and the directors of the road, claim the funds in hands of trustees, who disclose certain funds in their hands for freights earned upon goods carried by the E. R. R., its branches and connecting roads. Evidence to show the fact that part of these earnings were upon the E. R. R. and partly by connecting roads, and by the E. R. R. charged to the trustees, was admitted to have been produced. The action is brought to recover the amount of a note of $25,000, dated Feb. 5th, 1875, and another note of $10,000 dated the same day. The claimants show a trust mortgage under the act of the legislature approved April 28th, 1876, after the date of these notes, regarding the debts and liabilities of the E. R. R. Co., which is a Massachusetts Corporation which by lease holds certain railroads in this State.

The act provided for the execution of a mortgage of all its property and rights wherever situated to three trustees to be appointed by the supreme court of Massachusetts. The provision for the election of directors, etc., was read, and it was stated that the nine persons so chosen are the persons who now claim this fund. Copy of the records of the corporation showing the acceptance of this act was read, and of the mortgage made under this act, and other votes and doings relative thereto and the appointment of trustees, and various recitals therein, were read. The plff. objects that the mortgage was not in the forms of law required for mortgages of personal property.

The appointment of the trustees was admitted, and that the directors were elected properly, and the present claimants are these trustees and directors. The act of the legislature it was claimed was known to the plff. The road since the date of the mortgage has been operated by the directors so chosen under the act of the legislature, and the mortgage and these facts were also known to the plff. This was admitted to be known to the bank and one Cook, who is the plaintiff in interest. There has been no default in payment of interest on the bonds and no foreclosure of this mortgage. Frink for bank; Hatch for E. R. R. and claimants of the fund.

The question arising upon the liability of the trustees will be submitted to the full bench.

The cases on the equity docket, of Amoskeag Savings Bank against the Eastern R. R. in N. H. and Eastern R. R. Co.; and Converse Howes, Somersworth Savings Bank, James W. Emery, admr. of Albert L. Jones and others, against the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad, the Eastern railroad in N. H. and the Eastern R. R. Co., in view of the recent adjustment of the questions involved in these cases, have each been dismissed.

Adjourned to Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

There has been much business transacted at this term. Judge Smith seems to have been diligently at work during the session of the court. Twice his place has been filled by his associates during brief absences, so that the business of the term has proceeded without interruption.

THE SEAMAN'S HOME.

The half yearly report of the Seaman's Home gives us the following items; 5649 meals have been served at the restaurant, while a larger amount has been sold and taken away; the cheap and excellent food there offered thus helping many a family through the hard times. Number of lodgers, 261. During the year 1172 vessels have come into our port, manned by 7465 seaman. Mr. Loyne has visited 400 vessels and distributed 3200 papers. The Seaman's Home remains in charge of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Stevens, who, besides serving a good table, invite the sailor to a warm and cheerful reading room. Thanks are due to the donors of daily papers, magazines and books for their thoughtful remembrance of its needs. The Seaman's Society of Concord continues its sympathy and assistance, while its friends in Portsmouth testify their confidence and interest in this estimable institution by their willing contributions.

MASONIC.

Right Worshipful Grand Master Solon A. Carter of Keene, Grand Master of Masons of New Hampshire, with District Deputy Grand Master John F. Cloutman, of Farmington, Grand Lecturer Daniel W. Edgerly of Farmington, Past Grand Masters John J. Bell of Exeter, and John Christie and John R. Holbrook of this city, Past District Deputy Grand Master Charles G. Connor of Exeter, and other prominent Masons of this city and other places, were present at a special communication of St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, F. & A. M., of this city, on Friday evening, when work in the third degree was exemplified, after which the visiting officers and brethren joined with the members of the lodge in attending to a choice collation provided in the banquet hall. Speeches were made by a number of the visiting brethren and local members of the order. Notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather over one hundred persons were present.

St. John's Lodge, No. 1, was visited by officers of the Grand Lodge on the Wednesday evening previous, on which occasion also a collation was served, the attendance being large.

THE VICINITY.

The Myers theatrical company, with Dollie Bidwell as the star, will appear in Great Falls on Friday evening, 29th inst.

A large summer hotel is in process of erection at Foss' beach, Rye, for Mr. Knox. The new hotel is about as large as the Sea View house.

The Eliot Congregational society lately had a pound party at the parsonage, which is now occupied by Rev. D. S. Hobbard, their new pastor; there was a large attendance, and many pound packages of useful things were left behind by the party when they retired.

During the storm of Friday the old bowling alley formerly connected with the Wentworth hotel at Newcastle was blown over and smashed to pieces. At York beach, summer cottages are reported injured, in wrecked chimneys, tearing off of shingles and boards, and drenching of interiors.

One of the cottages at Wells beach belonging to Mrs. B. P. Page of Great Falls has been broken open and rifled of a part of its contents since the season closed. During a recent gale the large chimney on the main building of the Atlantic house at the beach was partially demolished, doing some damage to the roof.

The Congregational society of Great Falls raised $75 for the yellow fever sufferers, and sent the money to the south. It was returned with a notice that no more money was required. It was again sent away, and again returned; and recently the society despairing of getting anybody else to take it, gave it to their pastor, Mr. Webb.

HON. N. V. Whitehouse, of Gonic, who died on Thursday at a good old age, was a highly respected citizen and prominent business man of that place. He had held important town offices, served in the legislature, and was a member of the governor's council in 1855 and 1857. For many years he was agent of the Gonic Manufacturing Company, and was a large owner in that corporation and also in the Cocheco Woolen Company at East Rochester. At the time of his death he was president of the Gonic national bank and treasurer of the Gonic Five Cents savings bank.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

TO THE MEMORY OF THE LATE

WILLIAM H. Y. HACKETT,

At the session of the Supreme Court on Saturday afternoon, Hon. William W. Stickney, of Exeter, the President of the Rockingham Bar, announced the death of the late William H. Y. Hackett, so long a prominent member of this bar, which occurred in Portsmouth on the ninth day of August last. Mr. Stickney stated that Mr. Hackett came to the bar in 1826, and was noted for his diligence in his profession, his faithfulness to his clients' interests, both in court and out, but far more than all, for his integrity of character. During all these years of uninterrupted practice, not a charge of any kind in regard to his professional or private worth had ever arisen against him. Mr. Stickney's eulogy of the deceased was given from a personal acquaintance longer than that of any surviving member of the bar in active practice, and was gracefully expressed and appropriately delivered. He closed his remarks by saying:

"I have been requested by the bar to present to the court these resolutions, which were unanimously adopted at a bar meeting held this forenoon:"

Resolved, That the Rockingham County Bar regard the decease of the Honorable William H. Y. Hackett as an irreparable loss alike to an extensive circle of devoted friends, to society at large, and to the Bar of which he was so long an honored and leading member.

Resolved, That while we point with just pride to the professional position of the deceased we shall ever recall with still greater satisfaction the personal qualities which endeared him to us a companion, a friend and a brother.

Mr. Stickney asked to have the resolutions of the bar entered upon the records of the court.

Hon. Albert R. Hatch said:

May it please your Honor: In rising to second the request of the President of the Bar, that you will direct the resolutions we have adopted to be entered upon the records of the court, I feel that I am unable to add anything to what has been by him said, so well, so truly and so eloquently.

During the whole of my professional life, and for a period of nearly forty years, Mr. Hackett was my neighbor, and we were constantly engaged in the practice of the law before the same tribunals. I knew in him an upright and able lawyer, an agreable companion, and a kind and constant friend. Circumstances caused us to be almost continually employed upon opposite sides of a large part of the litigation in this vicinity; yet though I have had ample cause to respect and fear his learning, his acuteness and his eloquence, there dwells in my memory no occurrence which tended to diminish my regard for him as courteous opponent and an upright and honorable man. If in the zeal of advocacy or under the smart of disappointment any unconsidered or unkind expressions has been uttered, such was his generous nature that the recollection of the offense was never cherished for a moment, or interrupted the friendly relation that has ever subsisted between us.

Mr. Hackett was a man of great natural ability and of wonderful quickness of perception, to which he added an extensive knowledge of the law; and his large business was constantly conducted with unvarying fidelity to his clients, and most constant and persistent regard for their interests. If he had any fault it was, that the keeness of his apprehension and the readiness of his judgment led him sometimes to rely upon his conception of what the law ought to be, rather than to anticipate the slower conclusions of the tribunal he addressed. But he was a successful man, his part was well maintained, and his honors and prosperity were well deserved and modestly borne.

In view of the certain limits which the wisdom of the Creator has imposed upon human life, we may not now be permitted to express more than our natural regret that a life so well filled, a career so long and so honorable has come to its appointed termination. Yet I admit that it is with deep sorrow that I take final leave of a friend with whom I have so long associated. He was almost the last survivor of the members of this Bar who were living when I was called to take part in its active practice. We, who now stand before your Honor, will be indeed fortunate if at the end, whenever it shall come, we can compare our course with his, and look back to lives as well spent, duties as well performed, and be followed by respect and regret as well deserved.

John S. H. Frink, Esq., said he desired to add a word to what had already been said; not because ceremony or public expectation demanded it, but as a tribute to one whom he had loved and respected for many years. Said Mr. Frink, "Some of the kindest words of commendation which encouraged me at the commencement of my professional life came from the lips now cold and silent, and mine was no exceptional case. Mr. Hackett always exhibited the same uniform generosity and kindness towards the younger members of the profession. He always had a kind word of praise for what was well done, and a generous word of apology for what was ill done by a younger brother. He seemed never to forget his earlier struggles or his later successes. Few indeed, in our profession have attained the same success as he. Pecuniary reward, public honors, and, more than all, the esteem and love of his fellow-citizens waited upon him.

His fortune was substantial, but well-deserved; his honors were numerous, but apparently unsought; while he had in great abundance that which he seemed more highly to prize than all other gifts, the commendation of those whom he met in the daily walks of life.

It may be asked whether as a lawyer he deserved all these favors of fortune, which so often escape the most learned and brilliant? I think he did. There have been at our Bar, during my day, more accurate and learned lawyers than he, perhaps, and more logical and irresistible reasoners, but none more faithful to the interests committed to them and but few more happy or fortunate in their presentation.

In the court room he never abandoned his client's cause so long as a ray of hope for his success remained. Many private trusts were confided to him. I never heard of any abuse of the confidence reposed in him, in these matters. His administration of this important branch of his practice was necessarily secret and confidential. Yet it could hardly be possible that he should have been chosen as the custodian of so many large estates if he had mal-administered them. We all know with what care he fostered the corporate interests committed to him. These prosperous institutions to-day attest his vigilance and prudence.

It never seemed to me that Mr. Hackett sought political honors, yet such as were tendered him he accepted willingly. They were often repeated, but not various. In every public position, however, to which he was called, he was an acknowledged leader. The secret of Mr. Hackett's success was that he was a man of many abilities, and if he was not foremost in all, he certainly was not inferior in any. In the department of literature, outside the narrow limit of the law, he was a man of unusual taste, and more than considerable erudition. His fancy inclined him largely to biographical researches, and I know of no one who led so active and busy a life as he, who acquired greater knowledge in this department. He was a facile and graceful writer, and some of his biographical essays were models of good taste and excellence.

As a companion Mr. Hackett was incomparable. He was accessible, familiar and communicative, and never morose or ill-natured. It had been his privilege to know intimately the magestic Webster, the exact Mason, the learned Woodbury and the brilliant Bartlett. With a rare felicity of speech and fund of humor, he would entertain you by the hour with reminiscences of these and other distinguished men whom he had known during his long and active career. I know of no man with whom I have ever spent a pleasanter hour than with Mr. Hackett.

Mr. Hackett lived to a ripe old age. He was 'busy in these scenes to the very last plaudit.' With him has passed away a man in every sense valuable to the community in which he lived."

His Honor Judge Smith responded as follows:

Gentlemen of the Bar of Rockingham County:—I am in full sympathy with the sentiments contained in the resolutions and addresses presented upon this occasion. Seldom is the bar of any county in our State called to mourn the death of three of its members following so soon, one after another. I last saw our deceased friend during the closing hours of the last term of this court, when he, in behalf of his brethren, presented to the court their resolutions upon the recent decease of Mr. Small. How little any of us then thought we should so soon be called to pay the same tribute of respect to his memory!

With Mr. Hackett I was well acquainted during the whole of my professional life. He was noted for his industry, and for his fidelity to the cause of his clients; and his opinions were generally correct and reliable. Towards his brethren in the profession he was affable and courteous, and he commanded the respect of those who knew him best.

In his death we all feel that his city and the State, as well as the legal profession, have lost a prominent and valued citizen and lawyer. His ability, his integrity and industry in the discharge of the duties of private life, as well as when clothed with the responsibilities of office, or in the practice of the law, gained for him the respect of this whole community. He was not a man who encouraged strife and litigation, but rather encouraged the settlement and adjustment of differences between men; he in fact helped preserve the peace of this community for fifty years.

He was permitted to more than reach the prescribed limit of three score years and ten, yet his eye had hardly become dimmed or his hand tremulous with age, while almost to the last his mind shew with the accustomed clearness and strength of the mature years of manhood.

His character seemed to possess a well balanced soundness and fullness. He was, so far as I could judge, methodical and careful in his business,—cautious, yet decided when the time for action came. He was affable and courteous in his speech and intercourse with others; reticent as to his own counsels; and truthful in action as well as word.

The estimate placed upon his services as a public officer was best shown by the repeated calls made upon him by his fellow-citizens to represent them in the councils of the city and State. Not often does it fall to the lot of any one to occupy a seat in both branches of the Legislature so frequently and so acceptably as he did. It may truly be said of him that he was a safe and successful legislator, and neglected nothing in the discharge of his duties. He formed his opinions from careful study and mature reflection upon the general principles which underlie our free institutions.

Into his bereaved home, and the relations he there sustained, we will not enter. Sufficient it is to say that those who knew him best loved and respected him most. By all who knew our deceased brother will his memory be cherished while memory shall last.

The resolutions presented will be entered at large upon the records of the court, agreeably to the request of the bar.

A Sudden Death.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; the next an cold as pale with death, deaf to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seven-tenths of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.

—Square silk handkerchiefs will be worn around the neck outside the cloak this winter.

—At an opera in London the preponderance of brunettes over blondes is great. It is no longer fashionable there to be very much of a blonde.

—A good retort is very like the shock of a bullet and is sometimes pretty nearly as fatal. A lawyer once rushed up to Jerrold in the street and said, with a flushed face, "Mr. Jerrold, I've just met a scoundrelly barrister." Mr. Jerrold looked at him with a bland smile and simply answered, "What a coincidence."

—A singular accident recently occurred on board an English steamer in a Chinese port. A quantity of pepper had been taken on board, part of which had been wet with rain. On the following morning the hatches were removed to continue the work, but as a Chinaman, one of the crew, descended into the hold he was seen to fall down insensible. The same fate befell four English sailors who, one after the other, went down to render assistance. No others were allowed to go into the hold until it was properly ventilated, and then the dead bodies of the five were recovered, and it was satisfactorily proved that their death had been caused by breathing carbonic acid gas, which the wet pepper threw off in large quantities.

GAZETTE
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday, and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of NEWS, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a WEEKLY INVITATION TO CUSTOMERS, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is of double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 3 to 5 pounds a week.
In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so from knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen:—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds. I was so elated over the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S drug-store for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Your Anti-Fat has reduced my fair friend nine pounds in 12 pounds, and there is a general improvement in her health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Boston, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and whereas I have lost my twenty-five pounds when commencing its use." Messrs. POWELL & PLIMPTON, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: "TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. '14 (the Anti-Fat) has had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost.'" Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
BOTANIC MEDICINE CO., Prop'rs, Buffalo, N.Y.

WOMAN
By an immense practice at the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, having treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and positive remedy for these diseases.
To designate this natural specific, I have named it
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high opinion of its value, based on long personal observation. I have, while witnessing its positive results in the special diseases indicating the organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical secrets, in its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for the class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician; and so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I advise it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. (For conditions, see pamphlet wrapping bottle.)
The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, and Female Weakness. I do not exclude this medicine as a "cure-all," but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.
Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to females, and imparts much valuable advice in regard to the management of these affections.
Favorite Prescription sold by Druggists.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Willimantic Linen Company for "Spool Cotton especially adapted for use on Sewing Machines," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to Messrs. J. & P. Coats to announce that

No Grand Prizes were decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL,
Willimantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

And we claim for the winners of the First Prize that as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by Messrs. J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON. 1dec29

A Remarkable Gun.

The Hotchkiss gun, or revolving field-piece, the new weapon designed to beat the Gatling, and about which there has been a good deal of talk lately in Holland—in the latter country because of a surprising practical trial of the invention at sea—was exhibited at Bridgeport recently by the Winchester Arms Company of New Haven, the inventor being present. The inventor, a brother of C. A. Hotchkiss of New Haven, has lately turned out one of these guns which carries about five miles. He makes marine guns for navy use which are fired from the shoulder, being first balanced so that the operator by means of a shoulder attachment can readily elevate or depress the piece, and at the same time handle the crank. At the distance of five miles in the Bridgeport trial, the gun discharged ten shots in six seconds. The shells struck the water at four to five miles, throwing up a column of spray. "It could easily be seen," says the Bridgeport Farmer, "that a boat or any object not sufficiently protected to resist the force of the projectiles would be easily wiped out by the terrible rain of shells. Some fifteen or twenty complete rounds were fired with the gun at different elevations and pointing in various directions. At the long-range elevation, the shell went so far that the stream of water thrown up was hardly visible." The shell thrown by the gun weighs one pound and one-quarter, and the powder part of the cartridge about a quarter of a pound. The waste shell, that is, the shell containing the powder, is pulled from the barrel by an extractor as the barrel leaves the firing place, and dropped on the ground. The firing being divided among four barrels, which are open at both ends, the piece can be fired an indefinite length of time without getting too hot to use. The gun exhibited is to be taken out west for use in the campaign against the Indians. Mr. Hotchkiss goes at once to Sandy Hook and to Washington to try some of the guns he has just sold the Government, after which he returns to Europe, where he has a factory near Paris, which turns out forty guns per month. While eighty shots per minute is the capacity of the gun, the actual number of projectiles which it delivers is about 2,000 per minute, as it discharges, not balls, but percussion steel shells which explode when they strike an object, and burst.—Hartford Times.

ST. NICHOLAS,
SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE
For Girls and Boys.

AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs. Scribner & Co., in 1873, began the publication of St. Nicholas, an illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of Over 50,000 Copies.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the unanimous recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideas of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day St. Nicholas stands Alone in the World of Books.

The New York Tribune has said of it: "St. Nicholas has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

GOOD THINGS FOR 1878-79,

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already known sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A Jolly Fellowship,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number; and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy-tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. About the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor reserves a good-humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophecy concerning the sixth, in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and lore of "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter-box," and "riddle-box."

Terms, $3.00 a year; 25 cents a Number.

Life Insurance.

No little commotion has been caused by the action of the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York in changing their rates for new insurance by offering a rebate of thirty per cent. to new applicants, make it up out of the surrender charges called from policy holders, who have withdrawn during the year. This is charged to be a fraud upon the old members of the company, which is on the mutual plan.

The managers say that the disturbance is caused by rival companies who fear loss of new business, and the disinterested looker-on thinks that when a man insures his life at one age, what the company will do at some future day, or what will become of his investments is, as Mr. Dundreary remarks, "What he fellow can find out." There is no doubt in the principle of life insurance much to be commended, and when people believed in small accumulations and in laying up something for a rainy day, such means of caring for families or for the assured in advanced years, were constantly employed. Once it was rare to find a man whose life was insured; at a later period nearly every one was at risk by some company and upon some plan. But the life companies feel the hard times as well as the growing distrust that extends to New York managed finances, and cause a decrease in business, and the Mutual Life seems to have taken this mode of reaching out for new business, instead of paying high commissions to agents and advertising judiciously in different States. The officers have immense salaries, and transact their business in palatial edifices. The idea does not seem to occur to them that their own remuneration could be diminished. With abundant proxies they hold the power of re-election, and as far as the company's members are concerned are masters of the situation.

It may be that new business will follow this new departure as to rates. Prominent lawyers differ upon the legality of the proceedings, but a majority of the sensible men who once had implicit faith in life insurance, would now stand the chance of being talked to death by an agent before taking a policy and putting their money in annual installments beyond their control, with no absolute certainty of its being always managed properly. The older members of the Mutual Life would probably bring a test case before the courts to decide the legality of this step, were it not that a law suit in New York defended by eighty-five millions of capital would prove an elephantine investment they would not care to enter upon.

Serious Failure.

D. Arthur Brown and Henry Francis Brown, of Fisherville, proprietors of the Contoocook Mill and the extensive iron foundry there, made an assignment of their property for the benefit of their creditors on Monday. Their liabilities are heavy, but the total is not stated. Nothing has occured for a long time in that vicinity which has shaken the confidence of the public to a greater extent than this failure. The Messrs. Brown are men of great industry and ability, of economical habits and manner of living, and of excellent moral character, all of which facts seem to render more unaccountable the great disaster, which has come upon the people of Fisherville and Concord like a thunderbolt out of a cloudless sky.

Eugene Hale's Rejoinder.

Eugene Hale, Chairman of the National Republican Committee, makes an apparently good defence against the charge that the southern republicans were permitted to carry on the contest unaided by the committee. Mr. Hale avews that money was given for the legitimate purposes of the campaign to the proper committees, and to the candidates in the south; and then he turns the tables by saying, as he is quite entitled to say, that his committee is not to be held responsible for a result caused by cheating and bull-dozing. With or without funds, there were certain southern Congressional districts which were republican beyond peradventure, had there been a free election; there were others which were republican with a moderate expenditure for getting the voters to the polls. But of what avail was all that the committee could do so long as there had been a defiantly promulgated and universal democratic conspiracy to prevent the election, or, at any rate, the counting in of republican candidates? No committee will ever prevent or redress such wrongs. They can only be obviated by a political regeneration of the southern democracy; they can only be redressed by the uprising of the patriots of the north. Nor will that be long delayed. This business of cheating and bull-dozing has gone far enough. Far enough, indeed, to satisfy the conservative democracy of the north that it must be stopped. And it will be stopped.

—The man who has a fellow-feeling—the blind man.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.

Material benefits to our commerce as well as politically, are anticipated from Commodore Shufeldt's mission to Africa. He sails from Norfolk in a few days and contemplates an absence of from eighteen months to two years. In crossing the Atlantic to the west coast of Africa, he will make deep sea soundings, and immediately on his arrival he will begin the real work of his mission. Everything possible with the limited means at his command, will be done to facilitate and enlarge the scope of trade where it is already established, and to open commercial intercourse with the reigning chiefs who, from one cause or another, have heretofore refused to listen to our overtures to that end, pushing as far inland as is deemed prudent or desirable. There is already a sharp rivalry at many points along the African coast between the representatives of different commercial nations to establish the supremecy of their respective Governments and to secure the lion's share of the vast trade that must inevitably follow the determined efforts now making to bring the African continent under the influences of civilization. There can be no reasonable doubt that we shall be recompensed many fold for the expenditures necessitated by Shufeldt's voyage, in a few years. Some of Stanley's theories will likely be tested in the course of the Commodore's experiment, and he goes with the best wishes of every intelligent American citizen for his success.

All late news go to confirm what has already been said, viz: that the late campaign in the south, culminating in the election of the 5th inst., was the boldest mockery on free suffrage and the veriest burlesque on republican institutions. Democrats from the north have become alarmed at the re-action aroused. But they are helpless. It even is doubtful whether the southern leaders who have more or less openly encouraged this reign of violence and terrorism, can now control and confine it within its limits; and though it is not doubted that the President is sincere in his desire to punish the ruffians, there is ample ground for doubting the adequacy of any remedy now within his control. After all it seems like punishing the tools while those who incited the diabolical work go scot free. But there is one thing the President can do. He can promptly move to replace such federal officials in the south as Jack Wharton, who were appointed against the protests of leading republicans. Wharton seems to have played right into the hands of the bulldozers and ballot-box stuffers on election day, if he did not more directly aid in their nefarious work.

South Carolina distillers are again in arms against the revenue officials. A few months ago two of the latter were imprisoned for killing one of these bush-whackers who murderously assaulted them while they were in the line of their duty. No one has forgotten the farce when they were transferred from State to United States authority. In return for the graciousness of Hampton's officials on that occasion, scores of the moonshiners were released on their "pledges" to sin no more. They seem to have taken lessons from the "great and good man" as to the manner of keeping their word. Is any one so blind as not to be able to see the inevitable tendency of the present situation in the south? KNOX.

News and Notes.

As a general thing the defalcations which came to light in Massachusetts last week were of a small kind in the matter of amounts.

A gang of young thieves, consisting of three brothers, named Tom, Jack and William Burns, and a boy named Richard Dawyer, were before the Newburyport court Saturday for various larcenies from the stores of Woods Brothers and Thomas Huse, and also from the schooner Nettie Adams; they were put on probation. Another gang of hoodlums, headed by Jeremiah Toomey, the boy who was shot in the foot in a melee by officer Ryan a few months ago, were arrested by the police for stealing a watch belonging to Joshua W. Bean at the Rowley flag station.

Annie McKeon, wife of a famous rebel guerilla, and herself formerly a member of Quantrell's band, died recently of yellow fever in New Orleans, where she has been a Sister of Mercy nursing the sick.

S. S. Pereschin, United States Deputy Surveyor at Umatilla, reports that the Indians of that region are being murdered by whites. Every Indian found beyond the limits of his reservation is killed. A few days ago two Indians were found near Lagrange swinging from a tree. These reports have caused much excitement.

The December number of the Eclectic has several features particularly appropriate to the times. The steel engraving is a striking portrait of the Earl of Beaconsfield, and this is accompanied by a concise but complete and interesting sketch of his career. Apropos of this, there is a pungent paper by Mr. Archibald Forbes, on "The Fiasco of Cyprus;" and this in turn is complemented by an article on "The Austrians in Bosnia." Still another timely paper is that on "Slavery and Polygamy in Turkey," by J. C. McCoan; and another on "England and America as Manufacturing Competitors," falls into the same category, though it would be valuable at any time. Other noteworthy papers are: Part IV. of "The Earth's Place in Nature," by J. Norman Lockyer, F. R. S.; "Hallucinations of the Senses," by Dr. Henry Maudsley; three chapters of William Black's "Macleod of Dare;" "Fred: A Tale from Japan;" "Musical Poetry;" and "Belshazzar." Resides these there are several choice poems; and the Editorial Departments are even fuller and more variedly interesting than usual. Terms $5 per year; single copies 45 cents. Published by E. Pelton, 25 Bond street, New York.

A deficit of $20,000 has been discovered in the accounts of the agency of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company of Hartford at Louisville, Ky.

A lady at Dighton, Mass., recently swallowed four false teeth and the plate to which they were attached, but they lodged in the lower part of her throat, and a physician managed to remove them.

Schooner Laura Pike, from San Francisco for Humboldt bay, capsized Friday on Humooldt bar, and all hands, seven in number, were lost.

The last report of the Connecticut State Board of Health says: "In Bridgeport diphtheria has been epidemic in the northern portion, where filth from a large brewery was allowed to dry upon the surface. A well in use extensively was contaminated directly by sink-slop drainage, and half-flowed swamp added malaria to the catalogue of evils. Typhoid fever, as might be expected, was also prevalent."

A man at Pittsfield, Mass., who recently approached the selectmen for town aid, and threatened to blow the heads off the selectmen unless he was furnished a barrel of flour, turns out to be receiving $25 a month as State aid, and $30 from the earnings of his three daughters.

The schooner Rimdale, Capt. John Langan, of Gloucester, Mass., was run down and sunk off Thatcher's island, Saturday night, by the schooner Caroline of Machias. Capt. Langan was drowned. The rest of the crew were saved and taken to Portland.

The steamer Sarmatian, having on board the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise, arrived at Halifax Saturday evening. The official landing of the vice-regal party took place on Monday.

A recent fair of the Free Baptist church on West Twenty-fifth street, New York, culminated in a rifle shoot by a number of young girls. The target was placed on the wall over the pulpit and the contestants fired down the broad aisle.

John McMahon of Vermont won a wrestling match over James H. McLaughlin of Detroit at Chicago on Saturday. The stakes were $1000 a side, and the championship.

One McCann, a contractor for the transporation of Indian supplies, prosecuted by the Interior Department for defrauding the government, has been convicted and is now in jail at Cheyenne. This is said to be the first instance of conviction in such a case by a frontier jury.

Congressman-elect Smith of New Jersey, greenback-democrat, is charged with bigamy, having a deserted wife in Woodstock, Vt., and another who lives with him in Smithville, New Jersey. He will make a companion-piece for the Mormon delegate.

New Hampshire Items.

Frank Hiland, a member of the law firm of Morrison & Hiland of Manchester, and well-known as a leading pelitician of the State, dropped dead on Market street, near the city hall, Manchester, Monday, of apoplexy. He was about thirty-five years old; was a graduate of Dartmouth, a member of Gov. Weston's staff in 1874, of the Amoskeag Veterans, and the Masonic order. He was a brother of Surgeon Thomas Hiland of the navy, formerly stationed at this city.

Early in the autumn a man named J. N. Moses purchased a stock of goods consisting of small wares, confectionery, papers, etc., on Elm street, Manchester, paying down only a small portion of the purchase money. He has kept up the stock by purchasing on credit, until he left for parts unknown, leaving a large number of anxious creditors behind, among whom is the New England News Company of Boston. Numerous parties in Portland are said to be interested in his whereabouts.

James Clement, for many years landlord of the Prospect house, on top of Mount Moosilauk in the town of Warren, died suddenly Sunday. He was widely known, both by his connection with the mountain and his enthusiasm for geology and mineralogy.

William S. Cilley, upwards of seventy years of age, formerly a prominent Universalist preacher, died suddenly from a paralytic shock at Gilmanton, Saturday.

A convicted tramp, H. T. Rynders of Albany, N. Y., has been taken to State prison from Keene, to serve a sentence of one year.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

CONSUMERS should bear in mind that the incomparable "Royal" is now the only Baking Powder in the market made from pure Grape Cream Tartar, imported exclusively for this powder direct from the wine-growing district of France. An old experienced housekeeper writes than, although she has to pay a few cents more for the "Royal," finds that it goes so much further and works so much better, that it is economy to use it. Another says she uses the powder in puddings, cakes, and all sorts of pastry without eggs. An old lady writes that it makes the only biscuit her dyspeptic husband can eat. This is because the best and most wholesome materials are used. Approved by the New York Board of Health, and by such eminent chemists as Dr. MOTT, New York; Dr. HAYES, Boston; Prof. GENTH, Philadelphia, etc. Sold in tin cans only. dsep11G79

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

The Kearsarge mills have shut down for this week.

On Sunday evening Mr. Thomas Tredick, Jr., on going into the cellar of his residence made a misstep, fell and broke his wrist.

The hearing in the matter of the reduction of tolls at Portsmouth bridge will take place in the Common Council room this forenoon at half-past ten o'clock. The hearing is to be public.

Rev. C. A. Holbrook, President of the Children's Home, desires us to acknowledge on his behalf the receipt of $26.28 from Dr. Goodall, being one-third of the net receipts of the lecture and concert given at Music hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 19th.

Mr. Steel Mackaye, author of the new drama "Won at last," now being played throughout New England by Blanche Meda's Combination, married a lady formerly a resident of this city, a daughter of Rev. A. N. Medberry, who was for a number of years city missionary of Portsmouth.

The Portsmouth Women's League, the only organization of the name, will hold a fair in the Court House the second week in December, to raise funds to continue their reform and relief work among those families which need both. The usual varieties of desirable articles will be on sale, and entertainments provided each evening, details of which will be duly given; and the aid and encouragement of all interested in the welfare of the city are invited.

Miss Blanche Meda's dramatic combination will appear at Music hall to-morrow evening in "Won at last." The company has been playing this piece in the new Gaiety theatre at Boston for some time past, to large audiences; and the Boston papers say it is a fine society drama, with bright dialogue and good situations, and speak highly of Miss Meda's merit as an actress. They also say she is supported by a company of unusual ability. See advertisement.

The Portsmouth Weekly says: "Mr. John S. Jenness, of Portsmouth and New York, has privately issued a little work, entitled 'Notes on the First Planting of New Hampshire and on the Piscataqua Patents.' In this he shows, conclusively, that the first settlement of New Hampshire was at Little Harbor, Portsmouth, or Rye, and not at Dover Neck, as contended by those who procured from the Legislature an act of incorporation to build a monument there. Hayward's Gazetteer said, over thirty years ago, that Little Harbor was the place where the first settlers landed and made a settlement."

THE VICINITY.

The house and barn of Joseph B. Hanson of Dover were burned on Saturday night. Loss about $15,000; partially insured. Probably incendiary. This is the fourth time within a year that property of Mr. Hanson in that vicinity has been burned.

There are several improvements in contemplation on Gerrish's island next spring. Old roads are to be repaired, and new ones built, one of the latter to connect Gerrish's with Cutts' island. Parties interested will endeavor to obtain a charter for a bridge crossing Chauncey's creek in the vicinity of Mr. Keen's residence. These movements are part of the plan for making the sea-face of Gerrish's island the site of a city of summer cottages—which we only wonder it did not become many years ago.

The schooner Caroline Knight, of Rockland, Me., of whose stranding at Rye beach on the morning of the 22d inst. we have already given an account, was built at Newburyport nearly thirty years ago by Capt. George W. Knight, for whose daughter she was named. She was originally employed in the fishing business; and about twenty years ago, while hailing from Newburyport, she was seized by the authorities of the British provinces for being caught fishing within the three-mile line, and her owners were fined. The old craft held together throughout Friday and Saturday nights, and had many visitors from this city on Saturday and Sunday; how she managed to get where she did without hitting a rock is a puzzler to those who have surveyed the scene at low water.

A MEAN TRICK.

Under the above heading the Portsmouth Journal just after election said:

About thirty-five republican votes were cast in ward one, having the vote for Senator carefully cut out and the parts of the ballot neatly pasted together so as to pass a fair criticism. The victims were mostly navy yard men, who are justly indignant. We must presume that the gentleman who distributed these votes was himself imposed upon by interested parties.

The Portsmouth Weekly copied the Journal item and commented as follows:

This may be mean, but not half so mean as the attacks that Mr. Broughton has at different times made upon representative republicans in every way his superior. He is elected Senator, to be sure, the more's the pity, but he ran far behind his ticket, and would have been defeated but for numerous poor democrats who were in—induced to vote for him. More than fifty republicans scratched him in ward one, and it was only by pasters over Marcy that he was saved at all—as he could not have been, had the Senate been considered safe.

Without expressing any opinion as to Mr. Broughton's actions or merits, we must join with the Journal in stigmatizing the cheating of a voter by an altered ballot as a mean trick. If any legal voter wished to "scratch" Broughton or any other candidate he had a perfect right to do so; and he had an equal right to vote for whom he wished, and to have his vote counted—and any trick by which he was cheated out of his right to vote for whom he pleased was mean and dishonest, even though it may have been perfectly legal. The spirit of such tricks is the same as that which prompted the use of the tissue-paper ballots in South Carolina, and caused Dean's name as a candidate for Congress from the 3d district of Massachusetts to be printed twice on the ballots—once in large type is a prominent place, and once in the smallest legible letters and in a place where it was not at all likely to be seen by the voter. The only difference that we can see is that the action of the South Carolina reformers was dishonest and illegal, while the action of the Portsmouth and Boston tricksters was dishonest and contemptible but perfectly legal.

Home-Made Antiques.

The general stagnation of business recently prevailing in Justice Moses' court was considerably relieved yesterday by the trial of one William N. Hendricks, charged with obtaining money under false pretences. The prosecuting witness was Henry Wilkins, a young man from Gold Hill, who appeared boiling with rage and impatient to pour into the ear of the justice the story of his wrong. He stated that h epossessed a taste for the antique and in art, and was especially delighted with choice souvenirs of distinguished people. As he expressed it, "A tender flower from the tomb of some inspired poet, a bit of wood from some great cathedral, or a delicate twig from some historic spot is to me a source of exquisite delight." He then told how the defendant had sold him a cabinet of rare curiosities for $100, representing at the time that they were a collection from the Old World, when in reality everything in the lot had been found or picked up in Storey county. He considered his feelings, tastes and general love for the associations of the past outraged by the cruel conduct of the accused.

Mr. Hendricks then took the stand. He admitted all that had been charged against him. He had found Wilkins a man with an abnormal love for curiosities, a man continually hunting for old autographs, rare postage stamps, faded flowers and old pieces of tree bark from famous places; he had accordingly manufactured a lot of these relics.

The articles sold to Wilkins were here produced by Mr. Drake, the prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Drake (picking up a piece of old iron)—What is this?

Witness (grinning)—That, sir, is a peice of the cannon ball that wounded Napoleon at Waterloo.

Mr. Drake—Where did you get it?

Witness—At the Fulton Foundry, on the divide. [Laughter in court.]

Mr. Drake—Here is another relic, labelled "St. Paul's Cathedral before the great fire." Where did you get that?

Witness—From my wood pile. I stained it with iodine to give it age. [More merriment.]

Mr. Drake—And this?

Witness—Twig from the grave of Victor Hugo.

Mr. Drake—But Hugo isn't dead.

Witness (much astonished)—Is that so? I thought he kicked the bucket last year. [Loud laughter.]

Mr. Drake—Here is a brick.

Witness—From the house of Oliver Cromwell; got it on C street. That bunch of grass you have there didn't really grow on the grave of Mary Queen of Scots, but I made Wilkins think so, and got $4 for it. I gathered it down by the Bonanza reservoir. All those other traps I picked up round the town and labelled 'em properly, as your Honor can see. Those autographs of Washington, Garibaldi, Lincoln, Wilkes Booth, Lafayette, Talleyrand, Voltaire and Marcus D. Borduck I wrote myself, and then laid 'em away in a damp place to give 'em age.

Mr. Drake—Did you ever fool anybody else on these relics?

Witness—I sold an old oil painting to Hank Smith for $250—a sketch by Hogarth, I told him. As a matter of fact, it was an old vinegar bitters picture, so smirched you couldn't see it. He paid me $100 down, and I never went after the rest. [Tremendous merriment, suppressed by Constable Norton.]

The Court—Ain't you the chap that sold me an original etching by Rembrandt last summer?

Witness (coolly)—Yes, your Honor, and also the pen that John Randolph signed the Declaration of Independence with.

Here a howl of laughter went up, and even the stolid features of Constable Norton relaxed.

The court said that it had heard testimony enough, and reserved its decision. Justice Moses is now hunting for some law which can be so construed as to consign the defendant to State prison for life.—Virginia City Chronicle.

Neck Twisting in Church.

There are practices tolerated in religious congregations which Christians who are jealous of the honor of their master's house, should utterly condemn. Decorum is the handmaid of devotional feeling, and for this reason a church should never be disturbed by the slightest approach to irreverence.

"It is a part of my religion," said a pious old lady, when asked why she went early to church. "It is a part of my religion not to interrupt the religion of others."

And we believe if many a congregation made it a part of their religion not to twist their necks out of joint to witness the entrance of every person who passed up the aisle of the church, it would be better for their necks and their religion. A gross abuse of religious decorum sometimes needs a harsh remedy. We give that adopted by Henry Clay Dean, who was at one time the chaplain of Congress. The anecdote is from a paper called the Pacific Methodist.

Being worried one afternoon, by this turning practice in his congregation, Mr. Dean stopped in his sermon and said:

"Now, you listen to me and I'll tell you who the people are as each one of them comes in."

He then went on with his discourse until a gentleman entered, when he bawled out, like an usher:

"Deacon A——, who keeps the shop over the way."

He then went on with his sermon, when presently another man passed up the aisle, and he gave his name, residence and occupation; so he continued for some time.

At length some one opened the door who was unknown to Mr. Dean, when he cried out:

"A little old man, with drab coat and an old white hat; don't know him—look for yourselves."

The congregation was cured.

—He who smokes hams is more useful to the community than he who smokes tobacco.

—Mr. Bowman, of Owasso, Mich., went into the woods and abode in a hut beneath the roots of a fallen tree, living on nuts and roots, till his wife promised to henpeck him no more.

The Primary Cause of a Distant Symptom.

Nervousness is rarely a disease in itself inherent, but is the lineal offspring of dyspepsia, in a majority of cases. The nervous disturbance is at first trifling, but ultimately its parent so undermines the general health as to produce consequences very threatening to that great nervous centre, the brain. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most powerful medicinal opponent of the ravages of indigestion, and protects the nervous system from them. The tremors, the unnatural anxiety, the headaches, the sleeplessness and loss o appetite which characterizes digestive irregularity and weakness, and which are almost invariably accompanied by an uncertain condition of the bowels and inactivity of the liver, are all eradicated by this matchless corrective, and when nervousness does not proceed from the cause designated, it affords most grateful relief.

The great popular remedy of the day for coughs, colds, asthma and all lung difficulties is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Inexpensive, reliable, pleasant to take, cures as by magic, and gives universal satisfaction. A trial is the best testimonial. Price 35 cts. Samples free.

The fact of the business is that Sulphur Baths have become unnecessary since the introduction of GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, because that article answers the same purpose, viz., the renieval of eruptions, rheumatism and gout. Sold by al Druggists.

HILL'S HAIR & WHISKER DYE, Black or Brown, 40 cents.

Unpresentable Heads

are in a moment beautified by the operation of

which, without the slightest trouble, imparts to the hair of the head, the whiskers, beard or moustache, any slade of brown or the most perfect black. Ladies can use it without soiling their fingers. It is the most expeditious hair dye in the world, and the only one free from every poisonous ingredient, and combines a nourishing and emollient vegetable principle.

Cristadoro's Hair Preservative,

A valuable adjunct to the Dye in dressing and promoting the growth and perfect health of the hair, and of itself, when used alone—a safe cural that protects the fibres from decay under all circumstances and under all climes. Manufactured by J. CRISTADORO, No. 22 William St., New York. Sold by all Druggists. Applied by all Hair Dressers. tdec15

A Sudden Death.

There is something terrible in the thought of having our friends stricken down at our side, without a parting word of endearment or consolation—one moment at our side in the flush of vigorous life, cheering our hearts with their loving sympathy; then next at our feet, pale with death, deaf to our cries and heedless of our tears. Every excessively fat person is in instant danger of such a death. Seven-tenths of the victims of obesity die of heart disease or apoplexy. Allan's Anti-Fat, the only remedy for obesity, reduces the weight by regulating the digestion and assimilation of the food. It is perfectly harmless, and its use will insure, in every instance, a reduction of weight from two to five pounds a week.

—We can't see why the world should be so hard on rats because they desert a sinking ship. Does it never occur to people to think how awfully the sinking ship would go back on the rats if they would only stand by it.

PENNSYLVANIA
RAILROAD.
GREAT THROUGH LINE
AND
UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE
The attention of the travelling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In
Construction AND Equipment
THE
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD
stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.
The Safety Appliances
in use on this line well illustrates the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed
THE BLOCK SYSTEM OF SAFETY SIGNALS,
JANNEY COUPLER, BUFFER AND PLATFORM,
THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,
AND THE
WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,
forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.
Pullman Palace Cars
Are run on all Express Trains
From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,
To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis,
WITHOUT CHANGE,
and to all principal points in the far West and South with but one change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.
The Scenery
OF THE
PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE
is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
A PLEASING AND MEMORABLE EXPERIENCE.
Tickets for sale at the lowest rates at the Ticket Offices of the Company in all important cities and towns. tfeb20 79

ANTI-FAT

ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT is the great remedy for Corpulency. It is purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. It acts on the food in the stomach, preventing its conversion into fat. Taken according to directions, it will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. In placing this remedy before the public as a positive cure for obesity, we do so knowing its ability to cure, as attested by hundreds of testimonials, of which the following from a lady in Columbus, Ohio, is a sample: "Gentlemen—Your Anti-Fat was duly received. I took it according to directions and it reduced me five pounds in a fortnight. I send the result that I immediately sent to ACKERMAN'S druggists for the second bottle." Another, a physician, writing for a patient from Providence, R. I., says, "Four bottles have reduced her weight from 190 pounds to 160 pounds, and there is a general improvement in health." A gentleman writing from Boston, says: "Without special change or attention to diet, two bottles of Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me four and one-quarter pounds." The well-known Wholesale Druggists, SMITH, DOOLITTLE & SMITH, of Hosiery, Mass., write as follows: "Allan's Anti-Fat has reduced a lady in our city seven pounds in three weeks." A gentleman in St. Louis writes: "Allan's Anti-Fat reduced me twelve pounds in three weeks, and altogether I have lost twenty-five pounds since commencing its use." Messrs. FOWLE & FULMPOTOR, Wholesale Druggists, of Buffalo, N. Y., write: TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALLAN'S ANTI-FAT: Gentlemen,—The following report is from the lady who used Allan's Anti-Fat. "I (the Anti-Fat) had the desired effect, reducing the fat from two to five pounds a week until I had lost twenty-five pounds. I hope never to regain what I have lost." Anti-Fat is an unexcelled blood-purifier. It promotes digestion, curing dyspepsia, and is also a potent remedy for rheumatism. Sold by druggists. Pamphlet on Obesity sent on receipt of stamp.
